Regent Showing 'Broken Arrow'

"Broken Arrow," the panorama of Indian-white relationships, an unusual love story and the challenge of the great outdoors, is currently showing at the Regent.

The film co-stars James Stewart, as an adventurer with the courage to pioneer fair treatment of Indians, and Debra Paget as an Indian girl whom he falls in love with.

It also tells the personal history of the legendary Apache chief, Cochise, whose name spelled terror for pioneering white men.

Gateway to Gayway

By GEORGE D. TYLER

Saturday — Learned that Laurence Freeland, radio bartender and regular patron at ye COZY CORNER, is expecting an early call to colors. He is on the reserve list. The success of the VILMA lies in the fact that the management only employs efficient, courteous and congenial mixologists and waitresses.

At JONES' Hideaway we romped with Carroll (Olde Mill) Lawson's brother, Old man Hall, Roberts and Jim Paschall with service by Roy and Regina . . . Boy Greer, the pianoiz, continues to do his act each Friday and Saturday at the SOUTH LAND.

We Caught Louis

Sunday — At the Paramount in NYC to catch Louis Jordan who is making his first Broadway appearance since his illness. Louis has added a sax and guitar bringing his combo to seven. His act is terrific with the maestro-master showman a one-man riot . . . The Apollo scheduled to open August 17 while the Savoy has Erskine Hawkins and his ork . . . Sam (Afro) Lacey enjoying sights on the 'Gay White Way' following Illinois Jacquet, the king saxer, cleaning up at Bop City well be at Sparrow's Sunday Pearl the hands Bailey opened at the Paramount Thursday.

Cool, comfortable and rendering top service is the COMEDY, the strolL's swankiest club, where you can enjoy the music of the 4 Ramons, a sensational combo . . . You don't wait to miss the opening of the LITTLE AVENUE down Fremont Avenue way where you will find Becky, Dave and Bernard that the bunch at the SPHINX have some very pleasant surprises up their sleeves for fall. ED's Note: Don't forget that ole Doc takes over this spot during my vacation.

Talent Show Coming

Now is the time to get your entries in for the opening talent contest at the OLDE MILL where Bill Swindell and his quintette are currently appearing. Tell me no one showed up to serve the crabs promised by the 4th Dist. Dems Club Saturday nite, altho many tickets were sold.

The HILLTOP will offer the great Brown and Brown extravaganza, beginning tonite (Friday), featuring Yatilda Dix, who we consider tops in the field of exotic dancers; our beloved Maudie Thomas, Donnie Lee and the Music Masters. Top entertainment at low cost is the policy of the KNOTTY PINE which offers Sam Taylor's Be-boppers . . . On the quieter side we recommend the FULTON for good service and fine drinks . . . All of the BRIDGE's crew back to duty after a week's vacation on Sem.

Colonial Beach Swim Party Planned in Protest Fight

RICHMOND (NNPA) — If a colored swimming party at Colonial Beach, a resort town on the Virginia side of the Potomac River, ends without incident, a direction nation suit against the town attorney will be dropped.

This promise was made last Friday by Martin A. Martin, Richmond attorney for the colored citizens at Colonial Beach who brought suit against the town officials in the Federal District Court here.

They announced plans last Friday for a swimming party at the town's Potomac River beach.

Town authorities had said the beach and a public wharf were open to both colored and white residents of the town. The statement was made in the answer filed to the suit. Colored residents of the town were quick to take the authorities at their sworn word.

Mr. Martin announced that a weekend swimming pa ty was planned for August 5 and 6, and he said his clients had invited him to join them. He added that he had accepted the invitation and looked forward to the party.

Mayor Norman Brewington of Colonial Beach said, meanwhile, he saw no reason why the party would not be "welcome."

"As we have said, there has never been a rule against colored persons using the beach and wharf. These people plan to use them, as long as they behave themselves as they will, of course, be treated like anybody else," Mayor Brewington said.

Asked if colored persons had ever used the facilities before, the Mayor replied:

"No. Never, as far as I can find out."

Mayor Brewington said he did not believe police would be needed in connection with the swimming party.

Annapolis Y for GI's Gives Talent Shows; GSO Girls Back

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — The first five of a series of talent shows was held July 28 in the recreation room of the Armed Services YMCA here at 63 Northwest St.

