IN OUR CHURCHES

Holy Week services will be held at noon each day Tuesday through Friday at the Maryland Baptist Center and School of Religion at 1494 McCulloh St.

Speakers for the services on consecutive days are the Rev. W. H. Thompson, pastor of Whitestone Baptist Church; the Rev. J. R. Butler, Mount Sinai; the Rev. Hiram E. Smith, Mount Lebanon, and the Rev. James L. Moore, Sharon.

The Rev. William Tapscott is dean of the center.

A pageant entitled "The Cross of Light" will be presented at 8:30 p.m. on Good Friday at Enon Baptist Church by the Robert Jefferson Utility Circle of which Mrs. Laura Dickerson is president.

Impressive Services

Impressive women's day services were held Sunday at Bethel AME Church, with the Rev. Miss Margaret G. Allen delivering the sermon for the 3rd consecutive year.

Some 1200 persons were attracted to the afternoon program, called the "Back Home Hour." For this service, Miss Allen was assisted by Mrs. Ruth Barnes and Mrs. Agnes Alston, evangelists. The junior choir of Metropolitan Methodist Church sang.

At night, a musical program was presented under the direction of Mrs. Edith P. Hill, with Mrs. Florence Carter at the organ.

The day's service, with Mrs. Mae H. Pack as chairman for the eighth consecutive year, netted $4,122.60. The women realized more than $300 from the publication of a program book for which Mrs. Elizabeth K. McLaren served as chairman.

Unit Changes Name

The Young Peoples' Organization of Emmanuel C. C. Church has changed its name to the Emmanuel Circle.

The president, Miss Louise Chase, is assisted by Mrs. Gladys Young and Mrs. Florence Phillips. Other officers include Miss Eleone Allen, secretary, and Mrs. Delores Washington, treasurer.

Sponsored by the Community Advisory Council of the church, the moving picture, "King of Kings," was presented at the church on Wednesday. The Rev. Wilbur H. Waters is pastor.

From Monday through Thursday of Holy Week, Ames Methodist Church will be open daily for noon hour community meditation.

On Good Friday from noon to 3 p.m., services will be held with the Rev. Kelly L. Jackson, West Baltimore district superintendent, presiding. Seven guest ministers will participate in the service.

Choir Program Set

The night service will feature the Grace Presbyterian Church choir, directed by Mrs. Margaret R. Franklin, and Dr. T. Henderson Kerr, violinist.

The Palm Sunday morning sermon will be delivered by the pastor, the Rev. E. Adolph Haynes. In the afternoon, a Choir Day program will be presented under the direction of Mrs. Amy Hill.

At 8 p.m., on Holy Thursday, the Westminster Fellowship will present players of Grace Presbyterian Church in "Release," a thrilling Easter drama. Mrs. Willa B. Mitchner is director.

At 5 p.m., on Palm Sunday, the senior choir of the church will render the "Seven Last Words of Christ." The Rev. John T. Colbert is pastor.

Palm Sunday morning services at Mt. Calvary Free Will Baptist Church, 29 N. Bond St., will feature a sermon by the Rev. R. Cogdell. At night, the pastor, the Rev. J. T. Crummedy, will preach.

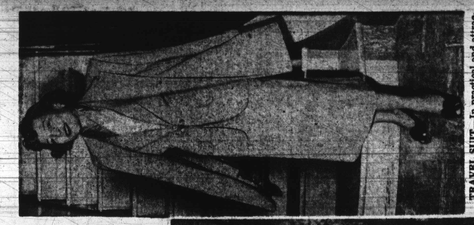
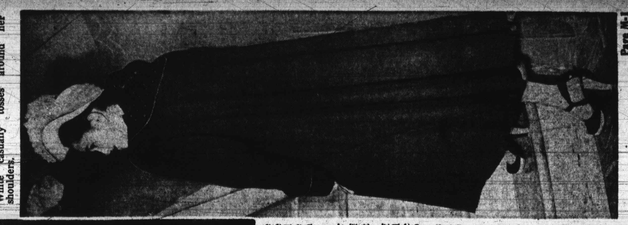
IN SPRING— A Young Woman's Fancy Turns to CLOTHES



TRAVEL SUIT—In practical and attractive tweed, Miss Viola White wears this three quarter length topper which Miss White casually tosses around her shoulders.



WHILE young men think of love, this year finds the lassies out to achieve the ultimate in charm with their best foot forward in the trim ankle-strap platform shoe. Model, Mrs. Evelyn B. Winder, dictated fashion, as a cellophane wrapped corsage, in a Gibson Girl era and the "new look"

WHITE SUIT—Of wool crepe, an original Lilli Ann model with silver fox cape, worn by Miss Viola White is a sure eye-catcher.

