TOURING TURNER STATION

Health unit nets $100 from dinner

By E. S. McDANIEL

The Turner Station Volunteer Organization, an affiliate of the Turner Station Health Committee, held its monthly meeting at the Health Center in the maintenance office of the Sollers Point Village Apartments on Dec. 4, with Mrs. Agnes R. Williams, public health nurse, presiding.

Frank Whitmore, director, health education program, Baltimore County Health Association was guest speaker. Mr. Whitmore showed a film on tuberculosis in conjunction with his lecture.

Jack Fortune of the AFRO-partment also addressed the group and made the presentations of charm bracelets containing the Ten Commandments to the ladies of the organization.

The officers are: Mrs. Doris Waddell, chairman; Mrs. Viola Devine, 1st. co - chairman; Paul Snead, 2n d co-chairman; Mrs. Elizabeth Neal, secretary; Mrs. Cardell Jones, treasurer, and Mrs. Madie Bucher, public relations chairman.

The volunteers render assistance at the dental clinic, the well baby clinic, the polio clinic—they serve they are needed in the community. More members are needed who are willing to give a hand with services for the good of the community. More members are needed who are willing to give a hand where services for the good of the community regarding the Health Program.

The Turner Station Health Committee held a dinner at the Community Center recently for the benefit of the building fund. More than $100 was cleared from the dinner.

FRIENDSHIP BAPTIST Church celebrated its 10th anniversary during the past week with the closing on last Sunday. At the afternoon services, the New Shiloh Baptist Church paid its annual visit with the pastor, the Rev. James A. Everett, delivering the sermon.

Senior Choir No. 1 furnished the music under the direction of Bernard Redd. The Rev. Dockery Thompson is the pastor. The Rev. David B. Banks with his congregation from the greater St. John Baptist Church worshipped with Friendship at the evening service.

The first Sunday in December, 1933, the Rev. James A. Everett and his family became a part of the New Shiloh Baptist Church. During the five years that they have been with us, much has been accomplished.

Mrs. Everett has established a children's choir of 50 youngsters. Lawn age for to grade-science. They sing every first Sunday of the month which is Youth Day at our church. church of the community with chimes that peel the hours of the day and night and add to the Christmas spirit with Christmas carols. Presently, there are about six singing groups in the church.

Don't forget the Operetta—Words and Music at the Sollers Point High School tonight (Friday) at 8 p.m. This is going to be the best operetta in the history o the school. Vaucant's afford to miss it. Mrs. Clara Stathan Green, Weldon Irume and Mrs. El baziyah-Dirume and Mrs. Elizabeth Day are the music teachers.

Have you noticed the new white and green aluminum awning over the porch at the Community Center? It was donated by the board of managers of the Turner Station Public Library. Did you ask how much it cost us over $400. Yes, you helped to pay for it by patronizing our Annual Sweethearts Ball.

MORRIS THROWER flew in from Ann Argor, Mich. for the Thanksgiving season to be with his family. He is doing graduate study at the University of Michigan on a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship.

Funeral services were held for Henry Castle of 107 Willow Ct. at the New Shiloh Baptist Church on Thursday, Dec. 4, with the Rev. James A. Everett, officiating.

Mr. Castle was born in Charlotte, N.C. on May 2, 1902 and died on Nov. 30, 1958 at the Bethlehem Steel Corporation. Mr. Castle had lived in Maryland since 1927.

His survivors include his widow, Mrs. Catherine Evans Castle; four children, John, St. Augustine College, Raleigh, N.C.; Constance, New York City; Fred and Cathy, Baltimore. Also, three sisters of Gastonia, N.C.

The YMCA Board of managers will hold a BAR-B-Q on Saturday, Dec. 13, starting at 1 p.m. in the Community Center, 411-A New Pittsburgh Ave.

Escapee still eluding police

A 24 - year - old convicted murderer who escaped from Crownsville Hospital on Tuesday was still at large on Thursday.

Russell Parrott, formerly of Baltimore, was sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary in 1954 but was shifted to Crownsville in June of 1957.

