Dr. Gene Weltfish Lectures Sunday

Speaks Here Sunday

The second in a series of "One World" lectures being held at Sharp St. Methodist Church, is set for 4 p.m. on Sunday when Dr. Gene Weltfish, professor of anthropology, will be presented.

Her subject, "The Races of Mankind," is the title of a pamphlet she wrote during the war years in which she set forth arguments against racial differences.

Her insistance that "the human race" was the only one of prime importance caused a controversy which resulted in the banning of the publication from the libraries of the armed services.

Mrs. Buck First Speaker

Mrs. Pearl Buck opened the lecture series on Apr. 6 when she addressed a large interracial audience on "Where Do Americans Stand."

She is president of the East and West Association whose services in presenting speakers of different national groups are offered to local sponsors. The Rev. Joshua O. Williams is chairman of the city-wide interracial group sponsoring the series.

Dr. DuBois Last Speaker

At 4 p.m. on Apr. 25, Mike M. Masaoka, the most outstanding Japanese-American in 1940, will speak on "Human Rights for All Americans."

The final speaker will be Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, educator and author. He will appear May 2 at 4 p.m., and will speak on "Color and Democracy; A World Challenge."

Methodists Form New Guild Unit

Over 100 persons attended the 1st meeting of the year of the West Baltimore District of the Methodist Church, held recently at Asbury Methodist Church in Frederick, Md.

In addition to reports given by the various divisions, a unit of the Wesleyan Service Guild was organized by Mrs. Maud Williams, guild president of the district. The youth group met, with Mrs. Kelly L. Jackson in charge.

Rededication Service Held

A joint session of these two contingents, along with the Women's Society of Christian Service, followed. The service was one of rededication.

The next meeting will be held in Charleston, Va. The Rev. E. E. Williams is pastor of Asbury; Mrs. Mary E. Hawkins is president of the W. Baltimore District and the Rev. Kelly Jackson is district superintendent.

Recital to Benefit Md. School for Blind

Mrs. Grace B. Stokes, lyric dramatic soprano, will appear in recital at 5 p.m. April 25 at Enon Baptist Church, Edmondson Ave. near Schroeder St., for the benefit of the colored division of the Maryland School for the Blind.

She has studied at the Juilliard School of Music and is now under the personal direction of Richardson Irwin of New York.

She made her debut here in 1944 at Metropolitan Methodist Church. Mrs. Stokes is now on the faculty of the New York National Institute of Music.

Christians Lack Courage-Carter

Christians must accept the responsibility of bringing about a change in race relations, Mathew G. Carter, association secretary of the southwest National YMCA area council in Dallas, Tex., asserted here Sunday.

Speaking at the spring vesper service sat the Druid Hill YMCA, Mr. Carter discussed "The Social Implications of the Fatherhood of God in the Realm of Race Relations."

Courage Needed

He declared that a courageous Christian "bloc" in this county could settle the question of racial antagonism," if such a group made up its mind to do so."

He pointed out that the task of Christian leadership is "by no means an easy one," but added that it requires courage to face the issue.

Shaw Choral Society to Sing Here April 23

Under the direction of Harry Gil-Smythe, head of the Music Department, the Shaw University Choral Society will appear in concert April 23 at 8:15 p.m. at First Baptist Church, Caroline and Biddle Sts.

Founded in the fall of 1931, this contingent is recognized as one of the outstanding "symphonic" choral organizations in the United States. In recent months it has made numerous appearances at schools, churches and before civic groups.

Sang on Radio

The Choral Society has been featured frequently on programs over local radio stations. Annually the group sings before the State Baptist Convention on Shaw Day.

Mr. Gil-Smythe, a graduate of Howard University School of Music, took work at the Peabody Conservatory of Music in Baltimore and the Julliard School of Music in New York City.

In 1939, he received the master of music degree from the University of Michigan. A pianist of note, he has performed on various occasions with symphonic groups and appeared in recitals.

IN OUR CHURCHES

BY CHURCH REPORTER

"What Freedom Means to Me" is the title of a prize-winning essay written by Melvin Allen of Emmanuel Christian Church, and appearing in the April 15 issue of "The Messenger," the church paper.

