Adventure Epic at New Albert

A thrilling action scene from the desert story, "Four Feathers," now playing the New Albert Theatre.

Hazel Plays Original Suite in Carnegie Hall Recital

BY GLADYS P. GRAHAM

NEW YORK — Hazel Scott, queen of the ivories, triumphed Sunday in her Carnegie Hall debut before a record-breaking audience of critical music lovers of all races and creeds.

The artist's program titled from "Bach to Boogie" was highlighted by her own composition, "Caribbean Fete."

The attractive, sequin, gowned pianist, divided the evening offerings into six groups. The master works of Bach, Mendelssohn, Dohnanyi, Chopin, Beethoven, Dincu-Heifetz and the more modern composers, Rodgers-Hart, Irving Berlin and Vincent Youmans were included.

Drawing heavy applause was Myra Hess' arrangement for Miss Scott, of "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring." Chorale from Bach's Cantat 147.

In sections four to six of her programs the keyboard artist was ably assisted by Specs Powell at the drums and H. Haggart on the bass violin. Swinging the classics (the style for which the brilliant pianist is noted) was the art work presented for the rest of the evening. Numerous encores had to be granted the attentive, highly appreciative audience.

Miss Scott opened her Carnegie Hall hearers, culled from all the professions as she did those of her Lewisohn Stadium where she made an appearance this summer.

The three B's (blues, boogie-woogie and bop) and the other diversified phase of the evening's presentations has established the Harlem star as a sincere artist, and one to be reckoned with in the field of pianoforte.

Miss Scott only recently returned from a successful concert tour of her native Trinidad, where she was greeted by a home-crowd of 15,000 persons, and her concert appearances were sell-outs.

Forty-eight members of the Lawnside (N.J.) YMCA made an all-day tour of Philadelphia last Wednesday.

In addition to visiting such places of interest as Independence Hall and the Academy of Natural Science, the young men enjoyed the recreational facilities of the Christian St. YMCA and the Brown St. Community Center.

Florida KKK Not Interested in Ink Spots' Debut in White Club

MIAMI, Fla. (ANP) — Fear that the appearance of tan entertainers at a white night club in Florida would cause the Klan to ride was dispelled here when the Ink Spots opened at the Club Monte Carlo.

Patrons of the club praised and cheered the quartet as the group opened a two-week engagement at $4,500 weekly. White fraternities and sororities were among the club patrons requesting the Ink Spots for private engagements and entertainment during their stay.

Writing in the Florida Sun of Miami Beach, Theatrical Editor Paul M. Bruun said: "This is the first time colored entertainment has been presented in Dade County in this manner. I have always objected to whatever policy which has prevented colored acts from working here and has deprived local audiences from the opportunity of witnessing in person the nation's leading talent.

Club Secretary Adriel McDonald said that audiences sometimes applauded for five minutes at a time for the Ink Spots.

On leaving Miami the Spots will head for New York where they will play the Capitol Theatre. Then they will tour this country and Canada. Next they plan to go to London. Following a return to the U.S. they plan to tour South America.

'Three Musketeers,' Adventure Drama, Now Showing at Harlem

With Lana Turner, Gene Kelly, June Allyson, Van Heflin and Angela Lansbury at the head of one of M-G-M's biggest 'name' casts, "The Three Musketeers" is currently showing at the Harlem Theatre to present a breathtaking pageantry of Technicolor spectacle, fiery romance and dare-devil adventure.

Here are the ingredients of motion picture entertainment at its best—flashing swords, dashing heroes, beautiful women, explosive drama and thrilling suspense in Alexandre Dumas's unforgettable story of the adventurous musketeers whose motto was "One For All And All For One."

Miss Turner gives terrific impact to her role of the Countess de Winter, who, as a pawn in the hands of the scheming Richelieu, sets out to ruin the careers of the three musketeers as well as to throw the King of France.

Kelly is the swashbuckling D'Artagnan, who duels to protect his King, rides across France to save the honor of his Queen, and crosses the English Channel to rescue the lovely Constance, the latter played with warmth and sympathy by June Allyson.

Van Heflin gives a spirited portrayal of the romantic Athos. Angela Lansbury is every inch the French Queen, and fine supporting work is offered by Frank Morgan as the weakling Louis XIII, Vincent Price as the sinister Richelieu, Keenan Wynn as the obnoxious Planchet, John Sutton as the Duke of Buckingham and Gig Young as Porthos.

"Four Feathers" With Thrills Galore, on New Albert Screen

"Four Feathers," the story of a young English officer who resigns his commission because he knows that he is a coward, that he could not stand war, is currently playing the New Albert Theatre.

The film co-stars Ralph Richardson and C. Aubrey Smith, filming took place in the Sudan desert in Egypt, and highlights the great Kitchener's campaign. It dramatizes a stirring story of heroism and daredevilry which helped the army win the battle of Omdurman.

In the second feature, "Argyle Secrets," William Gargan gives an unusual portrayal of a newspaper reporter, co-starred with Marjorie Lord. Gargan does not drink, he does not swear, he does not sock his managing editor and he does not flirt with every female who crosses his path.

"The Argyle Secrets" is neither a war story nor a newspaper tale. It is a topical drama in which all the elements of good theatrics are neatly tossed together.

Thompson Band Joins Militant Entertainers Nixing J.C. Dates

NEW YORK—Joining the growing list of militant entertainers who are steadily refusing to play jim crow concerts and theatre engagements, Band Leader Sonny Thompson said this week here that in his forthcoming tour in the South he would refuse to play before segregated audiences.

