Foreigners, Bishops Here for Services

Some 900 persons, including delegates from China, India and the British West Indies, are attending the 33rd annual convention of the Interracial Pentecostal Assemblies of the World in session at the First Apostolic Faith Church.

The 33-year-old world - wide religious organization is founded upon the faith of Christians as shown by the Apostles.

The sessions began on Friday and on Sunday closed the convention of the National Pentecostal Young People's Union.

Prayer and Evangelism Stressed

Opening PAW general assembly sessions, Monday, were devoted to prayer, Sunday School and the appointment of committees and evangelistic services.

On Thursday reports were issued on the work of the home and foreign missionary societies.

Evangelistic services and business meeting will be held today (Friday) and Saturday.

Schedule for Sunday

A 7:30 a.m. prayer service will open the convention. Sunday morning, followed by Sunday School at 9 a.m., morning worship at 11 a.m. and ordination services at 3:30 p.m.

Among the delegates are:

Bishop Samuel Hancock of Detroit; Elder R. F. Paddock of Kalamazoo; Bishops and Mesdames Samuel Grimes, New York; Karl F. Smith, Columbus; J. I. Sipes, Bedford, Ind.; David Schultz, Louisville; F. J. Douglass, Los Angeles; F. L. Clarx, Warren, Ohio; H. Barnett, Niles, Mich., and B. Nelson, Red Wing, Mich.

Strict Doctrine

The denomination prohibits drinking, smoking and dancing among its members. It observes a foot-washing ritual and frowns upon begging, secret societies, labor unions, rallying and the giving of socials, shows, and concerts to raise money "to carry on God's work."

It believes in the coming to earth again of Jesus, and that a 1000 year period of trials and tribulations will be followed by a "millenium of peace on earth, good will to men."

"And Jesus, when He was baptized, went up straightway out of the water, and lo, the Heavens opened unto Him, and He saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove and lighting upon Him." Matt. 3:16.

Univ. of Ark. Bars Down Completely

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Admitting the impossibility of giving equal education in a segregated setup, the University of Arkansas let down its racial bars and admitted a young woman to the Medical School without qualification.

She is Miss Edith M. Irby, 20, a graduate of Knoxville College.

Announcing the dropping of all racial barriers, Dr. H. Clay Chenault, university vice-president in charge of medical education and hospitals, said, "She will be a part of her class, just like any other member."

Miss Irby placed 28th in a test sponsored by the Association of American Medical Colleges to determine the 90 students who would be admitted to the freshman class.

Eleven other colored applicants were rejected because of low scores, according to Dr. Chenault.

In explaining the end of segregation, Dr. Chenault said that a precedent had been set last year when the board of regents admitted Silas Hunt to the Law School.

Hunt, a resident of Texarkana, attended the law school under a segregated setup until he was forced to drop out because of health.

In his statement, Dr. Chenault said emphatically that it would be impossible to set up separate facilities, programs or any other phase of segregation within the framework of the university medical school.

150 Braved Rains to Witness Ground-Breaking for Center

Some 150 persons braved intermittent rains, Sunday afternoon, to witness ground—breaking ceremonies for the proposed $5,000 community center building at Patapsco Park.

The Rev. Jentry McDonald, membership secretary of the Baltimore NAACP, was principal speaker. He lauded the Women's Progressive League of the Park for sponsoring the drive and praised Mrs. Anna W. Taylor, president of the League, for her part in the campaign.

The League already has raised $1000 of the money required to construct the center. Entertainments are being planned and individual contributions will be solicited to obtain the rest of the money.

Forced Indoors

Sunday's program was scheduled to be an outdoor affair, but rains forced all except the actual ground-breaking, indoors.

Others participating on the program included:

The Rev. Charles V. Smith; the Rev. George W. Dailey, Mrs. Mary Thomas, Mrs. Cora V. Henry, U. T. Hayes, attorney; also John Crawley, Arthur Hungerford, William Johnson, Mrs. Helen Browne, and Noah A. Hillman.

