Ex-Mayor Lauds Dunbar, Carver

Urges Aid to College Fund to Build Leaders

The work of Paul Laurence Dunbar and Dr. George Washington Carver was lauded by former Mayor McKeldin in a radio broadcast Thursday, in connection with the current United Negro College Fund campaign.

"There are among us other Carvers, Dunbars and Washingtons who can go only so far unless we give them that help which their restricted environment and lack of funds cannot supply," the former mayor declared.

Points Out Inequalities

Stressing the need for the funds he revealed the following information:

"There is one doctor for every 900 white persons, but only one colored physician for 4,000 members of his race; one white teacher to 122 pupils and one colored teacher to 210 pupils; 67,000 white dentists and 1400 colored ones; and 400,000 white nurses and only 3,000 colored ones.

"Further urging listeners to support the drive Mr. McKeldin declared, "It is vital if we Americans are to lead the free peoples throughout the world, that we strengthen our own roots and tightly knit the fabric of democracy at home."

Headquarters for the drive are in the Union Trust Building, Charles and Fayette St. Governor Lane and Mayor D'Alesandro are honorary co-chairmen. The active chairmen are Willard W. Allen and D. C. W. Ward Jr.

Mayor Launches United College Fund Drive

Surrounded by local workers in the campaign, Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro is shown at his office this week launching the drive of the United College Fund. The mayor is honorary chairman. Seated with him are Dr. Willard W. Allen, co-chairman, and D. C. W. Ward Jr., state chairman. Standing are Joseph B. Browne and Solomon Rogers, treasurer. The fund's national goal is one and a half million dollars, and will benefit 32 private colleges.

3 Hurt, 2 Jailed in Axe Duel

Who swung first and who struck whom in a battle of two long-handled axes among three people, made up the picture of confusion, Wednesday confronting Judge Emory Niles in Criminal Court.

Early in the proceedings, J. Howard Payne, attorney for one of the men, Lamar Waddell, removed a bit of the confusion by motioning for the acquittal of his client on grounds that Waddell was the innocent by-stander who got hurt in the axe fight.

Judge Niles rendered the acquittal after Mr. Payne's facts were borne out by James F. Price, prosecutor. Subsequently, the other two men were convicted on charges of assault with intent to murder.

Both Axe Duellists Jailed

They are James Turner, 24, of 413 Heaver St., sentenced to three months in jail; and Walter Lewis, 19, of the 2200 block Hunter St., nine months in the House of Correction.

When all the evidence and testimony were presented, it was revealed that the dispute began at Turner's home on Oct. 23, because he went to the defense of his 16-year-old sister, who charged that Lewis had struck her.

Judge Niles summed it up, saying, "Lewis got an axe; he hit Turner; Turner got another axe; and Waddell was hit accidentally." Lawyers for both sides said "when"

School News

Elmer A. Henderson, assistant superintendent of schools, spoke on "A Systematic Method of Training Children," and the aims of the modern school, on Wednesday night at the Roland Park School No. 158.

Following an address by Mrs. Viola Owings, parent education instructor, refreshments were served.

From the school's troop, representatives in the Scout Cub Bazaar held on Friday at Douglass High School, were: Bill Hawkins, Ted Stokes, Harry Scott, Bernard McBride, John McBride, Jerry Hymon, Howard Gaskins, Willie Wilson and Richard Williams.

Open House Speakers

Banners advertising American Education Week and "Open House" were carried by pupils of Wood School No. 176 during a parade last week.

On "Open House Day" last Thursday, Miss Inez V. Redmond served as moderator of a panel discussion on "Strengthening the Foundations of Freedom," during an auditorium program for parents and visitors.

Speakers were Miss Frances L. Murphy; Policewoman Mrs. Violet H. Whyte, Mrs. Naomi Stanley, the Rev. A. J. Payne, Chester France, and Mrs. Pearl Smith, parents; Mrs. Clara Overton, and Mrs. Louise M. Dennis, principal.

Stowe School Program

Dr. Broening Speaks

The "Co-operative Planning League" assembled in the auditorium of School No. 139, Monday, heard Dr. Angela Broening, assistant director of research, speak on "Democratic Practices in Education."

In her talk she traced the progress of Baltimore schools from 1900 when all teachers were white up to the present day, stressing the fact that during the two-year tenure of Dr. William H. Lemmel we have covered a span of 10 years relative to democratic practices.

The faculties of School Nos. 101, 102, 105, 109, 114, 115, 135, 138 and 139 were present.

