School News

This week, Monday through Friday, has been American Education Week. Parents have had the opportunity to see how the schools are teaching the 3 R's and building democratic ideals into the lives of youth.

"America's future depends upon America's schools," said William H. Lemmel, superintendent, in the November Newsletter to public schools, the schools "serve as a bulwark of freedom," he added.

Theme for A.E.W. was "Strengthening the Foundations of Freedom" and schools emphasized it in panel discussions, P-TA meetings and classroom activities.

Panel Discussion

The Public Relations Committee of School No. 135 held a panel discussion, Thursday, on the A.E.W. theme. Mrs. Marguerite Blake, a parent, discussed the topic from the point of "Developing Worthy Home Life."

A teacher, Miss Anne Calhoun, talked on "Securing Qualified Teachers." Also on the panel was Mrs. Vera I. Cole, who discussed "Better Health Program."

The welcome at the meeting was given by Mrs. Celia McLeod, president of the P-TA and Miss Edna DeCoursey acted as moderator.

The Rev. Eugene T. Grove, pastor of Grace Memorial Baptist Church gave the invocation and benediction and Miss Elizabeth Lewis played the piano.

Parents and friends were invited to visit Payne School No. 121 this week. They saw classes in action, programs and a moving picture teaching how to tell time, on Wednesday.

Entertained At Tea

On Friday they were entertained at a tea, the main feature of which was the showing of a movie of the school's Halloween parade.

Open House and tea was also held at Slowe School, No. 118, Thursday and parents visiting Davis School, No. 125, were served refreshments during a P-TA meeting following a parental conference.

At Alexander School, No. 112, a P-TA meeting, Tuesday, featured a panel discussion by the teachers giving progress reports to parents.

Work of some of the pupils of Hurst School No. 120 has been on display in the windows of Druid Laundry and Southern Life Insurance Co., during A.E.W.

Open House

Open House was held at the school Thursday during regular hours and parents and friends observed pupils at work and play.

Mrs. Mercedes Douglass, instructor of the Parent Education Class, and Mrs. Myrtle Cole, a parent, spoke on the program of Parent Education for the school year. Musical selections were by Miss Alice Fauntleroy's fifth grade pupils.

Open House was held daily at Briscoe General Vocational School No. 451 with work displays in every room. Parents were invited to a special luncheon, Wednesday, given in the cafeteria. This was followed by P-TA conferences.

Work on Display

Briscoe pupils had their work on display the entire week at Frank's Grocery Store, Druid Hill and Lafayette Aves., and Gallagher's Hardware Store, 1640 Pennsylvania Ave.

Dressmaking, commercial arts, auto-mechanics articles and the like, all made by the pupils, occupied both windows of these stores.

Other displays have been placed in community stores as a means of acquainting the public with the school activities. Exhibits from Taylor School No. 122 are among them and plans for charts to go on display from Davis School No. 125 have been made for next week.

American Education Week was also observed at Coppin Teachers College through excursions, exhibits, programs and lectures.

Prexy Talks at Assembly

Dr. Martin D. Jenkins, president of Morgan State College addressed the morning assembly, Friday, and a special program for parents was presented by the students in the afternoon.

Last Friday, the Coppin Chapter of the Future Teachers of America, sponsored by the National Education Association, was formerly installed. Its major function is to serve as a training ground for leadership in professional and civic relationships.

Miss Edwardina Brown, sophomore, is president of the chapter and the program included a report of her attendance at the conference of the Association for Childhood Education on the previous Saturday.

Greetings were brought from the Towson State Teachers College chapter by William Hilgarten, president, and a sketch of the history of PTA was given by Carlton Scott, Coppin freshman.

Charter Members Listed

Charter members are Gloria Roberts, Carol Taylor, Doris Gibson, Norma Tinsley, Arnet Brown, Edwardina Brown, Carlton Scott, Gloria Staggers and Frances Jackson. Sponsors of the chapter are Mrs. Marion G. Johnson, Miss Alice Taylor and Lewis G. Shepard.

