Cole stars as Poly beats City

By MAX JOHNSON

The eight-year Poly jinx over City College held true for their annual Turkey Day football classic at Memorial Stadium Thursday, as the favored Engineers won over the Collegians by a score of 12 to 6.

Poly's Wayne Cole, a six-foot-two, 175-pound end, scored the Engineer's first touchdown, with a spectacular grab of a 30-yard pass from Quarterback Gilbert LaDana.

Cole, who formerly attended Dunbar, was surrounded by three City defenders, as he leaped high to grab the pass on the two-yard line and wrestled his way in for the score.

A high spirited crowd of 20,274 persons saw City score first early in the first quarter on a 15-yard pass from Quarterback Cliff Melton to Larry Levitt, an end.

* * *

A POLY FUMBLE on its own 34-yard line set up this score, when the Collegians drove to the 15-yard marker in three line smashes.

Poly, after scoring in the second period, came back to tally again in the third quarter, with LaDana going in from the four on a keeper play.

Fullback Ron Klages returned a City kickoff 56 yards to the Collegians' 32, and Edward Stuckrath picked up 28 yards in three line smashes, to set up this scoring play from the four.

The extra point trys of both teams failed.

Frank Sartor, 140-pound, five-foot-eight halfback who formerly attended Booker T. Washington Junior High, brought the crowd to its feet with a dash from his own 29 in the third period to City's 28.

* * *

HOWEVER, Poly lost the ball to City on downs on the 19.

Poly entered the game with a 4-2 record, and the victory makes the team city scholastic champs.

Dunbar, with a 5-2-0 record, would have backed into the championship, had Poly lost.

City entered the game with a 4-3-1 record.

Thursday's game was the 58th meeting of the two teams. City has not won since 1949.

In the previous 57 games, Poly has won 27, City has taken 23, and seven were ties.

Caldwell leads Pirates to 21-12 win over Union

HAMPTON, Va. — Hampton Institute's Pirates, sparked by the brilliant running of halfback John Caldwell, rolled up a 21-12 victory over Virginia Union University in the annual Turkey Day classic here Thursday.

Caldwell, a sophomore from Durham, N.C., scored all three touchdowns for the Pirates. A field goal by Claude Trotter completed the Hampton score.

COACH BEN WHALEY's charges struck paydirt in the first quarter when Caldwell raced around left end for nine yards. The conversion attempt, a run by Lewis Shackleford, was unsuccessful.

In the second quarter, Trotter kicked the 19-yard field goal.

Virginia Union Panthers came back strong after the half with the Milton Marshall to John Martin pass combination working. Quarterback Marshall tossed a 10-yard pass to Martin who scored. Conversion attempt, a pass over center from Marshall to Martin, failed.

* * *

HAMPTON retaliated with a lightning like play for a touchdown, when Shackleford pitched out to Caldwell who sprinted 68 yards to paydirt. An attempted run by Caldwell to convert failed.

The Panthers continued to rally. Marshall passed to Martin who scored with an 8-yard run: Eugene Mallory, Panther half-back, made an unsuccessful attempt to run the conversion.

In the third quarter, John Caldwell was off to the races again. He received a pitch-out from Shackleford and raced 45 yards to score. An attempted kick by Trotter to convert was unsuccessful.

In the final period, Virginia Union took to the air in a desperate attempt to pull the game out of the fire, but the Pirate defense held fast.

STATISTICALLY, the Pirates netted 307 yards by rushing, against 108 for Virginia Union. Hampton completed two out of three passes attempted; while Union completed 8 out of 20 tries.

The Panthers made 17 first downs, the Pirates made 10. Union picked up 158 yards by passing, and Hampton 29. Union gained 70 yards with two punts, and Hampton picked up 35 yards in four punts.

* * *

A CROWD of some 5,000 chilled fans witnessed the game in wind-swept Armstrong Field.

In the annual Thanksgiving Day game series Hampton has won 32 games; Union 16, and two games ended in a tie.

The Hampton Pirates in turning back the Union threat, closed their best season in 11 years. In 1947 the Pirates had a 7-2-1 season. This is Coach Whaley's second year at Hampton Institute.

ACTION AT PETERSBURG—Hot tempers produced this bit of action Thursday in the Morgan State-Virginia State annual clash, played this year at Petersburg, Va. The competition between the two schools has been going since 1928, with the exception of the years 1930 and 1931. Morgan won the Turkey Day classic 20-6.

Fisticuffs Spark Morgan-State Tilt

Fighting erupts as Bears triumph, 20-6

By SAM LACY

PETERSBURG, Va. — Fistic fireworks erupted here Thursday afternoon as Morgan State College defeated Virginia State, 20-6, in the traditional Thanksgiving Day battle between the two schools.

So suddenly did the disturbance break out that nobody could say how it started or by whom it was provoked. But before it was over, just about every one of the players on the two squads was involved in one way or another.

* * *

NO SERIOUS damage was done, although one Morgan player required treatment of a cut under his left eye and an unidentified woman spectator was knocked down and trampled upon in the melee.

The fight, which quickly turned into a free-for-all, developed shortly after Morgan had scored her third touchdown, minutes before the final gun. Two Virginia State men broke through to block the conversion attempt by quarterback Jack Dennis and all three went sprawling in the turf.

Before anyone could determine what was happening, individual fights were breaking out all over the field. Both benches emptied and players poured onto the gridiron.

* * *

FOR SEVERAL minutes, the stage was occupied by kicking and fist-swinging athletes, many of whom paid little attention to the pleas of game officials and coaches. Fully ten minutes were spent in the effort to clear the field and restore order.

The repeated requests of the public address announcer to play the "Star Spangled Banner," went unheeded. The bandsmen were too engrossed in the unscheduled action on the field to respond.

