5 Md. GI's Busy With Eighth Army

Educational Training Available in Japan

News of five Marylanders on duty with the Eighth Army in Japan was received this week.

In Kobe, Japan, are Cpl. David N. Wilson, son of Mrs. Beulah Wilson, 1222 Pennsylvania Ave., in Baltimore, and Pvt. Arthur Stanley, son of Mrs. Sarah Stanley of 5611 Woodlark Ct., in Baltimore.

Serving at Yokohama are Cpl. John W. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Hall of 36 Calvert St., in Annapolis, and Pfc. Kermit Q. Asbina, son of Mrs. Sarah Stafford, 302 Pine St., Cambridge.

At Osaka is Pfc. Roy W. Chase, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Chase of Huntingtown, Md.

To Continue Education

Corporal Wilson and Private Stanley will have an opportunity to continue their education while in Japan at the Kobe Army Educational Center; where courses are offered in academic and vocational training. Private Askina has been promoted recently to the grade of corporal and is squad leader in a unit of the 138th AA group.

Corporal Hall has been promoted to technician fourth grade. Having served overseas in Scotland, France and Germany, he re-enlisted in 1945 at Fort Meade.

Re-enlisted 2nd Time

He again re-enlisted in October, 1947, and went to Japan last January. He holds the Good Conduct Medal, European Theater Medal with two battle stars and the Victory Medal.

Private Chase has been assigned to a unit of the 25th Infantry (Tropic Lightning) Division, commanded by Brig. Gen. Everett S. Brown.

He entered the Army in April, 1946, and left for overseas duty in August of the same year.

YOUTH, 20, CHARGED WITH CARRYING GUN

PHILADELPHIA

Warren Johnson, 20, of 1338 S. 46th St., was held by police Friday, after they allegedly found him carrying a .25-caliber automatic at 84th St. and Eastwick Ave.

Philadelphia Shriners Off to Convention

Elks Wend Way To Convention City

An undetermined number of Elks will be leaving Baltimore this week end to attend the 50th annual convention of the order in Cincinnati next week.

Spearheading the entourage will be some 30-odd delegates from the five local lodges and temples, representing approximately 5,000 male and female Elks and members of the junior Elks, the juvenile division of the order.

Baltimore and Maryland have no new candidate for any grand lodge office, so that the male delegation is scheduled to vote favorably for the Finley Wilson slate straight down the line.

Pledged to Mrs. Gordon

As far as the temples are concerned, a skirmish is expected. However, the women Elks pledged their support to the incumbent grand daughter ruler, Mrs. Elizabeth R. Gordon of Washington, who has been in office for eight years.

She is being opposed by Mrs. Mertie Robinson of New York City.

Local lodges are Monumental, Pride of Baltimore, East Baltimore, Crescent, and W. Sampson Brooks.

Pentacostal Body Opens for 9 Days

The annual Pentacostal Assembly of the World opened its nine-day session here today (Friday) at First Apostolic Faith Baptist Church, 27 S. Caroline St., with Bishop S. M. Grimes of New York presiding.

In attendance at the meetings will be seven bishops of the denomination, the Rev. R. O. Robinson, general secretary, of Indianapolis, and Mrs. Hilda Reeder, foreign secretary.

Among the speakers slated for next week are Bishops H. Barnett, B. Schultz, S. M. Hancock, F. J. Douglass, R. P. Paddock, and Messrs. Fred Clark, Carl Smith and J. L. Sipes.

South Balto. Notes

The Progressive Republican club of the 23rd Ward met at the Rile's Home recently and made plans for a bus excursion to Beechwood Park on Aug. 29. Joseph Woodhouse is president of the club.

Mrs. Jeanette B. Gray of Fredericksburg, Va., was the weekend guest of relatives in Mt. Winans. Mrs. Ethel Perkins and her grandson are thru vacationing in Fredericksburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Cooper returned this week from a vacation in New York City. The Mt. Winans Methodist Church is sponsoring a carnival in the 2600 block of Huron St., Aug. 19-21.

To Give Program

The congregation and choir of Ebenezer AME Church will render a special program Sunday at the Star of Bethlehem AME Church, at 3 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wing Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Wing of Washington, were guests of the Rev. G. Oliver Wing, pastor of Star of Bethlehem AME Church on Sunday.

Southside Personality

This week's personality choice is little Miss Vivian Ware, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ware of 2604 Fairpoint St.

