Sonny Boy West Scales Fistic Ladder the Hard Way

Forced From Local Scene; Top Attraction in Baltimore; Compared to Joe Gans

By FRED LEIGH

WASHINGTON

Scaling the fistic ladder to meteoric rise paralleling no other fighter in the District is a quiet, shy youngster with a killer instinct who has had to go his fistic prowess elsewhere.

He is Alfred (Sonny Boy) West 18-year-old former Randall Junior High School pupil whose name means little, but whose fists have ruined the championship aspiration of an impressive array of fighters.

Forced From Local Scene

Forced from the local scene because of managerial trouble in securing bouts at a good percentage, Sonny Boy, who turned professional in December, 1947, has speeded the major part of his scrapping in Baltimore where he is compared with the original Joe Gans. His bobbing style, mixing movements and rapid reflexes make him an exact replica of the famous fighter. Already he has earned the title of "Dark Assassin."

Sonny Boy's record of 20 victories in 21 starts, 11 by knockouts, attest his prowess as a fighter. He has put the skids under all opponents whom he knayoed within rounds. His record reads like this:

Red Gaddis, KO, 4; George Jr., KO, 1; Ray Bryant, KO, 2; Harry Brown, D, 4; Chico Rodriquez, KO, 2; Paul Watson, D, 6; Red Gaddis, KO, 5; Mickey Garcia, D, 6; Johnny Gonzalez, D, 6; Harry Lasane, L, 6; Harry Lasane, D, 8; Joey Longo, D, 8; Joey Longo, KO, 7; Leslie Harris, D, 10; Vic Young, KO, 1; Danny Webb, D, 8; Tommy Reid, KO, 1; Billy Reed, D, 6.

Two opponents whom West turned back could not be recalled off hand.

A full-fledge featherweight, West confined his fighting to a regional in Baltimore until last May 13 when he reached his 18th birthday. The District Boxing Commission prohibits a boxer entering professional before he reaches his 18th birthday. Whereas in Baltimore the ruling is 17.

Came Up the Hard Way

Reared in uncongenial poverty, West dropped out of school over two years ago to become a breadwinner. With his earnings, he helps his parents feed his youngest brothers and sisters. After all, a family of eight is nothing easy to feed. He implied he might return to a vocational school to study carpentry.

No Profit Fighting

A local product of 423 L St. S.E., Sonny Boy is owned and managed by Mighty Mike Stevenson, who has to be carried in a wheelchair to direct his fighting. Mighty Mel induced him to box at 10. During his amateur career, he appeared at the Police Boys' Club, Schneider A.C., YMCA, Griffith Stadium and Newport News, Va.

Said Mighty Mel: "There is no profit in fighting in Washington. The only outlet is Turner's Arena where Gabe Menendez promotes."

Gross gates at the arena during the past few months have seldom gone beyond $1,500. The final Ken Stribling and Frank Lacey promotion attracted less than 900 patrons.

Tall, slender and muscular, West is the oldest of six children and the idol of his younger brothers. Sonny Boy's mother never attends his fights because she doesn't approve of his fighting.

As Mel puts it: "Sonny Boy takes his training seriously and is sure to get to the top because he is anxious to get recognition."

Indoor Boxing to Resume Monday

WASHINGTON

Following a lull over the holidays, indoor boxing activities will be resumed at Turners Arena Monday night with three top fighters heading two-eight-round bouts.

Jimmy Cooper, latest whiz kid of swatdom, who is undefeated in five professional starts, will meet Orlando Fernandez of Tampa, Fla., in the opening eight rounder.

Fernandez, making his debut here, has won seven of eight matches, and trounced Joey Pulg of Tampa, to claim the Southern bantamweight crown. A tough lithe scrapper, he is labeled "Spiderlegs" in his native haunt.

In another eight-rounder, Stonewall Jackson and Charlie Bennett, veteran fighter, are meeting in a rematch.

Jackson has lost but one fight in his last 15 outings, and that came at the hands of the slow shuffling Bennett in a close tussle.

Both Jackson and Cooper are striving for top recognition in the 48 season, and will bear watching. Cooper is considered the hottest fighting machine since Aaron Perry stole in the limelight several years ago.

Ford's Former Tutor Sees Rose Bowl Game

WASHINGTON

Calo W. Adams, former assistant principal at Armstrong High School and one-time General baseball coach, was in Pasadena yesterday (Thursday) to witness the Rose Bowl football game between Illinois and Southern California.

Mr. Adams was a teacher of Woodrow Wilson High. Leonard Ford when the latter attended Armstrong High.

