Ted Bates Named to All-America

One tan player — Ted Bates of Oregon State — was named Thursday to the 1958 Associated Press All-America football squad.

Bates, a junior, is 6 feet, 3 inches and weighs 208 pounds. He is 21 years old and hails from Los Anges, Cal.

This was his second year of varsity ball. Last year, he was a star on the Webfoot eleven which threw a scare into the heavily - favored Ohio State team in the Rose Bowl game.

Ted was chosen as one of the tackles.

* * *

THE BALANCE of the All-America squad was comprised of Bob Harrison of Oklahoma, center; George Deiderich, Vanderbilt, and Zeke Smith, Auburn, guards; Buddy Dial, Rice, and Jim Houston, Ohio State, ends;

Randy Duncan, Iowa, was selected for the quarterback post. Halfbacks named were Pete Dawkins of Army, and Billy Cannon of LSU. The fullback slot was awarded to Bill Austin of Rutgers.

* * *

THIS MARKS the third consecutive season in which at least one colored player was picked on the All-America line.

Last year, the honor went to Aurelius Thomas of Ohio State, and the year before (1956) to Jim Parker, also of Ohio State.

Morgan quint visits Union for '58 debut

RICHMOND — The Morgan State College basketball Bears open their 58-59 campaign here against Virginia Union University tomorrow (Saturday).

—With the home game against Kentucky State, originally scheduled for December 2, cancelled, the cagers will launch the new season with a road tour embracing Virginia, North Carolina and Delaware. They'll open at home December 19 against Hampton Institute.

COACH Talmadge (Marse) Hill faces a sixteen - game schedule with only two veterans from last year's varsity squad and two reserves. He's seeking now to organize the team from a group of twelve players, eight of whom are new recruits.

Heading the heap for the Bears again this year will be captain Charles Brightful, All-State, All - CIAA, and All - District Tournament ace of last year. Brightful, a forward, is a senior and a product of Douglass High here.

The other veteran of last year's varsity is Thomas Briscoe, a senior from Dunbar High here.

Reserves from last year are Cecil Bond, sophomore from Chester, Pa., who played as pivot man, and Dana Froe, a junior from Bluefield, West Va.

Race issue hits Tangerine Bowl

ORLANDO, Fla. — University of Buffalo late last week, informed officials of the Tangerine Bowl football game, that the team would not be available for the 1958 Classic scheduled for this city.

Dr. Clifford C. Furnas, chancellor of the school, made no bones of the fact that the invitation to the Bulls was being turned down because of the policy of segregation in force locally.

Dr. Furnas disclosed that he had been advised that two of the Buffalo team's players would not be permitted to compete in the game because they are colored.

* * *

THE TWO players are half-back Willie Evans, who was the team's leading ground gainer as the Bulls compiled their 8-1 record for the season, and a reserve end, Mike Wilson.

"Evans and Wilson," said the Buffalo administrator, "are two of our finest young men. It would be unthinkable that they would be subjected, even to the possibility of discrimination in any manner, way or form.

* * *

"I HAVE told the bowl people," Dr. Furnas continued, "that under the circumstances the University of Buffalo finds it necessary to decline the invitation."

The Tangerine Bowl game is played annually in the city-owned stadium, which is on lease to the Orlando High School Athletic Association. The latter bars mixed teams from playing on the field.

CHAIRMAN John W. Morgan of the Tangerine promotion, said: "We really wanted the Bulls to come to Orlando. We worked very hard to bring them here."

Morgan added that he had made a request to local authorities to waive the rule, but his request was rejected.

Tan duo on All-America

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—The 1958 All - America football team includes two colored players, both linemen.

There will be many All - America squads picked in the next few weeks, but this will be recognized throughout the country as the choice of the coaches, the men closest to the game.

Colored honorees are Ted Bates of Oregon State, and John Wooten of Colorado. Bates is a tackle and Wooten a guard.

OTHER LINEMEN picked by the coaches at the annual meeting of the American Football Coaches Association, were Jim Wood, Oklahoma State; Sam Williams, Michigan State, ends; Hogan Wharton, Houston tackle; George Deiderich, Vanderbilt; guard; and Jackie Burkett, Auburn, center.

Backs named to the team were: Randy Duncan, Iowa quarterback; Billy Cannon, Louisiana State, and Pete Dawkins, Army, halfbacks, and Nick Pietrosante, Notre Dame, fullback.

3 tan players in grid draft

PHILADELPHIA — Three colored athletes were among those selected in the National Football League draft of college players here Monday.

They are Dick Bass of College of Pacific, Don Clark of Ohio State University, and Blanche Martin of Michigan State College. All are halfbacks.

* * *

BASS, who was the best runner in college football this season — leading in all phases of rushing and scoring — was the No. 1 choice of the Philadelphia Eagles. They promptly turned the fleet 189-pounder over to the Los Angeles Rams in payment of a 1958 trade arrangement.

Clark was the first pick of the Chicago Bears. The Buckeye star was the leading ground gainer in the Big Ten in 1957, until the last two weeks of the season when he was displaced by Michigan's Jim Pace and Illinois' Bobby Mitchell.

Martin, hurt most of the 1958 campaign and unable to play, was drafted by the Rams on the strength of his 1957 performance. The speedy halfback from Detroit was the sparkplug of the Spartans of '57.

* * *

THIS MONDAY meeting was the customary "early draft" conducted by the NFL in order to give the various clubs an opportunity to bid for the top players before they can be committed to Canadian pro teams.

The regular draft is slated to be held here on January 20.

Spencer to join Bullets tonight

Having found how to solve their losing string with a 92-84 victory over Sunbury, the Baltimore Bullets, their forecourt strengthened with the addition of 6-7 Tom Spencer, from the Harlem Globetrotters, play host tonight (Friday, 9 p.m.) to the Rochester Colonels in the Coliseum.