Although only 11 years old, Vivian Ware has been playing the piano for two years and is considered to be an accomplished musician. She studies music under Grover C. Hayes of 905 Carey St.

Vivian first exhibited her talent while still a toddler when she played "tunes" on chairs and tables.

She took a self-teaching course before taking instruction from Mr. Hayes, and now plays for morning services at Star of Bethlehem AME Church.

a spectacular scene and were applauded vociferously all along the route of the procession.

Knights Templars

The National Grand Encampment of Knights Templar held its biennial conclave at the Masonic Temple, Easton and Grand Sts., Thursday and Friday, with 82 delegates, representing 22 jurisdictions, attending.

Delegates unanimously agreed to hold the 1950 conclave in Boston, Mass. The following six knights were elected:

Other Officers

Others elected were G. I. Anderson, grand treasurer, Jackson, Miss.; Charles J. Nicholas, grand recorder, Chester, Pa.; Stephen A. May, grand prelate, St. Louis, Mo.; Lee E. Leavelle, grand warden, NYC; Lawrence Hammon, grand swordbearer, St. Louis, Mo.; W. S. Lathem, grand standard bearer, St. Louis, Mo.; Charles Gillis, grand captain guard, Kansas City, Mo.

Ready for the Grand Ball

Lawyers Demand Full Rights for All

The Baltimore Chapter of the National Lawyers Guild this week adopted a resolution declaring that minority political, racial and religious groups, including the Communist party, are entitled to civil rights benefits of the Federal and State constitutions.

The local chapter, headed by L. Duke Avnet, is resolved to alert its members to the dangers of red baiting, and interest itself actively in the legal defense of civil rights.

This will include appearances as "friend of the court" in court cases, legal analyses and proper legislative activity in civil rights measures in the Federal Congress, State Legislature, City Council and other forms of government.

Nursing School Ends Racial Ban

The school of practical nursing now in operation at City Hospitals will be expanded to include colored nurses in the February class.

This assurance was recently given Dr. Ralph Young, member of the executive committee of the City Welfare Department, under which City Hospitals is operated. The September class has its quota already filled with white students.

Final Tribute Paid George M. Patterson

Succumbing suddenly on Friday of a heart attack, George Melvin Patterson of 1640 N. Monroe St. was given funeral rites on Tuesday at Mount Sinai Baptist Church and buried in the Baltimore National Cemetery.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Geneva Coates Patterson; two daughters, two brothers, and other relatives.

U.S. Dollars, British Greed Keep Colonials in Poverty

NEW YORK (ANP)—Pressure of American dollars on British economy and British colonial policies are keeping the natives in the colonies poorly fed, poorly housed and generally dissatisfied, the Council on African Affairs revealed last week.

British colonies are rich in production of raw materials, yet their natives live in poverty. Rubber exports from Malaya netted Great Britain $286,000,000 or $86,000,000 more than earned by the entire home industries of Britian combined.

Tin mines earn almost as many dollars as Britian's whiskey exports to America, yet the natives have had to fight for a decent living, and are still fighting.

Africans Shot Down

In West Africa, last year, $140,000,000 was earned in cocoa sales to the United States alone. Yet, recently when African ex-servicemen marched peacefully in protest against high prices for goods, riots followed and 28 persons were killed.

In the West Indies and British Guiana, the story is the same. While they are producing sugar and cigars earning millions for somebody, 450 Jamaicans had to go to England in search of jobs, others are headed for Liberia.

Man, 59, Falls Into Delaware, Drowns

PHILADELPHIA

A 59-year-old man who drowned after toppling into the Delaware River on Aug. 6 was identified at the city morgue, Sunday, as Roy Royster, 2113 Lombard St.

Identification was made by Myrtle Barlow, same address, who said she had known the man for 14 years.

Members of the motor patrol seen him fall into the water. pulled Royster from the river at Vine St. shortly after a watchman at Pier 13 telephoned that he had

Large Delegation Attends Methodist Youth Assembly

Week-Long Sessions to End Sunday With Special Service at Morgan State College

Delegates from five States are attending the Delaware Conference Methodist Youth Fellowship Training Assembly which closes out its week-long session on Sunday at the Morgan State College.

The Assembly combines the conference-wide training school and the annual conference of the Methodist Youth Fellowship. The Rev. Charles L. Carrington, dean, is assisted by the Rev. Leon S. Moore.

Among the staff members are the Rev. John W. Haywood, former president of the Morristown Normal and Industrial Academy, and Gammon Theological Seminary.

