Chesterfield Teacher Pay Decision Pleases Teachers

Little Likelihood Seen That County Will Take Discrimination Case to Supreme Court

Teachers throughout the State were rejoicing over the week end as the result of the U.S. Circuit Court ruling in the Chesterfield County-teacher pay discrimination suit, while an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court seemed out of the question.

News that the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, sitting in Baltimore, had denied the appeal of the county from an injunction issued against it last July by Judge Sterling Hutcheson in District Court here, came about midday Friday and spread like wild fire.

Although E. S. Greene, county school superintendent would not discuss the matter until after the next meeting of the county board, board members contacted indicated that the county would not appeal the case to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The appeals court's brief but pointed ruling in the case is believed to have convinced these county officials that it would be useless to spend more of the taxpayers' money in a vain effort to obtain legal justification of a discriminatory pattern of paying teachers' salaries.

In a statement issued following announcement of the decision, J. Rupert Picott, executive secretary of the Virginia Teachers' Association, said, in part:

"This ruling is another achievement in a long series of efforts dating back to 1937 and designed to bring full democracy to education in the Commonwealth.

Says Both Races Benefit

"These court cases are expensive and time-consuming. We have been involved one way or another in trying to get equal teacher pay in Chesterfield County since about 1941.

"The VTA, local teachers' associations, citizens' groups and other organizations, in fighting discrimination in the pay of colored teachers are really working for all members of the profession, both colored and white.

"Because of the kind of salary schedule that had been set up, this is particularly true in the Chesterfield County case.

"We are more and more encouraged about the possibilities of working against educational discrimination in every city and county where it exists.

"Moreover, we have hope that the traditional American sense of fair play will lead those school boards which have not done so to do voluntarily throughout Virginia what some cities and counties are now forced to do by Federal court injunctions."

Evicted Family Rescued by BHA

A widow, her mother and three children were rescued by the Better Housing Association on Dec. 3 as their household effects were being placed on the sidewalk in eviction proceedings, it was revealed this week.

According to Horace W. Gillison, director of the association, temporary quarters have been provided for the family in a house owned by the BHS at 217 E. Clay St. They were being evicted from premises at 1008 John St.

The BHA is now working with a builder on plans to erect 100 low-cost homes for sale in the West End, well paying homes for from $35 to $42 per month for a house with four rooms and bath, according to Mr. Gillison and Mrs. Margaret J. Harrison, executive secretary.

$2,000,000 Business

Buster Mathews, well-known policy operator, testified under oath, that his brother, who was arrested, was his policy partner. According to officials the policy racket takes in more than $2,000,000 a year in nickel, dime, quarter and on dollar bets.

Norman S. Minor, former assistant county prosecutor, whom it is believed has taken over the major law business of the numbers syndicate, presented applications for writ of habeas corpus for the seven prisoners who were officially charged with conducting a scheme of chance.

Raid on Hotel Blasts Ohio Policy Empire

CLEVELAND (ANP) — Cleveland city officials blasted a multi-million dollar numbers racket empire with a raid on the Majestic Hotel here last week. Their payoff was the arrest of one of the men who allegedly have controlled the empire for years, and the confiscation of records.

Bail for the reportedly leader and a partner was fixed at $2,000 and for the others, which included three women, $1,000 each.

The raid, which according to police uncovered $15,000 in daily receipts, brought into the open information leading to grand jury scrutiny of two ranking policemen and 13 others.

Sydenham Drive for Funds Opens

NEW YORK—A drive for funds for Sydenham Hospital, only Negro racial voluntary hospital, where for the past five years patients, medical and nursing staff and administrative personnel have mingled without regard to race, religion or national origin, was launched this week.

The present policy started at Sydenham in 1943 and at present there are 37 colored physicians on the medical staff of 257.

The combined gifts from the United Hospital and Greater New York Funds to Sydenham total only about $35,000 annually, a sum sufficient to meet the operating deficit for only one month.

Consequently, contributions are needed to keep the hospital going.

SALISBURY, N.C. — For the first time in the history of this city, the Salisbury Young Men's Civic and Social Club is sponsoring a benefit All-Southern football game to be played here Dec. 10 on Livingstone's Hannum Memorial Field between the Salisbury Veteran All Stars and the Thomasville All Stars, the kickoff being set for 3 o'clock.

'Numbers Writer' Hit for Failing to Play $495 'Hit,' Police Say

PHILADELPHIA

An alleged numbers writer, Samuel Watts, 1030 Lombard St., is being detained in Pennsylvania Hospital after he was beaten over the head, Saturday, when he reportedly failed 10 pay off on a $495 "hit."

Watts told the player that he had failed to place the number for him, according to Det. Clarence F. Jones. The alleged assailants were identified as Willie Knight, 32, of 1127 Bodman St., whom police said placed the winning number with Watts; and James Blackburn, 47, of 510 S. 11th St., a companion of Knight.

The suspects were held in $800 bail by Magistrate Joseph A. McDevitt for a further hearing next Tuesday.
