Sponsors Needed to Help Finance Lecture Series

Sponsors are being sought for a series of forums to include lectures by Pearl Buck, noted author, and Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, leading sociologist.

As chief sponsor under auspices of the East-West Association of New York City, the Sharp St. Community House forum committee, also lists among the scheduled speakers, Dr. Gene "Weltfish, professor of anthropology at Columbia and author of the "Race of Mankind;" and Mike Mosoaka, voted the outstanding Japanese-American in the United States in 1940.

Under direction of Mrs. Sarah P. Diggs, a campaign is being conducted to obtain 200 sponsors to underwrite the expenses of the community program.

Pearl Buck is slated to appear on April 6; Weltfish on Apr. 16; Masoaka on Apr. 25, and DuBois on May 2. All lectures will be held at Sharp St. Methodist Church under the general theme, "Living Together in One World."

Others working on the forum committee are the Rev. Joshua O. Williams, general chairman; Mrs. Daisy B. Jones, co-chairman of sponsorships; Miss Florence M. Wheeler, secretary; the Rev. A. J. Payne, treasurer; and Mrs. Vivian Alleyne, chairman of program arrangements.

4 Sudden Deaths Occur Same Day

Within a 9-hour period, Monday, the Medical Examiner's office was called on to investigate four sudden deaths, one of them violent and two occurring in the same house.

Shortly after 11 a.m., Robert Hausley, 65, of 730 Mulberry St., suffered a stroke at his place of employment, a barrel factory on Haven St. The worker, who had been employed there for 10 years, was pronounced dead in Franklin Square Hospital, 6 hours later.

Deaf Mute Dies

Between 2 p.m. and 6 p.m., death struck twice in a sparsely furnished, two-story bandbox house at 1108 Carson Ct., Monday.

The victims were Mrs. Jennie Smith, 76, and Mrs. Mary Prather, 81, deaf mute, who were pronounced dead at Provident Hospital and their bodies taken to the city morgue to be claimed.

Mrs. Smith was rushed to the hospital first and pronounced dead. Four hours later, police were again called to the Carson Ct. house where they found the other woman dying. Death in both cases was attributed to natural causes.

At 8 p.m., Southern District police were called to the WestPort Dump where the body of an elderly man was found lying near a makeshift tin shack.

The victim, tentatively identified as Leroy White, 53, no home address, was taken to South Baltimore General Hospital and pronounced dead. No relatives are known.

PLEADS IN KILLING

TRENTON—A plea to manslaughter was entered in Federal Court on Monday by Pvt. James O. Blackman of Camp Kilmer, who was charged with killing Pvt. Isaac Gilloman, 23, in a dice game in the Kilmer barracks last Aug. 19.

SIX MONTHS AND PFFT:

Ralph and Pearl Call the Whole Thing Off

The song "It's a Woman's Prerogative to Change Her Mind," made famous by Pearl Bailey, when she was starred recently in "St. Louis Woman," was sung in New York when she obtained a divorce from Ralph Harlan, Washington sportsman and playboy, after only six months of marriage.

The divorce was obtained in Chicago on Jan. 29. Mr. Harlan admitted to the AFRO Monday, but insisted that there were no hard feelings between himself and his personable former wife.

Agreed to Disagree

"We are still good friends," he said, "and I think she is a great artist and a great person; but she just had too much success and too much money for me and I couldn't keep up the pace.

He added:

"I found myself unable to give her the companionship and attention which she wanted and needed from a husband, without being dependent upon her, as she was called back and forth across the continent to fill movie and theatrical engagements.

"This put me in a position of feeling like a parasite, so we agreed to call the whole thing off."

Seemed Perfect Match

The marriage of the young star and her local spouse got off to a flying start last June when Pearl, at the height of her career, came to Washington and purchased a new home and a smart sports convertible Buick and it looked like the perfect romance.

There were even reports that she planned to leave the stage, as had her equally talented brother, dancing Bill Bailey hailed as the nearest successor to Bill Robinson, who quit the dancing profession to turn preacher.

Late of Footlights

Miss Bailey intended to settle in Washington and rear a family. Apparently the pressure from Hollywood, recording companies, night clubs and theatrical agents were too strong and Miss Bailey dashed off to Hollywood.

She has just finished "Variety Girl" and is soon to be seen in Paramount's "It's Always Spring."

Mr. Harlan, who was injured in World War II married Miss Bailey a few days after his divorce from a pretty Connie Lutes, a local government worker, became final.

5 Years Given for Manslaughter

Pleading guilty to manslaughter in the killing of a woman who was "slashed to ribbons" with a butcher knife, John E. Butler, 29, was sentenced, Wednesday, to five years in the penitentiary.

Judge Edwin T. Dickerson in Criminal Court imposed sentence after Assistant State's attorney, related that Butler's victim was "slashed to ribbons" during a drinking party at which "gallons of wine" had been consumed.

