SCHOOL NEWS

Vets Hear UL Worker

Marion O. Johnson, field work student at the local Urban League, speaking at an assembly, urged veterans of the Douglass Institute to take advantage of the GI Bill of Rights but to select courses for which they are best suited.

He pointed out the value of enlisting the aid of the United States Employment Service, and the Maryland State Employment Agency in seeking jobs; and urged the men and their teachers to work with the local Urban League.

Mr. Johnston is a candidate for a master's degree at the Howard University School of Social Work.

The Glee Club directed by Mrs. Welda Alston sang, and James P. Johnson, offered several piano selections.

Coached by Robert F. Williams, the veterans' basketball team has piled up an impressive record this season, having dropped but one of 12 games.

School 153 Organizes Scouts

Thomas J. Wheadon has been named scout master of the Boy Scout Troop which organized and planned activities last week for the coming season.

In response to letters written during Negro History Week, the 3A-4B-4A classes Miss Anita Edwards, received letters and pictures from Miss Phillipa Schuyler, musician; Mrs. Meta V. Warrick Fuller, sculptress; and Carl J. Murphy, president of the AFRO-AMERICAN Company.

Sixteen pupils from the school awarded free tickets to the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra concert on Saturday at the Lyric are:

Wilbur Jones, Cora Lee Sis, Dora Black, Jeane Jardine, James B. Jones Jr., Hilda Sis, Gloria M. Better, Ellen Russell, Oliver Hill Jr., Joan Barbara Jones, Elise Matthews, America Hill, Jennie Jardine, Leroy Robinson, Barbara Jean Miller and Renate Sis.

INDOOR Fair at Hayes School - 10 pt

Some $200 was netted from an indoor fair held Feb. 27 at Hayes School No. 102, to raise funds for the purchase of equipment and supplies.

A co-op-erative teacher-pupil-parent activity, the affair was planned by Misses and Mesdames Margaret Holliday, Ruth Roberts, Rachel Roselle and Mary Gordon.

Roland Jones donated 1000 tickets to be used at the fair which had as attractions a talent show, wheel of chance, fortune telling, movies, general grocery, candy store, wishing well, rummage sale and refreshments.

Parents who aided included Mesdames:

Elizabeth Dennis, Helen Hunter, Elizabeth Butler, J. Grier, Esther Jones, Marjorie Wood, Ida Mae Jones, Rose Lee, Robina Blackman, Nancy Buckson, Georgiana Swann, Elizabeth Marshall, Hannah Proctor, M. McDonald, Frances Clark, Mattie Murray and Louise Rollins; Arthur Jones and Albert Matthews.

104 PTA Hears 2 Speakers

Supervisor of Adult Education, William M. Rawlings spoke on the Responsibility of the Home and School to the Community" on Tuesday when the P-TA of Elliott School No. 104 met at Ames Methodist Church.

A discussion followed led by Mrs. Sarah Davis, parent education supervisor.

Music was offered by the flute club and the Adult Education Choral Club directed by Mrs. Mercedes Douglass.

Failure to Live Up to 'Names' Jails Burglar

Judge Herman Moser wanted to know, Thursday why a man with "two good names" like Roosevelt Jackson insisted upon going around burglarizing places.

"I'm through now Judge. Please have mercy" pleaded Jackson before he was sentenced to six years in the penitentiary.

It was revealed that Jackson's latest burglary tactics backfired March 4 when Mrs. Penny Cannon walked into her home at 523 N. Carolina St., surprised him putting clothes into a laundry bag, cut him in a chair, and held an axe over his head until police arrived.

Alan H. Murrell, prosecutor, told Judge Moser that Jackson has had 23 previous convictions, for burglary and larceny. Considering these offenses Judge Moser remarked that he doubted the man's insistence that he was "through."

Wife Helps Vet to Win Divorce

Admits Infidelity While He Fought

His wife's confession that she had not been faithful to him during his stay in the Army was used as testimony to obtain a divorce by Horace Sutton of 2702 Fisk Rd., Cherry Hill, this week.

Mr. Sutton said Mrs. Clara Sutton of 1701 Edmondson Ave. told him that there was no use to continue their marriage, admitting her interest in another.

Mrs. Goldie R. Moore of 1024 Lorman Ct. was granted a decree on grounds of voluntary separation.

She testified that she and George Moore of Lawrence, L.I., N.Y., were married in 1946 and separated in 1944 because they quarreled constantly and were unusually glad to leave each other. Her maiden name, Winston, was restored. Roy S. Bond was her attorney.

Y.W.C.A. News

Mrs. Mary K. Poole and Miss Ruth A. Green, advisors of Y-Teen Clubs, Misses Eugenia Boney and Nellie F. Greene, staff members, will attend an adult guidance conference at Mid-City Center YWCA in Philadelphia on Saturday.