The youth a member of the Sunday school class of Miss Almira Miller, gave his interpretation of "The Four Freedoms," concluding that "without these free rights, we can never hope to obtain the international good will and world peace which we seek."

The Emmanuel Church Young People's Choir will present Mrs. Ruth Redmon, mezzo soprano, in a recital at 4 p.m. on Sunday. The Rev. Wilbur H. Waters is pastor.

Bus Excursion Planned

Bishop Alexander P. Shaw will be honored on his birthday, and the 40th anniversary of his ordination into the ministry on Tuesday night at Orchard St. Methodist Church.

It is interesting to note that the observance in which all Methodist churches in the Baltimore area will participate, will be held in the same church in which the Bishop was ordained.

100th Anniversary

Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church will mark its 100th anniversary beginning on May 2. An educational mass meeting will be held May 3, when the contributions of this church to the schools of Baltimore will be pointed out.

Several of the city's first colored school teachers came out of Madison St. Church. Dr. George E. B. Murphy, retired school principal, will speak.

On May 9, Dr. L. Z. Johnson, former pastor of the church, then known as the Madison St. Presbyterian Church, will deliver the morning sermon. Dr. Johnson is now an English professor at Howard University.

Sharp St. Methodist Church is making plans to entertain the Washington Annual Conference which meets May 19 to 23.

Renovations to the structure have included the installation of new carpet, and a lighting system, new electric refrigerator, gas range and steam table in the kitchen; and the furnishing of a men's study and ladies' lounge.

Moore Heads Arrangements

Mrs. Zella Washington is chairman of the housing committee; Mrs. Lydia Musenden is in charge of food; Mrs. Geneva Musenden, the pantry, while Grafton L. Moore is general chairman of all arrangements.

Speaking at the Sharp St. Church Women's Day services on Sunday morning, Mrs. Cora J. White, Columbus, Ohio civic worker, urged women to re-dedicate themselves to the simple things of life.

Women of color have a job to do, said the speaker, who urged that they miss no opportunities for playing with all sincerity their role in the home, community and the world."

At the evening services, Mrs. White urged women to make the most of their talents, to give the world their services for the uplift of mankind. Mesdames Mamie Hubert and Lucille Monroe were Women's Day chairmen.

William M. Rawlings, public schools supervisor of adult education, spoke on Wednesday at the Methodist Ministers Meeting, urging support of parent education and evening school classes.

Aid to Adults

Mr. Rawlings said that these activities could aid people in becoming better citizens,—enable them to conduct their personal affairs with more intelligence; and, help them be of greater use to their churches.

Committees were appointed to carry out the plans and operation of the Men's Club of Grace Presbyterian Church during a dinner meeting on Tuesday.

Men's Club Roster

Officers are Herbert M. Frisby and R. Clarke Davis, president and vice-president; James G. Dashield, secretary; Dr. S. N. Russell, treasurer, and Benjamin Neal, chaplain.

The 11 o'clock message at Grace Church was given by the Rev. M. G. Carter of the Southwest Council of the YMCA of Dallas. Moore L. Carson was soloist.

The city is practically deserted by AME's attending the 131st session of the Baltimore Annual Conference which opened Tuesday at Metropolitan AME Church in Washington, and extends through Sunday.

Interest is running high in the pastoral appointments to be read Sunday night by Bishop George W. Baber.

The AME General Conference will meet in Kansas City on May 5.

Two sermons on "Hell" will be delivered by the Rev. E. W. White, pastor of "Providence Baptist Church, on Sunday and on April 25 at the morning services.

Last Sunday evening the Shiloh Senior Choir presented its first musical of the year.

Baptists Activities

Conference this week, devotions were led by the Rev. James L. Wilkins, and the Sunday school lesson on the subject, "Fulfilling God's Purpose" was presented by the Rev. I. C. Reddic.

Mrs. Hardy sought the co-operation of the group for a benefit recital for the Maryland School of the Blind, featuring Mrs. Grace B. Stokes, soprano, at 5 p.m. on April 25 at Enon Baptist Church.

Hey, You, Get Off The Phone!

