Attacks Evoke Death Threat

convicted of assaulting a 23-year-old school teacher in her bedroom.

In passing sentence Judge Moser said he would not have hesitated to hang Knot if a sex attempt had been proved.

The young woman said the man entered her South Baltimore home on Dec. 21, jumped upon her bed, hit her face and bruised her mouth and ear in a struggle.

Captured by Family

He was seized by her father, brother-in-law and other family members whom answered her screams, and held until police arrived.

Teeth marks were on the woman's face, and blood streamed from her mouth and ear, according to facts presented to the court by William H. Maynard, deputy State's attorney.

Native of South Carolina

Knot, who came to Baltimore from South Carolina just two months ago, claimed he had been drinking, and remembered nothing except sitting on the steps of the home and being "pulled inside" by the family men.

An iron bar was found outside of the bedroom window which had been forced open, it was revealed.

Knot received 20 years on the burglary charge, and 10 years on the assault count, each term to run consecutively.

Suspect's Face Bruised

The case of the Social Security worker, a 23-year-old West Baltimore matron, was aired in Northwestern police court Tuesday.

The tale was told to Magistrate Thomas L. Fitzpatrick as the accused, Edward Slater, 23, of 1201 Argyle Ave., his eyes closed almost clam-tight, his lips terribly swollen, and cheeks badly bruised, cringed in the prisoner's dock.

He was held without bail for action of the grand jury.

Forced Away From Door

The matron, working on the midnight shift at the Candler Building, said she had reached her home in the 900 block of N. Fremont Ave. shortly before 1 a.m. Friday when the incident occurred.

She said she had just inserted the key in the lock when an unidentified man slipped up from behind. With his hand bulging in his overcoat pocket over something resembling a revolver, he demanded that she open the door for him.

Attacked in Parked Car

The matron said she let out a scream at which the other threatened to kill her if another outcry was made. Her account follows:

"Pulling me down from the step, he forced me to accompany him through a nearby alley to a parked automobile, where I was assaulted twice.

"I was afraid to scream, but when he said that he wanted to see me again because I was his type of woman, I knew that wasmychance to trap him and made a date for 1 p.m. the following day.

"He saw me back to my home and stood across the street until I had entered the house, then he disappeared through an ally.

Husband Nabs Suspect

"I didn't go to a hospital or tell the police that night because the man said he would kill me if word leaked out!"

Suspect Tells His Version

Though against making any statement, Tuesday, the accused said he had been met by an unidentified woman woman who had asked him to tell Miss . . . at such-and-such address, that a friend of hers had been shot "on the Avenue." He emphatically denied the attack charge.

In building his defense, Slater produced four witnesses who testified that he was playing cards with them at the time of the reported crime.

When the suspect appeared at the house several days later, he was invited in and held by the woman's husband and another in response to their call.

The matron was positive in her identification of the suspect, even to the pair of sun glasses he was wearing at the time of the attack. They were found in his overcoat pocket when he was overpowered on Sunday.

In the most recent case, the young housewife was walking the three blocks to her home from the streetcar line after visiting her sister on N. Gilmor St., when an unidentified man grabbed her around the neck.

Passerby Fails to Help

The woman said she screamed but the man threatened to kill her and dragged her into a court on Saratoga St., side of Poe Homes. Still struggling with her attacker, the woman let out another scream that attracted a male passerby.

The man peped into the darkness at the struggling pair, but continued on his way when the attacker warned: "Man, you better go on and mind your own business."

Suspect Being Sought

Evidently the passerby assumed that it was a domestic squabble and for that reason refused to interfere.

Police throughout the city are pressing the search for the suspect, who was described as being about 28 years old and wearing an Army combat jacket and cap with earmuffs.

NEED FOR PROJECT PROVED:

Charities Fund Has Aided Dozen Families

Its benefits will be distributed among deserving cases through a program similar to the Welfare Fund for Children, which is operated by the Sun Francisco Call-Bulletin Newspapers.

This fund is directed entirely to individual aid and rehabilitation for underprivileged children.

Campaign Mapped Clearly

Establishing an entirely separate bank account, the newspaper assumes all the administrative and overhead charges of the project and administers the money with the assistance of an outside advisory group.

The money is raised in several different ways. Once a year, a public appeal is made through the newspaper, and all contributions received during that six-week period are acknowledged in the press.

During the course of the year numerous promotion events are presented, with all profits going into the fund. These include sports contests, variety shows, movie premieres, and tournaments.

Outside Advisory Board

The money is spent in a paysas-you-get basis—the donors make the paper tries to keep it on a revolving basis and spend as much during a calendar year as it takes—always keeping a little in reserve.