World-Wide Observance of BPI Clubs

The 21st World Wide observance of Business, Professional and Industrial Clubs celebrated on Tuesday at the Central Branch included a psycho-drama, "Challenge: Women at Work," with the audience participating.

Miss Virginia Britton directed "One," in which Mrs. Emma Mitchell, Misses Anne Uzley, Vivian Marx, Betty Clarke, Anita Fredericks, Margaret Beetz, Kitty Butler, Jean Thornton, Winifred Sawyer and Irene Vargo, participated.

A Polish folk dance was offered by Miss Bernice Lewandowski and messages from abroad were read by Miss Emily Ozazewski. Group singing was led by Mrs. Ethel Freeman with Miss Juanita Hall, accompanist. Miss Mary Taylor conducted the closing worship service.

Camp Grace McCard

For girls 12 to 18 years of age, Camp Grace McCord will open June 29 for a six weeks period. Miss Eugenia Hardy is chairman of the camp committee.

DR. BOND, EX-PREXY, SPEAKS AT FORT VALLEY COLLEGE

FORT VALLEY, Ga (ANP) — Dr. Horace Mann Bond, president of Lincoln (Pa.) University and president emeritus of Fort Valley State College, spoke at the college last week.

Escaped Prisoner Taken on Avenue

Spotted on Pennsylvania Ave. by a State policeman, an East Baltimore man was returned to Randallstown, as an escaped prisoner awaiting trial on a murder charge.

The man was Morris E. Jones, 28, of the 1300 block Ashland Ave. who with a cell mate at liberty, escaped from a jail in Ellicott City a few days before.

8 Robberies Charged to Him

According to police, Jones was arrested last January following a series of robberies which culminated in a murder in Elkridge on Dec. 29. A Howard county grand jury indicted him on a murder charge and eight charges of daylight robbery in Elkridge.

Last Week he was seen on Pennsylvania Ave., near Biddle St. and apprehended after a chase. The second man who escaped from Howard county jail lived in the 1000 block of Franklin St.

2 Dope Handling Suspects Arrested

Suspected of aiding the flow of dope in underworld channels, Rufus Tate, 28, and Mrs. Mary W. Tate, 24, both of 1221 Division St., were held in $6,000 bail Friday, to face grand jury action.

The couple was arrested by Policewoman Violet Whyte following an investigation which stemmed from a raid on a house in the 1100 block of Pennsylvania Ave., two months ago.

The couple is suspected of illegally handling opium. Also held as a State's witness was Harry Dunmore, 29, of 1622 McCulloh St.

'Lifer' Loses Freedom Bid; Plea 'Too Late,' Court Rules

Richard (Rudy) Goodman, 23-year-old "lifer" at the Maryland Penitentiary, was turned down this week, by the Court of Appeals in his bid for freedom through habeas corpus proceedings.

The prisoner, sentenced to life imprisonment nearly two years ago for the slaying of an employee at a war plant, complained in his petition that his court-appointed attorney would not permit him to be tried before a jury; and would not ask questions of witnesses which he (Goodman) wanted him to ask.

"Too Late Now"

Remarking that Goodman should have made these complaints to the trial court, the opinion of the Appeals Court observed, "It's too late now."

It repeated former rulings that a writ of habeas corpus cannot be used as an appeal or for the purpose of reviewing evidence already given in a criminal case.

South Baltimore Notes

Problems affecting the Southside will be discussed at a mass meeting at John Wesley Methodist Church, 1000 Hanover, Tuesday, March 16.

The meeting is being held by the Adult Councils of South Baltimore. The church and school councils plan to talk about health, school and the ballot on the Southside.

A movie, entitled "You, the People," will be shown. Music for the meeting will be furnished by the Etude Choral Group and the Harvey Johnson Junior High School glee club.

12 Children Honor Father

Benjamin Fleet Sr. of 2412 Annapolis Ave. was honored with a gala party given by his 12 children on his 66th birthday on Sunday, March 7.

Among the guests were Mesdames Lillian Johnson, Addie Price, Margaret Morris, Mary Golden and Lillian Graham of Misses Lillie Price, Mary Smith, Helen Johnson.

Also Louis Johnson, William Jackson, Mrs. Edna Wood, Mrs. Erma Chambers and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bell of Washington, D.C.

Mr. Fleet has one hundred and children.

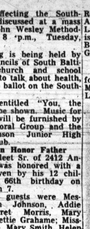
The Southside can use more drivers like R. S. Bateman of the No. 28 (Lakland) line. Recently Mr. Bateman stopped the bus to awaken a boy who had fallen asleep and was about to pass his stop.

The driver then gave the lad a transfer and instructions on how to reach his destination. Bateman's badge number is 1156.