He was kept in the maximum security section there until last May when he was termed improved and given an office job on the grounds.

THIS WEEK IN JAZZ

Wilson's hold's its first Sunday after noon jazz bash

By BAKER E. MORTEN

"The Week in Jazz" is a new column, designed to appear every Friday in the AFRO. It is devoted basically to musicians and jazz night clubs in Baltimore.

The column is projected in answer to the demands of a growing Baltimore jazz audience for more insight on local jazz.

AFRO staff writer and jazz columnist Baker E. Morten will fill the column from week to week with jazz reports from night spots throughout the city.

THE FIRST interracial concert, since it adopted a policy of integration, was held Sunday afternoon in the Tishomingo Room of Wilson's Restaurant, Pennsylvania and North Aves.

Several blocks away at the Tijuana Club, the Pace Setters performed, doing imitations of noted entertainers in an appearance distant to the basic act that usually comes to the club.

Since national attractions ceased to be a part of the Comedy Club some two months ago, local jazz acts have been brought in.

In recent weeks, Al Gross and His Nomads have been spotlighted at the club.

CLUB PAREE, which now has former Comedy Club manager Cliff Thompson doing nightly work in one of the few neighborhood bars still attracting business.

Jay Jay Williams, a local tenor sax man of stature, is helping the internationales carve out sounds in jazz at the Red Fox.

Jay Jay is a member of the local jazz musicians fold, "Jazz Unlimited."

The president of the musicians group is bass player Phil Harris.

BARMAIDS around town own must have a Christmas box union. Many is the cigar box that now appears on the bar.

Dotty Smith, a new barmaid at the Comedy Club, did a turnabout with a smaller receptacle and the poignant words, "I'm not greedy."

Jimmy Wells, a vibraharpist of tender years and torrid talent, is pretty hard on mallets (the sticks used to play vibes.)

He wore out a pair during a recent setting at Tijuana. Wells is associated with a group of jazzists called the Sinbads.

THE MODERN JAZZ Club of the Madison Avenue Branch YWCA will hold its second jazz workshop o Tuesday, Dec. 16, at 8 p.m. in Room 202 of the Y.

The workshop will feature a group of musicians who will play and then form a panel for discussion of the topic "Baltimore Response to Jazz."

Local disc jockey Kelson Fisher will moderate the panel. Musicians on the panel will be Don Bailey, bass player; Claude Hubbard, piano; Bob Young, saxophone, and Benny McGuire, drums.

A special feature of the workshop will be jazz singer, Miss Ruby Glover.

MUSICAL MOMENTS

By ADAH K. JENKINS

THE EASTSIDE Community Choir received an enthusiastic reception at their concert in Faith Baptist Church. This enterprising group, conducted by John H. Miller, consists of approximately 40 members from 18 various religious groups, Catholic and Protestant.

Mr. Miller is giving his choristers excellent training in solid musical fare, such as Bach chorales, and works by Beethoven, Sibelius, Mueller and Willhousky.

Their renditions showed thoughtful and continued study, with marked improvement since this listener heard them two years ago.

The arrangement of "Jacob's Ladder" brought new meaning to an often heard spiritual and the results they achieved in the intricate setting of "I'll Never Turn Back" were most commendable.

Fortunately the group has a which gavethe needed solidity to "A Mighty Fortress," "Onward Ye Peoples" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." With a more advantageous arrangement of the choir in relation to the conductor smoother performances might be secured.

During the intermission brief solos were played by Audrey Cyrus, pianist and by Mr. Miller at the organ. Miss Cyrus was also the very capable accompanist for the concert.

The concert was presented by Mrs. Amanda Lomand and the Missionary Group of Faith Baptist, with the funds being presented to the Eastside Community Choir to purchase music.

Following the musical program, the director, who is instructor of music at Dunbar High School, was congratulated by the Rev. Walter Paige, pastor by William Taylor, head of the Eastside Community choir) and other civic leaders.

SUNDAY, DEC. 14 at 3:45 p.m. in auditorium of the Charles Houston Junior High School, Calhoun and Baker Sts. Christmas Candlelight Musical, under the direction of a faculty committee, headed by Mrs. Gloria S. Stokes.