Bisons Outlast N.C. to Cop Basket Debut

Locals Use Height Advantage to Score 55-50 Victory Here

WASHINGTON

Repulsing a North Carolina bid for victory in the last two minutes, a rangy Howard University quintet recovered a strong finish to nip the Eagles, 55-50, in an exhibition game, Tuesday night, before 1,000 fans at Howard Arena.

The Eagles used a fast-breaking offense from the opening gun with a zone on defense, but trailed in the initial minutes, 8-0. Willie Mae McCarroll, a six-foot three-inch freshman from New York City, and Harold Hunter, a freshman from Kansas City, Kans., performing like veterans in the pivot, the Eagles found the basket with regularity in the second period, and trailed, 26-19, at the half.

The Bisons' height paid off in that they were able to match the visitors' attack with looping overhead hook shots, thus piling up a 41-32 lead near the close of the third period.

The game, however, was won on the foul line. North Carolina outscored the locals from the floor, 20 goals to 19, but faltered on the foul line, tallying only 10 of 24 tries. The Bisons hit the hoop from the foul line 17 times in 33 attempts.

With four minutes remaining in the contest, the Eagles unleased a threatening finish with Miller, Herring and Hunter cracking through the Howard defense with ease to trail, 50-46. Hunter followed through with two successive goals to make it 50-48, with one minute and a half remaining.

Then in a dramatic climax, Howard's "Iron Man" Leonard Leon Bryant tallied successive field goals with Frank Booth, high scorer with 20 points, racking up a final win by a narrow margin.

The Eagles indicated, despite the fact that this year's squad comprises 11 freshmen, they will be the team to reckon with as the season grows older.

In a preliminary game, the District Teachers defeated the Cavaliers, 48-21.

SAHSAC Notes

By DeREEF GREENE

WASHINGTON

The fine type of athlete performing annually in the South Atlantic High School Athletic Conference has reduced the headache of many college coaches.

A good example of a former SAHSAC ace who has made good is William (Bullet Bill) Mathis, a former Cardozo sprint star, now running under the colors of the University of Illinois. Mathis holds several national championships.

He won the National AAU 100-meter championship in the excellent time of 10.3 seconds. Other victories include the Penn Relays Invitational 100-yard dash in 9.3 seconds; and the Chicago Invitational 50-yard dash in the fast time of 5.2 seconds.

"Bullet Bill" also holds several scholastic records, among these the SAHSAC 100- and 220-yard dash titles. He set the 100-yard dash record of 9.8 seconds in 1945, and notched the 220-yard record in 1944 in the sizzling time of 22.1 seconds.

I ran into him the other day and I asked him how long he thought his SAHSAC 100-yard dash record would stand. He drawled: "Aw, that will be there for a while. Someone will have to do a 9.7 to break the record, and 9.7 in high school is pretty fast." Bill celtics (Boston) might tie it this year, but I doubt if he can break it."

Queried how long he thought his SAHSAC 220-yard record would stand. He replied: "Marcellus has been coming along nicely in the 220, and he has a very good chance of breaking my record of 22.1 this year."

The five-foot six-inch, 147-pound sprinter urged young track enthusiasts to practice diligently. "A good coach is essential in the development of young stars, he said.

Mathis is competing in the special invitational meet tomorrow night (Saturday) in the National Guard Armory against some of the top sprinters in the country in the 70-, 80- and 100-yard events. His opponents will include Herb Douglass, Dick Houden, Jim Pettit and Lee Sullivan.

Mathis heads the list of former SAHSAC performers as Pickles Wright, James Bucoem, Clarence Turner, James Bucoem, William Collins, Arthur Smith, and Dick Lee.

Sports Chatter

WASHINGTON

Wilberforce University and Grambling, listed among the 10 New Year's Day major bowl games, were the two top offensive teams in the nation, including Notre Dame, Penn State, Missouri Valley, College of the Pacific and Michigan.

Wilberforce amassed 393 points to its opponents' 58; and little known Grambling down in Louisiana piled up 356 to 50 for its opponents.

My reliable operative on the Hilltop informed me that there is dissatisfaction among members of nearby University's championship boxing team, and as a result many of them will not be around to defend their crowns this season.

Coaches Ted Chambers and James Parker, the latter a part-time instructor last season, have been replaced by Kenny Powell, recently added to the Bison athletic staff as a full-time instructor.

Coach Lois Williams's Dunbar High School cagers, with the help of several promising players from the jayvees, are expected to offer the stiffest opposition to Armstrong's claim as South Atlantic Conference champions the second straight year.