* * *

ONCE ORDER was restored, referee Reggie Watts called for the kickoff by Morgan, the Bears having scored the previous touchdown. But no sooner had the ball been taken by a Trojan receiver, than the signal was given to end the contest.

Despite the fact that only moments before, they were at the throats of each other, the opposing players shook hands at game's end and retired to their dressing rooms as though nothing had happened.

* * *

SHORTLY BEFORE the general fight, broke out, State's quarterback, Dewayne Jeter, had been ejected from the game for unsportsmanly conduct. Referee Watts motioned him to the sideline for slugging a Morgan tackler.

Kicked beneath the eye in the later scuffle was George Forrest, a junior end from Leonardtown, Md. The 195-pound Morgan wingman was placed in an Army station wagon and escorted to Petersburg General Hospital by the Morgan team physician, Dr. Charles Campbell.

The doctor described the gash as "not serious" when he was questioned by the AFRO.

AS FOR THE game itself, Morgan raced to a 14-0 lead in the first four minutes of play. Striking with lightning-like suddenness, the Bears — playing without the guidance of coach Eddie Hurt — tallied the first two times they got their hands on the ball.

Hurt missed the game because of the serious illness of his wife, Mrs. Beatrice Hurt, back in a Baltimore hospital. The team was directed by coaches Marse Hill, Ken Brown and Brutus Wilson.

One didn't count because of a clipping penalty, so they did it all over again, making it two for three.

Unable to advance the ball after receiving the opening kickoff, State punted. Dennis grabbed the ball on the Virginia 35 and ran unchecked into the end zone.

* * *

IT WAS THIS play, however, that was killed by the clipping infraction, and Morgan was set back to the State 45.

On the first play from scrimmage Dennis handed off to Earl Brown and the 206-pound fullback simply duplicated the feat of the quarterback. He spun over tackle and outran the secondary 45 yards to the end zone.

Bowen then tried to run for the two-point conversion and was stopped well short of the mark.

AGAIN THE Trojans received the kickoff and again they were unable to move the ball. In fact, within three plays Morgan was again in possession, having recovered a fumble on the Virginia 26.

Bobby Gordon hit for six yards to the 20, and on the next play halfback James Allen spilled around his left end to pay dirt. Allen then banged up the middle for the two-point conversion and Morgan led, 14-0.

* * *

THE TROJANS tallied their lone TD in the early moments of the third quarter.

Freshman halfback Sidney Swann, working on a handoff from Jeter scurried 49 yards to set up the score in the opening series of plays after the second half kickoff. The pay put the ball on the Bears' 17.

Jeter then passed to fullback Homer Young to the Morgan 9. Swann plunged to the 2 from which halfback Herbie Tobias dived into the end zone. Jeter's pass to Charles McGuire failed in the 2-point conversion try, so Morgan held a 14-6 lead going into the final minute, when the Bears tallied again to signal the fisticuffs.

* * *

PUSHED AROUND pretty much at will by the Bears in the first period, Coach W. W. Lawson's Trojans gave the game an entirely new complexion after the second quarter got under way.

With freshman fullback Ernest Turner driving behind the up-front blocking of Theo Robinson and Genoa Mitchell, State was tough to contain.

* * *

A BAD BREAK for the home club figured in the final score, when the Bears, got an automatic first down from a roughing-the-kicker penalty late in the fourth period.

Given this new lease on life at the Virginia 41, Dennis threw quick bursts at the Trojan defense, utilizing the fresh legs of halfback Elmer Flye, halfback Clarence Crawley and fullback Bowen.

A pass to Forrest and a personal-foul penalty put the Bears on the one. Flye went over. Shortly thereafter the fight was on in full.

A and T annexes CIAA grid title

DURHAM, N. C. — North Carolina A and T captured its first CIAA grid crown since 1951 here Thursday afternoon by defeating league-leading North Carolina College, 20-18, in the 28th Carolins Classic.

The teams entered the fracas with identical 5-0-0 records.

Coach Bert Piggott's favored Aggies exploded for two first period TD's, added an extra point, and pushed across a six-pointer in the second quarter to ice the crown of the 18-college conference.

Joe Taylor, frosh halfback from Miami, tallied first for the Aggies on a 17 yard pass from a Quarterback Paul Swann in the opening minutes of play.

A few plays later, Swann, end Burnie Mcqueen on the run in a play that covered 50 yards.

Bernie Anderson, sophomore fullback from Fayetteville plunged eight yards to climax a 47 yard putsch for the final and back-breaking A and T tally.

Gene Cambridge, Taylor's high school classmate, put the game on ice with his conversion in an off-tackle run after the first TD. The Eagles never really recovered from that blow.

* * *

A ONE-TD underdog in a contest that produced the most explosive hi-jinks in the 28-year history of the intrastate feud, NCC started sluggishly, failed to score during the first period and came awake only during the second frame when the Eagles rushed over three TD's.

* * *

IKE (THE WHIP) Gatling, alternate NCC quarterback, Pete Hayes, Durham senior halfback, in the second frame. Gatling later in the same period dove from the one to cap a drive that started on the 28 when NCC'S Buck Forbes recovered an Aggie fumble.

Gatling set up NCC's third TD with a 34 yard heave to end George (Gorgeous George) Wallace. The play covered 64 yards. Gatling's conversion attempted via a pass to Hayes went for nil when Hayes dropped the ball, thus snuffing out NCC'S victory hopes.

The second half was largely a defensive fourde force by both clubs.

* * *

TEMPERS, searing since the controversy over the change in game site from Durham athletic park to O'Kelly field, flared in the open during the waning minutes and the affair ended in a melee in which spectators and players alike participated.
