Off Kappas, On Sigmas Is Town Social Slogan

with Lula Jones Garrett

The natives took one quick wink to recuperate from the past week end of Kappa Alpha Psi regional convention doings; and a deep breath as they got set to plunge into a similar program to be held by the Eastern Region of Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity, here, the 23rd through the 25th.

The host chapter of Sigma Zeta Sigma has planned an elaborate series of affairs, beginning with a formal dance at the Elks' Auditorium on Friday night. On Saturday, the brothers will register at the Masonic Temple, and on that afternoon, they will be welcomed at the open meeting by Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro.

Dr. D. O. W. Holmes of Morgan State College will address delegates and guests at a Saturday afternoon public meeting. Other speakers in this meeting will be Carl J. Murphy, president of the AFRO - AMERICAN Publishing Company; Mrs. Edna Over Gray, national basileus of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority; the choral club of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority; Dr. Willard W. Allen, grand master of the Maryland Masons; Mrs. Beatrice Hall, basileus of Alpha Zeta Chapter, Zeta Phi Beta Sorority; Alfred A. Dixon, president of the host chapter; the Rev. G. Dwerry Robinson, pastor of Waters AME Church and acting regional chaplain, and U. Theodore Hayes, attorney.

Distinguished service awards will be made to John W. Woodhous of this city and George A. Parker, Washington, former national presidents; Dr. Bernard Harris, Dr. J. E. Cumper and Dr. F. A. Saunders, all of this city.

Officers will be elected at the Sigma dinner in the Blue Room of the York Hotel. The regional director will give his report at this dinner. Other officers' reports will be made at the morning business session.

On Sunday morning, Apr. 25 brothers will worship with Chaplain Rogers at Waters AME Church. Dr. I. L. Scruggs, founder of the fraternity, will introduce the past and present officers and greet the congregation.

Officers of the Eastern District are:

William E. Doar Jr., director, Brooklyn; Alphonso M. Stanley, associate regional director, Washington; Dr. Judson E. Best, regional secretary, Brooklyn;

John W. Woodhous, regional treasurer; the Rev. Arthur W. Parker, chaplain, Bronx, N. Y.; Hubert E. Pair, director of social action, Washington; Edward M. Baker, director of bigger and better business, Philadelphia, and Hudson J. Lovell, director of education, New York.

Mr. Woodhous is chairman of the arrangements committee for the conference. The Eastern District includes the District of Columbia and all States from Maine to Virginia.

CHI DELTA MU'S ROMP AT DANCE

Gay, gay was the formal dance of the Chi Delta Mu Sorority on Friday night at the Morgan Hall when the local nurses shed their traditional garb and turned out in some real "gone" styles.

There was "makes-you-want-to-dance" music provided by Preston Duncan, and the gang there needed no coaxing. Sipsbites were provided at a smartly set candle-lit table near the door.

Basileus Fanida Friend was turned out in a smart blue gown with lace top; Louise Lockerman, secretary, in a smart gold colored frock with a huge black bow extended from the hip to the hem.

Bernardine Harrison, secretary, presented to the guests as "Miss Chi Eta Phi," for her efforts in selling popularity contest tags, was garbed in a vivid scarlet number with draped effect.

Lilyan Slater wore a yellow backless gown, Anita Henson was in black, as was Vivian Pendleton, while Hazel Bailey sported a plaid taffeta bustle bag affair.

Mazelle Dickerson selected a daring strapless-back-draped gown with horizontal stripes. Beatrice Skinner wore a wine colored print, and Mary L. Riley, a fine print with blue background.

The guests were as careful too, what with vivacious Eleanor Gibson in a black striped white gown with drape and front skirt slit that was somp'n.

Titian-haired Florence Roberts wore a black skirt with an interesting royal blue blouse that was tied here . . . and there. Alice Young was regal in purple and Juanita King, striking in a gown of flame moire.

Ada Veney wore a sequin-sprangled print; and Mable Hawkins, a red frock, attractively made with shoulder straps. Also in black were Ella Hughes and Louise Henson. Beatrice Bueford wore aqua, and Mary West Griffin, black with an off-shoulder shawl effect gown in the new shorter length.

Two cocktail parties were held preceding the affair. Hazel Bailey gathered at her Division St. home this gang for drinks and talk: Ethel Williams, Margaret Houston, Marven Johnson, all of Philly; Theodore Elliott, Wardell Richardson, Jessie Gattison, the Ed Slaters and Julius G. Bowleys.

Making merry at the Irving Lockerman's Carey St. domicile were the John B. Nickersons, William Adamses, James Coopers, Jesse Hugheses, N. H. Pollards, J. Logan Jenkinses, Dr. and Mrs. Ottawa Saunders of D.C., and Dr. Roscoe Henry of Philly, also Theresa Thompson, Juanita King and Lorraine Hirdige.

AKA WELCOMES SIX NEW MEMBERS

After a most effective inspirational opening, lead by Mrs. Vernecice Matthews and dedicated to the newly-made sorors, Mrs. Mildred Seaborne, basileus of Epsilon Omega, telescoped the business of the day in order that Saturday night's meeting might be turned into a party.

Emphasis was on the sorors who have recently been inducted into the mysteries of Alpha Kappa Alpha: Mrs. Beatrice Butler, Misses Theresa Weaver, Annette Hall, M. Theress Kennedy, Dr. Ruth Holly, and Mrs. Corinne Procope.

Among a number of games that were played was "Thumbs Down," which kept the most sedate and sophisticated soror in stitches. Among the prize winners were: Esther Johnson and Theresa Kennedy.

The "New Look?" Well, AKA sorors always come out in the newest of the new.

Plentiful, dainty, and highly colorful were the refreshments served.

Hostesses for the occasion were Sorors Sarah Roach, Sarah Simpson, Louise Sergeant, Joyce Sawyer, Mildred Seaborne, Elsie Sessoms, Charlotte Shervington, and Lois Stubblefield.

OMEGA WIVES SCORE AT OYSTER SHIN-DIG

So much fun did the 400 guests have when Pi Omega Auxiliary of Omega Phi Psi Fraternity have at their "oyster shin-dig," Monday evening that they plan to make it an annual affair.

Aside from their seafood specialties, the Omega Wives had some swell entertainment, including the famous Blanche Calloway Jones, who came down from Philly (and out of retirement) to do a number-or-one-at-the-affair which her sister, Bernice Monroe, was chairmanning. And the numbers, "Cooking Mama with the Frying Pan" and "Gone," both originals, simply wowed the crowd. In addition, there was music by Rivers Chambers, a dance act from Gamby's, and the Morgan College Chapter Omega Quartet. Ruby Gill is president of the auxiliary.

LAMBDAS CELEBRATE BUSINESS WEEK

Plans were completed for their celebration of Iota Phi Business Week. In observance of this week, Kappa Chapter has prepared posters to place in public buildings, and bulletins telling of the different services given to small businesses by the Department of Commerce.

An exhibit showing the Government aids to businesses, leading colored businesses and the history of Kappa Chapter was also placed in the Cortez W. Peters Business School. The theme selected for the celebration was "Forward Negro Business."

On Monday, Kappa Chapter will sponsor a visual aid show for the students of the Cortez W. Peters Business School. The following educational films will be shown: "Basic Typing Methods," "Know Your Typewriter," "Can You Read Gregg," and "Duties of a Secretary."