An interracial choir under the direction of the Rev. D. L. Ridout, will be featured tonight (Friday) as one of the series of evening programs held at 8:45 p.m. for all members of the assembly and the staff.

On Saturday there will be a commitment and communion service.

Dean Preaches Sunday

Church school at 9:30 a.m. on Sunday will be conducted by the Rev. H. A. Bailey, followed at 11 a.m. by the morning worship with the Rev. Charles L. Carrington preaching.

Courses offered to the delegates who were between the ages of 15 and 22, included Methodism, worship, world Christian activities, the church's place in social action, the alcohol program, and a study of the Protestant faith.

Instructors were the Revs. C. L. Trader, J. B. Shelby, Lee Ball, H. D. Davis, and H. A. Bailey, and Jack R. McFadden, the executive secretary of the Methodist Federation for Social Action.

Attending the session as guest of the Rev. Mr. Rideout, pastor of Campbor Memorial Church in Philadelphia, was Miss Ann Wisonnius, the great - great - granddaughter of the famous pianist and composer, Robert Schumann.

A native of Elmira New York, Miss Personnius is a graduate of Elmira Free Academy, and recreation chairman of the Central New York Methodist Conference.

Atlanta U. Registrar Given Funeral Rites

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—Funeral services were held for Mrs. Mabel Alford Gatewood at Wiley Memorial Methodist Church, Aug. 8, with the Rev. J. R. Washington officiating.

A prominent business woman and civic worker of Atlanta, she died here Aug. 4, after a brief illness.

Mrs. Gatewood was registrar of the Atlanta University School of Social Work and had been affiliated with that institution for the past 14 years. She was a graduate of Tennessee State College. Directors of the school paid tribute to her at the rites.

Surviving—family members include a daughter, Billie May; and brother, John T. Alford of Detroit; three sisters, Mesdames A. J. Graham, T. E. Taylor, Sallie A. Crenshaw of Chattanooga, and Mrs. Lillian Henderson of Atlanta.

Prejudiced School Cafe Head Ousted

CHESTER, Pa.—Accused of making derogatory remarks to two colored employees at the Parkside Douglass Junior High School, Mrs. Estelle Van Hogan, cafeteria manager of the Chester school district, has been removed by the School Board.

Her release followed two special call meetings of the board which had been pressed for action by the Chester Branch NAACP.

Rebuke Indicates Bias

Just before school closed in June, Mrs. Tiny Bradford and Mrs. Ida S. Young charged the cafeteria manager approached them and remarked: "Is it because the color of your skin is black and the stove is black that you can't see the dirt?"

When the incident was reported to George T. Raymond, president of the NAACP branch, he lodged a protest with the School board, demanding that Mrs. Van Hagan be fired or asked to resign.

The board finally replaced the cafeteria manager. Influential in the board's decision was the stand taken by Rev. J. L. Link, one colored member.

Double Prize Winner

Man Whose Wife Stayed Out, Then Walked Out, Gets Decree

Charges that Mrs. Esther Adams turned on the pressure to prevent him from criticizing her for staying out on a divorce for Ellsworth W. Adams, of 626 Gold St., this week.

Mr. Adams testified that his wife stayed out nights, that sometimes he would not see her for a week, if he spoke to her about remaining away from home when she did return, he said, she would turn right around, walk out and stay another week.

The last such instance, he said, occurred on June 15, 1945, when she not only left but took all her belongings with her.

They had been married on December 23, 1943.

Wine, Women, Streets

Wine, women and the lure of the streets were blamed by Mrs. Delzora Hudson of 1921 Riggs Ave. for the failure of her marriage. Married to James Hudson on June 4, 1932, Mrs. Hudson said they constantly argued about his conduct until he left on June 1, 1940.

Also divorced was Mrs. Ruth Ward, whose husband, Daniel Ward of 1005 E. Fayette St., charged her with desertion.

Mr. Ward said that his wife left him on August 2, 1942 after their marriage on May 18, 1941. He admitted to the court that she had returned and asked him to take her back a couple of times, but he has refused.

Roy S. Bond was attorney for Mrs. Rosetta Scott of 332 N. Preston St., who said that Clevelland Scott, tailor, of 1000 Argyle Ave., deserted her.

She was awarded a divorce after she testified that he told her he regretted his marriage and left.

Also winning a divorce was James Watson of 941 Linden Ave., who said he was deserted by Mrs. Bertha Watson of Philadelphia. The couple, married in 1929 were separated in 1934.

