Alpha Kappa Alphas Pack Enon at Concert Opening

with Lula Jones Garrett

Mildred Seaborne, basileus, toged down in deep green satin, and Mabel Frisby, chairman, smiling from a flower-burdened bonnet, must have been particularly proud of their sorors, Sunday, when Epsilon Omega chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha packed Enon Baptist Church to capacity for the first of their concert series.

The concert was definitely the most colorful cultural offering in this town for many a moon, and to show the point of popularity the concerts have reached, Baltimore AKAs were far more concerned last week over getting season tickets to the affairs than they were in inauguration invitations. The cards had been sold out weeks before. The offering on Sunday was a presentation of "The One World Ensemble," coming up are Katherine Dunham's dancers and world-famed Dorothy Maynor.

OMEGAS SIP CHAMPAGNE

The post-holiday champagne sip planned by Pi Omega Chapter of Omega Pi Fraternity and its auxiliary was a gala affair, as agreed by those who attending on Friday night.

The Chandler Wynn's club cellar was the place, and the Christmas loot of the gals must have been sumptin, if smartly draped gowns, eye-catching jewelry and fine furs are an indication.

Dean George Grant captivated the house with a rapid talking skit. Leroy Bennett and his swift step ping partner set a pace for Mr. and Mrs. George McMechen who did a dance of high antics. Mr. Bennett also made the going tough for Bernice Monroe, as he made with the sweet vocalizing against her impersonations. Frances Hill toaded off the ivories in competition with J. O. Mosely. Dr. James Carr acted as announcer, and when the contest was over the judges ruled the ladies winner by one slim vote. Having themselves a time at the affair were:

Messrs and Mesdames I. A. Bell, Leroy Bennett, Kenneth Brown, James Carter, Charles Fletcher, William Gardner, William Garner, Emmett Hagood, Talmadge Hill, Howard Hurles, E. P. Hurt,

Messrs. and Mesdames John Jackson, Clifford Lamb, Clarence Maiden, George McMechen, Clarence Moore, Otho Pickett, Theodore Randolph, William Walker, Carl White, Yancy Whittaker, Lloyd White;

Doctors and Mesdames Cyril Atkins, J. H. Blake, James Carr, R. Garland Chissell, Robert Gill, Dudley Lee, Clarence Monroe, George Spaulding;

Dr. Oscar J. Chapman, J. J. Hurt, Linwood Koger, Thomas B. Nelson, George Grant and Mary Butler.

HELLO GIRLS HI HO

On Saturday the telephone lasses of 1531 Division St. held forth with a pretty party in the blue room of the York Hotel.

Bernice Herber, who served as chairman, was most charming in a black beaded dress. Catherine Corbin was in gold taffeta, Betty Arthur was looking very smart in green satin. Making sure that the guests were well taken care of was Dorothy Green, in black taffeta trimmed in chantelly lace. Helping her was Lillian Moseley, who wore grey satin. Virgie Lewis was in cocoa crepe, Elaine Allen wore a black draped crepe. Doris Jackson selected black velvet with a stream-ee of roses running from waist to hem.

Mattie Jennings' black taffeta, Geneva Mello's brown taffeta, and Lucille Briley's black and white were gay notes.

Agnes Gates wore black with black and red metallic top, Dorothy Hawkins choose black taffeta, Margaret Matthews was in black faille. Helen Gholston wore aqua draped crepe.

Their guests were:

Messrs. and Mesdames Douglas Roberts, John Procope, Kenneth Robinson, Wilbur O. Stewart, Leroy Veney, Linwood Blue, William Dearing, John Harris, Anthony Soares, Leroy Beney, Kenneth Robinson.

Misses Gertrude Mello, Violet Winder, Dorothy Washington, Helena Tomlin;

Mesdames Violetta Nelson and Eldora Hill.

DR. MURPHY CELEBRATES

Dr. Carl Murphy, president of the AFRO-AMERICAN, marked his 60th birthday on Monday. On Sunday evening, Mrs. Murphy invited members of the family to their Morgan Park home.

After television viewing, there was an hour of reminiscences with the honoree unearthing a number of old letters to and from members of the family. Buffet supper followed.

On hand were:

Messrs. and Mesdames D. Arnett, John Ar., John 3rd, James H. and Howard Murphy, Dr. George Murphy, Dr. and Mrs. Everett Knox, Messrs. and Mesdames Frank Phillips, Edward Smith, Robert Mathews, James Wood, Walter Dyson, George Lottier, John J. Oliver, Marshall Hood, Mesdames Sarah Neeley of Philadelphia, and Carlita M. Jones of Buffalo, N.Y., and Miss Frances L. Murphy.

There were greetings from Mrs. Genesta Gilbert and family who wire unable to attend because of the approaching birth of an heir to her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Lane who later discovered it was a false alarm. The baby's expected momentarily.

ZETAS HAVE SESSION

Alpha Zeta Chapter of the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. met on Monday evening at the YWCA.

The Parent-Consultation Service met last week with the Parent-Teachers' Association of the William Alexander School No. 112 at which time the topic "Know Your Child" was discussed by parents, teachers and friends.

Gamma Chapter sponsored a sport dance in recognition of Founders' Day. The chapter will present an exhibit on the campus during Finer Womanhood Week, the last week in February. The "Blue Review," an annual feature, will be staged during the following week.

Alpha Zeta Chapter will have a Public Meeting and a dinner during Finer Womanhood Week. Dr. Nancy Woodbridge, national grand basileus, will be the guest speaker at the dinner. The theme for the week will be "Fundamentals for Modern Living."

Sorors Beatrice Hall and Althea Cornish, delegates to the recent Boule in Philadelphia, made reports of the business and social activities of the group. Several other sorors who attended the session augmented the reports with incidental but significant side lights.

A Founders' Day program was rendered during which Soror Nellie Buchanan gave an historical account of the founding of Zeta in 1920.

Hostesses for the evening were Sorors Geraldine Powell, Alice Hall, Eula Mae Watts, Carrie Johnson and Lillian R. Webb.

Other sorors present were:

Beatrice Mayo, Anna Holt, Alice Hall, Marguerite Carroll, Ethel Thompson.

Ruth Russell, Weida Alston, Thelma Ashe, Catherine Banks, Emma Duvall, Goldie Ford, Mae Fortune, Katherine Johnson, Marion Johnson, Hilda King, Dorothy Meekins, Hazel Phillips, Florence Purviance, Alice Taylor, Mary Taylor and Mary Thomas.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

MAIDS, MATRONS PLAY

The Maids and Matrons played pinochle for prizes, Wednesday evening, and then "adjourned" to the Sphynx Club.

All of this followed a brief business discussion at the home of Mrs. Eva Creigler, who was hostess for the evening with Harriet Peat the girls say they belonged to enough "serious" organizations, and want to keep this one "strictly for fun."

But they didn't mean it. For this week they had organized a social action committee, had taken up the gauntlet for Maryland institutions for care of the mentally ill, and were preparing to circulate a petition to have something done about the deplorable conditions existing therein.

Others in the gang were Jean Parrott, Ray Carter, Anne Calhoun, Jo Rogers, Mae Morris, Zila Eddy and Miriam Brown.
