Oliver Hill Mum on Bid for House of Delegates

Interviewed by a local daily following an AFRO story to the effect he would not seek re-election to the city council, Oliver W. Hill, local attorney, said he is "not now considering "changing his city legislative post," according to the newspaper in question.

Referring to Mr. Hill's comment in the AFRO, which said indications were that Mr. Hill would seek a seat in the House of Delegates, State legislative body, the newspaper quoted Hill as saying.

"I haven't given any statement which would indicate that, and if I were considering any such action, it would be too early to voice it; I've got too many other things to do."

Won' Commit Himself

It is considered significant that the councilman did not rule out the possibility of his seeking a seat in the State's lawmaking body in the 1949 primary, which, if he is elected, would require his resignation from the council a few months after the next term.

The daily pointed out that the next councilmanic campaign is set for June, 1950, while members of the House of Delegates will be nominated in the August, 1949, primary, and confirmed by the election in the following November.

It pointed out also that some of Mr. Hill's supporters said they would prefer to have him in the General Assembly, where "anti-segregation fights will be centered," instead of in he city council "which merely acts as a board of directors for the city."

Hill Supporters Quoted

It quoted these supporters as saying, too, that they had "reluctantly" backed his candidacy for council because they wanted him as a State legislator, "a post he missed in the 1947 primary by only 190 votes."

The newspaper admitted that Mr. Hill's part in school equalization suits "has catapulted him into the midst of the anti-segregation fight on a State-wide basis and some of his backers, for this reason, gave credence to the AFRO-AMERICAN article."

Further bearing out the authenticity of the AFRO story, the daily quoted Mr. Hill as admitting that he has been "extremely busy" with his partners, Martin A. Martin and Spottswood W. Robinson 3d, in the school case "during the heart of the city's work."

Interviewed by the AFRO on statements attributed to him by the daily press regarding a story which appeared in last week's AFRO, Oliver W. Hill, city councilman, denied "the gist of" the AFRO's article indicating he would retire when his council term is up.

Pressed for an explanation of what he meant by "purport," Mr. Hill answered: "The whole thing at the present time." He said he did not know "what I may do in the future, but I have not told anybody that I would retire when my term in the council is up or that I would run for the assembly."

Dixiecrats Dead, Dr. May Asserts

Common People Alert, He Tells Student Body

ATLANTA—In a post-election political analysis, Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, told the students on Nov. 3 "after today the Dixiecrats are forever dead."

He based his prediction on the fact that a political party, in order to last, must have some moral basis or reason for existing, pointing out that the South has no future apart from that of the rest of the nation.

The noted educator and religious leader declared:

"The Dixiecrats were born in the iniquitous and fallacious concept of the South as a separate entity.

Dixiecrats Dishonest

"Moreover, the party's real purpose was not States' rights, as it professed, but to defeat the enforcement of the Constitution of the United States in so far as the protection of minorities and especially colored peoples is concerned."

"Such dishonesty and lack of moral direction in the inception of a political group can only lead to disaster."

Why Truman Won

President Mays attributed Mr. Truman's success to four factors:

1. Dewey's lack of popular appeal, charm and fascination; (2) the Democratic Party's success in making people feel that it is the "People's Party."

3. President Truman's special session of Congress, which proved that the Congress was blocking progressive legislation; and (4) Senator Taft's labor record.

"The common people are beginning to think, he make up their own minds politically," concluded Dr. Mays.

He attributed Wallace's defeat to the fact that, historically, third parties in the United States are ineffective; to the highly effective smear campaign of which he was the object; and to his exception: ally courageous defense of minorities especially colored Americans.

In connection with Wallace's campaign, Dr. Mays called attention to the unpopularity of pleading our cause in this country despite progress in race relations.

She's Had Enough

"If I ever finish paying this bill, I'll never do that again," Miss E. Lorraine (Snooks) Tyler declared after working out a settlement under which she will pay approximately $600 of a $1500 bill run up on her account by her friends.

Miss Tyler lives with her mother, Mrs. Maggie Jones, at 1016 N. 20th St. and is a dietitian at Medical College of Virginia. She permitted two girls friend to use her credit and before she knew what was going on was in debt to the tune of some $1500.

Fugitive Awaits Grand Jury Action

WASHINGTON

The alleged knife wielder responsible for the fatal stabbing of James H. Butler, 34, of 730 Newton Pl., N.W., during an argument over a telephone booth in a filling station at Benning Rd. and 21st St., N.E., Oct. 17, is awaiting grand jury action.

Accused is Leroy Brown, 23, of 1230 Oates St. N.E., who was turned over to police by his attorney, Maurice Weeks, after he return here Sunday night, police said.

