Grant Named to Group to Study Asylum Needs

Dean George C. Grant of Morgan State College was recently appointed by Gov. W. Preston Lane to a commission of 15 men to study the need for psychopathic institutions throughout the State.

The commitment, care and treatment of psychopathic criminals is also to be studied by the committee. Some of other members of the commission are Judge Charles E. Moylan, Dr. George H. Preston, Dr. Manfred S. Guttmacher and Delegates Irvin A. Adler and Jerome Robinson.

Daylight Saving Time Bill Passed by Senate

WASHINGTON

The Senate voted Tuesday, 46 to 17, to let Washington have daylight saving time every summer. The bill is expected to meet a lively fight in the House.

The measure has been referred to a House subcommittee headed by Representative O'Hara (Rep., Minn.), a strong opposer of daylight saving time.

Washington residents secured "fast time" last summer through a formal vote of the citizens in a referendum.

Standing are Arthur Thorogood and Charles Hayes, Anne Arundel county war veterans who appealed to Milton Brown, seated, executive secretary of NAACP, for aid in their fight to study farming under the GI Bill of Rights. Their applications approved by the Veterans Administration, the vets charged the State Board of Education with delaying their certification on a technicality.

proved the applications of the three veterans, but the State Board balked because the applicants were one veteran short.

Issue at Deadlock

It refused pointblank to enroll the three veterans in a white class and insisted that the minimum of four students be attained before forming a class for colored veterans.

Repeated conferences between Milton Brown, executive secretary of the NAACP representing the veterans, the Veterans Administration and the State Board of Education brought the controversy to a deadlock.

The veterans are well qualified through practical farming experience and one of them, Thurgood, won a science award for research work. He was one of 400 students competing for the prize.

Citizens Protest Lack of Sewage

League, Fairfield Protective Association and Parent-Teachers' Association of Fairfield.

Edgar W. Douglass, president of the Citizens' Leagie, revealed that School No. 154 at Carbon and Brady Aves. has 100 pupils who must share dry, non-flush toilets, separated for boys and girls by a crude partition.

He pointed out that scarcely two blocks away, there is a brick school building equipped with modern toilet facilities for white children.

Mr. Douglass declared that youngsters must leap over cesspools formed near their homes because of lack of sewerage. Some 100 homes are characterized by yard toilets, he said.

The Rev. E. W. Williams is president of the Protective Association and Mrs. Sarah Kess heads the Parent-Teachers' group.

girl had been unbalanced mentally by her experience but to bring her into court would "completely risk her sanity."

Testimony Doubtful

"Even if she was brought into court," Judge Corson said, "it is probable that she would deny everything she has said." He added that it was doubtful if she would ever be able to testify.

Alexander said that the continuance of the case was a handicap to the career of his client, an entertainer, and affected her husband also, although he was not involved in any way.

Billy, Wife in Court

It was brought out that the Eckstines had paid the girl's $700 hospital bill.

The Eckstines arrived in court together, a few minutes after the case had been called. No member of Miss Johnson's family appeared in court. Billy, who was said to have flown in from the coast for the trial, shooed off photographers.

Army Day Parade Impressive Sight

the Morgan State College band of organized reserves, which made its debut in big time musical circles at the parade. The unit was attired in the olive drab uniforms.

A real precedent was noted when the mixed 51st Army Band and Drum and Bugle Corps led the parade, then took a position opposite the reviewing stand on Holiday St.

Originally an all white unit, the aggregation, stationed at Ft. Meade, now has seven colored members. The uniforms of these soldiers were brightened by red and white trimmed helmet liners, gloves, leggins and leather music cases.

Many Operated Vehicles

With members of the 231st Transportation Corps Truck Bn. (National Guard), commanded by Col. William M. Brady, and other troops operating various types of Army vehicles, the largest number of colored troops in such a display in recent years.

A police motorcycle escort led the marchers, followed on the tail end by several pieces of Fire Department equipment, as seven fighter planes zoomed overhead.

The largest single unit in the line of march was the 29th Division of Maryland National Guard. It followed a massive display of armored vehicles ranging from diminutive jeeps to 14-ton Ducks and tank carriers.

The various troops and equipment came from Ft. Meade, Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Edgewood Arsenal and the Holabird Signal Depot.

Matron Surprised at Finding Real, Live Horse in Cellar

Mrs. Elsie Young of 716 N. Caroline St. was quite surprised Wednesday morning, when she found a horse in her cellar. An investigation showed that the horse bolted while going down Milliman St. and plunged into the cellar well steps of the Caroline St. home.

Wagon Driver Lost Control

Robert Claude, 18-year-old driver of the horse and wagon, told police that the bit became twisted in the animal's mouth and that he was unable to control the horse.