Incidentally, Armstrong is strengthened in morale and manpower with the return of Alonzo Liggins, dependable floorman, who doubtedly will feel it at the gate this season. The contest billed with the Rens at 8 p.m. last Friday, got underway at 9:35 p.m. Officials claimed the Rens were delayed in the snowstorm raging in New York.

With Bill Brown, Zack Clayton and Johnny Isaacs out of the lineup, the "Bears" performance appeared a half-hearted attempt to please the 1,200 fans.

Should Stonewall Jackson get by Johnny (Honey Boy) Williams, in his next outing, Mighty Mel Stevenson, who has been accused by Manager Billy Edward of ducking out on a previously proposed match, said he may consider a fight here between Sonny Boy West and the Stonewall.

Lincoln University's 29-game cage schedule includes 16 athletics, and 11 mixed contests.

As I See It

By AL SWEENEY

WASHINGTON

Well, here it is 1948, and another thrill-packed sports year is forecast. As it looks from here, the customers will not be throwing cabbage around with such reckless abandon as last year, but nonpetition in all of the fields of sport will approach the pre-war era.

This writer feels that 1948 will be a great year, if the following items would only come:

(1) Our number one local sports figure, Sylvester (Sal) Hall, Cardozo's crack football and track coach, with a college coaching job. This writer believes that Sal would soon become, if given the material, one of the greatest college coaches in the nation.

(2) Coach Eddie Jackson's Howard U. Bisons continuing their winning ways on the gridiron and on the basketball court. With a winning coach under his wing, Jackson is a changed man. He knows how to mentor exotics with honey and is extremely handsome now that he has a winner.

(3) Dunbar's football squad with some winning material. It would be both novel and healthy for city's inter-high series. And in addition, it would probably produce the human in Coach Jesse Chase, who, so I hear, has been going around with a chip on his shoulder.

'Force vs. Howard?

(4) Our alma mater Wilberforce State, that let boxing with Howard, and on the chalk-stripes this fall, because some guy, who thinks a these two teams will be the nation's finest, and what a game that would be!

(5) Sonnyboy Hursey on the comeback trail and under the guidance of Coach Jackson. There is no reason under the sun for Hursey's current plight. Careful matchmaking would have kept him in the fistic spotlight, but as it is, Hursey is just another pug—Joe Blow.

(6) Youngsters, who get college scholarships, not taking the juvenile attitude that Joe Louis, former Cardozo star, took at West Point. Louis, who is now a Major, realize that a scholarship is a means to an end—acquisition of a college education and whether a scholarship winner makes the first team or not, shouldn't cause him to chuck it all and quit school.

After all, quitters never win and winners never quit. Page was one of this writer's favorite athletes and this scribe is disappointed in his actions regardless of the circumstances that forced him to drop out of school.

Another Josh

I would like to see the Homestead Grays with another Josh Gibson. But, who wouldn't?

It would be novel to see one of the local fighters remaining loyal to the Hill instead transferring after they make a name—say like Joe Louis, Ike Ibe, etc.

It would be poetic justice, or something like that, if Jackie Robinson, Frank Booth, who flubbed an important foul shot in last year's CIAA basketball tournament, sparkled through from the foul-line during a crucial moment this year.

If the Armstrong quintet comes through with a city title, it couldn't happen to a better guy than Tech's personable mentor, Charles Ballimore.

Bratton-Minelli Clash to Pry Off Ring Lid

PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia's first fight of the new year will be staged Monday night when Johnny Bratton, classy Chicagoan, and Livio Minelli, Italy's unbeaten welterweight champion, clash in a 10-rounder at Convention Hall.

Although regarded as a lightweight, Bratton, making his local debut, looms as a major test for Minelli, who has designs on Sugar Ray Robinson's world's welterweight championship.

The Mid-Westerner has been called a carbon copy of former Lightweight Champion Barney Ross and has upheld that billing by impressive showings. Among his victims are Willie Joyce, Freddy Dawson, Danny Kapilow, Pedro Firpo, Al Jordan, Richard Polite and Biff Jones.

Whipped Beltsi

Minelli, conqueror of Bob Montgomery in his only appearance here, will be arriving for his 12th victory since invading the United States early this year. He has yet to taste defeat in 41 professional encounters.

Three eight-rounders support the Bratton-Minelli setto.

The semi-final, pitting two of the city's better light-heavyweights, Harold Johnson and Kenny Harris, against each other, has attracted widespread attention. Johnson's explosive hitting power is expected to decide the winner, although Harris's followers think his deft left hand may swing the battle in his favor.

Honeychild Johnson and Billy Fagnine, two popular local welters, are paired in one of the other bouts. The opener will send Bill Poll and Joey Falco, Italian welters, against each other.
