DAN BANK HEAD TO HURL AGAINST DODGERS

Gets All-Star Assignment for Contest in Puerto Rico

Dan in Outfield; Jackie, Don Newcombe and Campanella Play as Royals Lose

By SAM LACY
AFRO Sports Editor

CIUDAD TRIVILLO, R. D.—The Brooklyn Dodgers, with Jackie Robinson and Dan Bankhead in the starting lineup, defeated the Montreal Royals, with Roy Campanella and Don Newcombe, 8-2, in the first of a 10-game exhibition series Wednesday.

A crowd of 5,000 baseball mad Dominicans, headed by President Rafael Trujillo, witnessed the affair in which the four colored players rivalled the country's leader in popularity.

Robinson opened at first base and Bankhead in left field for the Dodgers, and the jammed park rocked with cheers and applause each time either came to bat.

Jackie, up twice, struck out in the first and reached base on being hit by a pitched ball in the third. In the four innings played, he was credited with seven putouts.

Dan to Pitch

Bankhead was sent to left by Manager Leo Durocher because he wanted the big Memphis right hander to get to work but did not wish to pitch him. The reason for the latter was that Bankhead on Monday was announced as pitcher for an All-Star team which will play against the Dodgers in Puerto Rico Friday night.

Dan is extremely popular in San Juan, and Puerto Rican promoters made a trip here to request permission to let him hurl against his teammates in the Friday tilt.

In two trips to the plate, Bankhead singled home the first Brooklyn run in 1948, rapping the ball to right to score Carl Furillo from second in third frame.

Bankhead tallied the third Dodger score later, scampering home from second on Tommy Brown's one base blow to center, sliding in under the throw.

Campanella in Outfield

Campanella played the entire game for Montreal in the outfield, and became the goat of the afternoon when he permitted what should have been an easy out go for a home run.

The play occurred in the third after Newcombe had relieved George Brown, starting pitcher for the Royals. Pee Wee Reese, first to face big Don, filed to right, then Bankhead grounded to the infield.

With two out, Gil Hodges, Dodger catcher, drove Newcombe's offering on a line to left. Campanella moved over in perfect position to make the catch but elected to one hand it. The ball shot over his glove and continued to the wall for an inside-park homer.

Campanella, up four times, grounded to third in the second, filed to left in the fourth, and was popped shortstop to first, in the sixth on a play close enough to bring whistles and jeers from the native throng when Umpire Gus Dascoli called him out in the ninth. Roy drew a walk but was forced at second on the succeeding play.

The most impressive performance of the four colored players was turned in by Newcombe. The ex-Newark righthander pitched three frames and appeared to have overcome the fault of wildness which dogged his path the first two years in organized baseball.

Displaying a zipping fast ball, he faced ten batters, struck out three and was nicked in four hits, one of which was the Dubious homer by Hodges and another a fluke single by Duke Snider that skipped over Don's glove in the fifth.

His three victims were Bankhead, Eddie Miksis, now second baseman succeeding the traded Ed Stanky and Preston Ward, the latter, a towering first sacker, who is so highly rated by the Dodger front office.

Rafael Trujillo, witnessed the affair in which the four colored players rivalled the country's leader in popularity.

Dan Meets His New Boss

Dan Bankhead, Brooklyn Dodger pitcher, gets the welcome hand from Manager Leo Durocher as he reports for practice at the Ciudad Trujillo camp.

Jackie Finds Trujillo Camp "Big League"

By SAM LACY

CIUDAD TRUJILLO — If there was any doubt remaining in the mind of Jackie Robinson that he was "big league," it was certainly erased when he put in here Friday at the spring training base of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The crack first baseman of the 1947 National League champions, arriving late with special permission of President Branch Rickey, whistled softly as the shiny Mercury bearing its windshield card "At service of the Dodgers" (To the service of the Dodgers) pulled up to the Hotel Jaragua.