Piano Classes at School

Five classes of pupils at School No. 135, organized under the leadership of Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis and numbering 11 pupils per class, are learning to play the piano, with Miss Alma Ambrose as instructor.

A committee consisting of Mesdames Rosa N. Lewis, chairman; Kathryn Frisby, Frances Lattimore, Elizabeth Lewis, Paige Lewis, Ruth Mills, Carrie Staten; Misses Mary Singleton and Dorothy Webb, all teachers, have organized a school bank purported to instill in the pupils the habit of thrift.

There are 16 bookkeepers, 16 tellers and two presidents, all pupils, assigned to work on each banking day. The 631 depositors have since October deposited a total of $818.46.

Lockerman's P-TA Meets

Members of the P-TA of Lockerman School No. 100 met recently and became acquainted with one another through singing fun songs and telling their names.

Plans for operettas for the year were outlined by Mrs. Naomi Yoder, president; a play by children's library by Miss Ina Bennett, toy clinic and school puppet drive, by Mrs. Rebecca Carroll, vice-principal; revision of report cards, by Mrs. Alice Hazzard, practice teacher; and the equipment loan by William H. Proctor, principal.

The faculty of Joseph H. Lockerman School conducted a clinic on educational problems, with James Randall, principal of School No. 135, Edward Murray, principal of School No. 138, and Mrs. Marian Johnson, practice supervisor, as consultants. Problems involving child guidance management and routine were discussed.

Traveling Zoo Seen

On Nov. 11, parents of the Lockerman School visited the classrooms of their children. They saw a display of new equipment and visual aids in the hall. This equipment was explained to visitors by Mrs. Angela Wilson and Miss Melba Rawlings.

On Wednesday Mr. Watson's traveling zoo came to School No. 100 and was seen by parents and friends, along with the children's classes.

Some 322 parents and friends visited classes at School No. 138 during the open house session requested by the school's executive council

LONG DISTANCE TRIANGLE:
Truck Driver Values Wife's Love at 20 G'S

CLEVELAND—Hyland B. Nicholson, prominent local sportsman, was made defendant last week in a sensational $20,000 alienation of affection suit filed in Common Pleas Court by Ray S. Coleman of St. Louis, through his attorney, George V. Johnson.

In his bill of particulars, the St. Louis resident charges that Nicholson destroyed his marriage and engaged in criminal conversation and adultery with his wife, Mrs. Willa Mae Coleman, to whom the Clevelander paid "assiduous and loving attention" for two years, without the complainant's knowledge.

Mr. Coleman's petition declared that Nicholson took his wife on airplane trips, wrote her loving and amorous letters, and invished her money and presents upon her.

He charged further that the sportsman "quoted poetry" to his wife similar to Byron, Keats and Shelley, and instilled in her mind that he was inspired by her in the same manner Strauss was inspired when he wrote the "Death and Transfiguration."

Coveted Mate, Hubby Says

The aggrieved husband complained that Nicholson planned to have his wife as his own, that as a result of his attentions his home was destroyed, their love disappeared, and he has suffered immensely.

David M. Grant, the husband's attorney in St. Louis, indicated letters written to Mrs. Coleman by Nicholson will be presented in court when the case comes up for trial.

Nicholson denied the charges categorically terming the court action "a shake-down." He said he would go the limit to fight the charges which are "untrue and unfounded."

White Missouri Teachers Vote to Mix Membership

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—(ANP)—Acting unexpectedly, the Missouri State Teachers Association at its annual session on Nov. 3, unanimously adopted a resolution to admit colored teachers to full membership.

The resolution, submitted by Miss Cora L. Stanford, local teacher and member of the resolutions committee, had been approved by that committee and recommended for passage by the House of Delegates. There was no dissenting vote.

The action climaxed four years of efforts by a joint committee from the two teachers associations which had been working on problems of mutual interest, looking toward eventual merger of the two bodies.

However, the colored group will not be dissolved immediately, according to Mrs. Pearl S. Collins of St. Louis, executive secretary, but will remain active for several months to wind up its business affairs.

"The organization is 63 years old," she said, "and we could not cease to exist overnight. One of the final acts of the officers (who will serve during the interim period), will be to prepare a history of the colored association."

Both groups have held their annual conventions at the same time and in the same cities, either in St. Louis or Kansas City. The white teachers met at the Municipal auditorium while the others held their sessions at colored high school buildings.

They often used the same speakers, thus p[illegible] on them the double burden of having to address each group in different locales.

Approximately 1000 colored teachers attended their 63rd and last annual session at Lincoln High School, but when they came to the meeting, they were unaware that it would be their last gathering as a separate group.