The Navy Department is cooperating with the Y by presenting the best talent among sailors on the ship,B APL 31. Prizes will be awarded the winners.

Doby Day Held

Members of the Phegraphy Club at the Y got in some good shots when Larry Doby, star centerfielder of the Cleveland Indians baseball team, visited here recently on Larry Doby Day.

The party given in the block next to the Armed Services YMCA recently attracted patrons from all sections of the community and was one of the outstanding features of the Y's summer activities.

GSO Girls Reorganize

The GSO Girls here have been reorganized to help the Y, as they did in the last war, sponsor effective morale-building activities for men and women in the Armed Services. The GSO Girls entertain soldiers at Fort George G. Meade every wek and sponsor parties and dances for sailors on the ship, APL 31.

Free movies are shown at the Y every Thursday night for service men and local residents.

Tot Who Ate Paint Lead Poison Victim

The City Health Department, reporting the death from lead poisoning of a two-year-old child, issued a warning to parents, this week, about symptoms of the disease.

These symptoms are loss of appetite, muscular weakness, nausea, vomiting, colic, stomach pains and crying at night.

Chewed Window-Sill Paint

The child who died, this week, chewed lead-containing paint from a window sill.

Health officials revealed that it was the first death from lead poisoning to be reported this year, although 16 children have been reported as lead poisoning cases.

183 Babies Born in Week

The health report revealed further that during the week ending July 27, a total of 183 colored children were born and no infant deaths were recorded.

Afro 'Read to Rags' in Army Post in Germany, Baltimore Visitor Says

Mrs. Clara R. Overion, Baltimore teacher and fraternal worker who is visiting her son, Capt. John Robinson, who is stationed in Kitzingen, Germany, writes this week to report that she found the AFRO 'read to rags' in the Army Post Library.

Mrs. Overion's daughter-in-law, the former Miss Catherine Russell of Baltimore, is librarian at the Kitzingen base. Mrs. Overion has visited O'Berammergau, witzerland, to see the Passion Play, Holland and Leige and Brussels, Belgium. She is leaving for home on Tuesday.

PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE HUMIDITY . . . More exteries perblock than any city anywhere except St. Louis, and probably more ale houses too . . . Everyone is pulling for the Bums—oops—the Dodgers; Jackie Robinson would be the mayor of Flatbush . . . You mention the international situation and the war-bound GI's angrily snarl, "yeah, the trouble was all caused by those damged NORTH-ERN Koreans . . . Lotsa jocks here, spinning discs, and one finds far more exciting music in the gin mills' juke boxes than in the theatres and ballrooms . . . Of course we have no regular theatre playing names; got one first-rate ballroom . . . Maybe records are all they can get in this overheated city on the bay . . . Politicians hurling S(moe)-Bo(ils, with voters yet undecided who'll be the best bet to unburden the taxated . . . Now just between us, wouldn't it be nice not to be forced into a 15 cents carfare to keep those creaking, No. 18 car wheels spinning so long that the situation somehow doesn't seem unconventional anymore . . . Our town already is known as the Monumental City. We'll soon be raied fourth in monuments below Seoul, Yongdong and Pusan, unless Uncle Sam sends our boys some help PDQ! And, not too little—too late!

SLIPS THAT PASS in the night—The vociferous and overelated Chuck Thompson, sportscaster crediting Bill Kennedy, Birdhurler, with striking out 430 batters in one game—golly, me—A $5 "blessed" number, and to a gullible sucker three weeks ago by a so-called "prophet," hasn't hit the boards up to now. The sucker already has "chanced" $5 buck at $5 per day. Stick to it, Bud, it's "blessed" to perceive!

The burglar alarm at Sam Hendin's Hollywood Fashion Shop, 1700 block, let go at 12:12 a.m., Tuesday, attracting a cop and a crowd but no arrests.

PERSONALITIES IN THE NEWS—Victor Cook, manager of the Tolchester S.S. office, leading the season's work of Wendell P. Miller's special police detail in handling excursionists . . . Elijah Hall, Pullman porter of 1711 W. Lanvale St., pulled out $5 "blessed" number and to a gullible sucker three weeks ago by a so-called "prophet." Hasn't hit the boards up to now. The sucker already has "chanced" $5 buck at $5 per day. Stick to it, Bud, it's "blessed" to perceive!

