Mixed Ensemble Is AKA Offering in First of Annual Concert Series

The One World Ensemble, an interracial, intercultural, and interfaith vocal group, will appear here 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Enon Baptist Church under the auspices of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, in the first of the annual series of concerts sponsored by the group.

According to Dick Campbell, New York concert manager, who organized them a little more than a year ago, it is a pleasant thing to watch them in rehearsal.

"They have temperament, but are not 'temperamental.' They have sharp differences sometimes over just the right interpretation of a piece of music, and it is pleasant thing to watch them correct each other," says Mr. Campbell.

For instance, the contralto, Miss Elizabeth Dunning, white, will feel that a certain note should be held just about so long, and Mr. Napoleon Reed, the colored tenor, who sings a duet with her, will quite firmly call her hand in an artistic manner if he disagrees. Thereupon, a most cultured argument will ensue which will eventually bring in Berton Cornwall, the English basso, who will probably agree with Reed, and Miss Hideko Yoshino, the Japanese soprano, will probably take sides with Miss Dunning. Finally, the Jewish music director, will lay down the law, and give his version of the piece, whereupon they all will get together and deliver a beautiful rendition of the number in question.

Democratic Example

Come to think of it, this is the same principle that operates in any Democracy whether it is the interpretation and delivery of a song, or whether it is the assimilation and working together of all races in a country such as ours. There will be arguments and disagreements, but in the end we shall all come out together, Mr. Campbell points out.

According to Campbell, "There is a great demand for The One World Ensemble among people of every race, creed and color, who wish to show off a practical example of a democratic principle in action." Knowing this, Campbell took great pains to select the very best artists possible to make up the group and he was greatly pleased when after their initial appearance at Carnegie Hall last winter, in New York. The critic wrote next morning that "a perfect blend of voices was evident the moment they began singing." This is important, according to Campbell, because, "We can't sell Democracy short."

YOUNG MATRONS—Mrs. Rena Brown and Mrs. Inez Lonesome were hostesses to the Culture Club at its last meeting. The Club met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Rena Brown, 1007 Brantley Ave.

Mrs. Geneva Thomas is president, and Mrs. Carrie Johnson, reporter.

Companions Hold Forth at Informal Cocktailer

with Lula Jones Garrett

These small, intimate parties are rona, N.Y. coming in faster than gray hairs and getting twice as gay with each edition.

The Companions held forth at the York Blue Room, Friday night, garnered each a guest-couple and their husbands, turned on dance music, piled up canapes, hors-d'oeuvres and a accompanying sippables, and had themselves a time.

The group is headed by Emma Tucker, president, and include Margaret Nixon, Mary Maidon, Elaine Wright, Barbara Hawkins, Rina Blackwell, Hazel Barrett, Anne McGlothern and Muriel Callman; and also members including Lucille Cephas, Adele Foreman, Wilhelmina Garner, Gwendolyn Lynch, Gloria Tucker, Beatrice Wright, Alice Branson and Robbie Chissell.

Their guests were:

Grace Matthews, Ida Nixon, Lucille Cofford, Rufus Tucker, Albert Hawkins, George Barrett, Avon Wright, Charles Cephas, Ben Foreman, Charles Lynch, David Wright.

Dr. Garland Chissell Jr., William Nixon, Richard Blackwell, James McGlothern, Clarence Maiden, Dr. William Garner, Harrison Tucker, Milton Branson and C. A. Barrett.

Some of the time between midnight and dawn the club members spent with Companions Emma Tucker and Etna Blackwell at the latter's Ferndale, Md. home imbibing coffee, creamed chicken and waffles.

MISS BINES FETED

Gloria Hines, who returned to Denver University a Monday ago, was honoree at a buffet supper given by her mother, Mrs. Mary Hines, and aunt, Mrs. Merche Hines, at their Fulton Avenue home, prior to her departure.

Guests at the affair:

Rebekah Jenkins, Delores Finney, Anne Hughes, Jean Gee, Barbara Holmes, Sarah White, Clara Bowen, Rita Conway, Shirley Douglass, Mrs. Dorothy Jones, Mrs. Margaret Kyler, and Mrs. Vashti Zanger.

BLACKSES HOST

Then there was the gay, gay party which the House of Flacks held, recently, with Helen in the role of chief hostess, ably assisted by sisters Lillian Slater, Gladys Parker and Geraldine Green.

Helen Flacks brought to Baltimore for the first time Frederick Hicks, from Washington, D.C., who rendered the entertainment for the evening—before the guest was quite pleased with.

The gals wore their pretty semi-formal gowns while the guys were in their business suits.

Those present were:

Misses Bettye Williams, Asalee Jones, Blanche Hubbard, Esther Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blackburn, John Tilghman, Doc Shorter, Howard Lee, Elwood Brown, Edward Fitzgerald, Mrs. Margue Holiday and Clyde Martin, Linwood Koger, Talley Portee, Edward Slater, Reginald Green, James Parker, Harry Bright.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Afe Sayers of Yonkers, N.Y., Earl Mellherni and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Taylor of Manhattan, and Mrs. Francis Desmond from Connice Chatman, Mae Parrott, Olga Parker and Vera Williams.

