They're Off! Just Like the Bangtails

Experiments were made with a new-fangled starting contraption for races in the Inquirer indoor meet at Philadelphia last week. Above, the semi-finalists in the 50-yard dash are off—just like race horses. The heat was won by defending champion Ed Conwell, extreme right, with Tolin Carey, third from left, second. Numerous complaints, ranging from "it almost throws you down" to "it slaps you in the middle of the back," were filed against the new "starting gate" by the stars after the meet was over.

Olympic Star Bones Dillard Does It Again

Harrison Dillard, right, best hurdler in the world, leads the pack home in the finals of the 50-yard high hurdles at the Inquirer meet in Philly's Convention Hall, Friday night. Dillard tied the American indoor mark of 6.1 in both the finals and semi-finals. Dillard beat out Jim Gehrdas, of Penn State, left. Bill Mitchell, of Georgetown (next to Dillard), finished third, while Ed Dugger, Dayton AC, second from left, was fourth.—(All meet photos by Park Harper, AFRO photographer.)

Cougars, Bantu-Dons Tie; To Settle Issue Friday

The Cougar-Adelphi and Bantu-Dons finished the first half of the Maryland 4-A Intermediate League schedule in a deadlock when they won their respective games at the Sharp Street gym Monday night.

The Dons had a tough time downing the rugged Finos in an exciting encounter, winning out in the final minute, 38-36. Peterson of the Bantus was high-point man with 14, while Reynolds tallied 8 markers for the losing Finos.

A fighting Adelphi club, seeking to stay even with Bantu, came from behind in the last forty-five seconds to down a fighting Fulton five, 43-41. Barber of Adelphi hit the nets for 19 points while Hudson of the Fultons scored 17.

Meet Friday

The Bantu-Dons and Adelphi meet Friday at 7 p.m. in a play off at the Sharp Street gym to determine the first-half champion. Adelphi will be depending on the sharp shooting of Barber and Turpin, while the Bantu-Dons the tallest team in the league, expect to control the rebounds and tally on the hook shots of Rose and Tellington.

In the other league game the Enon Baptist Warriors edged the Brown Dots, 29-27.

Hornets Toss 62-54 Shell on Camp of Favored Lions

Inability to Stop Diminutive Enemy Forward Proves Big Orange Undoing

LINCOLN, Pa. — A pocket-sized Hart, Barrick and Jones. Jones play maker named George Jones converted a few seconds before the and the ever - troublesome Hart whistle to give the Hornets a 24-22 brothers—Bill and Hitch—were lead at half time the outstanding factors in Delaware State's 62-54 upset victory over Lincoln University's favored Lions here Tuesday night.

Though tallying only seven points himself, Jones ruled the floor for the Hornets with his amazing speed and tricky ball handling. Bill Hart's 20 points, most of which he chalked up on the fast break, were set up by Jones.

Lincoln, on the other hand, was sparked by the aerial artistry of Ben Brown, who racked up 17 points for the evening. The difference in margin of victory, however, was probably due to the inability of George Moore, Lion star, to get started. Moore touched the strings for 11 fodings—at least 10 fewer than his usual performance.

Closely Fought

The thrill-packed encounter was close wedged all the way, with the score deadlocked on 12 occasions. In the first half, Lincoln raced ahead on four free throws, but H. Hart and Barrick countered with three consecutive buckets from the floor. Stretch Williams looked the ringer that drew Lincoln abreast once more, but Barrick again tossed two field goals in succession.

Benny Smith, Lincoln's fast-dodging scorer who showed up well against the Hornets, laid up a tally on the board and followed it with a gift toss. Then Moore, Smith, Brown and Cooke waged their undulating point battle with Hart and Barrick countered

Lions Take Lead

Lincoln jumped ahead in the second half on quick ringers by spark plug Brown and Big Jim Cooke. Then, with Parker in the fray, they took an 8-point advantage.