Petitions Filed

Petitions were filed by the following:

LOVE ON THE WANE:

Bedridden Wife Files for Divorce, Support

WASHINGTON

Bedridden since November, Mrs. Christina Smith, 217 F St., N.W., this week filed suit for an absolute divorce on the basis of adultery against James L. Smith, 1807 Seventh St., N.W., and named as co-respondent Miss Louise Doces, of Casualty Hospital.

When Mrs. Smith suffered a stroke on Nov. 30, and had to be hospitalized, her husband is said to have become enamoured with Miss Doces and allegedly lived in adultery with her during January.

Hospitalized Twice

The wife states further that Smith refused to get her out of Gallinger Hospital, and that when she eventually was released, she was fed only one bowl of oatmeal a day. Mrs. Smith adds that she became so weakened from lack of food that she had to make a second trip to the hospital.

Mrs. Smith now lives in the home of a sister and charges that her husband refuses to provide any means of support for her.

Through her attorney, Lee Ball, Branson and Emerson W. Browne, Mrs. Smith declares that prior to and during their marriage she acquired personal property valued at approximately $5,000.

She also has postal savings certificates valued at $61, which she says Smith refuses to turn over to her.

Keeps 3 Checks, Charge

Mrs. Smith asserts that her husband has three checks made payable to her order by Gallinger Hospital in the amount of $54 each.

Smith is reported to earn approximately $200 per month with the Terminal Co., refuses to support her despite her condition, or give his wife her clothing and personal property.

With the divorce, Mrs. Smith desires temporary and permanent alimony, also that Smith be compelled to turn over to her all her furnishings, checks, and postal certificates.

Mother Complains

Asserting that Harry Childress, 509 O St., N.W., has misconducted himself with one, Miss Lilly B. Jenkins, alias Mrs. Harry Childress, same address, since June, Mrs. Edith J. Childress of 1439 T St., N.W., filed suit for an absolute divorce last week.

The couple married in Virginia in 1941, have a girl, aged 5 years, separated on Sept. 1, 1946. Through her attorney, John J. O'Brien, Mrs. Childress is seeking custody of their daughter and permanent alimony.

Union French Professor Nabbed on Morals Count

NEWARK

Amos J. Lessard, 30-year-old French and Spanish professor at Virginia Union University, was arrested by police Friday on two charges of buggery and bailed for his appearance in police court, it was revealed in police records this week.

Efforts to secure a statement on the situation from officials at the college, including Dr. John M. Ellison, president, and Everett B. Poole, business manager, proved futile up to a late hour Tuesday evening. Persons familiar with campus activities state, however, that he has not returned there since the incident.

It is understood that Mr. Lessard, a native of Massachusetts, or was new to the Union faculty, having received his appointment only recently.

Md. Art Institute Case Appeal Filed

District Court Denied Vet's Admission Bid

Notice of appeal from the Federal Court decision which refused to open the lily-white Maryland Art Institute to a colored student, was filed Tuesday by Fred E. Weisgal, attorney.

With the filing of the appeal notice in the Circuit Court of Appeals of the Fourth Circuit, Mr. Weisgal, who represents the veteran artist, Leon Norris, has 40 days in which to submit a brief and other papers needed in argument to re-open the case.

The suit, dismissed in June by Federal Judge Calvin Chesnut, asked the court to force the Art Institute to drop its color bar or to enjoin the school from receiving public funds.

Judge Chesnut held that the Art Institute is a private institution. Last year, the school received a $26,000 appropriation from municipal funds, and $16,500 from State funds.

Judge Chesnut also indicated that the matter of funds was purely a state question and not one for Federal Courts to decide.

He pointed out that the State Legislature grants aid to many private institutions, some of which are all-white and others of which are all-colored.

Mr. Norris, who is 33, was graduated from Douglass High School in 1936 and is considered a talented artist.

The court litigation was financed with a portion of a $2,000 fund given the NAACP by the AFRO-AMERICAN for use in legal action involving rights of Baltimore citizens against color barriers

Rites Set for Man Who Died After Trolley Trip

Funeral services for David Carroll, 60, of 2313 Druid Hill Ave., who died Sunday, were held at his home on Thursday. Burial was in Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

Mr. Carroll suffered a fatal heart attack on a Sparrows Point streetcar while returning from Day Village. He is survived by a wife, Mrs. Catherine Carroll.
