GLEN BURNIE NOTES

Methodist Men will sponsor annual program on Sunday

By FELICIA ADAMS

In observance of Jesus' birth, may we keep Christmas christian. Christmas is more than a time for remembering, it is a time for revealing.

It is more than a time for receiving, it is a time for giving. But we have not truly given if our gifts are only material things. The real gifts at Christmas are love and faith and hope and example.

The greatest gift is to offer men Christ and this each person can do in his own way, wherever he observes Christmas in the spirit of Christ.

As we approach the holy day I wish for each of you a very Merry Christmas.

THE REV. W. C. L. SCARBOUROUGH, pastor of St. Marks Methodist, Harmon, Md., the Rev. Richard Bell of St. Marks Church and the Rev. James E. Adams of Metropolitan Church, Glen Burnie, attended the Christmas service Monday at the Morgan Christian Center.

It was sponsored by the Methodist Ministers Fellowship of Baltimore and Vicinity. The Rev. R. Bruce Poynter delivered the message and the Rev. N. V. Carrington conducted the worship services.

Coffee and buns were supplied by the host and hostess, the Rev Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Cornish.

Members of the Commission on Missions and Evangelism of the Metropolitan Church are planning to be host to some patients from Crownsville State Hospital during this holiday season.

Pupils hear Yule message

The Robert W. Coleman School 142, Smallwood St. and Walbrook Ave. heard an address with a Christmas message by Mrs. Virginia Golder, mother of the vice - principal of the school, Mrs. May Cornish.

Keeping with her theme, "The Observance of Christmas," Mrs. Golder said out that Christmas must be kept during the holidays, but also all through the year.

After the assembly, Mrs. Mary Kelly's fifth grade class entertained Mrs. Golder.

Mrs. Edna Johnson is principal of the school.

Baltimore Junior College gives $$ to Provident

Baltimore Junior College presented its annual Christmas Concert in the College Auditorium at Thirty-third St. and the Alameda on Tuesday morning.

Lynn Johannes, representing the student body, presented a check to the nursing staff at Provident Hospital, for the purchase of needed medical equipment for the pediatric department. This is the college's annual Christmas project.

Joyous sleigh ride through wonderland of parties ushers in gay Winter season —

with Lula Jones Garrett

By ELIZABETH M. OLIVER

(Substituting for Mrs. Garrett who is on vacation.)

Just a little while before dawn Sunday, Dec. 21 (3:40 to be exact) Old Man Winter returns.

As he whisks into the waning year, welcome fires burn bright upon hearths at home and the holiday whirl begins with a sleigh ride of parties.

Gaiety is the pasword. Have good cheer, for Christmas comes but once a year.

Five o'clock, is the magic hour set for Sunday when the season's pretty young debutantes and their parents will sip tea with Me-De-So Club members, their sponsors.

It is not yet known who the lovely maids are, but they will be present at the Me-De-So Club on Eutaw Place.

There the halls will be deeked with holly to lend Yule time flavor to the occasion which is the initial event for the debutants who will be presented in the spring.

THE CHRISTMAS pantry shower for the Anna Mae Hunter Home for the Blind sponsored by the Baltimore chapter of the National Association of Business and Professional Women's Clubs was such a success.

Good food and good wishes gathered by the club members will be delivered to the home on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Lena K. Lee is president; Mrs. Lillian S. Watty, chairman; and committee members are Miss Margaret Johnson, Dr. Maybelle Weaver, Mesdames Emma H. Brown, Ethel Day, Edna Rawlings, Jennie Robinson and Juanita Young.

The new year will see these thoughtful business women spreading holiday cheer over all its 365 days.

Mrs. Watty has announced that the group will adopt "Godchildren" in 13 homes and institutions and continue to do nice little things for them each day.

THE BUSINESS ladies have made a very valuable survey in interest of the increasing numbers of elderly persons in the city.

They state that better accommodations are needed for retired elderly ladies who are not especially in need of medical or financial aid.

Also as a result of the study they've found that there is a limited number of nursing homes and homes for the aged.