With one sweeping glance, his eyes took in the magnificent stucco building with its modernistic patterns; the spectacular greensward that extends to the seawall and serves as a lawn; the three-lane drive-way lined with cocoanut palm trees, and the 150-foot swimming pool marked in six colors from four to nine feet.

Really Big Time

"Gosh," the first colored star of the venture speculated, "This is really big league."

And sure enough, this 1948 "camp" of the Bums is a far cry from anything Jackie has seen in the past.

When he reported to camp at Daytona Beach, Fla., in 1946, his first year with the Montreal, Robbie was housed in a private home in the "colored section" of the town. He roomed with Pitcher Johnny Wright, dressed at the house and made the six-mile daily trip to the practice field in the car of a newspaperman friend.

Recalls Cuba

Last year, at Havana, Cuba, Jackie still with Montreal, was lodged with Catcher Roy Campanella at a third-class hotel in the heart of the city. Cooped up in a room sans sunlight, but with ample ceiling leaking and toilet facilities which left no doubt as to their purpose for being there, Jackie was never able to forget that he was still in the minor leagues, still "small time."

Today, he is living in Room 205 of a plant the management proudly boasts is "the most elegant hostelry south of the Rio Grande."

Two years ago, Robbie was in a private home, sharing a second-floor room with a pitcher who couldn't make the grade. Last year, he roomed with another colored player in a dingy hotel separated from the rest of the town by nearly 15 miles.

Today, he occupies swanky quarters neighbored on one side by Pitcher Joe Hatten and on the other by Outfielder Carl Furillo. Down the hall a short distance is Pitcher Dan Bankhead and across the way are Infielder Cookie Lavagetto and Pitcher Rex Carter.

In Jackie's mind, no doubt, he was looking back to 1946 and 1947, when he whistled and the words popped out—"Gosh this is really big league."

Now "Measures Up"

He didn't have to look back past those years to overnight jumps in the Negro American League, or to sleeping and dressing in buses ricocheting over bumpy backwoods roads. He could forget it if he were so inclined, but I dare hope he won't.

For as long as he remembers, he retains his equilibrium, and as long as he does that, he will realize what it means to measure up—to himself be "big league."

Leo and Lacy Talk It Over

Elites Prepare for 10th Season

Vernon Green, successor to late Tom Wilson as president-secretary of the Baltimore Elites, was in town early this week making plans for the Elites' 10th year as representative of the Monumental City in the Negro National League.

"Local fans besieged Green with questions concerning the NNL's current limit, fixed by a monthly payroll per ray roll to $6,000. Surprised but genuinely interested in the fans' reaction, Mr. Green stated:

"This month does not mean there will be wholesale reductions in the players' pay. It will, of course, effect some more than others. But on the whole, those players in the better-than-average pay scale may remain at a standstill, others will receive cuts, and there may be an occasional raise here and there.

Train at Nashville

"Several clubs plans to reduce their squads, which I think is the most logical method to keepin payrolls at a fair and decent level. I wish also to make it clear that the current pay scale is not expected to, nor was it planned, to be one of permanence.

"Team operators are fully aware that it would discourage many youngsters who have considered making baseball a career if they knew that their earning power is at a fixed scale. All in all, it isn't as bad as it seems."

Mr. Green concluded with the statement that it was absolutely necessary for the clubs to continue league operations.

He also speculated, that the Elites will again train at Nashville, Tenn.

Grays Schedule 10 Exhibitions

HOMESTEAD, Pa. — "We have our squad down to 34 men, all of whom will be given an equal opportunity," declared Vic Harris, veteran Homestead Grays' manager, Monday.

"Last year we carried 46 men to spring training, and there was a lot of time lost weeding out the players. This year we are after a championship team, and in order to get one, we must get in condition as speedily as possible."

The Grays announced 10 exhibition games, beginning at Asheville, N.C., Easter Sunday.