Interim Officers

Interim officers of the association includes:

Miss Kitty D. Towsend, St. Louis, president; W. Richard Tillman, Kansas City; and Mrs. Bertha Black Rhods, St. Louis, first and second vice presidents; Miss Dayse Baker, treasurer; Herman L. Drew, Moberly, auditor; Armstead B. Green, Richmond Heights, statistician; U. S. Donaldson, St. Louis, historian; M. C. Lankford, Jefferson City, editor; and C. D. Brantley, St. Louis, parliamentarian.

Parents' School Visits Praised by Henderson

The large number of parents who expressed an intense interest in the instruction of their children during school visits during American Education Week was observed as "a good sign" by Elmer A. Henderson, assistant superintendent.

The official stated that during his visits to several buildings he observed parents were concerned not only with the participation of their children in the several classes, but with the methods of instructions used by the teachers.

Bare 11 Methods to End Filibuster

Cloture Change Means Fight, Leader Warns

WASHINGTON (NNPA) — If Southern Democrats resort to filibuster to block civil rights legislation in the 80th—as indicated Saturday by Sen. John L. McClellan (Dem., Ark.)—Administration leaders can meet this challenge with 11 possible remedies, it was revealed last Friday.

The Arkansas solon, a veteran filibusterer, said that, to protect their rights, the Southerners will have to filibuster against any Administration effort to make cloture rule apply to any motion, as well as a legislative bill—unless some compromise can be reached in advance.

Blueprint to End Debate

A blueprint for shutting off endless debate in the Senate and bringing a measure to a vote is contained in a Library of Congress bulletin made public last Friday.

The special study, prepared by George B. Galloway, of the Library's Legislative Reference Service, suggests 11 possible remedies for dilatory tactics in the Senate.

Heading the list is the plan proposed by a number of Senators during the 80th Congress—adoption of the present cloture rule to provide for ending debate by a majority vote.

An Ineffective Change

Under Senate precedents, however, this change alone would prove ineffective.

Precedents hold that a motion to take up a bill is not subject to cloture, on the ground that a motion cannot be construed as a "pending measure" within the meaning of the cloture rule.

To meet this situation the rule would also have to be amended to make it applicable to any measure, motion, or other matter pending before the Senate or the unfinished business.

Issue in 80th Congress

This question came up during the special session of the 80th Congress after Southerners had launched a filibuster to prevent the Senate from voting on a motion to take up the anti-poll tax bill.

Sen. Arthur Vandenberg (Rep., Mich.), who was presiding officer of the Senate, ruled that cloture could not be applied to the motion to take up the bill.

In appealing from the chair's decision Sen. Robert A. Taft (Rep., Ohio), said that under this ruling "there was no way to break a filibuster except by physical exhaustion."

GOP Pledged Change

At the close of the special session Senate Republicans pledged a revision of the rules as the first Senate business of the 81st Congress.

Inasmuch as a filibuster can be used to block a change in the rule, it is not likely that Southerners will permit such a change.

Vice President-elect Alben W. Barkley (Dem., Ky.), is on record as favoring a change in the rule.

11 Remedies Listed

The 11 "remedies" set forth in the bulletin of the Congressional Library follow:

1. Amend Senate rules to provide for cloture by majority vote of the total Senate membership, or by a majority of those present, and make cloture apply to any motion, measure, or other matter pending.

2. Use of the previous question motion, as the House uses it, to shut off further debate by a majority vote of the chamber.

3. Require that debate and amendments must be germane to the subject under consideration.

Limit Debate Time

4. Limit duration of debate on bills by "special orders" as the House does now.

5. Enforce the existing Rules of the Senate.

These (a) require a speaker to stand and not sit or walk about; (b) take a Senator off his feet for unparliamentary language; (c) permit points of order against frequent quorum calls; (d) empower the chair to make drastic rulings against dilatory motions.

Curb on Speeches

6. Enforce the rule that "no Senator shall speak more than twice upon any one question in debate on the same day without leave of the Senate, which shall be determined without debate.

7. Enforce the provision of Jefferson's Manual that "No one is to speak impertinently or beside the question, superfluously, or tediously."

8. Let the chair reverse the precedent, established in 1872, that a Senator cannot be called to order for irrelevancy in debate.

9. Let the chair make wise use of his power to recognize rival claimants of the floor.

10. Let there be no objections to yielding the floor, even though the Senator who has the floor consents to an interruption.

