'REVOLT IN BIG HOUSE' AT ALBERT

David Diamond's production of "Revolt In The Big House" for Allied Artists release will be remembered for its several fine qualities, but most of all, perhaps, for the outstanding performance of young Robert Blake.

The film, which is now at the New Albert Theater, stars Blake with another exceptionally talented actor, Gene Evans.

Evans portrays the hardened criminal, a hoodlum who has beaten a large number of police charges but as last finds himself a prisoner determinde to escape the penitentiary.

To play a great part in what he hopes will be his successful escape, he foments discontent among his fellow prisoners and stirs them to staging a riot; it is during the uprising that he plans to get over the wall.

Evans' cell-mate is young Blake, who had been convicted on a holdup charge after having been tricked into participating in the crime.

Unlike Evans, Blake is determined to gain an early parole and prove himself worthy of a place in society. This determination, however, is shattered by the ruthless Evans.

FAMOUS FAIRY TALE ON HARLEM'S SCREEN

One of the world's most famous fairy tales; a cast of both live actors and animated cartoon characters; music and dances are combined in "tom thumb." A George Pal Production for MGM, starts Sunday at the Harlem. Directed by the producer, and filmed in Eastman Color, the picture is based on the beloved tale by the Brothers Grimm, with the screen play written by Ladislaus Fodor.

The title role is played by Russ Tamblyn.

Although he actually is 5 feet ten inches tall, Tamblyn is reduced to the size of the five-and-one-half inch "tom" by ingenious photographic devices which present him in such situations as hiding behind a bottle and climbing into a horse's ear.

The special effects were created by Tom Howard, Academy Award winner in 1946 for Special visual Effects in the film, "Blithe Spirit."

Alan Young, winner of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences Award as "best television actor," portrays Weedy, the village piper who befriends "tom" and wins the love of the beautiful Queen of the Forest.

DOUBLE ATTRACTIONS AT ROYAL THEATRE

"The Goddess," now playing thru Tues. Dec. 23, stars famed Broadway actress Kim Stanley, who makes her motion picture debut in the title role and stars Lloyd Bridges.

"The Goddess" is the story of a girl who becomes a movie idol adored by millions.

It is, the intimate account of her journey to the heights and depths of fame; and it is also the story of her generation, born in the depression and obsessed by dreams of prosperity.

The awesome human drama of the jet age and its heroes, with the whole earth its stage, the wide sky its backdrop, has been thrillingly told in "High Flight," starring Ray Milland in CinemaScope is the second attraction. The Royal closes Christmas Eve and reopens Christmas day with "Hot Rod's Happy Holiday stage Revue."

RUSS TAMBLYN, reduced by film magic to a height of five-inches for the title role in "Tom Thumb," finds refuge in a horse's ear in one of the fascinating scenes in the screen version of the famed Brothers Grimm fairy tale, that starts Sunday at the Harlem. The George Pal production in color, released by MGM, combines live action, animated cartoon characters, songs and dances.

Dominican Republica raves over Phillippa Schuyler

NEW YORK — In the beautiful new Bellas Artes concert hall in Trujillo City, Dominican Republic, young New York Pianist, Philippa Schuyler, scored a tremendous triumph before a packed house of cheering Dominicans when she finished playing the Grieg Concerto with the National Symphony Orchestra. The orchestra was directed by Maestro Manuel Simo.

El Caribe the morning daily reported:

"Philippa Schuyler is a great virtuoso. She merits all the eulogies awarded her. Her interpretation was delightful. It had elan, force, passion, and penetration of the most recondite subtleties. . . ."

La Nacion stated: "Philippa Schuyler had a packed house and conquered the sympathy of the public with her passionate musical personality. . . ."

BEFORE THE concert, the President of the Republic, Hector Trujillo, and the Generalissimo, Raphael Trujillo, both received her at their magnificent National Palace in Trujillo City.

Accompanied by the President's, assistants, Miss Schuyler was shown through the vast, highceilinged palace which is entirely built with material produced in the Republic: its handsome green, rose and white marble floors and walls, its massive mahogany furniture and inlaid woods are native to the island.

The day following, Miss Schuyler received in the company of her parents, a diploma from Dr. Soto, President of the Society of African Dominican Culture, and Dean of the University of the Republic, presented at a banquet held at the Dragon Restaurant and attended by the Mayor of the city and Dr. Jose Enrique Aybar, President of the Dominican Party.

Handel's arias, imagery come alive at Christmas

By ADAH K. JENKINS

Again the magnificent choruses, the immortal arias and rich imagery of Handel's "Messiah" come alive as choirs and soloists greet the Advent-Christmas season.

Each year crowds fill churches and halls to hear this oratorio, with some groups singing the complete score of three choruses all over the country.

Drummer Cozy Cole revealed Wednesday night here that his new hit tune "Topsy" has polled an estimated $32,000 in royalties so far, with more yet to come.

"It's the biggest single I've ever made," Cozy smiled, adding:

"The tune has surpassed the million-and-one half mark in sales. With profits from the tune I'm investing in two New York apartment buildings and in government bonds."

* * *

THE DRUM disciple, who picked up his first pair of drum sticks in 1931, said his best seller tune was almost made by accident.

"The record men wanted me to do 'Caravan,' a number I had done over and over again while working with Arthur Godfrey on his radio show.

"I didn't think it a very good selection, so I asked them to wait. They went along with me and we came up with Topsy."

Cozy said Topsy was by "no means a new tune. The late pianist Art Tatum used it as his theme song. Count Basie also used it for years."

* * *

"I THINK THE success of the tune was in the drum treatment we gave it," he explained during intermission while appearing at a local nitery.

Cole is of the opinion that "people as a whole are beat conscious."

"Dixieland music," he said, will never die because it is warm, has a melody line and a beat."

"This is not to say modern music is not good. But I do believe modern jazz will have to be doctored up some to be pleasing to the public.

"You see, rock and roll brought back the beat."

* * *

COZY, WHO worked for four years with Louis Armstrong and about a year with Godfrey on his radio and television shows, borders on Dixieland in his music, though he swings too.

He evades the modern idiom for the most part yet has fond affection for the sounds of Dizzy Gillespie and George Shearing.

His group, with him only two months, is Barney Bigard, a former Duke Ellington product, on clarinet; Al Cobbs, trombone; Harold Johnson, trumpet and Eddie Swantson, organ.

Cole is scheduled to do a television show in Chicago on New Year's Eve.

WHEN THE DUKE PLAYED a benefit here recently at the Lucky Number Club, this group was on hand to enjoy the Duke Ellington music. McKeldin dedicates new State building

The State Roads Commission Building, which was dedicated Thursday by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin before 150 dignitaries and spectators was the first new construction completed in the state's plan for an office center in Baltimore.

The new 7 - story building will house all the offices of the State Roads Commission and other state offices.

Other new buildings under construction are the Main Office Building, and the Employment Security Building.

They are all located in the same area, bounded by Preston and Hoffman Sts. at Eutaw St.
