which have been reported.

All appeals for food, clothing, money, shelter and other assistance for needy families have brought instant and overwhelming responses from sympathetic AFRO readers.

It was this spirit which prompted the contribution from the American Social Club, a four-month-old organization of only seven members.

Appeals Effective

Moved by the appeal on behalf of a veteran's family in dire straits, the club decided to make a collection of clothing, shoes and canned goods which might provide relief in other needy cases.

Club members are Shirley B. Smith, president; Miss Rosetta Little, Mrs. Gertrude Liggins, Clarence Towlkes, Thaddeus Colbert, Ned Jones and Randolph Elsey.

Like donations from any other individuals or organizations with the "help-thy-neighbor" spirit are welcomed.

NEWSY NOTES — The Clarence, (Babe) Brights, he a trumpeter, celebrate their second year of wedlock on the 21st. Ever notice how the younger sis can go in for "trash"? A stroll manager has been forced to warn him since his patronage is largely on the sophisticated side.

KNOTTY PINE'S Monday night amateur show drew a terrific crowd to hear three male vocalists vie for cash and duezts to the New Albert cinema. Purnell's combo moved in to replace Harold Bevans's group. The Monday crowd welcomed the return of Dot Kelly, who has been in temporary retirement.

"Fats" will turn on the heat at the JOLLY SPOT come Monday and matinee time when he presents the human tornado, Estella Young; Elaine Johnson, blues star of note; and your columnist as guest em cee. Vincent Delaney and his combo will set the musical pace.

The COMEDY has joined the week-end parade of presenting stars for your pleasure.

If the lads at the SPHINX keep hatching up novelty ideas they will have to acquire additional space to accommodate the crowds. The Mardi Gras proved a successful experiment, as have the "old timers' nites."

MAMIE, THE SINGING DAME, back from New York to BERNIE'S again. She'll serve your drinks and chirp your songs plus televised shows.

GAMBY'S continues to lead the field with Stell Young, Sara Lou Harris and Jimmy Scott, juvenile balladeer. Altogether, it's a darn fine show and makes GAMBY'S the place to go.

Lodge Joins Fight on Obscene Records

WASHINGTON

The drive against obscene phonograph record launched by the Metropolitan Police Department has been endorsed by the Knights of St. John fraternal organization.

Col. Peter M. Quander, grand records are anti-God, anti-Catholic, anti-Christian, and anti-American; people who would destroy our president, says that the "newly nation must first destroy ourselves." He asserted further that morality, tination recently enjoyed a successful prolonged engagement at the English Supper Club.

Scene of Extensive Fire Damage to School

This is a portion of the Carver Vocational High School which was gutted by a six-alarm fire of undetermined origin early Thursday morning. Damages estimated at $2,000 were covered by insurance. This classroom in the one-story wing of the building at Lafayette and Carrollton Ave., will be abandoned and the class transferred to the quonset building annex of the school in the 500 block W. Preston St. The School Board will provide transportation for the 65 men, including 25 veterans, who will be affected.

May Take Case to Court

on that side of the street containing their homes, Mr. Templeton declared:

"We're not concerned with parking. We're concerned with non-passage of this ordinance."

George Carter, deputy director of public works, asserted that the northern and northwestern suburban areas of the city were rapidly developing, and that traffic was stagnating.

Charge Children Overloaded

"Did you take into consideration the children who have to cross those streets?" Mrs. Juanita Mitchell asked him.

"The children will be protected by traffic lights. We considered the traffic problem," Mr. Carter replied.

Asked how many schools would be affected by the re-routing of Druid Hill Ave., and McCulloh St., Mr. Carter answered, "you have old Western High School (Booker Washington Junior High), and one on Druid Hill Ave."

NAACP leaders then introduced a report showing that 4,100 children attend nine schools in that area, three of which are directly on the streets involved, and the others within a block and a-half.

Parking Are Scored

On the matter of parking, which he revealed was not clearly defined in the ordinance, W. A. C. Hughes, NAACP counsel, and resident on McCulloh St., said the prohibitions would create a problem in which McCulloh St. drivers would rush to park on Druid Hill Ave. and vice versa.

"Frankly, I'm going to beat Mr. Melnicove (a white protestant) to a spot in front of the Temple Gardens," Mr. Hughes declared, referring to a white apartment house near the Madison Ave. entrance of Druid Hill Park.

As outlined by Captain Bernard J. Schmidt of the police department, parking would be restricted on both sides of Druid Hill Ave. between 7:30 a.m. and 10 a.m., and on the east side between 4 p.m. and 6 p.m.

On McCulloh St., parking would be prohibited on both sides between 4 p.m. and 6 p.m. and on the east side between 7:30 a.m. and 10 a.m.

Questions About Origin

Mr. Mitchell wanted to know who proposed the ordinance. And Councilman Edelman, who is from the fourth District, where the streets are located, assured him it was not sponsored by the council. He promised, "This bill will not be railroaded by this committee."

When Mr. Mitchell continued to question the origin of the legislation, he was told that it was formed from a recommendation made to the Department of Public Works and City Plan Commission by the Community Council on Street Traffic, formed through the Association of Commerce and consisting of 31 civic organizations.

"Where is their recommendation? Is it in writing? Where are the minutes of the meeting when it was adopted?" Mr. Mitchell prodded, and getting no satisfactory answer, he declared:

"I don't intend to lie down and accept any plan as elusive as this, cooked up by some outfit which is apparently a brainchild of the Association of Commerce and which juggled the facts without considering the human elements."

Police Department Leaving

Captain Schmidt was preparing to leave the hearing, when Mrs. Maude P. Bell of the 2400 block Druid Hill Ave., requested that he stay while she charged:

"For years we tried to get a playground in Northwest Baltimore, and you decided to put us on the edge of the park, and moved us in. Now you want to make that a death trap."

She reminded them that there was no plan for a traffic light at Druid Hill Ave. and Retreat St., and John J. McMenamin, Sixth Dist. Councilman, who represented the Northwest Residential Protective Association attending the hearing were Mrs. Florence Snowden, president; Mrs. Annie Harcum, secretary; Mrs. Malinda Wyatt, Mrs. Genevieve Lee, Mrs. Sarah Diggs; Thomas H.
