ELLABELLE DAVIS ON EUROPEAN TOUR

NEW YORK—Departing from the United States on Saturday, Ellabelle Davis, soprano, will fill her concert tour of Europe's capitals, a tour of 3½ months duration, making more than 30 appearances in recital and as soloist with symphony orchestras in 11 different countries.

Only recently, Miss Davis appeared as guest artist with Suzanne Stern, contralto, in a duet, accompanied by the Boston Symphony Orchestra in Boston.

Real Activities Exposed on Screen

Members of the Ku Klux Klan ruthlessly apply tar and feathers to this victim in "The Man Called X," a daring exposé of the Klan, the group's activities, to be shown beginning March 11 at the Harlem Theatre, co-sponsored by the NAACP.

Fluellen Sympathetically Enacts Persecuted Voter

Burned to Death by KKK When He Insists Upon Right to Vote in Local Election

One of the most dramatic and sympathetic roles ever played by a colored actor is the part of Joel Fluellen in Screen Guild Production's "The Man Called X," which opens an engagement of seven days at the Harlem Theatre, Thursday, Mar. 11.

Fluellen, who ranks high among Hollywood's finest troupers, plays Charlie, who is burned to death by the Ku Klux Klan when he insists upon his right to vote in a local election in this tensely exciting picture.

The episode in which Fluellen dies is considered one of the most gripping in screen history.

Studied Sculpturing

Fluellen was born in Munroe, La., and was educated at the Chicago University and the University of Southern California in Los Angeles, where he studied sculpturing.

He entered show business via the famed Actor's Laboratory Theatre in Hollywood in 1946, where he appeared in such plays as "Othello" and "Noah." Fluellen also expanded professionally by singing with the Ray Thompson and Hall Johnson choirs, both nationally known groups.

In Many Pictures

Breaking into pictures, Fluellen worked in such productions as "I Dood It," "White Congo," "Broadway Rhythm," with Lena Horne, "Cabin in the Sky," "Two Guys from Milwaukee" and "Imagination."

Fluellen keeps in trim physically by playing excellent golf and riding horseback. But as for hobbies, sculpting ranks topt with him.

Although anxious to further establish himself in Hollywood, Fluellen has an eye on Broadway and at the moment, is in line for an important role in the Harry Cohn drama, "So Goes the News."

Co-Sponsored by NAACP

The role is somewhat similar to the one which brought him fame in "Deep Dixie."

The NAACP is co-sponsoring the film with the idea that its dramatic exposé of the KKK and intimidation of voters, will spark its current drive for registered voters and the essay contest of "My Vote?" sponsored by the Youth Council of the association.

Advanced tickets are on sale at the NAACP office, 402 Dolphin St.; YWCA, 1912 Madison Ave.; YMCA, 1610 Druid Hill Ave. and the Fellowship House, 21 W. Preston St.

Bobby Soxer Leaves Imprint With Brown

HOLLYWOOD—Charles Brown, pianist with Johnny Moore's Three Blazers, is beginning to wish that he weren't so much of an idol of the bobby-soxers.

Brown recently became the proud possessor of a new Cadillac. While parking in the downtown sector of Hollywood the other afternoon, he was spotted by a flock of bobby-soxers who wasted no time in trailing him to seek his autograph.

One of the little girls, however, ambled over toward Brown's car, seemingly to admire the beautiful vehicle rather than the handsome Brown.

When Brown returned to his car about an hour later, he was greeted with the message, "I Love Charles Brown," which had been scratched in glaring letters in the enamel on the car's door.

New York Will Remain Home to "Tisket" Girl

LOS ANGELES Ella Fitzgerald agrees that California is fine but she prefers living in her native New York.

This was the disappointing word that she gave real estate men after an intense selling campaign over directed by movie stars.

Miss Fitzgerald opened at Billy Berg's Hollywood nightery last week.

The Tisket-Tasket girl was recently married and has purchased a home in Long Island, N.Y., which she says is home to her and, somehow or other, she is reluctance to live anywhere else permanently.

"THE BURNING CROSS," a direct expose of the Ku Klux Klan, will open at the Harlem Theatre Thursday, Mar. 11, for a week's run.