Mrs. Young said she had opened the cellar doors a few minutes before the animal plunged in. The house's steps were broken by the wagon. Theodore Horsey, 18, of 821 N. Caroline St., was a passenger on the wagon.

Farewell Banquet for Morgan College Prexy

Rounding out nearly 11 years of service at Morgan State College, Dr. D. O. W. Holmes, who will retire from the presidency in June, was feted at a testimonial banquet, Tuesday, by the faculty and staff members. Dr. Holmes, under whose administration the budget of the college has increased over three million dollars, was lauded by all factors of the college community, including the alumni and the student body. Pictures at the guest table during the banquet which was held in the Morgan Christian Center, are left to right, Dean George C. Grant, Dr. and Mrs. Holmes, and their son, Dr. Dwight Holmes Jr. (Henderson Photo).

Child, 2, Struck Down by Hit-Run Driver

Two-year-old Bonsal Glover miraculously escaped serious injury last week when struck by a hit-and-run car while playing near his home at 78 Winters Lane, Catonsville.

Two women witnesses told police they heard the child scream and saw a black coupe, driven by a white man, fleeing the scene, but were unable to get his car's license number.

He was sent home sent home after being treated for bruises and cuts by a neighborhood physician.

Achievements of Morgan Under Dr. Holmes Cited

Student Body Tripled, Faculty Expanded in 10 Years, Registrar's Article Reveals

With the declaration that Morgan College is not only "going" but is "going places," the most recent edition of the Morgan Bulletin cites progress under the administration of retiring President D. O. W. Holmes.

Edward N. Wilson, registrar, is author of the summary which lists achievements during Dr. Holmes's 10 years of service. These include an increase in the annual budget from $853,879 in 1937 to $3,321,579, last year.

Teaching Staff Increased

The faculty now includes 78 full-time teachers, 26 of whom hold the doctor of philosophy degree, in comparison to 20 faculty members in 1937.

The student enrollment has grown from 302 to 1300 within 10 years; and the proposed building program provides for an enrollment of only 1500.

For 3,000 students, Morgan needs six additional dormitories, an education building, and a fine arts building, Mr. Wilson states.

Would Double Capacity

He points out that with these additions to the 24 projects already included in the present program, the college can adequately take care of 3,000 students.

The bulletin also contains an article by Dr. Frederick H. Dedmond, professor of romance languages, who explains the need for food, clothing and other necessities in France and the rest of Europe.

The 1947 football season is reviewed in the bulletin by Theodore Gill. The record consists of five wins, one tie and two losses.

3 Arrested After Stolen Car Crash

Arrested after the stolen car in which they rode crashed in Glen Burnie, three men believed involved in five burglaries were held in $14,750 bail, late Monday, in Northwestern police court.

The suspected ringleader, Edward McCray, 19, of 628 E. 28th St., was held under $9,750 bail; while his alleged accomplices, Robert Freeland, 26, and his brother, George, 24, both of 1125 N. Fulton Ave., were held in $5,000 bail.

Observed in the stolen car while speeding over the Hanover St. bridge late Friday, the three were chased through Anne Arundel County to Glen Burnie, where the automobile crashed into a filling station.

Police charged the trio with the theft of a truck, a sedan, and a safe containing $200, taken from a Laurens St. bakery.

Family of 8 Ordered Out of Unfit Home

An 86-year-old one-eyed, one-legged man, his wife, who is 27, and their six children were given until April 29 to vacate the condemned house at 509 W. Barr St., they now occupy.

Magistrate Kruger granted the extension after a hearing Thursday, in Housing Court.

The elderly man, Robert Fisher, was called to the court to explain why he had failed to vacate the house, which has been declared unfit for human habitation. His answer, as in most cases of this nature, was simply that the family had no place to move.

Policewoman Promises Aid

Policewoman Carolyn Robinson testified in behalf of the family and promised to aid in finding them suitable quarters before April 29 deadline.

Fisher, a cementer and plasterer by trade, worked a local shipyard until a toe injury made amputation of his leg necessary testimony revealed.

The family now receives a total of $110 monthly from old age pension and a check from the Aid for Dependent Children Society.

All Children Under 7

A native of Mississippi, Mr. Fisher is active despite his age and physical handicap. He is the father of six children ranging in ages from seven years to one month. His wife, Mrs. Thelma Fisher, is a native of Cleveland.

The children's names and ages are, Robert, 7; Harold, 5; Christine, 3; James, 2; Mildred, 1; and Irving, 2 months old.

Disorderly School Trespasser Jailed

A 20-year-old man was sentenced to 30 days in jail this week for entering Dunbar High School, twisting the arm of a teen-age girl and cursing the principal who intervened.

The man, Lawrence Patterson of 1208 N. Central Ave., was arrested 15 minutes after the incident by Patrolman Dennis Mello, who had been furnished a description of the suspect.
