Youth Week to Be Climaxed Sunday

High School Seniors in South Eligible

A service for all local Protestant young people will be held at 4 p.m. Sunday at Brown Memorial Presbyterian Church, Park and Lafayette Aves., sponsored by the Baltimore Christian Youth Council as a climax to the celebration of Youth Week.

An address will be given by the Rev. Leonard Detweiler, executive secretary of the Johns Hopkins YMCA, and formerly a member of the secretariat which planned the Second World Conference of Christian Youth held at Oslo, Norway, in 1947.

His subject will be "You and the Church of Tomorrow."

Girls Choir to Sing

The service will be led by Jack Rogers, president of the Baltimore Christian Youth Council, assisted by Miss Anna Young, Paul Mundy, Miss Mary Helen Marshall and Miss Ruth Ann Lee.

Miss Edna DeCourcey, vice president of the United Christian Youth Council of Maryland and Delaware, will bring greeting. The Rev. Lex Miller Jr., will pronounce the benediction.

The Girls' Choir of Grace Presbyterian Church, under direction of Mrs. Mercedes Douglass, will sing. Jerry Powell, assistant organist of Brown Memorial Church will play the organ.

It is estimated by the Rev. Dennis Savage, director of Youth Council Services of the United Christian Youth Movement, sponsor of Youth Week, that 10 million Protestant young people of the United States and Canada will have observed the week in some way.

This service is a part of that celebration in Maryland and Delaware the area covered by the Council of Churches and Christian Education of Maryland and Delaware which sponsors the Baltimore Christian Youth Council.

20 Children Win Prizes at Boy Scout Program

U of P Freshman Gets $100 Award

PHILADELPHIA—A check for $100 was presented last Wednesday evening to Herbert Elmore, University of Pennsylvania freshman, during the scholarship award ceremony conducted by Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity. He is a student of education, majoring in science.

While at Central High School, from which he was graduated last June, he was a Student Association representative for five terms; Student Court clerk, associate justice, and a member of the business staffs of the two school publications, the Mirror, and the Cellralizer.

The presentation was made by Theodore R. Brown, chairman of the scholarship committee. Dr. W. Leon Brown is polemarch of the local Alumni Chapter, and Enos S. Andrews is polemarch of the Northeastern Province.

Cry of 'Smoke' Clears Cafe; Theft Ensues

Yelling "there's smoke in the kitchen," a patron in a Pennsylvania Ave. restaurant sent the help scurrying to the rear room while he pilfered a pinball machine of $9.80, it was charged in North western police court, Tuesday.

The accused patron is Deaver Gaskins, 1641 Lanvale St., who after his arrest by Det. Lloyd Johnson, was placed under $250 bail to face grand jury action.

Got Jackpot Easy Way

The proprietors said that when they discovered the hoax they ran to the front door but the subject fled in an automobile. However through their description, Gaskins was arrested.

According to Detective Johnson Gaskins played the machine and when the jackpot failed to pay off, he jimmied the coin box and removed the $9.80 in nickels.

Gaskins followed the advice of Magistrate Fitzpatrick and decided not to make any statement.

One-Year-Old Child Dies of Measles; 756 Cases in City

The death of a one-year-old child from measles last week, made the fourth death so far this year from the disease. According to the Baltimore City Health Department of the 756 cases reported for the week, the greatest concentration was in the northwest and northern sections of the city.

Still Time to Join Homemakers' Class

Enrollments are still being accepted in the Homemakers' Institute in which 21 women participated Wednesday at the Gas and Electric Company's Park Ave. and Lexington St.

The institute is sponsored by the Urban League, 2404 Pennsylvania Ave., and the YWCA, 1916 Madison Ave., where registrations may be made.

Cooking Trends Featured

Emphasizing the latest trends in cooking, sessions of the eight week course are held every Wednesday from 8 to 10 p.m.

There is no charge for participation in the institute. However, persons desiring a certificate will be required to pay a small fee. All equipment and materials are provided for the trainees.

