Vice President Simpson Guest of Masons at Formal Luncheon

Dr. Willard W. Allen, grand master, and members of the Masonic order were hosts to the Hon. Clarence L. Simpson, vice president of the Republic of Liberia, at luncheon at the Masonic Temple, Tuesday afternoon.

The Liberian executive, who has been in the States since September, is making a tour of the country observing educational and industrial trends. He left his country in July and spent time in London, Holland and Paris prior to coming here.

Indebted to U.S.

Liberia, he told the group, feels indebted to the United States for its existence as a free and independent nation today. He pointed out that although his country still has its problems, it has made a contribution to the world of which all peoples of color should be proud. He told of the Liberian port at Monrovia and of the air field near Monrovia which proved of invaluable aid to the Allies during the recent war. He urged colored Americans to continue their fight for higher education, and pointed particularly to the needs in technical fields.

Brief speeches of greeting were made by Elmer Henderson, assistant superintendent of schools of Baltimore City; Dr. D. O. W. Holmes, recently retired president of Morgan State College; Dr. William H. Henry, president of Bowie Teachers College; and Dr. Martin Jenkins, president of Morgan State College.

2,500 Expected at Cub Roundup

Some 2,500 Cub Scouts are expected to attend a roundup in the Douglass High School auditorium at 7 p.m. tonight (Friday), according to Andrew R. Johnson, Scout executive.

Mr. Johnson said 18 elementary schools of North and Northwest Baltimore are co-operating with 21 cub packs in the areas to make this year's rally the most sucessful one ever held.

The cubs will set up exhibits, act as ushers and lead songs and yells, while the schools will stage a number of four-minute skits.

G. Albert Wright is chairman of the round-up committee.

Monumental Club Got Truman Voles

Democratic Unit Is Oldest in Maryland

The Monumental Democratic Club at 1422 Pennsylvania Ave., the oldest such organization in the State, was accredited this week with the effective work which brought out the community's largest number of Democratic voters in the Nov. 2 election.

William B. Dixon, president of the club, pointed that in the 14th and 14th Wards where Republicans outnumber Democrats by a 3 to 1 ratio, voters gave President Truman an 832 majority over Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

The organization held a number of workers' meetings, one of which featured Sen. Millard Tydings as guest speaker on election eve, and which, together with effective door-to-door campaigning, brought out the heavy turnout of voters.

—These Got Votes Out—

Credit for the election success in this community, Mr. Dixon said, is due Paul A. Hill of 2416 Pennsylvania Ave., Alexander Porter of 407 Wilson St., Dal Rasin, 14th Ward executive; Mack Savoy, 17th Ward executive and the corps of workers under the following precinct captains:

14th Ward —Evelyn Lockier of 1820 Druid Hill Ave., 4th precinct; Carlton C. Douglass of 1921 Druid Hill Ave., 8th; Viola Winder of 2009 Madison Ave., 6th; Earl H. Hughes of 2018 Division St., 7th; Evelyn Taylor of 1537 Argyle Ave., 8th; Doris Tarter of 1622 Druid Hill Ave., 9th; and Elizabeth Johnson of 1411 Division St., 10th.

17th Ward —Sallie Clark of 543 W. Lafayette Ave., 1st precinct; Frank Coleman of 1310 Myrtle Ave., 2nd; Lillian White of 717 Bruce St., 3rd; Lillian Williams of 1043 Argyle Ave., 4th; J. Thomas of 422 N. Pine St., 5th; Marceline Bright of 421 N. Pine St., 6th and Lillian Cole of Druid Hill Ave., 7th.

Club Officers

Executive officers of the club, besides Mr. Dixon are:

Dr. Joseph H. Thomas, Nicholas Rice and Edward C. Ridgley, vice-presidents; Courtlani L. Brown, treasurer; Calvin A. Douglass, financial secretary; J. Gene Payne, secretary; Aubrey A. Briscoe, assistant secretary; Jennings Ames, sergeant-at-arms; Max Johnson, publicity director; and the Rev. Sidney Edwards, chaplin.

Cross-Bill Filed to Stop Sale of Home

Ulysses Perkins filed a cross-bill against his sister, Mrs. Lucy Hutto, this week, seeking to prevent the sale of the home in which they both live at 411 N. Stricker St.

Mrs. Hutto has asked that the property, formerly owned by their mother, Mrs. Ida Perkins, be sold and the proceeds divided between her and Mr. Perkins.

In a petition filed in Circuit Court Mr. Perkins seeks to regain the property on the ground that he purchased and paid for it, putting it in the name of his mother only to protect her in event of his pre-deceasing her.

Used Undue Influence

He says that his sister, a few days before the death of his aged mother, used undue influence in having the mother execute a deed transferring her interest to the sister.

Mrs. Perkins was 80 years old at the time of her death on Oct. 22. The petition, filed by J. Howard Payne, attorney, in Circuit Court No. 2, seeks to have the entire property restored to the son.

South Baltimore Notes

The First Baptist Church observed Men's Day, Sunday, with services that were well attended. Music was furnished by the Peerless Glee Club, and a total of $604.54 was raised at three services during the day.

Johnny White was chairman of the program committee; Charles Hunter, secretary, and the Rev. Herbert S. Morris is pastor of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Parker of 627 W. Conway St., announced the birth of a nine-pound son, Richard.

The Trustee's Aid of the Star of Bethlehem AME Church is again sponsoring repair work on the church building.

William Polk, president of the trustee's aid, also heads the Friendship Saving Club.

Southside Personality

This week's personality choice is George Wallace Hill, lifetime resident of the Southside who spends considerable time urging young people to seek the finer things in life.

The son of the late Robert and Sarah Hill, he had to support himself at the age of 12 and can appreciate the educational opportunities offered children today.

GEORGE W. HILL

When 29 years old, Mr. Hill resumed his education in evening school where he studied for seven years, advancing from the fourth grad to third year high school.

Though he only had $1.50, Mr. Hill opened a one-chair barber shop in the 700 block of S. Fremont Ave., shortly before the war.

The shop now has five chairs, a television set, and is an AFRO substation and focal point for hundred of newsboys.

Mr. Hill claims membership in 16 different social, civic and religious organizations but devotes most of his spare time to music.

Telephone Co. Asks Rate Boost

Reporting its earnings declining rapidly and expenses at an all-time high, the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company on Wednesday filed an application with the Public Service Commission for an increase in telephone rates.

W. G. Morrel, C. and P. vice president and general manager, declared that while the company has not completed its studies, it was estimated that relief producing approximately $3,600,000 in additional annual net revenue, after taxes, would be required to place the company on a financially sound basis.

This the company said would permit it to furnish adequate telephone service.

Granted Increase In '47

The company, which in 1947 was granted its first general rate increase in 21 years, reported current operating expenses, including wage costs comprising the largest item of expense, are the highest in history.

Recent wage increases to employees have again added substantially to the company's already high costs of operation. Construction costs, it was pointed out, continue at record levels.

The company's application brought out that rate relief granted last year was "substantially less than necessary to restore and maintain the company's earnings at an adequate level."

Asking that the Public Service Commission decide what constitutes a reasonable return upon the fair value of the company's property, the C. and P. requested "a prompt hearing upon and an early decision."

Man Incriminated

The recovery of five radios valued at $72.70, said to have been stolen from the Roxie Sales Company on Nov. 3, caused William H. Bush, 45, of 748 W. Lexington St., to be held in $1000 bail.

Three boys under the age of 16 years were involved in the theft. They were charged with stealing articles valued at $123.44.

Their loot included 9 radios, 2 blankets and $15.78 in cash. They were sent to juvenile court from Western District police station.