Woman Had Passed Out

Miss Lillie M. H. Grinnell, the 25-year-old slain woman, had passed out from the wine, and "came to fighting," Mr. Weiss revealed, adding that she then fought with Butler to the point where he grabbed the knife from the kitchen table. Butler pleaded self defense.

Four deadly sweeps of the knife into the woman's neck, breast, side and hip, took her life. The slaying occurred on Jan. 18 at the couple's home, 226 N. Monford Ave.

Five Fined $33 In Housing Cases

Five of the eight defendants arraigned in Housing Court, Tuesday, were fined a total of $33 by Magistrate Harry Kruger for violations of the Housing Code.

One of the violators was Clarence Jaler, of 1520 Harlem Ave., who was fined $1.65, the costs of court.

The realtor had been haled into court five weeks before for failure to repair a waste line in the cellar of his home. The fine, Tuesday, ranged from $1.65 to $16.45 for such violations as failing to remove delapidated fences and repairing rotten rain spouting.

Another of the defendants was Thomas Brown, public school janitor of 422 N. Carey St., who had failed to tear down a rat infested fence and remove trash from the back yard of his home.

Life of Harriet Tubman to Be Dramatized on the Air Sunday

The life of Harriet Tubman will be dramatized on the Eternal Light program Sunday, over the National Broadcasting Company, coast-to-coast network.

MURIEL SMITH

Featuring Muriel Smith, winner of the "Women Jones" in the title role, with Louise Parker, 22-year-old contralto as soloist, the broadcast is being presented as a feature of the celebration of Abraham Lincoln's Birthday.

The dramatization will trace the life of the famous Marylander from her Buckstown cabin to her connection with the Underground Railroad, with a price of $40,000 on her head, and finally her 100-mile walk to freedom.

It's the story of democracy of the hope of a people in bondage in America.

The program is being sponsored by the Jewish Theological Seminary of America.

Her husband, James, was awarded $5,000 for medical care and loss of his wife's services. A jury returned the verdict against Morris Cohen, a white junk dealer of the 900 block Leadenhall St. The accident occurred at Westwood Ave., and Calhoun St.

Gateway to Gayway

By GEORGE D. TYLER

Local props go all out to see that "outsiders" enjoy themselves and receive every courtesy and every protection.

So, believe me, Chandler (Gamby-s) Wynn was greatly upset when a visiting Washingtonian insisted that he had lost 22 grands while here Saturday nite. An otherwise perfect evening was spoiled by the indignant patron.

THE PAYOFF—A telegram from Mr. Wynn early Monday night, that the money had been found. No when, why or where and, no apology.

KNOTTY PINES Harold Bevans's combo working itself into a frenzy at Lady Lou's delivers the ditties. Your scribe is handing out the cash to winners in the amateur contest on Wednesday, while Harold or some guest fills the role on Tuesday.

Take It or Leave It

The sooner some musicians learn to leave it the better off they will be. A new pianist has been installed at BERTIE'S ROOM HOUSE, where Lil Hall presents the revuistals, because a certain 88-er tried to take it, but could not.

Monday through Thursday brings to JONES a host of guest artists who treat the patrons to an impromptu variety show aided by Bill Swindell and his trio, who prove to be the most popular combo ever booked here.

Thurlow Jackson has returned to the ZANZIBAR in the role of manager, to aid Sol in giving that usual type of service. You will find a television with the largest screen in any of the spots.

Orleans Holds Popularity

THE ORLEANS' Blue Room, second-floor lounge, continues to hold its popularity while featuring Bob Bocce and her guitar. Del St. John, who handles all types of ditties in big-time style, Virgie Kimball, who has a sweet delivery, and George Craft, master showman.

Come time for new license and you will see the names—Myrtle C. Burns and Walter Rouse, adorning the license at the CLUB 1017. Walter, the present manager, has signed a contract that makes him part owner.

Doc Weingurt phoned in that the previous affairs at the SPHINX didn't hold a light to the mardi gras that is being planned.

On the Quiet Side

The FROLIC now strollers with its pleasant atmosphere, fine service, palatable foods and courteous attendants . . . The ALHAMBRA recalls the popularity of Bailey's Sportsmen's Rest . . . They shower you with attention at the DUNE MILL, that popular off-strolf resort.

VILMA, atop the main stem, was built on quality and has Rawn to the line ever since . . . A jolly crew sails the good ship, EDS Cocktail Lounge, one of the popular off-stroll hide-aways.

You must see the PRESTON Cocktail Lounge to appreciate its beauty, but remember, no stags . . . Mert Rubin's finely designed SARATOGA will meet with your approval and offer a lively evening.