After a conference with Ralph Cooper, who personally handles Thompson's bookings, Thompson was stated that they had discussed the situation and were both, even personnel of the band in complete accord with Sonny's stand.

"As we are a harmonious organization the band I told them that we would soon be hitting Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia and Florida and if we wanted to take segregated engagements a lot of money could be made playing them."

Band Votes Unanimously

Polling it to a vote the band voted unanimously to turn down any dance, concert or theatre date where segregation placed some patrons in balconies.

"We feel that the principle involved is too great to sacrifice for a few dollars in View of the courageous stand taken by President Truman to abolish segregation. Unless we back him up in every respect, then how can we expect him to push through his Civil Rights Program?" Thompson said.

Cooper, at one time top showman on stage and in pictures, said that he made it a policy since opening his booking office last September to turn down any engagement where it involved segregation.

Martha Pryor, Dramatic Artist, at Moore St. Baptist Church

RICHMOND

MISS MARTHA PRYOR, dramatic reader and virtually a one woman show, will be presented at the Moore St. Baptist Church on Sunday, with a second performance scheduled for Monday evening at the Fourth Baptist Church.

Miss Pryor, a native Richmond girl but who has resided in New York City for several years, has appeared here under auspices of the Mt. Carmel Baptist Church's Young Married Couples Club, the Elks and NAACP.

The actress will fill an engagement for a beautician club in Norfolk on Jan. 16, then return here for performances at the Leigh St. and Mount Zion Churches.

Her programs are entitled: "Are Americans Loyal Americans," "Dramatic Recital in Costume and "Sweep of Music Through the Ages."

Diz Has Answer for All Be-Bop

CHICAGO (ANP) — Dizzy Gillespie who showed Chicagoans the intricacies of be bop in a bop concert at the Civic Opera House Sunday, revealed that the name of his music originated by accident.

According to Diz, the name came out after the style had been originated by Charlie (Yardbird) Parker, Thelonious Monk and him self. "One day he was trying to explain to a fellow trumpet are and the last two notes of a phrase should be played.

"I finally yelled to him," Gillespie said, "be bop, be-bop, be bop, that's the way it should go. And from then on, we called it 'be-bop,' which now has been shortened to just plain bop."

Ideas for bop, he added, grew out of musicians being tired of the old jazz stuff.

Explaining why the peculiar "bop" fashions in dress, Dizzy said:

"It makes sense, just like bop music. I was forever losing music, so I got a horn which I stuff in my pocket when I have to take it off. Shaving under my chin irritated me something terrible. So I let it grow. I wear horn-rimmed glasses because they don't break easy."

Biggest Voice from the Smallest Larynx

CLEVELAND, Ohio — Believe it or not Dinah Washington, singing star, has an undersized larynx! This was revealed two weeks her press agent in a report from a Birmingham physician, Dr. Julee Taggart, who examined her following a recent automobile accident in Meridian, Miss.

Now perhaps the old adage can be paraphrased to read, "The biggest voices come from the smallest larynx."

Dinah is scheduled to begin a 13-day engagement at the Tia Juan club here Friday.

The Boos Had It, So Carolina Theatre Cuts 'Klan' From Film

RALEIGH N.C. (ANP) — Scenes showing 300 persons joining the Ku Klux Klan gathering in full regalia in Macon, Ga., were cut from a news reel at the Ambassador Theatre here last week.

The scenes had brought applause from many white persons attending the showings, but were roundly booed by colored patrons.

According to James Carver, assistant manager of the theatre, the elimination took place after an evening show. It had the sanction of the Charlotte office of the movie house chain. He said neither he nor the manager had previously seen the news reel.

By contrast, a scene with Mrs Eleanor Roosevelt speaking out against the Klan was booed by white patrons, but applauded by colored persons. The former First Lady characterized the child membership of the Klan as an illustration of hate breeding.

New Play Lead to Jane White

NEW YORK — "Forward the Hearts," a new play by Bernard Reiner dealing with an interracial problem, starring Jane White and Ossie Prince, will be presented on Broadway at the 48th Street Theatre on Thursday evening Jan. 20, after a series of previews.

Miss White, who has been seen on the Broadway stage in many plays, including John Loves Mary and Eve of St. Mark, will portray the veteran Miss White who made her Broadway debut in Lillian Smith's 'Strange Fruit.' Playing the gray haired Harry Bannister and Natalie Schafer, two well-known legitimate theatre actors, also will be seen in important roles.

Perry Watkins, only colored scene designer in New York, is designing the scenery.

The plot revolves around a decorated war veteran who comes from a well-known New England liberal family and a young girl who rehabilitates him through an understanding love. The vet, who was an artist before his war service, tries to fight the prejudice of a world that cannot understand universal love.

Polio Can't Stop Former Bop Queen

WEST HAVERSTRAW, N.Y. (CNB) — LaVerne Motley, who once sang with Charlie Barnet and was chosen bebop queen of her health until stricken again 1947 by Dizzy Gillespie, is now while appearing with Barnet, singing to cheer patients at the New York State Rehabilitation Hospital here. The patients are all victims of Infantile paralysis. And so is LaVerne.

The 24-year-old Brooklyn girl was in a wheelchair. She hasn't been able to move her left foot since August, 1945. But she returned to work after regaining and was chosen bebop queen of her health until stricken again 1947 by Dizzy Gillespie, is now while appearing with Barnet.