The advisory board consists of some members from PTA groups, and a representative from the Juvenile Court. In all cases, the expenditures are made through other organizations which handle the investigation of need and direct administration of the money.

Children Benefited

At Christmas time, a party for children is held, and gifts are distributed to every youngster in orphanages and children's institutions in the San Francisco area.

The AFRO Fund, too, plans to close out the year with a Christmas party for the neighborhood youngsters.

erend Shadd and Dr. and Mrs. Goodloe.

FATHER: Well, how are you today, Reverend?

Rev. Shadd: Nicely, FATHER, I am so thankful to be with YOU, FATHER, I have brought this party, Dr. Goodloe and his wife—they are here to speak for themselves. They have come with an open heart and an open mind. I will let them tell YOU just the burden of why they have come.

Dr. Goodloe: Well, FATHER, we came to YOU with clear minds in regards to our four-year-old son. We would like to have our son helped, if possible.

FATHER: What is it? He is physically ill?

Dr. Goodloe: Physically—yes, he is. He is physically incapacitated with an atheistic condition.

Mrs. Goodloe: We would like to say that we want to give him the opportunity and we thought that YOUR help and our help that probably he could get more blessings that he has not received up to this point.

FATHER: Well, I would like to say that it is not anything I do as a Person to reach one's condition. As a Practical Psychologist and Spiritual Advisor I merely reach the condition of the person from a psychological, mental and spiritual point of view.

That is why I often say in MY Writings or Correspondence that it is not necessary for a person to contact ME Personally especially since the contact that is essential is mental and spiritual.

Dr. Goodloe: Yes.

Mental and Spiritual Contact

FATHER: And if any person can, as you say you have an open mind, make the MENTAL and SPIRITUAL CONTACT without criticism or prejudice or division or strife, and then RELAX their CONSCIOUS MENTALITY and STILL THEMSELVES IMPLICITLY, CONSCIENTIOUSLY and SincERELY, their PRAYERS, which are their DESIRES, can and will be HEARD and ANSWERED SPEEDILY—for it is written,

"Before they call I will answer and while they are yet speaking I will hear."

So from a metaphysical or scientific spiritual point of view we endeavor to reach you and things and persons who concern you. So if that can be made—if the contact can be made sympathetically, harmoniously, conscientiously and sincerely, as you say, results can be attained, for there is nothing impossible with GOD and GOD is OMNIPOTENT, OMNISCIENT and OMNIPRESENT with or without a Person!

God Termed Omniscient

So therefore, over and above the help of man and mankind with all of their skill and ability and understanding, GOD is OMNISCIENT and GOD CAN and WILL REACH the CONDITION if the person or persons concerned CAN and WILL CONTACT HIM EFFECTIVELY in ALL FAITH, DOUBTING NOTHING!

For this cause it is a privilege and a pleasure to reach the condition of one of whom has had every other available prospective assistance of assistants and see that those things have failed them.

When you call on GOD, have FAITH — IMPLICIT FAITH and UNSHAKEN CONFIDENCE — realizing that it is not a matter of mortality or matter to be considered but the IMPERSONALITY and the UNINDIVIDUALITY of GOD, yet working through the Personification of humanity to reach humanity on the material plane. It is GOD UNADULTERATED that CAN and WILL REACH your condition!

So if you have IMPLICIT FAITH and UNSHAKEN CONFIDENCE there is NOTHING IMPOSSIBLE with him that BELIEVETH — and that is the KIND of BELIEF that CHRIST in the Sonship Degree called for of nineteen hundred years ago when He said,

"To him that believeth, all things are possible!"

or

"Not anything is impossible for him that believeth!"

Faith Strengthened

So that is the KIND of FAITH to have — IMPLICIT FAITH! — and if you have that you may seek assistance through the different channels and agencies that are set apart to give service to humanity from a physiological or mental and spiritual point of view, know within yourself GOD is the ONE that will DO IT WITH or WITHOUT any BODY.

Therefore, you will not have an occasion to stumble at the PERSONALITY of your HUMBLE SERVANT in its insignificance in appearance and expression! But have Faith to know even through matters not whom it may be. GOD is the ONE that CAN HELP and WILL HELP your CHILD.

If we put away the personages and the mortal concept concerning the personality and the personage with whom we are now concerned, we can get CLOSER to GOD in REALITY to establish a SUBSTANTIATED FAITH and UNSHAKEN CONFIDENCE that CANNOT BE SHAKEN!

But often we come—the public, whichever, come to the Throne of Grace, in a way of speaking—but the concept of men and the mortal versions are BETWEEN them and HIM—BETWEEN the REALITY of GOD as a LIVING SAVIOR and REDEEMER, as much OPERATIVE and EXPRESSIVE through any agency or through any personage as invisible, why then, the WORK of GOD can be established in the individual concerned! You see the mystery?