DRESSMAKER SUIT—Sweetly feminine is this versatile gabardine affair in a subtle ashes of roses cut. The coat, which can also double as a jacket, is lined in a gay print. The dress is adorned with steel cut beads. Model, Mrs. Evelyn B. Winder, tops her suit with a blue marine hat embedded with roses, and sold at Novey's 1836 Pennsylvania Ave.

Hendin's

EASTER paraders who've done their shopping at this beautiful "store of Hollywood fashions" may be confident that their clothes are in good taste; selection of fitted, caped, hooded, straight-line and full back shorties, and a variety of romantic swinging great coats. Their stock of suits varies from the conservative to the exotic.

Whether you are a sedate matron, a timid teen-ager, or a glamorous thing just turned 18, they have the clothes to fit your type, your whims, your purse.

Here is an up-town store with a courteous competent sales staff to serve you from an extensive stock in beautiful surroundings.

PRACTICAL FAVORITE — For FULL LENGTH — Original Shetland Tweeds. Dust model coat in black wool crepe, worn by Mrs. Winder, has an interesting semi-cape, and is just the thing for your wardrobe.

'Walking Wanderer' and Huge Dog Visit Baltimore

Impressive Scrapbook Tells of World Wide Travels and 'Strange' Salt-Gathering Plan

HIS HUGE South African Great Dane by his side, Nebraska Williams, vagabond globe-trotter and self-styled missionary, is in Baltimore this week preparing for what he says will be a second world tour on foot.

Born in Shreveport, La., the 43-year-old wanderer, who claims part Choctaw Indian blood, says he has walked the equivalent of 3 of the world by foot since he was 19. His profession is he has walked through 50 countries, covering more than 38,000 miles, while working on the two-fold objective of "obtaining salt for the Zulus of Africa and the establishment of a Negro nation."

His scrapbook contains reams of letters, certificates and newspaper pictures garnered from notables in America and abroad. He says he has two full reams of such picturesque scrapbooks in his trunk and carries the keys to prove it. Among the pictures is one of him with a smile on his face and a moment's notice to bear out his claim to fame.

The 170-pound dog, which he calls "Duke," was picked up in South African Great Dane country. Williams says he has trained the animal on a normal diet of eight 12-ounce cans of dog food, topped off with several pounds of horse meat and a couple of loaves of bread per day.

In less lush times and places, he has managed to survive on much less. It is for his pure-bred Zulu wife, Quenda Burmingtore, that Mr. Williams says he is seeking to gather the salt—plain cooking salt, that is. He already has 1200 barrels and some $400 toward shipping it to Africa. Salt is worth its weight in gold in Africa, he said, it is assessed for cooking and selling because there is none in Africa.

The purpose of the dialect school is not explained.

The globe-trotting Wanderer also lectures on human rights, denounces race prejudice and lynching. He says he has written a book which he calls "Jim Crow Girl" and "Adventure in History."

Another of his stories recalls an electrically-heated wind-proof suit which he says he wore while ambling through the Arctic regions.

The "Wanderer" is married and has a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Williams. "Ruby" plan to write a book when the cobwebs of the years hair itching feet. "Ruby" already have a title for the first one—"Adventure in History."

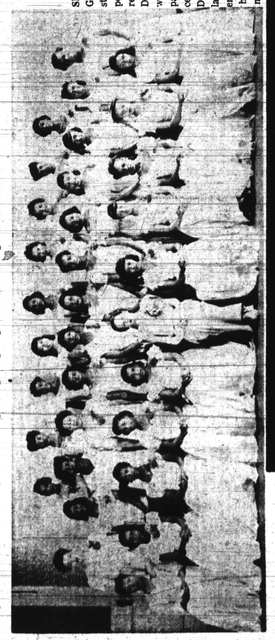
One of the major city-wide and county-wide functions boosting the $10,000 Turners Station Community Center Drive is the brain child of two alert, imaginative and civic-minded young women—Miss Anita Edwards and Mrs. Dorothea Battle. Their interest in the welfare of the community in which they live has prompted them to gather a galaxy of talent for the show to be held in East Baltimore's Dunbar High School auditorium. Two of the participating organizations are pictured below.



SPARK BENEFIT SHOW—The Girls' Choir of the Baltimore Institute of Musical Arts will appear in the starstudded musical review for the Turners Station Drive. Proceeds from the show will go toward the $10,000 campaign to purchase a community center building. Mrs. Mercedes Douglass is director of the popular singing group, which has given numerous performances on the concert stage, radio and during the war, at service camps.

DANCERS AID DRIVE — The YWCA Modern Dance Group, directed by Mrs. Vera Cole, will perform at the Turners Station Community Center Benefit Show on March 25 in Dunbar High School auditorium. Musical scores will be by the Morgan State College Orchestra and a swing unit of the York Hotel Blue Room. Chuck Richards, popular radio announcer, aided Miss Anita Edwards and Mrs. Dorothea Battle in obtaining top-flight local talent.