OTTO THREWATT, former tailor at 1434 Pa. Ave., now of Chesser Hill, following marriage home Monday to attend the marriage of his daughter, Vera, to Harold Macklin, who is Korea-bound in 30 days . . . Carlos Hutchins will soon file his divorce papers . . . Eloise Jennings giving Cornelius Johnson a G-Ball fit at Gamby's, winning three out of four games. Tony Brown, tall, lan and terrific stripper, flashing her G-strings in the downtown gallery.

COOLING OUT in barebacks and shirts sleeves at the Sphinx—Shirley Quillen, Frankie Griffin (of NYC), Dr. George Woodland; the Alvin Jackson, Al Matthewses and Ed Gaines, all of Philly, guests of Doc' Weingust. Mal Poole, Louise Culley, Gilda Gray, Ruth Bell, Granville Marshall, Pauline Day (Phila.), Charlotte Jordan, Nat (Hop) Smith, a combo leader; John Lindsay and Riley (Patrick) Palmer.

HIGH AND DRY — That big machine poised in front of Gamby's giving a well in the sidewalk to air-condition the spot, "gave up the ghost" last week after pounding down 115 feet without finding the desire water . . . One guy standing by when the "give up" was announced, asked:

"How far down have you gone?"

"One hundred fifteen feet," said the disgusted digger.

"Good God, the guy ejaculated. "You fellows must be trying to dig to Hades."

WILLIAM E. BROWN is acting secretary to the Metropolitan Club while Harvey Robinson, top exec, is confined at Johns Hopkins Hospital. The Rets will toss a crab feast on the 27th at the Casino Gardens, in Catonsville, before announcing that they are coming out strong for Roy Tasco Davis in the gubernatorial race. The Rets also will back Linwood Koger for State Senate in the 5th District.

THE NEW ENTERTAINMENT policy set up at Carr's Beach, has the music-minded patrons talking. Last Sunday it was "The Jones Boys;" this Sunday will be the one and only Mr. B. That's Billy Eckstine, the gals' swoonatic who'll introe his latest hit recordings . . . The Bureau of Music is sending out invites to its massband concert on Sunday pee-m, in Druid Hill Park . . . Wee Bea Boore tickling her gibbos and warbling the blues at the Belmont Hotel, in Long Branch, N.J., while Johnny Sparrow's Boys and Al Rows are rockin' the joint at the Paradise, in Atlantic City.

JOE MAZER, king pin at the Olde Mill, and his inseparable sidekick, Carroll, taking in the Avenue spots . . . Margaret Valentine, ex-barmaid at Gamby's, soon to grace the mahogany at another music mill, Alma, last of the old-timers, checked-out on Thursday . . . New personnel at the Lenox Theatre: Sydney Pittman, manager; Abraham Generetti, doorman; Willie Harper, usher; Margaret Troy, Geraldine Evans, Ethel Jackson, cashiers; Marlene Sewell, janitress; Dorothy Barber, candy are; Joseph Haynes and Donald Holly.

ON THE HOME FRONT—Because the USA can't afford to lose the war in Korea, many barticians, waitresses, stenogs, beauticians and teachers will be back in nearby airplane factories, shipyards, factories and Government service sooner than they think . . . If the housewives who are hoarding sugar would weigh those little brown bags in which some profiteering merchants and grocers, presumably, placed two and five-pound quantities, they'll find that they have been cheated by many ounces.

SORRY, WRONG NUMBER—Two three-card Monte sharps picked the wrong BTC bus (No. 10, East bound) Tuesday evening in the search for suckers. With the elder partner handling the cards and his pal laying out the bait (dough), they played from Howard and Centre to Broadway and Eastern. Attracting no "fish," the slickers got off the bus in disgust and crossed over to catch another but West bound. Only four of the 34 passengers were colored.