An active body in the community, the Women's Progressive League was largely responsible for the water supply being improved at Patapsco Park. Although the situation has not yet been completely remedied, due to a shortage of pipe, efforts are being made to supply the residents with water.

Mrs. Taylor is president of the league and Mrs. Laura Brockington, secretary.

To Direct Campaign

Miss Marion O. Bond of NYC, field secretary of the NAACP, will arrive in Baltimore on Sept. 1 to direct the annual membership drive for the local branch. The campaign will be conducted Oct. 1 through 29. Miss Bond directed the drive last year.

Citizens Report Today on Drive to Aid Youth Attend St. John's

Meeting today (Friday) at the Urban League office, a citizens scholarship committee will report on its efforts to aid Martin Dyer obtain funds to attend St. John's College in Annapolis.

Following a vote of the student body to drop the color bar at the 250-year-old school, Dyer, a June honor graduate of Dunbar High School, had his application accepted.

The committee is seeking gifts of $100 each from civic, social, fraternal, and labor organizations.

Also Helps Self

To date a pledge of that amount has been made through the chairman, a member of the Dunbar High School faculty. Dyer has obtained several small jobs and is endeavoring to lay aside funds to aid himself.

Total expenses at the school to include board and lodging, will be approximately $1100.

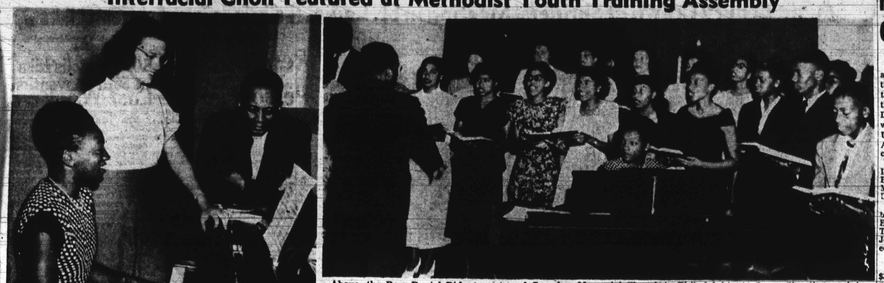
Interracial Choir Featured at Methodist Youth Training Assembly



Above, the Rev. Daniel Ridout, pastor of Camphor Memorial Church in Philadelphia, is shown directing an interracial choir in the concert which was one of the outstanding events at the Delaware Conference Methodist Youth Training Assembly at Morgan State College in Baltimore last week. Delegates came from Maryland, New York, New Jersey and Delaware. Miss Bernice Gardner of Philadelphia, who served as accompanist, is pictured again at left with the Rev. Mr. Ridout and Miss Gretchen Personius of Elmira, N.Y., great-great-granddaughter of the noted composer, Robert Schumann, and Clara Schumann, one of the greatest pianists of all time. Miss Gardner is a scholarship student at William Penn College in Oskoloosa, Iowa.

Baptist Foreign Missions Aide Plans Expanded Work in Liberia

PHILADELPHIA (ANP) — The Baptist Foreign Mission Board office in Philadelphia will be a beehive of activity for the next three weeks as the Rev. John B. Faulconer is back from his post in Monrovia, Liberia.

As the man in charge of West African work, the Rev. Mr. Faulconer is making plans for a more extensive building and school program for his schools at Suhen.

The 35-year-old minister became interested in the work in Liberia when he served with U.S. Task Force 5889 at Roberts Field in Liberia as a major. He was the field chaplain.

A year after his discharge in 1945, the Rev. Falconer sailed for Africa under the colors of evangelism and the Baptist Foreign Mission Board.

Expanding Hospital Service

Under the Rev. Mr. Falconer, the building and modernization program at the Suhen mission is moving ahead. The Carrie V. Dyer Hospital in Monrovia is getting a new wing which will bring the capacity of this badly needed building from 60 to 100.

A nurses' home has just been completed but will be extended now that a larger nurses' training program will go into effect.

Native of Mississipi

The missionary is a native of Prentiss, Miss. He is a graduate of Lincoln University (Pa.). When called into the Army, he was pastor of the First Baptist Church of Prentiss, his own home town.