Exhibitions listed are:

Ashville, N.C., at Asheville, Mar. 28; Blues at Charlotte, N.C., Mar. 29 (afternoon and at Gastonia, N.C. (evening); Daytona Beach, at Daytona Beach, Fla., Apr. 4; Orlando, at Orlando, Fla., Apr. 5; Jacksonville Navy, at Jacksonville, Fla., Apr. 6; New York Cubans, at Alexandria, La., Apr. 11 and 12; Raleigh Colts, at Raleigh, N.C., Apr. 15; Baltimore Elite Giants, at Rocky Mount, N.C., Apr. 18, and at Baltimore, Md., Apr. 18.

NAL Prexy Says Jackie's Rise to Help Own League

CHICAGO—(ANP) — The press-time of Jackie Robinson has not hurt colored baseball, but has actually boosted attendance, Dr. J. B. Martin, president of the Negro American League, declared this week.

Beginning this season," Dr. Martin said, "among the colored people you will see some mighty hustling on the ball field. Remember, the colored players now have the Jackie Robinson spirit, and that is, Get in the major leagues."

In a close check of attendance on NAL games, Dr. Martin said, it has been learned that more white people and colored go to the games than ever before. Many people said that colored players could make the majors they are worth watching while they are starting out, he said.

He said that Robinson's promotion has created an interest in baseball by people who may not ordinarily have come to the game. Some day a scout may look over the owners are more than happy to see our boys, like others, advance, and we are stepping up our efforts of improvement along all lines with a forward look that our financial end will be improved at the turnstile."

'BEST THROWER' IN BASEBALL:

Royals' Pilot Wants to Keep Campanella

By SAM LACY

SAN CRISTOBAL, R.D.—Roy Campanella is ready to catch for the Brooklyn Dodgers, but if the matter of his promotion is left to his manager, he'll be back playing in Montreal in the International League again this season.

That much was told the AFRO this week by Clay Hopper, pilot o (the Royals, who heaped all sorts of praises on his stocky little catcher, whom he managed in 1946.

"I know it," Hopper replied. "But did you see my club last year. Well, Roy was the only steady player on the roster. We finished second to Jersey City on pitching alone.

"If it hadn't been for Banta and Heusser we'd have been exactly 'nowhere' last season. And you know who had more to do with their effectiveness than anyone else, don't you? Campy, that's who!

Says "He's Ready"

"They're saying he can't hit. Okay, let 'em think that. He hit six home runs for us last season in a string of 26 games which he had to catch with a broken bone in his hand.

"If there's a big leaguer in the International, it's Campy. In fact, at this stage of his development I regard him a surer shot than Jackie was when he was under me. He's ready!"

Scholastic Tourney at Princess Anne

PRINCESS ANNE, Md.—The annual Maryland State basketball championships will be played at Princess Anne College gymnasium today (Friday) and Saturday.

Capacity crowds are expected for all games. Miss Rose Hinton, physical education instructor of Greenwood High School and representative-at-large for the tournament is working with Princess Anne officials to make the tourney the biggest in its history.

Clippers, Panthers Clash at Rec Center

The Clippers A.C. and the Royal Panthers will clash in a Bureau of Recreation game at the Lexington Street Recreation Center, next Saturday, Mar. 20.

The Clippers recently won two games on the road, defeating the YMCA in Washington and the Hagerstown A.C. on the latter's court. Leonard Stevenson is manager of the Clippers with Jack Franklin, Pete Platter, Roosevelt Lewis and Tiny Cook as the outstanding players.

The Panthers, managed by John Jackson and coached by Shephard H. Burge Jr., have Capt. Sye Vernon Hughlett, James Cure, A. Wrenn R. Jordan, B. Gordon, John Goodwyn, Scottie Scott—and Ellsworth Moody as players.

The Northwestern Boys' Club will meet the Junior Finos at 7:30 p.m. in a preliminary.

Glover at Henryton

Tom Glover, former Baltimore Elite Giants pitcher, is at the Henryton Health Sanatorium, anxious to see his old Baltimore friends and fans.