This meeting with the upstate New Yorkers, who feature NBA veterans Arnie Risen, Dick Ricketts and Al Masino, opens the busiest week-end of the young Eastern Basketball League season for Coach Buddy Jeannette's forces.

Tomorrow night (Saturday) they visit Williamsport to face such high scorers as Jack Molinas, Chet Forte and Julius McCoy.

* * *

ROCHESTER, although off to a poor start, has the talent to suddenly perk up and throw the race into a scramble. In addition to the 13-year veteran Risen, Ricketts, with Cincinnati for two seasons, and play - maker Masino, the Colonels also have Niagara's Bo Erias, Charley Hoxie, ex-Harlem Globetrotter threat, and Fordham's point champion, Jim Cunningham.

The Bullets got into winning stride on the sensational shooting of Bob O'Brien, the former Maryland captain, who caged 11 long distance baskets in just 14 tries, nine of them in a row. Ken Murray's matching 23 points and the fine rebounding of Ron Shavlik and Jim Zinn. Shaylik grabbed eight in the decisive third period. Probable lineups:

Baylor clings to point lead

NEW YORK—The NBA scoring leader is still Elgin Baylor but the week's schedule indicates the reign of the Minneapolis rookie will probably end in the next five days.

Baylor has scored 505 points, 27 more than runner-up Bob Pettit of St. Louis, but this week Baylor is slated to be in action only once, while Pettit has four chances to take over the lead.

Pettit, who is now 16th among the all-time NBA scorers, has the best average (29.9 points per game) for this campaign.

A 50 point gap separates Pettit and the third scorer, George Yarilley of Detroit.

Elsewhere, however, things are more crowded. Boston's Bill Russell is well out in front on a rebounds-per-game basis but on total recoveries, holds an edge of just one over Baylor, 315-314.

No foolin'!

Greentree Stable's Tom Fool holds the time record in the Pimlico Special. He won the race in 1953 and was clocked in 1:55.4-5 over the mile and three-sixteenths distance.

BALLS OR LEMONS—It makes little difference to Meadowlark Lemon of the Harlem Globetrotters, he handles basketballs as though they were small fruit. The Lark and his Trotter cohorts will be in Baltimore, December 19.

Toys may be fire hazards, fire chief warns Yule shoppers

Fire Chief M. H. Sutton warned Christmas gift shoppers not to purchase pyroxlin dolls or other toys, or non-flameproof play suits for children.

Further, he explained any toys, requiring the use of alcohol, kerosene or gasoline are especially dangerous.

Chamberlain debuts here with Globetrotters

Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, seven foot, two inch former All American from the University of Kansas, makes his debut locally with the Harlem Globetrotters when they oppose the Hawaii 50th Staters in the feature of a professional basketball doubleheader at Uline Arena Wednesday night, Dec. 17.

In a special added attraction the Texas Cow girls, comprised of top feminine stars from the southwest, will meet an opponent to be named.

Chamberlain, signed by the Globetrotters to a year's contract for a record breaking salary of $65,000, has strengthened an already formidable band of Trotters.

* * *

MEADOWLARK LEMON, Roman Trumon, Clarence Wilson, Tom "Tarzan" Spencer, Charlie Harrison, Herman Taylor, McCoy Ingram and Ed Burton are teammates of Chamberlain.

Wilt, hitting at a rate of 29.6 points, paced Kansas to a 24-3 record in regular season of 1956-57 and almost won the Jayhawks a national championship before they lost out in three overtime periods to unbeaten North Carolina in the NCAA finals.

Note lag in Yule seal sale

Declining returns in the current Christmas Seal Sale may seriously effect the free chest X-ray services offered by the Maryland Tuberculosis Association at its Chest X-ray Screening Center at 823 N. Charles St.

"It's an expensive operation," William H. Shriver, chairman of the Baltimore City Christmas Seal Campaign Committee, said. "Costs have increased for X-ray equipment. We have to buy and process film, we have to have the pictures examined by a medical doctor and we must have qualified technicians.

"All these things are paid for by Christmas Seals. If more people don't buy more Christmas Seals, we'll have to cut back somewhere. This could be disastrous. Baltimore is still one of the worst TB cities in the entire country."

Mr. Shriver explained that this X-ray center is the only place in Baltimore City where free chest X-rays are available every week day without an appointment. The hours are from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

Anyone desiring Christmas Seals may call MU 5-3881.

Sandlotters close out grid races on Sunday

Amateur football leagues will close their regular season Sunday afternoon. Only a few postponed contests remain to be played thereafter.

The top game of the afternoon will be the match between Red Shield and Morts in the Maryland Midget League race, scheduled for Herring Run No. 1 at 12:30 o'clock.

If the Highlandtown eleven wins, the race will end in a tie between Sparrows Point Y and themselves. Should Red Shield lose or tie, the Pointers will be loop champions.

* * *

THE BALTIMORE Junior League race is also still in doubt. Sparrows Point is also ahead in this circuit but has two games left to play. Should the Pointers lose their final contest to Dundalk, this chase also could be tied up.

This afternoon (Saturday) in the Baltimore Junior, Dobkins meets Sparrows Point Y at Herring Run No. 2 at 1 o'clock, and Southwest Community Boys Club will clash with Dundalk Y at Sientz Field at the same time.

* * *

IN THE Monumental, Rams have won this race, Arcadia has clinched the Baltimore Club and Brooklyn the Maryland Junior title.

In touch football, Westview plays Lutz at Bloomingdale Oval at 10:30 a.m. The West Enders need this game to tie West Baltimore for top honors in the Flag League chase.