Toured South

Brown, who reportedly skipped town immediately after the stabbing, returned here this week from a month-long tour of "a bunch of places down South," according to Det. Sgt. John Baker of the Homicide Squad.

On Oct. 21 a coroner's jury ordered Brown held in absentia for grand jury action after police failed to locate him following the stabbing.

U.S. Treasurer's Chauffeur Nabbed

Held on Charges of Drunk Driving

WASHINGTON (NNPA)—Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder's official chauffeur was charged in Municipal Court last Friday with driving a Treasury limousine while drunk, and with three counts of leaving the accident scenes after colliding.

Police said Clarence E. Blackwell, 40, slammed into a bus stop sign at Second and M Sts., N.W., early last Friday morning, continued on his way, smashed into a parked car in the 300 block of 1 St., S.W., bounced off and hit two other parked cars in the same block.

Car Owner Prefers Charge

Fourth Precinct Patrolmen Charles E. Tucker and Charles L. Sullivan said they noticed steam pouring out of the radiator of the car driven by Blackwell and stopped him 15 blocks away on Maine Ave., S.W., about 3 a.m.

At this point, the irate owner of one of the cars Blackwell allegedly hit showed up, the policemen said, having run out of his home at the sound of the crash and followed Mr. Blackwell, thanks to a trail left by a leak from his radiator.

Private Tucker said Mr. Blackwell told him he was entitled to use the limousine, which belongs to the Treasury Department motor pool, after working hours.

Municipal Judge Aubrey Pennell granted Mr. Blackwell, who pleaded not guilty, a jury trial set for Dec. 13 and placed him under $800 bond.

Slaying Suspect's Sister Gets Auto

NEWARK

Mrs. Thelma Barnes of 319 Halstead St., East Orange, daughter and administratrix of the estate of Mrs. Nellie Waters of the East Orange address, who was fatally shot on last Sept. 4, has dropped action to attach the expensive automobile of Buford Tansimore, also of East Orange, who was indicted in the shooting.

Mrs. Barnes dropped the automobile attachment action against Tansimore, 43-year-old carpenter, when it was established that he had conveyed the car to his sister in Virginia.

Gets $2,771 Withheld

She succeeded, however, in levying Tansimore's $2,771 as part of $10,000 damage for her mother's death.

Tanismore, who is awaiting a grand jury hearing on a charge of murder is accused of slaying Mrs. Waters with five bullets at 18th and Sanford Aves., Newark, while she was en route to the South for a Labor Day holiday vacation.

Theft of Guitar Nets Year in Jail

PLANT CITY, Fla.—Two Plant City brothers faced Criminal Judge Himes last week and pleaded guilty, one to stealing a $250 electric guitar, the other to buying the guitar from his brother.

Willie Crooms, charged with breaking and entering and grand larceny of the guitar from Mrs. Nettie Moody, Plant City, last Sept. 25, received a year in the county jail.

His brother, Wesley, charged with receiving stolen property, was let off with two years' probation. He confessed buying the guitar from Willie.

Supreme Court to Study Doomed Man's Plea Again

Tribunal Has Previously Rebuffed Griffin's Review Petition in 'Black-Jack' Game Slaying

WASHINGTON (NNPA)—The U.S. Supreme Court, last Monday, granted a writ of certiorari in the case of Baxter Griffin, who is under sentence of death for killing Hunter during a card game here on Feb. 8, 1947.

This is the second time the case has gone to the Supreme Court. It previously went there on a petition to review a decision of the U.S. Court of Appeals, affirming the judgment of the District Court convicting Griffin of first-degree murder. The court denied that petition.

Attorneys for Griffin then sought a new trial in the District Court on the ground that they had newly discovered evidence. That court refused him a new trial.

"Knocks on Every Door"

Griffin then went back to the Court of Appeals and the judgment of the lower court refusing him a new trial was sustained. He then asked the Supreme Court to review the action of the lower courts in denying him a new trial.

According to the petition for a review, the newly discovered evidence was that Hunter had an open-blade knife in the right-hand pocket of his trousers. His lawyers contend that this newly discovered evidence substantiates his plea of self-defense.

The trial record shows that Griffin and Hunter were playing "black jack," and there was considerable drinking of whiskey and beer. Five witnesses testified that the black jack game had ended and Griffin began to play with Hunter's baby, to which Hunter objected, and the fatality ensued.

Man Who Refuses Dime Loan Slain

Tavern Owner Holds Suspect for Police

ATLANTIC CITY—William H. Kirkland, 32, of 108 N. South Carolina Ave., was stabbed to death Friday, in a cafe at Tennessee and Arctic Ave., allegedly when he refused to lend a dime to a Judson Eunice, 28, of the 100 block Bay St.