Mrs. Goloe: Yes.

Goodloes Meet Mrs. Divine

"The party arose and each one in turn shook hands with the SAVIOR and REDEEMER of the Universe. FATHER then wished them Peace and said:)

"You might meet Mrs. DIVINE." (They all greeted her then Dr. Goodloe turned gratefully to FATHER and said, "Thank YOU, FATHER!")

FATHER: You might go down and I will be right down shortly. The first bell rang; I heard it ring; and so I had not long come in the Office and was trying to get something out for the press. So I will be right down shortly.

Rev. Shadd: Peace, FATHER.

FATHER: Peace.

Tribute to Father

(As they left the Office one of the Secretaries marvelled at how our SAVIOR always knows the thoughts of the persons who seek His Counsel, to which FATHER replied: "He is the Comforter of HIS Holy Spirit, softly replied:)

You see, I have many thing to move from around them! For Solomon to get that conviction I had to move all of VERSION of all the DOCTRINES AND THE DOCTRINAL INFORMATION — that had been given by all of the RELIGIONS and METAPHYSICIANS through the AGES!

I had to move all of those ASIDE to get to the CONTRITE and SINCERE HEART of him; and by that he was CONVINCED, and RECEIVED a BLESSING that not any of those DIFFERENT VERSIONS could give him.

Maryland 1 of 9 States Protecting Children From Brand of Illegitimacy

On one score at least—the protection of the illegitimate children—Maryland is up to par with nine other progressive States.

Therefore, Maryland is not in need of the "anti-shame legislation" being sought by the National Association of Women Lawyers, who are campaigning to have all States remove from birth certificates any reference to a child's illegitimacy Birth certificates in Baltimore and throughout the State carry only essential information necessary to keep accurate medical records.

Only Essentials Noted

This includes place, date and hour of birth, name and sex of child, background (including race) of parents, length of mother's pregnancy and number of other children borne by her.

No question is raised as to whether the parents are married.

Michigan is the latest State recently to have changed their law providing for "anti-shame" birth records such as are kept in Maryland.

The other States are California, Georgia, Mississippi, Nevada, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and Washington.

The women lawyers are urging that a bill be introduced in each of the other States to correct practices and customs that tend to blight the lives of children born out of wedlock.

Miss Hazel O Selby of Boston, chairman of the association's committee on uniform State laws, quoted statistics showing that at least 200,000 are born out of wedlock each year, constituting one of every 23 births.

She pointed out that in many States, the fact of illegitimacy must be noted on the birth record.

In other States, no surname can be listed for the baby; while in a few States, notices are published in local papers if the mother is not a resident.

Have Embarrassing Effect

The embarrassing effect of these records is emphasized when birth certificates are required as proof of citizenship for employment and for other purposes such as proofs of age, obtaining insurance and registering in school.

So the organization has launched a humanitarian campaign to establish uniform laws in all the States to protect innocent children born out of wedlock.

Granger Launches $5,000 Urban League Drive Here

Lester B. Granger, National Urban League executive secretary, launched the local Urban League campaign to raise $5,000 with a stirring address before the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance on Thursday.

The financial drive will continue through February.

Pointing out that this was the first time in its 37-year history that the League had appealed directly to the public for funds, Mr. Granger told of the extensive five year program the National League plans to put into effect.

The proposed program calls for 25,000 job placement contacts, an equal number of contacts for housing and 750,000 contacts with young people for guidance toward broader occupation choice.

Mr. Granger described the work of the Community Relations Project of the National League and explained that within the past three years, CRP has been at work in 12 cities, analyzing and finding the solutions to public housing and health problems.

Clergy Pledge Support

The meeting, held at the Madison Ave. YWCA, was called by the Ministerial Alliance. The Rev. F. J. Frye presided.

The ministers—20 of them were present—pledged to take a large representative bring the campaign to their respective churches one Sunday in February.

The local financial campaign has the approval of the Baltimore Urban League Board and the local Community Fund.

'Con' Racketeers Warned by Jurist

Warning subsequent offenders that flimflammers will be dealt with severely, Judge Joseph Sherbow, Thursday, slapped a three-year indeterminate prison term upon a woman convicted of working the old "drop pocket book" game to the tune of $635 from an unsuspecting victim.

The woman, Miss Ora Jenkins, 32, was sentenced to the Women's Reformatory. She is said to have worked her operation with another woman who is still at large.

Victim was Mrs. Roselle Smith, resident of Baltimore, who lost the $635 from the bank after meeting up with Miss Jenkins in Lexington market on Jan. 25 of last year, and listening to the woman's story about "money" found in the pocketbook.