Some 63 members of the sophomore class in geography and history, accompanied by their teacher, Mrs. Grace Jacobs, went to Harpers Ferry last week to study land formations and to visit historical places.

The junior class in connection with social studies, made a 40-mile tour of industrial Baltimore, last Wednesday, visiting docks and industrial plants.

Purpose was to give students first hand experience in things which they will teach. Mrs. Jacobs directed the trip.

Realizing the need of being well informed concerning the new trends in arithmetic instruction, the faculty of Hurst School, No. 120 has selected "New Trends in the Teaching of Arithmetic" as the general topic for discussion during professional faculty meetings.

At this week's meeting, Mrs. Genevieve Carrington and Miss Edith—Evans discussed "Background of New Arithmetic Teaching."

Substitution Made

Use of the 30-minute physical education period that has been substituted for recesses at Davis School No. 125 were demonstrated in a lesson by Miss Evelyn Douglas, supervisor of physical education, Wednesday.

She used three classes in suggesting ideas to six teachers for the best use of the period which is to be spent in organized activity instead of free-play.

The 3B class of Murray School No. 124, in connection with its study of Mexico, visited the art museum and wrote a play entitled, "The Painted Pig."

On Monday, they presented the play with the following participants: Loretta Foster, Joan Pressery, Albert Swann, James Wise, Charles Babb, Melvin Boardley, Phyllis McGlotten and Margo Brown.

A dance, "Manana," taught by a classmate, Loretta Foster, was performed by Loretta Foster, Arline Roberts, Margie Johnson, Joan Pressbury, Margo Brown, Rosa M. Lane and Maureen Brinkley.

Boy Dances

The boys, dancing were: Larry Taylor, Albert Swann, Charles Babb, Melvin Boardley, Fred Jones, and Donald Billy.

Miss Florence Dennis, teacher at School No. 139, described her trip to Mexico, to the class. Mrs. Ruth Haskins and Mrs. Mamie Foster, parents, served refreshments.

Guests were Mrs. Hattie Powell, president of the P-TA; Mrs. Elizabeth Presbury, Miss Myrtle Mark, Linwood Foster, Miss Margaret Presbury, John Talcot and Mrs. Viola C. Jackson, principal. Mrs. Helen Thomas is teacher.

Interracial Quartet

NEW YORK — The One World Ensemble, sensational interracial quartet, returned to New York last week after a triumphant tour of the sending concert halls in the midwest.

During the tour the group gave concerts at Orchestra Hall, Chicago; Masonic Temple, Cleveland, and Music Hall in Detroit.

The ensemble, which consists of a Japanese soprano, Scotch-Irish contralto, colored tenor and English basso, received top praise from critics everywhere.

Rural Board Balks at Budget Slash

Say All of $5,311,625 Needed for Schools

The Baltimore County Board of Education objected to a proposed 10% cut in its 1949 budget estimates this week, by insisting that "every dollar" of the $5,311,625 appropriation requested is necessary.

Edward G. Stapleton, acting superintendent of schools and spokesman for the board, said every item making up the unprecedented budget had been carefully considered for over three months.

The County Commissioners made a tentative 10% slash in the budget and asked the school board to advise them as to items which could best be cut.

All Items Essential

Mr. Stapleton said he was unable to cite any item that could be cut without having an effect on the over-all school program.

He explained that in preparing the budget, the school board realized that the school system "must grow in many directions to meet the needs of a rapidly increasing child population."

The acting superintendent pointed out that the most obvious need confronting the County is to give every child a full day in school.

More Teachers Needed

He said additional teachers were necessary to do this and continued:

"The curriculum offered must equalize privileges for all if the schools are to be of prime importance to the general welfare and prosperity of the community as a whole.

"We know that the people of Baltimore County have expressed a desire for such a program and we shall endeavor to supply it. This requires well-trained teachers, adequate and up-to-date equipment, instruction materials, textbooks and courses of study."