Kirkland was rushed to the Atlantic City Hospital with a two and a half inch stab wound in his neck. He died several hours later.

Eunice is reported to have walked into Truxon's Bar and asked a workman for 10 cents. Being refused, he asked Truxon, operator of the bar, who also refused him.

Angered, Eunice is said by Truxon to have entered the back room, where Kirkland was playing the shuffleboard. Truxon reported he heard a scuffle and entered the rear room to find Eunice holding Kirkland against the wall with a penknife buried in Kirkland's neck.

He reportedly threatened to cut anyone who came near. Truxon called the police from the bar, got his gun, gave chase to Eunice, who in the meantime had fled, and caught and held the suspect at Center and Arctic Sts., a half block away, until Patrolmen Hunter and Carter arrived and arrested him.

Eunice was held without bail, Monday, on a charge of murder. He is reported to have a record of jail sentences in Elkton and Baltimore.

4 Whites Fined for Beating Pair

Attacked Two Youths for Escorting Girl, 16

ST. PAUL, Minn.—A white Minneapolis father and his three sons-in-law who beat up two colored youths for keeping company with the 18-year-old daughter of the man were fined $100 each in Municipal Court here last week.

In imposing sentence upon the four men, Judge Paul Jarocsk soundly reprimanded them for assaulting the pair, telling them they "could have started a race riot" by their action.

4 Ambush Youths

In his testimony before the said he had cautioned his young court, his father, Louis S. Harrer, daughter against keeping company with the two colored men, ages 20 and 17 years.

Early Tuesday, the father and the three sons-in-law awaited the two youths and the girl and when they arrived beat up the youths so badly that they had to be taken to General Hospital for treatment.

Separate Police Station Proposed

MIAMI — Commissioner H. Leslie Quigg last week announced his intention of proposing the erection of a separate police precinct station at an early meeting of the Commission.

Quigg said funds for the project will be available if the city owned Groves tract is sold. Bids on the property will be opened next week.

A special unit for policing the colored area and handling prisoners would relieve congestion in the present city jail.

The CIO Political Action Committee report of contributions totalling $387,825, and expenditures totalling $18,950 showed the following items paid to Anne Mason Sims, secretary, $200; Oct. 2—travel, $351.06; and salary, $200; October 15—salary, $200.

Republican contributions included the following items:

Dr. Emmett J. Scott, Washington, $50; W. J. Nox Corbith, Washington, $50; Genoe S. Washington, Chicago, $50; A. M. Redmond, Jackson, Miss., $25; W. M. Miller, Jackson, Miss., $100.

Dawson's Expenses Small

Rep. William L. Dawson (Dem. Ill.) in a report of his campaign finances, listed a single contribution of $200 from Judge Irvin C. Mollison of the U.S. Customs Court, and an expenditure of $425 for posters.

William E. King, Republican, who opposed Mr. Dawson in the Nov. 2 election, reported a contribution of $500 from the Republican Citizens Committee of Chicago, and expenditures totalling $500; printing, $50 and postage, $200.

Earl B. Dickerson, who ran against Mr. Dawson on the Progressive ticket, reported total contributions of $1225.—$1200 from the Cook County Progressive Party and $25 from Jesmer and Jesmer, attorneys.

His reported expenditures totalled $1040—$640 for campaign literature and its distribution and $400 for the use of a sound truck. Final reports have not yet been filed.

School Band Ban Protested in Ala.

BIRMINGHAM—(ANP)—A recent order by Police Commissioner Eugene (Bull) Connor, barring the Parker High School band from participating in the annual Christmas carnival parade, brought protests from local citizens here Sunday.

They threatened to withdraw from the event entirely if the band was not allowed to participate.

Connor is said to have told the general parade committee that admiring fans following the Parker band would be in the parade. The school band is rated as the top colored unit in the entire country, and it was hinted that this might be the reason for Connor's ban against its participation.

Fearing they would outstrip the high school band also marching in the parade.

Conference Slated

The carnival parade committee of the local colored Business League met with a committee group from the Birmingham Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the event. On the group are Robert L. Williams, chairman; A. G. Gaston, J. T. Walker, Emory O. Jackson, B. T. Warren, Molton Gray, John J. Drew and W. H. Hollis.

Features in the parade, in which there was to be no segregation, in nation, included the Parker band, and a float from Miles College and Parker High School. The two committees are to hold another meeting and try to reach an agreement to include the Parker outfit.

Okla. Regents Don't Try to Equalize Schools

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla.—(NNPA)—Although inequalities in educational facilities has kept the State of Oklhoma in serious litigation for more than three years, the budget for 23 educational institutions for the year 1949-50 discloses intention on the part of the State regents for higher education to equalize facilities.