The picture is more than a mere expose of the secret organization. It is an illustration of what one person of color was willing to sacrifice for the right of franchise.

IT IS SHAMEFUL that many of our citizens, who face no such opposition, will not take the little time and effort necessary to qualify themselves to vote and to carry this qualification into action by voting for people of their choice.

If we do not exercise the right to choose the people who represent us, we have little right to complain about what the people our votes send us do. We must realize that in a democracy, a vote makes us all equal, and equality should be our main mission in life.

It is hoped that all persons will see the "Burning Cross" and reaffirmly realize that not to use their right to vote is lending assistance to those forces who would relegate us to the position of servitude.

THIS IS ALSO A REMINDER that, if we want our rights, it is to our duty to support those who are working for our interest as a whole, and not for "political tools" who are, and have been, selling us "down the river" for self-aggrandizement.

Using our vote intelligently is one way to get what we deserve, and the way to eradicate that which we do not want, but which is being thrust upon us.

It is not only the duty of various organizations to impress upon us the necessity of voting, but they should be equally as assertive in their educational campaigns as for which to vote.

THIS WOULD ELIMINATE the "race baiters," "politicians" "racketeers" who masquerade as "job-getters" while the job is nothing above menial jobs, and those political leaders who are discuss "obligated" to those in power.

If you don't see "The Burning Cross," just imagine that there is one in your voting mind—and smoke out these fiendish persons—who are doing us more harm than good.

MRS. VICTORINE Q. ADAMS, better qualified as the wife of Lawrie Willis, but one of the guiding factors in the Colored Women's Democratic Club of Maryland, this week initiated a series of meetings to take the purposes of the club into the highways and byways.

She, along with others, inaugurated a plan to get together with women who are employed at night by holding a matinee at Club Casino, thereby meeting a segment of the "unknown-to-most-of-us" population, but which part can be instrumental in helping women get the State to be more powerful—politically.

IT SEEMS TO ME that there are more potential voters among this segment than there are knowns—yet, until now, little effort have been made to reach them in. It's the first widespread voters' educational program of its kind tried here—but I've heard of it.

SOME OF THE READERS of this column will no doubt want to crucify me for straying away from the regular trend of things—but I consider it more constructive than just editing for them. Anyway, as the old saying goes: "Variety is the spice of life."

NOW FOR MORE VARIETY. Mrs. Church Anderson (she the former Sylvia Lancaster and the former Honey of the Three Stars babygrandling) . . . Stanley Ward, x-of the Sphinx Club is now associated with the Jim Crow Sausage Enterprise. . . . The death notice on Sam's Cafe, Avenue at Monroe, last week, was of Samuel Kline Sr., and not Sam Jr., as many thought. Leonard Thomas, Lawrence Brown, Sam Schlosberg and Ann Jones are barmen and barmaid respectively there.

W. B. McADONY has deserted the Avenue for his own grocery business down on Mulberry St.

Chester "Lee" has been dubbed "The Woodpecker." . . . Oscar Gregory, R.R. mail clerk, is "just so" about Emma Sheffey Johnson, who was the week-end guest of Lena Marshall of W. 42nd St.

MY GIRL FRIDAY says:

"Be on the lookout for a 'creetur' I saw with my own eyes on the Avenue, Sunday.

"He was wearing a beat-up tam, jaunttly atop his 'konk.' That I can stand, but:

"He, was wearing golden earrings in both ears. Oy."

THE MARDI GRAS, staged last week by the Sphinx Club, had the whole town talking because of its entertaining features. It had to be good since it was originally scheduled for three nights but ran seven. . . . Mrs. George Hayes, wife of Sphinx's ex barman and patron pleaser, is winter vacationing in North Carolina and Tennessee.

JOHN (UBANGI) WHIRLEY is doing no idle boasting when he says that the Four Links make a great musical act. They are hot along with Horace Bailey as vocalist and Pretty Willie, emcee. This group can be caught on Rice's Tavern out Chesapeake Ave. way, now operates the Arundel Restaurant at Hanover and the Avenue; which has a 4 system closing 2 a.m.