--be considerate of your neighbor

IF THERE simply must be party lines, for Heaven's sake, why don't some people have a heart! Instead, these folks to whom we'll refer as "telephone hoggers," use the little black instrument for a medium of chatter, gossip, love-making, mud-slinging and all-around jabbering which leaves the party on the other end of the line limp from trying to put through a call or his own.

"Yes indeed, child. You should have seen what she had on" . . . "Oh honey, do you really mean it?" . . . "Come around tomorrow night, because Bill won't be home" . . . "That guy is a square. He didn't even . . . " And it goes on and on, this jabbering, for 10 minutes, 15, on to 20 and 30, and finally by the hour.

What do they care if you have to Handicap Business Dealings with a man who's waiting for your ring at 6 o'clock? Ask them to hang up, and you'll probably get a bawling out, and a lot of talk about "I pay my phone bill."

Try to reason with them from trying to put through a call or his own.

Just five minutes, as he clicks and fumes on the other end, seem endless when that's OU hanging on the other end of the line limp from trying to put through a call or his own.

quite arguing and three minutes anyhow. But the three minutes will have gone their way before he will try to make up the time he lost.

And it works both ways, this business of hogging the lines. Just because the guy on the other end is selfish enough to ignore your impatience when he gets to talking to his best girl, doesn't excuse the fact that you stand upon chatting for hours when you finally get the chance.

A.W. HANG UP.—Why doesn't she sit down and make herself comfortable, this youngster, since she'll probably talk to the reclining bobby-soxer on the other line, too; but what do they care! Maybe it's a party line, too; but what do they care! Maybe it's Papa who pays the phone bill.

LINES BUSY.—He's been waiting for half an hour, and this bobby-soxer is still talking to her girl friend. Maybe the girl friend is on a party line, too; but what do they care! Maybe it's Papa who pays the phone bill.

WHY DOESN'T HE CALL?—She is probably wondering to herself, as she parks beside the telephone, and waits patiently for the call that does not come. If she would pick up the receiver, she would find that the line is busy. Why don't people talk about something else besides boy friends, new hats, old dresses and anything else they happen to think of. This sort of thing happens often. But what's a person to do when folks like these bobby-soxers settle down and refuse to shut up?

GIRL, YOU DON'T SAY.—And she's been "saying" for a long time now. This bobby-soxer came prepared, with her soft drink, comfortable chair, and lounging pose which indicates a kicked-off shoe, so that she can really relax. And what are they talking about? They're talking about everything and absolutely nothing at all. Maybe it's about school, boy friends, new hats, old dresses and anything else they happen to think of. This sort of thing happens often. But what's a person to do when folks like these bobby-soxers settle down and refuse to shut up?

Instrumental Music in the Public Schools--

Gone Are the Days When Parents Must Force Children to Practice

THE modern group-teaching of instrumental music in the public schools has made great strides since the days when it was taught in a haphazard and inconsequential manner. This idea creates a competitive spirit among band and orchestra members, promotes group pride, and results in a high degree of efficiency in the performance of uniforms, parades, pageants, and other public appearances.

The progressive system used in most schools makes practice necessary for the band. Research for reaching that goal are trips to contests, and the Band Festival.

These are genuine appeals to a child, and a real incentive for him to practice without being told. He learns more than just music. Concentration, teamwork, discipline, self-confidence, poise and assurance when appearing before the public are gained.

The school instrumental program comes as close to fulfilling the needs as laid down in the Maryland Cardinal Principles of Education, as any other single subject in the curriculum.

The recently-organized band at the Washington Junior High School is an innovation in the Baltimore public schools, the entire program is being broadened to meet the wishes of the students who have expressed an interest to seriously pursue the study of music.

A music curriculum will be established at Douglass High, Eastern and Baltimore City College. The effect at Eastern and Baltimore City College. The effect will include group, for both vocal and instrumental ensembles. Music may also be selected as a major subject in the curriculum.

The Parent-Teacher Association at Wash ington Junior High School has on foot a project to raise funds for the purchase of uniforms for the band. At present, tough subscriptions to add the instruments are rented. They aim to purchase instruments and uniforms which will become permanent property of the school, and to set a high standard which will justify the organization of other bands.

When gripping grief's the heart would wound
And doleful dumps the mind oppress,
There music with her silver sound
With speedy help doth lend redress.
