Denver Grid Eleven Relies on Tan Ace

Fleet-footed Jimmy Jordan, a rugged 170-pound halfback from Los Angeles, is expected to be a big factor in Denver University's bid for victory against Georgetown University, tonight (Friday) in Griffith Stadium.

The 5-foot, 10-inch junior, who has averaged 5.2 yards per try this season, is slated for a starting berth against the Hoyas in an effort to end the visitors' five-game losing streak this season.

Acclaimed a good defensive back and dangerous pass-receiver by backfield coach, Bob Seymour, former Redskin backfield performer from Oklahoma University, Jordan promises to match the exploits of the Hoyas' Billy Conn, white.

He is a graduate of Hoover High School in Los Angeles. After attending Riverside (Calif.) Junior College two years, he enrolled at Denver University as a junior with a major in physical education. He starred at left halfback for two years at Riverside.

The 21-year-old Jordan, who worked out with the squad at Griffith Stadium both Wednesday and Thursday, turned in a 32-yard jaunt against Utah and a 28-yard gallop against Kansas, according to Roger Rambeaux, director of publicity. Jordan is the heaviest of the halfbacks at his 170 pounds. The others average around 165.

Bears at Full Strength for N.C. Homecoming Go

Bill Bell, Aggie Mentor, Anxious to Gain First Victory Over Hurt

GREENSBORO, N.C.—The Morgan State College Bears, at full strength except for a few minor bruises here and there, were in the city and primed for their annual clash with A. & T. College in the latter's home-coming celebration tomorrow (Saturday).

Coach Eddie Hurt asserted that there will be no changes in his starting lineup which, incidentally, is playing .500 ball to date, having won two and lost two of its four games.

The game should develop into a real battle what with both teams eager for victory. Morgan and A. and T. played to a 13-13 deadlock in Baltimore last year.

Previous to that, in the 1946 game at Memorial Stadium here, the Bears emerged victors by a margin of 6-0.

As a result, Bill Bell, Aggie mentor, is seeking his first victory over his rival, Hurt, since the former came to A. and T. after service at Tuskegee Air Field.

Coach Bell is pinning his last hopes of remaining in the championship race on the shoulders of such aggressive backs as Milas Kelly, 180-pound back from Media, Pa.; Leonard Harshaw, a tricky broken field runner from Springfield, Ohio; Athie Garrison, a triple-threat junior from Canton, Ohio, and R. H. "Stonewall" Jackson, 210-pound driving fullback from Allentown, Pa.

That will likely be the starting backfield for the Aggies, but the Aggie line must show more defensive power than displayed in previous games this season if the Aggies stop the running and passing attack of the Morgan Bears.

Aggie Lineup

The Aggie front line faces a task of stopping such aces as Art (Clipper) Berry, Rooks and St. Thomas, who have been pacing the Morgan attack. It was this combination that drove the Bears to a smashing 41 to 0 victory over Delaware State.

The Aggie starting line will likely include Milton Johnson and David Kithcart, ends; Joe Williams and Robert Parks, tackles; Sherwood Thompson and Isaiah Ogleby, guards, and Hornsby Howell, center.

Many additional activities are being planned for the homecoming celebration, these including two dances, band parades at the halftime, coronation ceremonies and a colorful parade of beautiful floats.

The Aggie remainded idle last week, giving Coach Bell two full weeks to point for this game.

Lawrence's Long Runs Are Futile

Aetius Lawrence, fleet Hamilton College back, got away for several long runs, but the Continentals fell before Haverford College, 28-0, Saturday, at Walton Field.

Lawrence, the first colored football player to appear here in a college game this season, spearheaded a second-period drive which carried to Haverford's 22, the deepest penetration made by the New Yorkers.

Faces Test Here

Holder of one of the most impressive records of all the ring's newcomers, Jimmy Carter, flashy New York lightweight, gets the most severe test of his young career here, Monday night when he faces the clever Sonny Boy West, of Washington, at the Coliseum. Carter has a draw with Sandy Saddler and wins over Ike Jenkins, Cabey Lewis and Julie Kogan among his accomplishments.

Whether Leroy (Satchel) Paige remains with Cleveland as a pitching-coach, relief or starting pitcher, seems predicated upon things that did not happen on the baseball diamond where records are actually compiled, and salary increases are evaluated.

Lined up with star teammate Gene Bearden for a barnstorming safari of the distant hinterlands, silence is all that creeps out of the Ohio citadel where but shortly Paige became the first colored pitcher to toil in the American league and to become a member of a world's champion team.

Wanted Regular Mound Duty

A recent Associated Press story had Paige talking in this manner: "My one regret as I recant the 1948 season is that manager Lou Boudreau did not see fit to use me more often in a starting role. While it is true I was hired on July 7 as a relief pitcher, I knew all the while I could go the full route and proved it, as my record shows."

In the interview, the 6 foot 3 inch man with the thinnest legs in baseball spoke also of requests he intended to make to Bill Veeck, Cleveland prexy, one of baseball's finest executives. Said Satch: "Next season I am going to ask two things. An increase over my '48 salary and the chance to be a starting pitcher. I feel that with a regular turn I can win 20 or 25 games in '49 despite my so-called advanced years."

3-Way Tie for DPR Grid Lead

With five games left to be played, the Six-Man, Two-Hand-Touch football league, sponsored by the Community C.C. and Department of Recreation, remains in a three-way tie.

Today (Friday), the Eagles engage the Trojans, and the Dodgers tangle with the Tiger Boys.

On Monday the Giants will play the Trojans while the Terrors hook up with the Tiger Boys. The final game will be played Wednesday between the Dodgers and Senators.

Sonny Boy West Fights Carter in Baltimore

Sonny Boy West, local lightweight contender, will seek his 32nd win in 36 starts, Monday night, when he faces Jimmy Carter in Baltimore Coliseum.

A crowd pleaser and top favorite among Baltimore fans, the 20-year-old West is making his second headline start within a month, having TKO'd the veteran Maxie Shapiro in six rounds at Uline Arena recently.

In his last outing in Baltimore he won a decisive verdict over the clever Jimmy McAllister.