Mr. Stapleton named the unprecedented enrollment, the low purchasing power of the dollar, and increased services as main causes for the increases in the 1949 budget.

Of the $5,331,625 requested, the State would provide $1,265,836 and $4,065,787 would be supplied from the County tax on real estate and personal property.

Bombers Blast Virginia Eleven

WINCHESTER, Va. — Scoring twice in the third period, the Washington (D.C.) Brown Bombers topped the Virginia Bombers, 14-6, here Sunday, before some 500 fans.

Roaring back after two scoreless quarters, the Bombers scored their first on a 7-yard pass from Barney Gordon to Horse Payne placed the visitors on the Virginians' 3 where Curly Jones crashed over center to pay dirt.

The visitors came back five minutes later to tally again when Buggy Smith tore off right tackle, eluded several tacklers and sprinted 63 yards to score standing up. Gordon's attempted placements went wide on both occasions.

The Bombers closed out their scoring when the losers' Charley Taylor was trapped in the end zone for a safety.

Sonny Boy Gunning for Stonewall

WASHINGTON

Sonny Boy Wells, a shy, quiet-looking character, whose static ability belies his reverent look, will face a dual purpose when he opposes Stonewall Jackson in a 12-rounder, Wednesday night, in Ulino Arena.

The 19-year-old fighter, a product of Southeast Washington, will be aspiring to avenge a 10-round loss suffered at the hands of Jackson in Baltimore early this year and at the same time lay claim to the District lightweight title.

West, who says little unless you prod him, is more desirous of keeping his record straight than anything else. Prior to losing to Jackson, he had dropped but two fights in his professional career totaling some 35 matches. These two losses he avenged with plenty to spare.

Avenged All Defeats

He lost a six-rounder to Harry LaSane in 1946, but returned several weeks later to hand LaSane a second thrashing. He lost a disputed decision to Jimmy McAllister in Baltimore, but bounced back to give him the worst beating of his career.

An elusive, graceful fighter who wastes little motion and few punches in dispatching an opponent, the tall, slender West has come a long way from his former showboat tendencies which the crowds booed loudly. He used to do a little jitterbug number as he wound up his telegraphic right hands for his solo punches.

That was a year ago, but today he is one of the most admired performers locally, and is tabbed as the "last of the postwar hopes for a District champion."

The former Randall Junior High School pupil received a tremendous ovation in his last appearance here, one when he blotted out Herbie (Biff) Jones, a former District "white hope," and the other when he battered the veteran Maxie Shapiro into helpless submission to take a six-round KO at the arena.

After fighting his way up through the heap of veteran fighters as Jimmy Brown, Mickey Garcia, Leslie Harris, Danny Webb, Johnny Forte, Maxie Starr, Charles (Cabey) Lewis and Jimmy Carter, West stands on the threshold of success.

Meeting a Natural

The match between West and Jackson is a natural, any may lure at least 7,000 fans to Ulino next Wednesday, in view of the fact that both fighters have a heavy following in the District.

The local Boxing Commission approved the match between the two principals, Monday, following a conference of all officials. Chairman Heinie Miller, after watching Stonewall's alleged foul tactics against Tim Dalton here several weeks ago, has warned all officials involved in the match to penalize Jackson for violation of any of the boxing rules.

Jackson Colorful

Although fans are wondering how Jackson was able to upset West, the former Phelps pupil, who has a fair for Kelly green trunks and yellow shoe strings, has a strong following on U St., who believe he will win.

Both fighters opened training for their scheduled match. West has been working out before several hundred fans at Liberty A.C., where he is training with Roland Randall. Jackson is working out at Billy Edwards's gymnasium, Fifth and K Sts., N.E.

The District championship belt will be presented by Liberty A.C., which is sponsoring the match. The belt was made up by Nat Fleischer of Ring Magazine who has been invited to present the belt. — LEIGH

Larry Doby Gets Another Tribute

PATERSON — Citizens of Paterson continued to shower honors on their favorite son, Larry Doby, on Monday night when the Old Timers A.A. of Greater Paterson, Inc., held "Larry Doby Night" at the Elks Club.

