20 Million More May Get Social Security Coverage

Congrss Also to be Asked to Let U.S. Workers Accumulate Unlimited Sick Leave

WASHINGTON

Approximately 20,000,000 Americans not now receiving Social Security benefits, such as domestics and small business operators, may be added to the 40,000,000 now covered, if a draft presented to President Truman for inclusion in his legislative program becomes law, it was learned Tuesday.

The proposal, presented to the President by Oscar Ewing, Federal Security Administrator, also would give specific aid for medical education, national health insurance and increase living allowances for old people, at a cost of an additional $1,000,000 annually.

Mr. Ewing said the President has already gone on record as recommending an increase of at least 50% in Old Age and Survivors' Benefits.

To End "Slow Starvation"

He calculated that the average amount now being paid to an aged person would be $23.80 per month, which he interpreted as meaning, "slow starvation."

Under his plan, domestic and agricultural workers, the self-employed, employees of municipal hospitals and charitable institutions, small merchants, doctors, farmers, and others not now included in Social Security system would be covered.

May Extend Sick Leave

Of further interest on the national scene is the program of Federal employee sick leave reform agreed upon Tuesday night on Capitol Hill by a special committee studying the problem.

The proposal would permit approximately 2,000,000 Government workers to accumulate millions of days more of sick leave than the plan in force at present.

The committee, which is officially designated as the Advisory Committee to the Staff of the Senate Civil Service Committee, failed to adopt any recommendations for lifting the present 90-day accumulation limit on annual leave.

Aid to Postal Workers

The recommendations of the committee, to be made public within a few days, also would give postal workers 11 more days' annual leave each year and 5 more days' sick leave.

Abolishes yearly "Turn Back"

Specifically, the program advocates:

1. That sick leave for Government employees be allowed to accumulate from one year to another, without limitation, over and above, the 90 days; total sick leave allowed at present.

2. That postal field workers be given 26 days' annual and 15 days' sick leave instead of the present 15 days' vacation leave and 10 sick.

Part-Time Workers Included

3. That part-time employees be granted, for the first time, sick and annual leave in proportion to regular employees for days worked.

4. That the 8,000 classified municipal workers in the District be included specifically under the new legislation, so that they too would be guaranteed the right to accumulate sick leave without limitation.

5. That liberalization be provided in the leave grants for other groups of non-classified District employees.

40,000 Nurses Urgently Needed

Shortage 'Acute,' FSA Director Warns

WASHINGTON

The nation urgently needs 40,000 additional nurses to meet current demands, according to Robert C. Goodwin, director of the Bureau of Employment Security.

Mr. Goodwin informed Federal Security Administrator, Oscar R. Ewing, last week, that while employment in the nursing field has expanded in recent months, the shortage of nurses is "still acute."

Where Help Is Urgent

He said that information assembled by the United States Employment Service from the United States Public Health Service and other sources, discloses that more nurses are needed in hospitals and other institutions, in public health services and industry, in doctors' offices, schools of nursing, and for private duty in communities.

Hospitals throughout the country currently have thousands of vacant beds, largely because of the nurse shortage, Mr. Goodwin emphasized, adding that 20,000 additional nurses are needed by hospitals, clinics and similar institutions.

Fields of Opportunities

A breakdown of the current nursing needs follows:

Public health, 6,000; private duty, 4,000; educators in schools of nursing, 3,000; doctors' offices, 3,000; industrial nurses, 2,000; and miscellaneous, 2,000.

There is a potential demand for 40,000 more nurses in the next three to five years to staff new hospital facilities and to meet other requirements, Mr. Goodwin asserted.

The principal fields of nursing now employ about 285,000, the study disclosed.

Salaries Vary

According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, salaries for nurses differ widely because of type of duty, type of institution, area, hours and rates of pay.

Industrial nurses receive the highest hourly pay and institutional nurses who provide their own living quarters, receive the lowest hourly pay. Short hours reduce monthly earnings of private duty nurses to the lowest in the profession.

The average work day is eight hours and weekly schedules range from 40 to 48 hours. The longest schedules are for institutional nurses, and hours tend to be shortest in large communities except among private duty nurses where the reverse is true.

About half of the nurses are not compensated for extra hours, according to the findings.

The average nurse is 34 years old and has nine years of experience in addition to her basic nursing education. About one in four nurses was found to be under 27 years of age and a similar number at least 43.

Half of them are single and most of these are without dependents. Of the married, widowed, or divorced nurses, about 70 per cent.

Dock Worker Gets 5 Years in Killing

Pleading guilty to manslaughter in the street slaying of 20-year-old John Gross on Oct. 2, Steven Lievers, 26-year-old longshoreman, was sentenced Tuesday, to five years in the penitentiary.

Prosecutors Charles Orth Jr. and Edwin A. Gehring confessed that they could only guess at the possible motive for the slaying because witnesses were friends of Lievers and were reluctant to tell about the fatal shooting.

Shooting Climaxes Dispute

Gross of 222 N. Carey St., who was standing at Carrollton Ave. and Mulberry St., was shot in the chest after Lievers drove up in a car, it was said.

Indications were that the two men had a brief exchange of words about an accident which had involved a friend of Lievers. Judge J. Abner Sayler sentenced the man.

Woodson Loses Civil Rights Suit

NEW BRUNSWICK — Robert Woodson, 26, of Churchill Ave., Franklin Township, lost a civil suit in Middlesex County Court Tuesday against Guy Mazza, owner of the Red Diamond restaurant at 308 George St.

Bertram C. Bland, Newark lawyer, counsel for Woodson, filed suit against Mazza last June 18, charging violation of the State's Civil Rights law in refusing to give the plaintiff service because of his race.

Woodson went into the restaurant and purchased two sandwiches last June to take out. While waiting, he asked for a cup of coffee to drink at the counter.

Refused Service

He was informed by Mazza that "colored people are not a very here," according to Woodson.

This was the first Civil Rights case of this type tried in Middlesex County.

RALEIGH, N. C. —More than $1,400 was raised faster Saturday for the Hammocks Beach Fund during a meeting of Western District teachers at the Ridgeview High School, Hickory, N. C. H. V. Greene, executive secretary, told the 300 teachers present of the aims of the drive and of the necessity for their cooperation in the establishment of a $100,000 developmental fund.