At this point, however, Big Cooke, who had not only contributed his share of the points, but had cramped the style of the enemy cut defense as well, sprained his ankle and had to leave the game. The Hart brothers—Hutch with 6 and Bill with 4—sank 10 straight points to give the Hornets a lead they never relinquished.

Beating the Gun

By ALVIN MOSES

NEW YORK—(ANP) — Charles Pollack, is known to thousands of Harlemites simply as "Hilltop."

Few baseball and boxing writers who style themselves as foolproof experts, know any more about these two sports than does this friend of mine of more than 25 years standing.

Rarely has he missed seeing the top colored baseball clubs play in various sections of our country. Same goes for major fights and football classics. With Leo Durocher and Freddy (Fat) Fitzsimmons being fined by Commissioner Chandler, the Giants coming in for a fine and scolding, and Jackie Robinson telling his radio audience he's going south for training in five weeks—King Baseball is not too far away from us.

Review of Greats

Pollack does much more than select a nine-man team, which in his humble opinion, takes work. The best he sends to me (in his own words) a review of colored diamond stars that I am proud to pass on to baseball fans for their personal and careful consideration.

"This is how my team would take the field. Alvin, and any team would have its hands full against them, he says

"Here goes

Left field—"Cool Papa" Bell, a good lead-off man, could field and hit, greased lightning on the base paths. Sir Oliver Marcelle, a good handler of bunts, great arm, good hunter and a capable batsman; of Oscar Charleston, one of the all time super ballplayers irrespective of color, a cool, smart fielder, long ball hitter, capable of making the grade in major league baseball. Hi Buck Leonard, a smart fielder, good arm and terrific hitter, ideal for the clean up spot; as John (Pop) Lloyd, hailed the equal of Honus Honus Wagner in every essential save the color of his skin — an "American tragedy"; 2b- Ray Dandridge, sensation of the Mexican League rated by leading baseball experts with infielders like Eddie Collins, Pie Traynor, etc — a real big leaguer who had everything. rf Hill V. There's a $55,000 suit pending in the Federal Court filed by James Barnett of Easterwood and Carroll Gibson of the Finos against the Dept. of Recreation. It goes back to last year when they both played on the Fultons and were barred from playing in the DPR basketball league. Solely because Barrett is white and Gibson is colored. The Old Scout is awaiting the date when the trial comes up. If the decision is right, then pretty soon all citizens of all colors and creeds will be playing on any city-owned property. Let's hope that day is not far off.

Hooks and Passes

By THE OLD SCOUT

Here's a tip to that certain coach of one of the teams in the Unlimited Division of the Maryland AAAA. It's more sportsmanlike not to tamper with another team's players. Remember they're under contract . . . Let's let it go at that.

Smart basketball fans will crowd St. Peter Claver Hall Sunday afternoon to see whether the two Poets and the Scorpions meet the highly improved Pointers. If Jim Dougherty's Pointers have John Strawmon in their lineup, there's likely to be plenty of action.

Playoff Set

The Bantu-Dons and Cougar-Adelphi, who finished their first half schedule in the Maryland 4-A with identical 5-1 records, play off for the first-half championship on Friday (tonight) at 7 p.m. at the Sharp St. gym for the Intermediate Division crown. This week's set of games will be sponsored by Joel Press's United Public Workers . . . Joel is also a member of the Executive Committee of the Maryland AAAA.

A captain of one of the league teams had better watch his step playing ball with any team that asks him to play . . . Seems his coach doesn't like it and if he doesn't quit playing three games in twenty-four hours, he is going to get himself a release. Take it from the Old Scout, captain, your coach means it . . . A word to the wise is enuf

Weekly Bills Coming

The Baltimore Clippers and Easterwood will sponsor weekly doubleheaders at the Richmond Market Armory Saturday nights beginning Feb. 5, and every Saturday thereafter during February and March . . . Walter Johnson, Easterwood center, is an outstanding pitcher, and word is around that the