A crowd of 300 partisans was on hand to fete the star of the Cleveland Indians, but his feats as a member of the baseball world champions, which had been told many times at local affairs, were not repeated.

"I will merely voice our echo of all the good things already said about the guest of honor and present him a gift of membership," said John V. Campana, president of the Old Timers.

The club previously had honored Doby with a "day" on Oct. 23 when during the half-time period of the Paterson Panthers - Jersey City Giants American Professional football contest, he received a television set and his wife was presented a watch.

Doby responded with thanks and signed his autograph to several hundred copies of the program of the Panthers-Giants football game which contained pictures and articles about him.

ALEXANDRIA ELEVEN TOPS BALTIMORE POETS

Parker-Gray Gains 12-7 Win Over Balto. Dunbar

Pass Interception Paves Way for First Alexandria Tally; Poets Score Via Ground

BALTIMORE

Parker-Gray's Pee Gees, combining their air and ground attack alternately, scored in the second and fourth periods to defeat Dunbar of Baltimore, 12-7, here, Thursday, before an estimated 1100 fans.

The triumph gave the Pee Gees their third conference victory in five starts and an over-all season record of three wins in seven tilts.

Held scoreless in the first period as play between both teams seesawed back and forth between the 20-yard stripes, Parker-Gray capitalized on the first break of the contest in the second period when Ivan Bourne intercepted a Dunbar pass on the Poets' 48 and scampered to the 9-yard stripe before being hauled down. Then following his 9-yard penalty for off side, the Pee Gees put together two running plays and a 6-yard toss from Halfback Walter Hargrove to End Arthur Flynn for the first score. Quarterback Wilbur Moore's try for the extra point was no good.

Pee Gees Drive 50 Yards

The Alexandrians capped a 50-yard drive on eight plays in the final period. Hargrove, Flynn and Carter Hargrove returned a Dunbar punt from his 48 to the 2-yard stripe, then to the 31. Bourne and Moore Tilley moved the ball into scoring position on the 5, where Tilley cracked off tackle for the tally. Moore's attempt at the extra point was blocked.

Coach Langley named a Parker-Gray kick from his 20 to the 40 to set up the lone Dunbar tally. Starting to the air, the Poets advanced to the Pee Gees' 23 on a pass interference ruling. From that point Halfback Ulysses Eubanks took his way to the 6-yard stripe. After Tilley Moore had lost the ball into scoring position on the 5, where Tilley cracked off tackle for the tally. Moore's attempt at the extra point was blocked.

You Can Bet They're Cooking Up Something

Call it a Duck soup or call it what you wish but these Douglass High School gridders are surely cooking up something they plan to feed to their two final opponents of the football season, Phelps of Washington, today (Friday) at Hughes Stadium, and Dunbar of this city next Friday. Scheming a way to come out of the rut that has held them to one win this season, the Ducks above are (counter clockwise) from lower left-hand corner are: Gilbert Brown, right guard and co-captain; Vernon Carter, right tackle; Ernest Thornton, end; Douglass Anthony, left halfback; William Valentine, quarterback; Donald Faulkner, fullback; Earl Warner, right halfback and co-captain; John Askins, left end; James Pennington, left tackle; Roland Brown, left guard, and Jack Brown, center.

Joe Walcott Seeks Third Crack at Heavyweight Belt

WASHINGTON

Joe Walcott still thinks he can beat Joe Louis, he told fight fans and reporters at Turner's Arena Monday night, and is hoping for a getting another crack at the world's heavyweight crown.

Between signing autographs, he explained his strategy in becoming the leading challenger, Rating Gus Lesnevich and Ezzard Charles as top contenders at the present time, he said he expects to fight the long postponed bout with Lesnevich sometime this winter — contracts are now being drawn.

