It's Up to Dr. Henry

There are two types of people in Maryland we can well do without. The first are those who do not want the all-colored building. The second are those who do not want the all-colored white person who believes he should control all of our institutions.

This is why: When the first colored members were put on the State Board of Education of Maryland Trade Unions, there were people who feel that it's not the experienced, courageous administrator that Dr. William E. Henry of Bowie should be appointed to succeed Dr. Henry as chairman? Certainly it is not.

Dr. Henry is an excellent citizen and an educator, but there are many people who feel that he should go back to a mixed board at Cheltenham, which ought to go back to a mixed board at Cheltenham, which unfortunately is not a mixed institution.

Is it simply because the board has failed in its duties? We ask, it wasn't the board that failed in its duties, it was the people who should be blamed.

We hands should be tied. Sun and more recently our good friend Dr. James A. Bayton, president of Morgan State College, have resigned from the
