Institute to Award Grants to Singers

The Baltimore Institute of Musical Arts will award voice scholarships to fill openings in the Institute's Madrigal Group.

These scholarships will be awarded to singers who possess sufficient talent and ability to assume the leading parts in the opera departments scheduled productions, according to Hans Flexner, director of the Institute.

Composed of 16 vocally adjusted students, the Madrigal Group is scheduled to present several concerts and broadcasts during the 1950-1951 music season.

Applications will be accepted until Sept. 5. Interested persons may obtain blanks from the Institute office.

CONCORDS and DISCORDS

Municipal Band No. 2, Charles E. Gwynn, conductor; and Park Band No. 2, Harrison M. Dodd, conductor, together with the full complement of the membership of the Baltimore City Chorus, are making final preparations for the massed band concert which will be held on Sunday, Aug. 6, in Druid Hill Park.

This annual musical feature of the city's musical aggregations has become a great favorite with the music lovers of Baltimore.

The concert is diversified in program structure. The massed band offers numbers which include standard band selections, excerpts from the favorite operas, transcriptions of well known orchestral scores and many of the popular songs of today.

Chorus Sings Masters' Works

The Baltimore City Chorus sings choral selections of the master works from classic, romantic and modern schools—French, English, German, Russian and American.

The chorus keeps before the American public the excellent contributions which the colored citizen has made to the music of the world.

Folk Music Critics Rapped

Now and then, there are among us those who believe that the spirituals, the work songs, the shouts and all types of musical compositions which our group has given the world should be excluded from programs which colored musicians give.

I firmly believe that we should not permit our music to perish. Second, our help and assistance should be made familiar and acquainted with our own music, as it is sung by those of us whose ancestors created the music.

Long ago, master musicians throughout the world have admitted that the music of the colored American has an intriguing type of rhythm, which stirs and inspires the souls of all human types.

They say, too, that it has melody patterns which rival the best that Europe or Asia has produced at anytime and that, furthermore, the poignant harmonic idioms are as beautiful and as colorful as have been developed by the human mind.

Should Be Proud of Heritage

With these attributes of music as an integral portion, the elemental factors which are so much looked for in good music of all types is abundantly present in our music.

Those of us who can racially claim relationship with ancestors who produced the music, should be happy to have such a heritage.

The Baltimore City Chorus includes in all of its program selections by Afro-American composers of the first rank.

Selections of men like Dett, White, Deton, Work, Jessye, the Work brothers Boatman and Still are included in its repertoire.

The Baltimore City Chorus also sings selections from Wagner, Elgar, Tschaikovsky, Rachmaninov, Bach, Beethoven, Handel, Haydn, Coleridge-Taylor, Deems-Taylor and Morart.

'Ordering of Moses' Cast Set to Present Oratorio

Mme. Dawson, Director, Announces Building Has Begun on Dramatic Setting in Stadium

WASHINGTON

Mrs. Mary Cardwell Dawson, director and producer of R. Nathaniel Dett's oratorio, "The Ordering of Moses," says the 300-person cast for the production, which will be staged at Griffith Stadium at 8 p.m., Friday, July 28, is ready.

Philip Culcasi, property man from New York, arrived in Washington Wednesday to handle details of the Red Sea scene and provide a burning bush that will burn without being consumed in Griffith Stadium, where the National Negro Opera Company will present the extravaganza.

Some 20,000 persons from throughout the country are expected to witness the oratorio. In case of rain the affair will be held the following night, Saturday, July 29.

In Rehearsal 3 Months

Rehearsals have been held for the past three months following an intensive local "talent hunt" sponsored by the opera company.

The role of Moses will be filled by David Lipscomb, a dramatic tenor. The Rev. A. Joseph Edwards will be the narrator. Howard Wilson, the "Voice of God." Ruth Logan, Miriam; Thomas Major, "The Word"; Moses Beasley, "Aaron" and Bernice Hill, the "Voice of Israel."

Other Outstanding Performers

Other outstanding performers with principal roles include Bertha Bragg, Irene Glenn, Ann Frances Garnett and Princess Consolola Nyoka.