REGAL DOINGS—At the conclusion of the Sphinx's Mardi Gras Ball, Mrs. Elnora Gibson were crowned King and Queen, respectively, Creston Weldgist, Prime Minister, Charles Tilghman and 6 others were dubbed knighted. The regal reception was held on Monday night.

The Bartenders and Waitresses Sec. Club scored another big hit on Monday night with their benefit ball at the Elks' Home. . . . The Girl Friends' Club is sponsoring a cabaret-party at the Elks' Home on Mar. 6 as a benefit to aid the re-instatement of the FEPC. It deserves your patronage.

Entertainers who would like to lend their services are asked to contact Mrs. Elsie T. Dotson, 2538 Madison Ave, Madison 7240-J, or call your columnist at Mulberry 6015. Who'll be first?

WALTER PAUL, 1039 W. Lanvale St., former barman at the Vilma, is hospitalized at Hennyton. Now about a card of cheer to a swell guy?

CAPT. ALEXANDER EMERSON smashed his way into the rear of a business in the 1400 block Lanvale Friday night and carted off 32 to the clink, including the battering door. The Captain forgot his banner, and the crowd of several hundred roared when he yelled out of the patrol wagon: "Hey, get my hammer! Get my hammer! Don't leave my hammer!!"

Treasury's Tough 'T-Men' Heroes of Screen Drama

Julius Monroe, one of the men trapped, tried to wiggle out by telling Captain Emerson that he was to get married at midnight. One detective told him, "You might be better off where you will be at midnight." Norman Scott, barman, and William Minor, a club floorwaiter, were among the 32. George Walker, 75, was the oldest one there.

THE FORMER RUTH WILLIAMS OF 257 Robert St. and Howard (Grandma) Harris didn't but she did with James Brunson of Mansfield, Ohio, was back on Jan. 2 — to the surprise of lots of friends — and Grandma!

THE SCOLIMS SAID on Jan. 10, 1948 — "There is a move a-brewing for another white head at Cheltenham we haven't changed our opinion — Sarah Lou Harris, the cheerful little earful, just closed at Gamby's, may become Mrs. Buddy Bowser anyday."

BELIEVE IT OR NOT, but the Avenue Cafe has installed a television set with a screen 2 x 9 . . . That's seven feet wide, nine feet tall — Can anybody top that? . . . William (Bill) Lindsay, cafe manager, is ill at his home, 220 W. Lexington St., but was resting better this morning (Friday).

THAT'S ALL FOR NOW, except—At long last, the PD is cracking down on concealed weapons. If carried far enough, it will reduce the local crime wave. Let's hope it is not just a noble gesture—something to fizzle out before Rome good has been accomplished.

Ruth Draper, Dramatist,

Ruth Draper, dramatic artist will present an evening of dramatic entertainment in Andrew Rankin Memorial Chapel, Howard University, March 9, at 8:30 p.m.

When "T-Men," power-packed drama based on actual Treasury Department records, opens next Friday, Mar. 5, at the New Albert Theatre, the American public, for the first time, will obtain an intimate glimpse into the workings of that least publicized of all Government agencies—the Treasury Department.

Despite the lack of fanfare, the Treasury Department is probably the most relentless law enforcement agency in the country. It is responsible for the convictions of Al Capone, Waxey Gordon, Nucky Johnson, Bruno Hauptmann and other notorious criminals.

"T-Men" which stars Dennis O'Keefe, is based on a compilation of three actual cases from the files of the Treasury Department, and was filmed with the assistance of the law enforcement agency.

Details Operations

The film details the operations "cover" to track down a nation-wide of a pair of T-Men who go "undercover" in the counterfeit ring. As far as possible, the entire picture was filmed in the actual cities where the original action took place, Chicago, Washington, New York, Boston, Montreal and Detroit.

Elmer Lee, recently retired chief co-ordinator of the various Law Enforcement agencies of the Treasury Department, is featured in the opening and closing sequences in this shock-filled expose of the underworld at work.

Heading the supporting cast are Mary Meade; Alfred Ryder, Broadway stage actor; Wally Ford, screen veteran; June Lockhart, sensation of the current Broadway hit play, and Charles McGraw, of "Killers" fame.