NORTHWESTERN LEADS IN BOXING TOURNEY

Police Boys Club Places 5 Boxers in Final Rounds

19-Second Knockout Highlights Program at Garden; Carver Has 2 Men Surviving

Northwestern Police Boys' Club fighters advanced another step in the battle for the team title in the South Atlantic amateur boxing championship at the Baltimore Garden, Wednesday night, sending five men into the semi-final and final rounds slated for next week.

Carver Athletic Club, close on Northwestern's heels prior to the Wednesday quarter-finals, sent only two boxers into the payoff rounds. Northwestern's five survivors, like the Baltimore AA, which has four representatives remaining, the YMCA, which has three, and the Southwestern District Police club, with two.

Two boys, Courtney Thomas, of Carver and Willie Jackson, Baltimore AA, received tough breaks Wednesday night as they were forced to fight twice bowing the second time around.

19-Second Kayo

Thomas kayoed John Robert, unattached in 1:52 of the first round in the 147-pound class, then knocked out later by Marion Hinson, YMCA, in 2:45 of the third round. Jackson defeated Harold Graham, Carver, in his first bout, but was a kayo victim of Bill Prent, Northwestern, in 19 seconds of his return trip to the ring.

Pack uncorked a sizzling right which put Jackson away. He didn't had time to loosen his muscles establishing a new tournament record for quick knockouts.

The four other Northwestern boys who survived the quarter-final round are Herman Thompson, who decisioned Nelson Rinehart, unattached; Leon Sanchez, who scored over Eddie Roland, Waverly; Ernest Lindsay, who kayoed Norman Brooks, Armistead, and Jerome Holt, who defeated Kostopoulos, unattached.

The two Carver survivors are James Johnson, who scored a second round knockout over Tony Caprico, Marco A.C., after flooring his foe in the first, and Walter Gray, kayo winner over Kenneth Clark, Ringside AC, in 2:12 of the third stanza.

Other colored fighters who moved into the final rounds are Bobby Randall, Aberdeen Proving Ground, 147-pound class; Gill Anderson and Willie Winbush, also Baltimore AA, 165-pound class; Eugene Newby, Baltimore AA, and Odell Hayes, Ringside AC, 118-pound class; Harvey Jones Marco A.C. 178-pound class; Jim Gilliam, Barksdale, Ringside A.C., 118-pound class.

Gray, Carver scrapper, came off the ring in the first round of his bout Clark in 1:12 of the third, after flooring him in the second, in one of the most exciting matches of the program.

Anderson defeated Bill Trent (white). Trent went down in the first round for a count of five.

Thompson proved a clever, good fighter who had his opponent at his mercy.

Hinson, like a most of the Northwestern Police Boys Club members, showed up exceedingly well.

Many of the fans thought James Johnson of Carver defeated Gary Flasher. Flasher was down for a count of three in the first round, and the fight was exceedingly close.

Fulton PCA Five to Meet Philadelphia Tan Yanks

Barred from playing at home because of its interracial policies, the local Fulton PCA junior basketball team will journey to Philadelphia this Saturday to meet the Tan Yankees in an inter-city game at the Christian Street YMCA.

The Fulton cagers have been denied the right to play in the Bureau of Recreation League because of the presence of three colored players on their team.

Six weeks ago, the Board of Parks and Recreation ordered the team to discontinue league playing until a decision on mixed teams could be reached. The board has met twice since then but deferred a decision on the issue.

Tough Competition

Philly Tan Yankees have bowled over all competition in the City of Brotherly Love, and at one time sported a 21-game winning streak.

Philip Boyer, Fulton mentor, plans to start his outstanding cagers in an effort to stem the winning tide of the Philly aces.

Probable starters are Morris Lefty Mervis and Carroll (Gunner) Gibson at the forwards, Bobby Carroll at center, and Tommy Carroll and Jimmy Barrett at the guards.

Reserves will include Howie Zemlak, Richard Reba, Jim Fuller, and Garrett Mathis.

The preliminary game will feature two white teams, the Fairfax AC against the Elkins AC. A dance is scheduled to follow the games.