POT-POURRI

William Ball of New York City took the $200 prize that Morgan State College Alumni Association raffled off at their recent cocktail party. The Ladies of Today (town club) filled baskets and passed them out to needy families, recently. Ellen M. Stewart, town teacher, is recovering from a six-month illness which began with an operation and six weeks in Mercy Hospital. Erma George (she's head of Valentine's Apparel Shop) nixed the rumor that she had jaunted off to Africa a few days back. The cutest invitations bid a table of players to the Charles Browns on Friday night for cards and cocktails, including Annette and Ernest Johnson, Ada and Warren Weaver, Irma Dunbar, Iris and Harry Carpenter and Ida and Ed Smith and E. M. Ewing.

Marian Bandield presided at the recent meeting of the Jack and Jill Club, when they heard John Procope of Provident Hospital, and Marian Lewison on a talk on puppetry; discussed plans for the national conference in New York in April, and set up a program for their youngsters.

The Monumental City Medical Society's auxiliary was entertained by Mesdames Robert L. Jackson, Louis Harmon, Maurice Adams, Dorothy Hughes, Bernard Hughes and I. B. Higgins at their session, this week. Muriel Johnson of the Maryland School for Girls was speaker and Catherine Adams presented plans for the State session set for June.

MRS. JENKINS HOSTESS

Mrs. J. Logan Jenkins entertained on Monday at her home in Morgan Park, for the Inter-Urban Bridge Club.

Playing were Mesdames Violet H. Whyte, Virgie Wood, Pauline Watts, Elaine Chestnutt, Isabelle Williams and Edith Scott.

Guests were Mesdames Cornelia Waters, Mildred Holland, Virginia Gunn, Anne Smith, Vashti Murphy, Katherine Murphy, Margaret Conaway, Lavinia Wilson and Mascetia Smith.

Garnering the prizes were Mesdames Vashti Murphy, first, Smith, second and Waters, third. Club prizes went to Mesdames Watts, Williams and Chestnut.

"THE TEN" CELEBRATE

Then there was the swanky affair The Ten held in the same Room a few night prior, when the girls donned their smartest frocks for the handing of glasses and chips.

President Carrie B. Stotts was attired in a toast satin whose dress folds formed a drape to the front. Gowned in navy with bronze trimmings and accessories Vice-President Helena Hall had just tipped in from spending the holidays in Detroit. Reba Brooks, secretary, and Florence Dennis, treasurer, attractively displayed the fashions in a green side drape and gray and red wool, respectively. In a blue velveteen with attention drawn to the neckline was the business-manager, Minnie Dorsey.

The members including Dorothy Foster wearing a black feltie with the draped apron effect served contrasts to the winter green and black worn by Florence Able and Angela Wilson. Mary Bevans was most striking in wine-pleated crepe.

With them were:

Messrs. and Mesdames George White, Oliver Henderson, Walter Walker, M. Hill, Lawrence Jackson, Royal Sprull, George Burke, Charles Peaco, Willie D. Slade, Earl Britt;

Misses Claire Peck, Emily Peck, Nicey Jarmon, Lucretia Frisby, Earline Mance, Sarah Gray, Margaret Butts, Gail Brooks;

Arthur Mules, John Baxter, Charles Hall, Henry Williams, Claude Patterson, Douglass Henderson, Kenneth Stotts, George Chasite, William Bevans, James Atkins, Delmas Scag, Almas Scag.

Rudolph Johnson, Garth Coleman, Lester Hodgins, William Kidd, Clifton Turner, Colin McNeil, John Hargrove and Dolvery Harden.

ZETAS HEAR REPORT

At the January meeting of the Beta Nu Zeta Chapter of the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, the principal report of the meeting of the National Boule held in Philadelphia, Pa., was given by Mrs. Vashti Good man and supplemented by Miss Lottye Graye.

The report of the social activities was given by Miss Lucille Dean and supplemented by Mrs. Odessa Harris.

The local chapter met at the home of Mrs. Goodman, 801 Douglas Street, Greensboro, N.C., with Mrs. Gladys Hammonds and Mrs. Mary Williams, serving very delightfully as hostesses.

Plans are being formulated for "Finer Womanhood Week" celebration at which time Mrs. Nancy Woolridge, the Grand Basileus of the National body will be guest speaker on Sunday, February 20 at A. and T. College. All sororities and fraternities as well as the public will be invited to enjoy this grand occasion.

ALPHA KAPPA ALPHAS MEET

After an impressive opening, Soror Rosalind Allen, the regular meeting of Epsilon Omega chapter of Alph Kappa Alpha sorority got underway Saturday evening at the YWCA.

Highlights of the Boule, held recently in Washington, D.C. were given by soros Mildred Seaborne, Erma Davis, Flossie Dedmond, Mabel Frisby, Edythe Myers and Maud Williams.

The first concert of the annual series will be held Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Enon Baptist Church.