He is married to the former Anna Stiles of Savannah, Ga. They have one daughter, who was born three days after he shipped overseas in 1943.

With the teaching plan of everyman teaching a man, the Rev. Mr. Falconer looks upon Liberia as a land which will soon lift itself to its feet, with the aid of Americans. The system of teaching, brought by Dr. Frank Laubach from the Philippines, has worked splendidly, says Rev. Falconer.

Bible Cornerstone of Teaching

The work was begun among the Gola people in Liberia by first translating the Bible and other works into the Gola language; then later teaching the natives English.

The educator is anxious to get back to Liberia and to his building program. A three-sectioned girls' dormitory is already under construction at the mission school.

The men telling of the hardships met while attempting this job are enough to dampen the highest spirits. The Rev. Mr. Falconer had to build bridges before his trucks could get the materials to the building site. Once he had to float a huge six-by-six truck across a river.

The fighting major is to sail on Sept. 17 back to the land where men need other men most, where evangelism and the feeling of world brotherhood work hand in hand to lift a dark continent to her feet.

$500 Car Damages Sought by Pastor

The Rev. Arthur J. Payne, pastor of Knon Baptist Church, sued on Wednesday to collect $500 from the Baltimore Transit Company for damages to his car which figured in a two-way crash on May 31.

Second automobile involved in the mishap belonged to Dr. Evan Gilkes of 700 N. Gilmor St., who was slightly injured in the accident.

Both cars were parked near the Madison Avenue YWCA when a streetcar struck Dr. Gilkes's car and caused it to ram into the Rev. Mr. Payne's car, it was revealed.

The minister, who lives at 709 Dolphin St., filed the litigation in City Court.

Texas State University's Business Manager Buried

HOUSTON—(ANP) — Funeral services for Lloyd Isaacs, business manager of Texas State University, were held last week at St. Luke's Episcopal Church. Dr. R. O. Hara Lanier, president of the university, spoke at the exercises.

Isaacs, 46, was drowned Aug. 8, while out on a boating and swimming party. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Clarice Isaacs, to whom he had been married 22 years, and his father, R. L. Isaacs and several brothers.

Williams Chapel Baptist's Pastor Slated to Resign

PHILADELPHIA

Despite contradictory statements from persons supposedly "in the know" regarding the tension in the Williams Chapel Baptist Church, 3730 Haverford Ave., the situation is believed to be nearing settlement after weeks of confusion.

According to some sources, the church will receive the resignation or the Rev. John H. Williams as pastor with regret. They say that he has been exonerated of any charge of mishandling the funds of the church and expressed "love and appreciation" for him.

Say Pastor Must Go

Other sources, which still insist that the pastor's resignation was a only recourse "because he had to go," say that legal action at this late date would benefit no one, since the church could hardly hope to regain any funds which might not be accounted for.

A member of the trustee board said starkly that members had held their last meeting with the Rev. Mr. Williams. "He is willing to go on his way," the board member said, "and we are more than willing to see him go."

Ill. Co-ordinator to Speak Here.

Mercy-Douglass Gets $811.50 Gift

PHILADELPHIA

A contribution of $811.50, to be added to an earlier donation by the Physio-therapy Society toward the establishment of a physio-therapy department in the Mercy-Douglass Hospital, was made last week by the Interdenominational Ushers' Brotherhood and Ladies' Auxiliary of Philadelphia and vicinity.

The presentation was made by Lewis LaBoe, president of the Brotherhood, to Judge Herbert E. Millen, chairman of the Mercy-Douglass board.

Contributions were also made by Thomas Grimes and Clinton Ellis, president of the Physio-Therapy Society who, with Dr. John Newman, launched the project.

$3,500 in Cash

It was reported Monday that $3,500 in cash from clubs and organizations, and more than $1500 in pledges have been collected in the hospital's general fund drive for $50,000 by Sept. 1, in addition to individual contributions.

The overall campaign goal is $125,000. The balance will be sought in a public appeal after Feb. 1, 1949.