The club plans to continue the study, and hopes to find aged persons living alone who will share their homes with others.

AND, THE Anna Mae Hunter Home has been selected by the Maryland Underwriters' Association to receive their $200 Christmas purse.

They will make the presentation on Monday afternoon at the Eutaw Place home.

Mrs. Edna Dunton is president of the group; Mrs. Effie James, vice president; Mrs. Viola Jones, financial secretary; Mrs. Ada Marshall, recording; Mrs. Laura Smith, treasurer; and Jentry McDonald is chaplain, Mrs. Florine B. Miller is chairman of the membership committee.

Md. Underwriters Association is composed of insurance people who work for the four colored insurance firms in the state, N. U. Mutual, Southern Life, Mutual Benefit and Supreme Liberty Life.

THE DuBOIS Circle met Tuesday at 5 p.m. at the YWCA with Mrs. Georgine Wilkins, Washington, as hostess.

Buffet was served after Edgar D. Draper, Morgan business manager, spoke on Liberia to members who had as a theme "Hands Across the Sea."

Guests were Mesdames Houston Jackson, Yashi Murphy, Hermione Wharton, Vivian Cook, Blanche McRae, Annie Wright, May Allen and Gwendolyn Carter.

From Washington came the Westmorelands and the Anderson's.

DOUGLAS MEMORIA Community Church Sunday School room was the scene as three-year-old Vivian Charlette Brooks was hostess at her birthday party Saturday.

Each of the tiny guests brought a gift for a sick child at Provident Hospital instead of a gift for Vivian Charlette. This was according to her orders.

The thoughtful little tyke's parents are the Brookses of 5400 Denmore Ave.

The wee guests were Keith and Robin Hubbard, Lois and Linda Thompson, Phil Kisse, Cynthia Shockley, Angelo Bowman, Joy Madison and Nathaniel Boyd.

Mothers about included Mesdames Pearl Thompson, Nellie Hobbard, Charlotte Shockley, Rose Boyd, Lucille Childress, Peggy Madison, Dora Brown, maternal grandmother of the honoree.

THE CARIBBEAN Club enjoyed its 33rd anniversary celebration in a traditional Christmas atmosphere Sunday, from 3 to 7 p.m.

Members gathered at the 526 N. Stricker club house and heard the Knox Presbyterian Church Jewels, a group of youngsters, sing carols in many languages under the direction of Mrs. Mercedes Douglass.

The Yuletide message was by the Rev. H. Octavius Graham, pastor of the Knox Church, who is financial secretary of the group.

Kenneth C. Wilson, president; Irvin Case, vice president; Mrs. Ada Lee, recording secretary, are officers of the club.

Charter members are Mesdames Sara Usher, Edith Meyers, Rosa Landsdown and Dr. C. Mansell Lawrence who has been a member of the club 30 years.

DEC. 27 candlelight wedding at St. Marks Baptist Church will be one of the season's most fabulous.

At 5 p.m. that Saturday, Miss Louella Black, 2325 Mosher St., teacher at Harvey Johnson Junior High School, will exchange vows with Wilbert Richardson, recreation department supervisor.

The church will be a bower of Christmas flowers including poinsettias in deep red, orchids in white, set against a background of hemlock, fir and pine.

Archways and runners will be of flowers while the pews will be laced with blossoms.

The bride-to-be will carry a bouquet of white buttery orchids while the six bridesmaids will carry bunches of posies set off with Christmas bubbles.

Miss Black's gown is pearl studded lace with a long train.

FLYING TO Paris and her fairyland wedding is Miss Bernice Holloman who will wed her prince charming, Gerard Pochonet on Dec. 27 at a small church just outside the city.

Petite Miss Holloman will leave by jet plane on Dec. 24, and will arrive for Christmas morning breakfast with her in-laws-to-be at their Vaucresson estate.

With Parisienne flair, Miss Holloman will travel in a belted cashmere short sport jacket with matching cashmere sweater and doeskin slippers.

Dramatic notes to her costume, which incidentally is the thing for jet-stream flying, are dark glasses, leopard tam and matching slacks.