11. Resort to prolonged or continuous sessions.

Quits First Presbyterian

The Rev. Frank Robinson Jr., shown above, has reportedly gone to Canada after scathingly denouncing elders of fashionable First Presbyterian Church, Richmond, telling them he was "sick and tired" of God-bless-you-and-drop-a-dime-in-the-plate, moving the congregation to tears with his resignation announcement.

Protective Association to Meet at New Shiloh

"The School and the Community" was discussed Wednesday night by social workers and school officials at the monthly meeting of the Northwestern United Protective Association.

The meeting was held at Shiloh Baptist Church beginning at 8:30. Speakers included:

Mrs. Maude Williams, principal of School No. 118; Mrs. Helen Prettyman, vice president, Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 118; Mrs. Anita Henson, supervisor of nurses, Druid Health Center, and Edward Clark, officer, Juvenile Court. Mrs. Mabel Cowell is president of the association.

Bite by Matron Fends Off Attack

Local hospitals were warned by police, late Thursday, to be on the lookout for a man with the tip of one finger bitten off. He is wanted for questioning in connection with an attempted criminal attack.

The alarm was sounded after Mrs. Edith Mulligan of 1024 Pennsylvania Ave. lodged a complaint with Northwestern District police.

According to the complaint, Mrs. Mulligan had retired for the night, Thursday, and was reading a comic book in her second-floor rear bedroom, when shortly after 10 p.m., she heard a noise outside her door.

Woman Battles Assailant

She said that when she looked up an unidentified man, about 22 years of age, was standing in the doorway. Approaching the matron in a threatening manner with his hand in an overcoat pocket as though covering a gun, the man attempted to bolster her.

Calling his bluff, the woman said she got up and brushed against the intruder, declaring he would have to beat her first.

When she learned he carried no weapon, she reported, she locked grips with the assailant, and during the ensuing tussle, bit the tip off one of his fingers.

Suspect Escapes

Managing to break away, the matron fled from the room. In the meantime, the intruder, climbed through a window to the adjoining roof and dropped to the street, disappearing in the darkness.

The description of the intruder who was wearing sport clothes, dark complexioned, about 5 feet, 9 inches tall and weighing approximately 170 pounds, was given to police.

Officers surmised entry was gained by sliding down a rope from the third-floor rooftop and forcing open a second-floor window. The rope was found hanging from the roof, police said.

8 Arrested After Squad Gets 'Tip'

Acting on an anonymous phone call, Captain Alexander Emerson and his vice squad broke up a gambling game at 1330 Pressman St., Saturday evening and arrested eight men who were fined $5 and costs, each, the following morning by Magistrate Harry Kruger.

In Northwestern police court, Captain Emerson testified, "when we reached the outside of the house, we heard someone trying to make a nine while rolling dice. A crap game is the noisest gambling game there is."

Illegal Entry Charged

Ernest L. Perkins, attorney for the group, contended that the entry was illegal and that the officers should have had a search warrant.

The magistrate, however, held that a case had been established and levied the fines. In addition, Harvey Green, 38, and his brother, Melvin, 41, both of 1723 Madison Ave., were placed under $500 bail each, for operating the game and on a lottery count.

The other men were identified as:

Roosevelt Knox, 34, 1807 Lorman St.; John Armstrong, 36, 1541 Myrtle Ave; Caleric Forrest, 30, 2630 Windwood Ct.; Joseph Quille, 30, 2207 Division St.; Russell Billups, 36, 803 N. Carey St.; George Brown, 40, 530 Johannson St.; and William Burgess, 40, 612 School St.

"No Critter ever made Them Tracks"
(Today's Covered Wagons roll on Rails of Steel)

Across America the hoofprints of plodding oxen have long since given way to rails of steel. Today this vast, steel-shod network amounts to 398,000 miles of track.

To withstand the terrific pounding of modern trains, rails must be strong and safe. Today's rails average 15 years of main line service, and many additional years of service on secondary lines.

By improving their technology steel companies have produced better, steel rails at lower cost. Their price is now only one-third the price of the first rails produced in America.

In railroad steel, as in other steel products, the industry is setting new production records this year. Railroads are getting a third more steel than they used before the war.

Supplying this steel for rail transportation, the steel companies make possible:
For You — quick, safe service;
For Steel Workers — jobs and good wages;
For Everyone — better living.

IN THE NEWS . . . Year by year weekly wages of steel company employers are above the average for all manufacturing industries — 13% higher in 1947.

IN THE NEWS . . . From 1939 to 1949, American steel mills will have added 15,000,000 tons to productive capacity. That increase alone is nearly 1,000,000 tons greater than total British production of steel in 1947.