Cab Overcharge Blamed for Fracas

Testimony that the argument began over an alleged overcharge in cab fare netted an acquittal last week, for Frank Smith, 25, by Judge Robert France.

Smith, who lives in the 1300 block W. Franklin St., was charged with stabbing and attempting to rob Armond Love of the 1500 block Franklin St., on Jan. 4, at Saratoga and Poppleton St.

Through W. A. C. Hughes, attorney, Smith contended that Love was a "hack" who pulled a knife when he refused to pay him an overcharge, and was cut with his own knife during a struggle.

Early Examples of Book Making to Be Displayed at Art Museum

The greatest collection of manuscripts of their kind ever to be displayed in this country may now be seen at the Baltimore Museum of Art, 31st and Charles Sts.

Including examples of book making from the 8th to the 16th centuries, the exhibit will remain on display until March 13.

Miss Dorothy Miner of the Walters Art Gallery, who organized the show, will lecture on "Illuminated Manuscripts: Their Role in the History of Art" at 8:30 p.m. on Feb. 25 in the museum auditorium.

Matisse Drawings Displayed

Other exhibits on display in the gallery include drawings by Henry Matisse until Feb. 13, paintings by Palestine children, until Feb. 27, and photos on Hawaii by Fritz Henle, until March 6.

At 3:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. on Sunday, films will be shown in conjunction with the paintings and drawings done by Palestinian children, now showing in the Junior Museum.

On Feb. 27, at 3:30 and 4:30 p.m., movies entitled, "Wings to Viking Land," and "Europe by Air," will be presented.

The museum's weekly television program, "Art Can Be Fun," seen for the past year over WMAR-TV

New Singing Group Makes Successful Debut

Organized last June by Sinclair Swan, director, the Young Peoples's Choral Society presented its initial recital recently at Carver Vocational School. On the front row, center are Mr. Swan, and his wife, Mrs. Charlotte Swan, accompanist. Membership to the group is limited to high school pupils and graduates and admission is by application and audition. (Photo by Paul Henderson.

Fight Regional School Plan Okey, Frontiers Told

"Let nothing deter you from fighting any attempt to gain Congressional approval of regional education," Dr. James Nabrit, secretary of Howard University, said to the Frontiers Club on Tuesday.

"You must fight with all the political weapons at your disposal. Failing there, you must join others and descend in a body upon President Truman, whose Committee on Civil Rights is committed to a policy opposing segregated education," he avowed at the meeting held at the Druid YMCA.

"As a club, you have an obligation to your people. You must come to your own conclusions and act. There is no divine right by which you as community leaders, may remain inactive," he declared.

Reading Real Issue

Dr. Nabrit described how Southern leaders are seeking to evade the necessity of providing "equal education" as stipulated by the Supreme Court decision in the Gaines Case.

The proposed interstate regional compact which would designate Cheyney as the center for training colored doctors, the speaker avowed, was one way of "clouding the issue" and seeking to minimize the evils of segregated education.

"It is impossible to have segregated first-class schools. The South has no intention or inclination of providing equal education," he declared adding.

"There is not a single outstanding first-class segregated school in the area bounded by Missouri, Texas, Florida and Pennsylvania.

Texas Come Across

As an example he recalled that Texas had appropriated more money for colored schools the year following a decision in the Sweatt Case, than had been given them for the past 80 years.

The use of the courts to back up their fight for equal educational opportunities was recommended by the speaker who emphasized that in order to make this possible, scores of qualified students must seek applications to all state institutions of higher learning.

"I believe that there are such qualified pupils elsewhere as well as here in Maryland. It is then the duty of teachers to inculcate in the pupils the desired for the highest type training," he declared.

Dr. Nabrit was introduced by Dr. Dwight O. W. Holmes, retired president of Morgan State College and former dean of the graduate school of Howard University. Slated speaker for the next meeting is Arthur McVoy, director of the Baltimore Commission on City Planning.

Churchgoer Not in Toils of Law

The Robert Thomas who gave his address in the 1100 block N. Carey St., when charged in Northwestern police court, is not the man of the same name living at 1153 N. Carey, the AFRO was told this week.