Smars Entertainment Here

The house of smart entertainment, the palace of super presentations—ASTORIA Musical Bar—proves onto another week with the Five Kings, recording artists, and the popular local combo, the Three Bees and a Honey.

everything at the EAVOY is improved since the bar and lounge have been modernistically designed. Officer Turner, one of the town's ace specials, is back on the job.

Community Dressed Up

The COMEDY CLUB's bassist, Johnny Osborne, is the first guy around town to take the book's business serious. Lamp the newly decorated bandstand and wincing. Enjoy the music of Calvin Wilson's orks; the torchy songs of Gertibel Blunt, and the smart emceeing of Earl Omaro.

"Good Cake" Gamby, the AVENUE's singing em-cee, had a guest spot at the Elks' Home, Tuesday night, when the Altamont Club presented Preston Duncan's orchestra. The affair drew an estimated record crowd, with nite life being well represented. No fee, everything was on the Altamonts.

Sam Stewart, mayor of Preston St., and major domo of Sam's Cafe, was chief drink mixer and shared with Bertie Brooks and your scribe.

TEACHER BREAKS ANKLE

PLEASANTVILLE—Mrs. Mabel Brown, teacher at Park Ave. School here, was taken to Atlantic City Hospital on Friday after breaking her ankle in a fall on ice.

CARRYING ON—Joe Thomas (left), and Eddie Wilcox, pianist, are carrying on the Jimmie Lunceford band in the name of the late bandleader. Wilcox, who like Lunceford was a graduate of Fisk and a pre-med student, was a member of the first Lunceford ork.

'Changeable Blues' Too Much for Changing Mate

WILSON, N.C. — Because her husband taunted her with the constant playing of a recording of "Changeable Woman Blues" by Johnny Moore's Three Blazers, Mrs. Rachel Braddock was granted a divorce and alimony settlement from her would-be disc-jockey spouse, Henry.

In filing her suit for divorce on the grounds of mental cruelty, Mrs. Braddock told the court that each time the couple had an argument, her husband would latch on to the record of "Changeable Woman Blues" and play it repeatedly on the family phonograph.

"On many occasions," Mrs. Braddock charged, "he would play the record over and over throughout the night. When I would ask him to stop, he'd just laugh at me point at the phonograph and say: 'That's you, woman!' and keep right on listening to it.

"He was driving me crazy with that record," bemoaned Mrs. Braddock.

Atlanta Soprano in Home Recital

Mattiwilda Dobbs
1948 Award Winner

ATLANTA — Miss Mattiwilda Dobbs, who was a 1948 Marian Anderson award winner, will be presented in recital at Friendship Baptist Church, Friday, Feb. 13, at 8 p.m. S.W., Monday, Feb. 2, at 8 p.m.

A native of Atlanta, a graduate of Spelman College, she has been with the Atlanta-Morehouse-Spelman Chorus and was chosen who head her as one of the most promising of the young singers to be presented to the public today.

Miss Dobbs at present is studying in New York City as a special student at Madame Lotta Leonard, outstanding Wagnerian oratorio singer and recitalist. In addition, she is enrolled at Columbia University where she is earning her master's degree.

While a student at Spelman, Miss Dobbs studied under Professor Willis Laurence James. She appeared with the Atlanta-Morehouse-Spelman Chorus and was chosen with this group in its nation-wide broadcasts.

Mrs. Irene Dobbs Jackson, a sister of the young singer, was the

Jacquet Sets Gross Mark at $13,000

DETROIT—Illinois Jacquet and Ella Fitzgerald set an all-time record for a jazz concert by grossing the fabulous figure of $13,300 at the Masonic Auditorium here last Sunday night before a capacity crowd of 4,500 persons.

Despite the fact that Jacquet had played a week at the local Paradise Theater, only two months ago, the concert was a total sellout five days in advance of its presentation and it was necessary for a police riot squad of 50 officers to patrol the auditorium as the concert got underway to control a crowd estimated at 12,000 persons.

Share Amounts to $4,965

Jacquet received $4,965 as his share of the Detroit take, while Miss Fitzgerald received $4,000 as his reward.

MAYOR OF NEW YORK SWEET YOUTH GROUP

NEW YORK — Mayor William O'Dwyer will welcome members of the NAACP National Youth Advisory Committee meeting here Feb. 13-15.

EXHIBIT AT DILLARD

NEW ORLEANS—"The Age of Enlightenment," a photographic exhibition by Life Magazine, will be shown at Dillard University from Feb. 1 through Feb. 21.

$1,500 for her efforts.

Swinging into the hinterlands, the figures were $4,000 at Turner's Arena, Washington; $5,100 at the Masonic Auditorium, Cleveland; $4,000 at Kleinhans Music—Hall, Buffalo $4,800 at Syria Mosque, Pittsburgh, and $4,650 at the Murat Theater, Indianapolis.