Head of Palmer Memorial Institute En Route to Bermuda

That's a picture of Dad we keep hanging in the front hall

In this snap I'm pointing to Harry E. Wilken the second, a grand distiller. He taught us to make fine whiskey, just as his Pop taught him. That's my brother William to the right and my brother-in-law Tom to the left, and our dog Jessie in the middle, as usual.

Harry E. Wilken

Here's our family's whiskey back again, and just as tasty as my Dad and Grandpa used to make it

Yes, it's been a long long time since folks could enjoy any of that good tasty whiskey our family used to make. But not so long that folks don't remember it well, and write to ask us what became of it. Well, after our spell of war work, it just plain took time to get our old gang together, and get our distillery to where it was turning out our family's recipe in the good old way. By now we're rolling again, and you folks can get the same tasty whiskey as us distillers drink ourselves. Best part of the whole thing is how many folks say our whiskey's better now than they recollect it ever was. And they're mighty pleased the way we keep the price real reasonable.

Wife Liked Baltimore Better, Hubby Says in Getting Divorce

JERSEY CITY.—"She was just a home girl and nothing could pry her from her native soil," declared Andrew Harper of 7 Prior St., who succeeded in obtaining a divorce from his wife.

Advisory Master David A. Pinder adjudged Mrs. Mary Harper of 1713 Edmondson Ave., Baltimore, guilty of desertion by her refusal to join her husband here.

Harper told the court that the 1928 union hit a rocky course in 1941, when Mrs. Harper refused to live with him where he had found employment.

The only child of the merger was awarded to the custody of Mrs. Harper.

Abusive and Truant

Mrs. Gertrude Trice Brodie of 50 Fremont St., succeeded in dissolving her May 15, 1932, union with Roosevelt Brodie of 524 W. 152nd St., New York City, on a charge of desertion.

Mrs. Brodie maintained that her husband frequently drank heavily and abused her to such extent that it was necessary to have him arrested.

She cited him further for refusing to pay rent. He walked out in

PARTY LINES vs. CANDIDATES:

Rainey Says Voters Missed Big Chance

By JOSEPH H. RAINEY

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of two articles by Maestrate Rainey, who was a Progressive Party candidate for Congress, on the victim of colored Philadelphians in the recent election.)

A mandate was given the political parties in Philadelphia on Nov. 2 to refuse colored citizens representation on to colored leaders that it is not necessary for them to give the colored citizen his proper recognition in order to secure his vote. This was proven to be inevitably true in the last election in the Fourth Congressional and Seventh Senatorial Districts.

It places those who have been fighting for the recognition in a most embarrassing position for elections to follow in the immediate future.

500,000 Voters

It is interesting to note that in States, cities and districts throughout the United States while some Democrats were elected, tickets were cut so that Republicans won

Colored Americans will never gain their many needs until they learn to vote for candidates and not parties. They must convince themselves that a candidate who has shown interest in the group's welfare is preferable to one who has not, and they must learn to cut their tickets.

Almost 200,000 colored people live in Philadelphia and more than one-third of them are registered to vote. The time was and is here for a colored person to be sent to Congress and to the State Senate.

Will the colored voters awaken to this fact and learn how it can be done in the next two years?

Dr. Imes Will Be Auxiliary Speaker

NEWARK

"American Education Faces the Atomic Age" will be discussed by the Rev. Dr. William Lloyd Imes at the tenth annual Thanksgiving service of the Lincoln University auxiliary on Sunday at 4 p.m. at St. Philip Episcopal Church, High and Market Sts.

Dr. Imes is field secretary and director of adult and social education of the New York State Council of Churches. He is a graduate of Fisk University, Columbia University and Union Theological Seminary. He was formerly pastor of St. James Presbyterian Church in New York City, and president of Knoxville College in Tennessee.

Mrs. David G. Morris, president of the auxiliary, has announced that the auxiliary will direct its 1949 efforts toward raising money for the building fund at Lincoln University.

Isabelle Collins of Jersey City, concert artist, will be guest soloist. Other participants will be Dr. W. C. Alexander and Dr. Walter Longshore.

Hospital Grants Medic Privileges

MONTCLAIR — Dr. Frank F. Thompson Jr. of 261 Orange Rd., formerly of the Army Medical Corps, has been added to the courtesy staff of Montclair Community Hospital, it was announced last week.

He is the first member of his race permitted to treat patients at the hospital since 1930, when colored physicians resigned after accusing the hospital of segregating patients.

Dr. Thompson, whose father also is a physician, here, is a graduate of Howard University Medical School. He holds an Army reserve commission as major.