Guests soloists will be Wendall Wright, tenor, and Edna Kess Mitchell, soprano. There will be a chorus with members of the faculty and student body.

The instrumental prelude, interlude and postlude will be played by a string ensemble: Beatrice Mayo, Robert Smith, Charles Bagley, Charles Hawkins and Henry Mays. Lillian Daniels, of Southern High School faculty, will be the accompanist, Frank J. Sorrell is principal.

Sunday, Dec. 14 on Station WCBM from 10:05 to 11:00 p.m. the beginning of a weekly broadcast "Concert Ball," featuring commentary by Dr. William S. Hart and the world's best music. This is CBS affiliate program, which was formerly heard from a Towson Station since 1953.

Man accused as father to spare another's wife

The case of a 29-year-old unwed mother, who admitted in Domestic Court Monday that she had falsely accused a man held for being the father of her child, has been referred to the State's attorney's office for possible criminal charges against her.

Judge James K. Cullen took this action after the woman gave these answers to questions asked by him, and Miss Lucy Ann Garvey, assistant state's attorney.

A—Did you come into the State's attorney's office and swear to a complaint against a man named —?

A—Yes, I did. It was something agreed to.

Q—AGREED to by whom?

A—By the three of us.

Q—For what reason?

A—Because Mr. — has a wife. She suffers with a heart trouble. I didn't want to upset her, or cause any trouble.

"So, we talked it over and came to an agreement that he would sign his name, but Mr. —would take care of the baby, which he has been doing."

Judge Cullen was told the baby's father had been paying the mother $7 a week, plus $1 a week for medical expenses.

Testimony further revealed that the baby was born the past October 15, and the mother had been receiving $71 monthly aid from the Department of Public Welfare.

ANNAPOLIS DOINGS

BY ELOISE RICHARDSON

THE ANNUAL meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of Crownsville State Hospital, was held on Sunday, at which time reports were made by the various chairmen, who, with their committee members, carry on the work of the organization.

The purpose of the auxiliary is to promote the welfare of the hospital, the patients and the staff; to increase the number of volunteer corps, and to inform the public on matters concerning mental illness.

A report by the auxiliary this year shows it had contributed $807.65 to the hospital and patients.

In breaking down this amount, the details are as follows:

$140.00 for games and prizes used at the July 4th Carnival for patients;

$50 to the chaplain for the purchase of bibles and hymnals for the patients;

$33.65 for the repair of a pool table in the "A" Building;

$300 for refreshments, which were served at the meetings of the professional staff. (Hold your hats—these meetings begin in October and continue through May, and are a part of the hospital's program in working toward accreditation).

Note, Dr. Charles S. Ward superintendent of the hospital, described these meetings as "the best it has been my experience to be exposed to since being in state hospital work."

He said the refreshments supplied by the Women's Auxiliary have played an important part in establishing these meetings on a sound basis.

THE AUXILIARY will give as an annual award, a pin to be known as the Woman's Auxiliary Award to the practical nurse who has shown the most growth and development in her duties.

Also the auxiliary made it possible for six patients and two attendants to attend the hunter dinner given by women hospital auxiliaries at a hotel.

Last year $400 was allotted by the auxiliary to hospital for the beginning development of a plant nursery.

It was felt that these plants could be utilized for the beautification of the grounds and that in the meantime patients in work therapy could be assigned to this project.

A continuing project the board agreed to allot $100 annually to cover such expense.

A very lovely activity sponsored by the auxiliary, is the Coffee Hour, held every Tuesday on the hospital wards.

At this time, coffee, cookies, candies and cigarettes are supplied from the canteen through funds raised annually during "Tag Month."

There is usually an entertainment of some type at these participate.

Such a program could be extended daily, if more volunteers were working. Here is a real chance for those of you who have the time, to make a fine contribution.

THE AUXILIARY is also operating two canteens on the grounds in the "A" Building and the Meyer Building, and here again more volunteers are needed to carry on the work.