The spectacular musical show will have as a special attraction a "Symphony of Piano", featuring Mme. Helen E. Dett, widow of the composer of the oratorio. John R. Hoskins, Peggy Pierce Shaw and Helen R. Jones.

The entire production is under the direction of Madame Dawson.

District Theatre Hassle Still Remains Unclarified

NEW YORK — There is a possibility that Actors Equity will remain adamant and not modify its non-segregation rule for Marcus Heiman to reopen his National Theatre in Washington on a racially discriminatory basis.

This was evidenced recently when the League of New York Theatres withdrew its request that the ban be lifted at the start of negotiations for a new contract with Actors Equity.

While Heiman is still apparently determined not to reopen the National on a liberal basis, the Gayety, an independent house, has booked a number of stage shows for the fall season, under Theatre Guild bookings.

Situation Unclarified

The matter, however, stands unclarified since the Guild has launched its subscription campaign, which sidesteps colored patronage, and Guild productions, controlled by Heiman and Lee Schubert.

It is believed that the subscription arrangement will cover the Guild's own shows. Management of the Gayety says it has been assured of Guild bookings.

"Up to this time, the Gayety, which switched from films last spring to legit shows, has been operating on a non-discriminatory basis."

RUMBLINGS FROM THE KOREAN WAR, actually the beginning of World War III, regardless of what Harry Truman says, have slowed down to crawl the grist that passes through the gin and musical mills.—Nite spots, that is.

10 Days in Jail for Numbers Man

Explaining that he was writing numbers last year, but since has gone to work for a transfer company, Nathaniel Jackson was sentenced, Wednesday to 10 days in jail for possession of lottery slips.

Jackson was arrested July 19 as he was entering a house in the 900 block Hanover St. which was "known" to lottery squad men, William J. O'Donnell, prosecutor, told Chief Judge W. Conwell Smith.

Evidently, the prosecutor went on, Jackson has lost his "contacts" since being fined $100 last year for numbers writing, because no one has furnished him bail in the recent arrest. The 10-day term was dated from the day of the man's arrest, enabling him to be released soon.

Meat Prices Continue To Climb Food Survey Shows

For the third consecutive month, meat prices have gone up, a survey of the Food Market showed this week.

Chuck roast, sirloin steak, pork roast, fresh pork shoulders, regular ham, bacon and chicken fryers are all higher. Leg of lamb and turkeys are down in cost.

Vegetables Up

A check of the market this week also shows that Western apples, Florida oranges, pears, green and lima beans and spinach are higher than a month ago. Eastern apples, California Valencia oranges, beets, kale, iceberg lettuce and potatoes have lower price tags.

Lard is higher in cost, while oleomargarine is lower.

In comparing mid-July prices this year with those last year, bananas, California navel oranges, Florida oranges, green beans, beets, cabbage, iceberg lettuce, sweet potatoes, spinach, leg of lamb, eggs and lard are selling. Western apples, beans, kale, tomatoes, rib and chuck roast, are at lower levels this year. However, lean steak, pork roast, turkeys, butter and oleomargarine are higher in price than they were in mid-July last year.

100 Whites Form Committee in Support of the Ober Law

Some 100 white persons, many of them prominent in city and state affairs, are members of an advisory committee in support of the Ober Law.

The question of the Ober Law's enforcement in Maryland will be put up to the State's voters by referendum at the November elections.

Colored citizens and liberal groups have opposed the law which was enacted with the ostensible purpose of "curbing communism."

Opponents cite that the law is a threat to free speech, and the effective operation of efforts to obtain civil rights.

Endorsers Named

Among the persons endorsing the law are:

Mrs. William Bauernschmidt, president of the Public School Association; former Mayor William F. Broening; Dr. H. C. (Curly) Byrd, president of the University of Maryland.

Retired Judges Samuel K. Dennis and Edwin T. Dickerson; Joseph P. Healy, chairman of the Governor's Commission on Race Relations.

Former Mayors Howard Jackson and Theodore McKeldin; Roszel C. Thomsen, president of the School Board, and Mrs. John L. White, hand, National Democratic Committewoman from Maryland.