An earlier AFRO story listed one Mr. Thomas of that block as having received a suspended fine on charges of molesting a young woman.

The other Mr. Thomas advised that he has been married for 23 years, is a member of Bethel AME Church and the Masons, and has been steadily employed for a number of years at a local hotel.

Housing Problems to Be Discussed

The Eastside Community Committee will sponsor a mass meeting to discuss housing problems. It will be held at 8 p.m. on Thursday at First Baptist Church, Caroline and McElderry Sts.

Otho Pinkett, manager of the Douglass and Somerset Homes, will serve as chairman.

Speakers will be: Oliver C. Winston, executive director Housing Authority of Baltimore; Richard L. Steiner, director of the Baltimore Redevelopment Commission; and Miss Frances H. Morton, executive secretary of the Citizens Planning and Housing Association.

An open forum period will follow. Music will be by Hollaman's Student Orchestra. William S. Taylor is co-ordinator of the sponsoring agency.

Mrs. Mallard Here Feb. 27

daughter, Mrs. Doris Byron, and two-year-old son, John, Mrs. Mallard is on an extended tour through the East and Midwest under auspices of the National NAACP.

"Emphasizing the need for a Federal anti-lynching law, Mrs. Mallard will relate the failure of "Georgia justice" to punish two of the lynchers whom she identified.

Dr. Rayford Logan, member of the U. S. National Commission for UNESCO, and recently appointed consultant on the United Nations and Colonial Affairs Committee of the NAACP, will also speak on the subject, "Race, As A Factor in World Politics."

50 Tenants Ousted From 'Fire-Trap' Hotel

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (ANP)—About 50 tenants who occupied the hotel section of the 38-room Pythian Building were obliged to vacate the seven-story building by Feb. 1, because their quarters were ordered closed by the Circuit Court as a fire hazard.

The court order, which does not affect business places on the first floor, was issued on the previous Friday, after the city had filed suit last June 28, listing 22 defects or omissions in safety measures.

Court Martial Exonerates 2nd Prison Camp Officer

FORT MEADE—The old Army game of passing the buck—shifting the responsibility to someone else— has worked again, during the court-martials being held here.

Capt. Samuel H. Wolford, Clear Spring, Md., the second of four officers facing trial for neglect of duty in permitting deplorable conditions to exist at the Wurzburg, Germany, prison camp, was exonerated, Tuesday.

Capt. Joel G. Holmes, detachment medical officer of Philadelphia, was freed two weeks ago.

Feet of Soldier Lost

The four officers in charge of the disciplinary barracks, during the mid-winter 1946-47, ignored conditions which ultimately led to the amputation of both feet of Pvt. Joe Suggs and caused permanent injury to another soldier, the prosecuting trial judge advocate charged.

Witnesses have been brought to the trial scene to testify that prisoners in the solitary confinement block were compelled to endure conditions equal to those reported as being found in Nazi prison camps.

Wolford Away, Lawyer Says

The defense attorney for Capt Wolford argued, this week, that the captain, stockade commander, was not at the prison camp at the time in question. While away, he testified, his superior officer was in charge.

The remaining two officers are to stand trial next week. They are Lt. Col. George E. Pinnard and Col. Harold H. McClune.

Fewer TB Deaths Than Ever in '48

In arguing for the dismissal of Captain Holmes, his attorney contended that Holmes was a junior officer on his first major assignment and that the more seasoned superior officers should have borne the responsibility.

There were fewer deaths from tuberculosis in Baltimore County during 1948 than there have ever been in the past, figures released this week by the County Health Department revealed.

During 1948, 44 persons died from the disease as compared with 55 deaths in 1947. This, despite the fact that more cases were discovered in 1948 then the previous year.

Clinic Services Extended

The Health Department attributes this decline in deaths and increase in cases discovered to the fact that TB clinic services were extended last year.

There were 10 mass X-ray surveys held in the county during 1948; and plans have been made to hold even more surveys this year.
