The Crabman Meets Some Late Customers

William Woods, veteran seafood dealer, serves up a take-home package with a smile to a late-hour couple at Pitcher St.

Wm. Woods Has Been Serving Nite-Lifers Seafood 24 Years

"Home - makers, hip - shakers, heart-breakers, the ol' crab man." That cry is familiar to theatre and night club patrons passing Pennsylvania Ave. and Pitcher St. between the hours of 8 p.m. and 4 a.m.

The hawker is 84-year-old William F. Woods of 1110 Biggs Ave. who has been selling seafood from his handmade push-wagon on the Avenue for the past 24 years.

Native Baltimoran

Mr. Woods was born at 558 Hoffman St., May 20, 1884. A widower, he has one son, Rodney Wood of 1209 Myrtle Ave.

He specializes in raw clams, fried crabs and raw oysters in season. His clams come from Chincoteague and Mojack Bay; oysters from Seaside, and his crabs from Rockhall and other parts of the bay.

"Clams are the best stomach food," especially if ones has been drinking, "because they contain plenty of lime and phosphate." Clam juice is a tonic, itself. It cured him of a chronic case of indigestion, he says.

Authority on Seafood

Mr. Woods claims to be some what of an authority on seafood. Shucked oysters live 10 days after being shucked, clams live around 48 hours after being dug, and a crab is no good two hours after it dies, he says.

What people call the "dead man" in a crab is nothing more than the gills (similar to fish gills) and is not poisonous," although not edible, he says.

Of the progressive changes in this vicinity, he has seen many. There used to be a slaughterhouse where the gospel tent now stands on McMechen St., and another one on a now vacant lot at Preestman St. and Pennsylvania Ave.

Mr. Woods has voted the Republican ticket ever since he became of age and predicts that Dewey will win this year.—E. B. REA.

JUST RECEIVED A CARD from from out California way, saying that "Happy Jack," the "mad man of rhythm," was just that—at Ciro's. Betty Hughes back at the Moonglow and looking in pink condition. Saw "Doc" Campher give an overbearing "scowl" to a drunken soldier one urday night, which should be a warning to other guys who want to "wreck the joint."

SPEAKING OF WRECKING JOINTS, the guy who tried to turn out a shoe shine parlor in the 1600 block, won't any more. In addition to getting beaned, he got a ride in the "Black Maria." Freddie Howard Jr., he's Geneva Howard's gunner's mate son, home from overseas on a visit . . . Leroy Johnson, former . . . working as Sagman on a Pulaski Highway construction job. "Better than night life work," he says.

OVER 60 PER CENT of the registered Republicans voters in the city are colored, so says Arthur N. Rogers, realtor and GOP supporter. Of 52,000, only 32,000 are white . . . New changes in the Baltimore Housing Authority set-up will see some of the oldest employees in point of service logged off, they fear . . . It's interesting to note how many applicants for homes are completely ignored after filing applications.

IT SEEMS TO ME THAT something is amiss in Housing Authority plans. If in the high salary bracket, you can't get a project home—if in the right bracket, you can't get one because of their being filled, in many cases, by high-salaried occupants—If you are under the required salary scale, you still can't get one, because people in the underpaid bracket can't pay the rental rates.

FROM WHERE I'M SITTING, it appears that Housing Authority is more interested in supplying jobs for a chosen few, rather than homes for a multitude . . . I have tried to think that I was wrong in these premises, but the more home hunters contacted, and the stories they willingly tell, the more I'm convinced that it's true.

Next week, this column will reveal the results of a personal inquiry among some of the "forgotten" home-seekers.

IF YOU HAPPEN TO BE on the "forgotten list," drop this column a letter, giving full name, correct address, date application was filed, and the last date you heard from Housing Authority. . . . Complete information must be given.

THE CAREY THEATRE was the first Baltimore movie house built from the ground up for colored patronage, so says William E. Duvall, who has worked for the Creamer interests for almost 50 years, and whose brother, the late Harry Duvall, who died in 1945, was its first manager. A stable was formerly on the spot . . . Billy Reynolds, formerly at Pete's boot-black stand on Pitcher St., has opened his own subway bootery in the 1600 block.

MRS. GEORGE TUCKER, Asheville, N.C., the house-guest of Violet (Vi) Smith, Casino barmaid, at 1017 Madison Ave. . . . And Bill Bloard, former barman around town, now at Lillian's Paradise Club, New Haven, Conn., where Frank Culley's combo played last week home for a brief visit.