Women from Annapolis who attended the meeting on Sunday were Mesdames Mary C. Brown, Rose Wiseman, Eloise Richardson, Alice Darnell, Gertrude Jenkins and Miss Bertha Carter.

There are many women in Annapolis who are not employed, and could spend some time each week at the hospital in some voluntary capacity.

Make your main New Year resolution one that will give you the will to do something for your brother who is "less fortunate than you."

Also take out a membership in the auxiliary. Active members pay a membership fee of $1 per year; associate members, $5, and affiliate members, $10.

Membership of the auxiliary is 83. 74 of these members are active, eight are associate members, and there is one affiliate.

This column is calling all women in Anhapolis particularly (since it is so near the hospital), to realize the need of volunteer service at Crownsville and act.

Why can't all clubs and organizations send just one volunteer to Crownsville each week?

This could easily be done and a car pool could be set up for transportation. Think it over and be the first to start off. Start this program the first of the year without fail.

Your unfortunate brothers at Crownsville need you, and remember they are especially our responsibility. Do not let others do for those who are a part of us, without just putting her tool forward.

You may contact Mrs. Bernice Ayers, chairman of Volunteer Services at the hospital by telephone and sign up for some phase of the work.

Volunteers are needed in the canteens, the coffee hours and also there is much clerical work to be done.

Mental hospitals are crowded with patients many of whom are permanent, and it is our moral obligation as citizens to contribute to their welfare and happiness in some way.

THE REV. James A. Green supervisor of the Home Mission Society, which sponsors an annual program in the interest of Crownsville State Hospital, will present this year's program, a music festival, in the House of Delegates Chamber of the State House on Sunday at 3 p.m.

Among soloists will be Mrs. Douglas H. Lacy, Mrs. Joyce McManus, Miss Myrtle Mack and Miss Delores Chapman.

Three choirs, the College Ave. Baptist Church Choir, the Radio Choir of Salisbury and the Gospel Choir of Baltimore will also appear on the program.

The Rev. Mr. Green, who has been conducting services at Crownsville for the past 12 years, organized the Home Mission Society six years ago for assistance in his local work. Providing gifts for patients at Crownsville is one of its projects.

Mrs. Mabel Lopez and Mr. Thomas Pounds are assisting with the arrangements for Sunday's program. The public is urged to attend.

The National Sorority of Phi Delta Kappa, Alpha Mu Chapter, will be in the limelight again on Sunday.

The chapter is conducting an educational workshop at the beautiful new Adams Park School. The theme will be "Ways in Which We Can Help Our Children Become Responsible Citizens."

Panelists and their subjects will be:

MRS. VERONICA QUEEN, a parent, "The Home;" Herbert S. Hilliard, principal of Bates High School, "The School;" the Rev. Albert R. Powell, pastor of the Mt. Moriah AME Church, "The Church."

Also Mr. John Wright, president of the American Association of University Women, "Civic Work;" and William Taylor, executive director of the Northwest St. YMCA, "Social Activity."

It is hoped that all parents will crowd the building in order to hear such distinguished community leaders.

The committee members in charge of arrangements for the program are sorors Electa Holland, chairman, Lois Carroll, Gertrude Corbett, Novene Holt, Elizabeth Hodges and Rachel Brown, Soror Bettye Hynson is basileus of the chapter.

Widow named executrix of Dr. Davis's estate

Mrs. Erma Bruce Davis, 1821 McCulloh St., was named executrix of the estate of her late husband, Dr. Carrington L. Davis, according to the executor's will filed Dec. 6.

Witnessed by Mrs. Alma J. Rich, 1823 McCulloh St., and an attorney, Dallas F. Nicholas, 14 E. Pleasant St., the will states that Mrs. Davis is to inherit the residue and remainder of the estate.

Other provisions state that Mrs. Davis is to be "exempt from bond to perform her duties as executrix of the estate which is estimated at $1,000 personal property.

Allowance is to be made for all just debts to be paid, the will states.

Dr. Davis was known as a distinguished educator, was dean emeritus of Morgan State College and employed as a public school teacher, principal and vice principal for 43 years.