The Baltimore Singers will appear on a program with Paul Robeson on March 28 at Bethel AME Church, Druid Hill Ave. and Lanvale St. Gerald Burks Wilson of the local Musicians Union, Bernard Young is manager, and G. W. Hill is publicity director.

Southside Personality

This week's unanimous choice personality of the Southside is Miss Louise Calter of 637 W. Lee St.



MISS LOUISE CARTER

An unassuming tassle of 23, Miss Carter is a familiar figure in the AFRO's sub-station at 703 S. Fremont Ave. In addition to seeing the Southside newsies get their papers, Miss Carter also furnishes them with haircuts.

Miss Carter is a member of the women's auxiliary of the Horse-town's Club and attends St. Mondays Church. She attended Public Schools 117, 123 and 106. Movies and reading are her favorite hobbies.

Post-Lenten Activities to Include Joint Recital

As a post-Lenten activity, the Chesapeake Musical Arts Society Association will present Louis V. Jones, violinist, and Warner Lawson, pianist, in a joint recital on April 4 at Metropolitan Methodist Church.

Mr. Jones, head of the violin department at Howard University, is a graduate of the New England Conservatory in Boston. He studied violin in France and in Budapest with Sollovay.

He was a protege of the former American Ambassador to France, Myron T. Herrick, and has appeared before the Prince of Wales, the King and Queen of Spain and Princesses Eugenia and Beatrice.

Musical Background

Mr. Lawson, professor of music at Howard University, comes from a musical New England family. He studied piano through his formative years, with his father, Dr. R. Augustus Lawson.

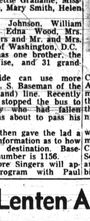
Later, he studied at Fisk, Yale and Harvard Universities, and underwent a period of intensive coaching with Artur Schnabal in Berlin.

Officers of the sponsoring organization are Mesdames Isabel Credit, president; Rosa Myers, vice president; Mildred Jackson, presidential aide; M. Elaine Hassell, secretary; Sadye Wilson, treasurer; and Mabel Fisher, financial secretary.

Soldier Killed Overseas Buried

With full military rites, the remains of Pvt. William Cromwell, of 927 Woodyear St., were buried in the Baltimore National Cemetery, Friday.

Pvt. Cromwell, a native of Towson, died in the line of duty on Dec. 14, 1944, when the truck he was driving overturned on a bad road on the island of Guadalcanal. Arrangements were handled by Joseph L. Russ, funeral director, who met the Pvt. Cromwell American flag-draped casket at the Mount Royal train station, early Friday.



Post Named for Hero

The brief rites preceding interment of the body were conducted by Robert L. Bartlett, a major in the U.S. Army Reserve corps, and the Rev. T. Samuel Tinsley, chaplain of the William Cromwell American Legion Post of Towson.

The post, named in honor of Pvt. Cromwell, was represented by Leonard L. Smith, John Tyler, Charles Powell, Clarence Myers, Berry Coates and Joseph Bishop.

Pvt. Cromwell is survived by a wife, Mrs. Mary E. Cromwell, a daughter, Beverley Ann, 6, and three stepchildren.

X-Ray Service Now Ready at Poe Homes

Residents living in the vicinity of Poe Homes may take advantage, this week, of the mass chest X-ray service which opened there on Monday.

The project is available to the public from 4 until 9 p.m. daily, and is sponsored by the Health Department with assistance of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association.

During Negro Health Week, which begins April 4, the X-ray will be set up in South Baltimore.

Slain Man Given Military Rites

Full military rites were accorded William Chase Jr., 21, of 831 Robert St., Wednesday, as his body was buried in the Baltimore National Cemetery.

Chase was slain a few nights before while in the Panama Pleasure Club, a basement club house at 2110 Howard St. A pal, James W Jones, 31, of 1735 Maryland Ave., was also shot in the thigh.

The following afternoon, Joseph Rosenthal, attorney, surrendered William Yancey Jr., 19, of 2209-N. Howard St., whom police had been told to shoot upon sight.

Though no hearing has been held on the case, police admitted they were stymied as to the exact cause of the shooting. It was believed to have been motivated either by an argument over a young woman or over rival gang warfare.

The Rev. C. Baker Pearle, pastor of Payne AME Church, conducted the funeral services at the home of the deceased after which the body was interred in the service cemetery.

The deceased is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William N. Chase, his brothers, Harry and a wife, Mrs. Virginia Chase, from whom he was said to have been separated.

Woman Hurt in Fall From Upstairs Window

Mrs. Mary Kuykendall, 28, of 1423 Argyle Ave. was admitted to Provident Hospital, Sunday, for treatment of a spine injury and observation after she fell from a second-story window in her home.

Witnesses told police the woman had been drinking with a few friends and had raised the window to get some air. The accident occurred when she leaned out too far, it was said.