HELEN KELLAM AND LOUVON Dungee, he a clerk at Parks Drug Store, 1500 block, for the past nine years, doing a bangup job at Bond's Liquor Store while the props were taking a holiday . . . The Young People's Church Society, a Sinclair Swan Jr. project, recent guests of the Baltimore's Boys' Choir and at Poe Project . . . Robert L. Dorsie, one of the choir's tenors, is planning a concert tour.

JULIA HALL, MARY LEWIS and Edith Williams, formerly of the Comedy Club; Madge and Della Moore make up the Avenue Cafe's waitresses staff. "Peaches" Webb has returned as barmaid and Bernice Keene is hatchect girl . . . Kenny Bass's modern billiard parlor and snack bar is to have its grand opening with in the next two weeks. It's already a live spot for the cue-wielding boys.

SAM SHAFFER'S TAVERN and restaurant, 1300 block, now reopened after a complete renovating . . . Harold Steptoe's Barber Shop, same block, shuttered with Harold on the lam . . . Threats from the "underworld" didn't make the private detectif move out of the 1500 block.

HATS OFF TO the Community Workship which has leased a vacant lot at Carey and Mosher Sts. for a playground—while the City sleeps . . . A new Democratic pleasure club opening in the 1400 block in the same spot which couldn't keep any doors hanging between Carl Emerson's sledge hammer . . . The 'I-told-you sos' had their ball after the Indians Cleveland - Braves championship game . . . Larry Doby and Willie Diggs's prediction that "Flash" would hit the first home run in the series.

THEY LEARN FAST — The DP's (Displaced Persons), who operate the "pen-to-mouth-and-eat-here" delicatessen in the 1800 block for a while, maintained the same policy as the original operators. They are coming to America where there is "freedom for all." Have you sent your CARE package yet? . . . A subfooted war veteran peddling pencils on Lexington St. near Charles. Its tough to preserve democracy.

MUMBLE, MUMBLE MUMBLE—There are some No. 18 streetcar motormen who "shoo" colored newsboys (AFRO and daily) from their cars along the Avenue, but don't downtown. All these kids, according to a company ruling, are privileged to ride two blocks, at a time, if, and when, we begin at Pearl Ave. WHAT, THEN? . . . "Funny people," the Chinese say. You make hot tea; put tea in it to make it cold; put sugar in it to make it sweet; put lemon in it to make it sour" . . . Funny people, yes I. Our entertainers play in downtown spots and we can't go, unless play in uptown spots and other whites can't come.

FANS ALONG THE AVENUE are wondering when Douglass High School gridders will win another game. My informant gives them one victory in three years. What's wrong out there? . . . "Dad" Ridgley, one of the stalwarts during the Tom Smith political regime, recovering from a recent attack by a quartet of thugs, all now in jail.

THROUGH GLASS WINDOWS — Dixon's Cocktail Club, recently destroyed by fire, being put back in shipshape for smooth sailing, beginning next Friday . . . The Avenue Club's Cocktail lounge and upper floor to be turned into a Gi's school . . . The recent FBI narcotic round-up was "crossed" through the arrest of a sailor reefer-smoker (caught in the act) in a Stroll tavern more than six months before the wholesale "take" of 23 men.

Lester Young to Open at Astoria

Lester Young and his musical combo of five pieces open tonight (Friday) at the Astoria Musical Bar for a week's engagement, following a record-breaking engagement at Washington's Club Bali.

Young, who won both the Esquire and Downbeat awards in 1945, for his terrific tenor sax playing, broke into the music field as a drummer with his father's carnival band in Minneapolis.

Switching to the sax, he gained fame as a headline saxophonist with Fletcher Henderson's old "Christopher Columbus" band.

He played with Count Basie for five years and was featured soloist with Basie on his famous "One o'Clock Jump" which rocked the nation. Young also waxed the tune, "East of the Sun," with Aladdin Records which proved a juke box hit.

Young's band is beginning to get the breaks it deserves through Charlie Carpenter, who has been guiding Pa destiny for the past year, with Young's latest and most sensational successes at Bali and Harlem's Apollo Cafe.

Sharing the spotlight with Young will be Cedric Wallace's instrumental trio featuring Lucille on vocals.