Should he be successful in this bout, and he is confident he will, he expects to take on Charles next and eliminate him from the picture. In fact, he thinks he'll be able to eliminate all contenders for heavyweight honors until the Brown Bomber will have no one to fight but him, that is, if he wants to fight again.

Stribling Beaten

The feature bout at Turner's was put on early in order that Kid Stribling could go to the bedside of his sick mother. This bad news must have affected Stribling's for for he dropped a unanimous 10-round decision to Joe Blackburn in what turned out to be a dull bout.

The final bout, originally scheduled as a six-round preliminary, turned out to be the best contest of the evening. Joe Lindsey, 18 former Golden Gloves champion New York, lost his first pro fight in ten starts. He was defeated by Elkins Brothers, 191, of Washington.

After a slow start and handicapped by a cut over his left eye Brothers almost knocked out the ex-Golden Glover in the fifth and kept him on the run in the last round after he had done down for an eight count in the previous session.

Lindsey started out like a house afire, hurtling Brother down in the start of the fight, and cutting his eye so badly in the second round, the bout had to be held up while the doctor examined the injured optic.

In the semi-final of six rounds Bobby Cooper was disqualified for not mixing with Peggy Lynn.

Boys Town Unbeaten in Seven Games

The Lions Club of Hamilton is sponsoring a football game between Mount Saint Josephs High School of this city and Boys Town, of Omaha, Neb., on Sunday, at Charities, Nov. 19 at the Babe Ruth Stadium.

Prior to the game there will be a memorial service for the late Father Flanagan, founder of the Boys Town, which has done so much in rehabilitation work among youth all over the nation. The Boys Town eleven is coming to Baltimore with an unblemished record. They have won seven straight games and among the vanquished are some of the better high school teams in the country.

Features at Formation

The Westerners are coached by Skip Palrang, former head coach at Creighton University and one of the leading teachers of the "T" formation. Palrang's teams are lighter than the average high school team, but they overcome this disadvantage by speed and alertness.

Tickets for the game are priced in range of every child and adult. Student tickets are 65 cents and adults are $1.20. Box seats sell for $2.40.

Mount Saint Josephs has a fine defensive record, and football followers in this section should see one of the outstanding schoolboy games of the year.

Harlem Bears Gird for Revamped Spartans Sunday

A large crowd is expected to watch the unbeaten Harlem Bears football club play a rejuvenated Park Enclosure No. 1, Sunday at 11 a.m.

The Bears won the first half championship of the Monumental Unlimited League without losing or being tied. The Spartans dropped all four games in the first half but showed remarkable improvement in last Sunday's 6-0 loss to Bill Taylor's strong Eastsiders.

Coach Fisher and Tiny Tim Cook have shaped the Spartan squad into a well-balanced and aggressive club, but it has appeared to lack the necessary power to win in spite of this weakness: the Spartans' ability backfield of Quarterback Standley, Halfbacks Shepard and Foster, and Fullback Handy are constant offensive threats.

Coach Lee Burge will use three strong and well equipped Harlem teams. Quarterback Alfred Reddicks will be signal barker for team "A" with Avon Belle, Pete Plater, and James Poole to complete the backfield.

The line is composed of Ends Scotty Gross, Alvin Talaferro; Tackles George Kelley, Jim Gordon; Guards, Captain James Shaw, Elzie Street, and Center Ed Lansey.

Team "B" includes Louis Boone, Doc Jones, Floyd Harding and Charles Mitchner in the backfield, and William Howard, Melvin Wade, Leonard Williams, LaMar Quarles, Leighton Kyler, Donald Williams, Elmer Jones, DeHaven Williams and Warren Moulding at Swarthmore College defeated Lincoln University, 20-35, Saturday, Nov. 6, when a dual cross-country run over the backs; Pete Beasley, Joseph Minor, William Marshall, James Conway and Sig Jr. Hutto on the Earl Smith, was the first Lincoln-ite to finish.