DAVID HAMMOND, former manager of the York Hotel, now in the same capacity at Gamby's telling me that the spot will continue its week end entertainment policy throughout the summer. The present show is a "smoothie," with plenty of variety . . . The Sphinx will soon join the air-conditioned spots . . . Starlite Skating Arena continues to draw the top roller-skakers Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights . . . Tom Delaney elated over the revival of Dixieland and other jazz. He has a number of original tunes that will soon be rollin' in the box . . . Charlie Tilghman sparting shorts around the bar. Some folks just ain't made up to wear 'em, that's why "Doc" Weingust and Elbow Perkins won't.

ARMY AND NAVY uniforms dotting the Avenue, bringing out swarms of the "lil. Baby" gals . . . Teddy Stewart, recently wounded by a shotgun, had his right leg amputated this week . . . Bert (The Queen) Brown keeping the suburban Hilltop jumpin' with joy it's the only highway rendy boasting a floorshow.

THAT'S ALL FOR NOW, except it's smart to play it cool.

Mr. B. at Carr's Beach Sunday

Mr. B. (Billy Eckstine), whose M-G-M recordine of "I Wanna Be Loved" is No. 2 on the nation's Honor Roll of Hits, will make two appearances at Carr's Beach, Sunday, August 6, as the second attraction under the recently inaugurated summer policy of bringing in top artists.

SHOWDOWN NOW POSSIBLE:

Cafe Issue Spurs 2nd Anti-JC Law Test Case

WASHINGTON

Jim crow in local restaurants neared another showdown, Tuesday, when Municipal Court Judge Frank H. Myers quashed a new complaint of violation of the anti-discrimination laws of 1872 and 1873.

Following Judge Myers's action, Assistant Corporation Counsel Clark King, who presented the information, said that he expected to file a notice of appeal within the next five days.

The complaint was brought by Mrs. Mary Church Terrell, Miss Jean J. Williams and the Rev. Arthur E. Elmes, after they were refused service at Thompson's Restaurant, last Toursday.

Mrs. Haywood, Attorney

Their attorney was Mrs. Margaret Haywood, who was also the attorney in a previous test case at Thompson's.

In quashing the complaint, Tuesday, Judge Myers referred to his ruling in the previous Thompson's case, when he declared the anti-segregation statutes "by implication."

His decision was soundly condemned throughout the capital, where a number of restaurants visited by representatives of the Co-ordinating Committee for the Enforcement of the D.C. Anti-Discrimination Laws had altered their lily white policy.

After Judge Myers's decision, however, several of the restaurants reverted to their previous prejudices and announced that they would no longer serve colored persons.

Sholl's a Related Case

A related discrimination case developed when colored and white members of the Interracial Work shop were refused service at Sholl's Restaurant on July 17.

The workshoppers had not intended to make a legal test of the 1870 statutes, but these laws became an important part of their defense when they were tried for disorderly conduct, last week.

Despite brilliant efforts of NAACP attorneys, the workshoppers were found guilty a week ago and given fines of $25 each or ten days in jail by Municipal Court Judge Thomas D. Quinn. An appeal of this verdict is expected.

The history of present legal efforts to break jim crow in restaurants here dates back to Feb. 21 of this year. That was when the District Commissioners, through Corporation Counsel Vernon West, declared that the "lost" statutes outlawing discrimination in Washington were still valid and in effect.

Previous Test, Feb. 28

A test case was brought against Thomnson's on Feb. 28 by Mrs. Terrell, the Rev. Mr. Elmes, Miss Essie Thompson and David Scull.

With Mr. King as prosecuting attorney, Judge Myers heard the case on March 31 and held it under advisement for almost four months.

When he finally rendered his opinion, this month, he held that the laws had been repealed "by implication" in the Organic Act of 1878, which established the Commissioner form of government for D.C.

Because of the technical form in which Judge Myers handed down his decision, no appeal was possible and the second test case was promptly arranged.

Eckstine in Final Eastern Appearance

Billy Eckstine, MGM recording star, who will be featured at Carr's Beach on Sunday with a musical combo, will be making his final appearance of the year along the Eastern Seaboard.

Beginning Sept. 15 Eckstine will embark on a concert tour with George Shearing and his quintet, which will take them as far West as San Francisco.

Right now Eckstine is perched on the top rounds of the recording ladder with his "I Wanna Be Loved," "Stardust," "My Destiny," "Roses," "Baby Won't You Say You Love Me," "Free," and other popular hits.

175 Attend Prom at Cherry Hill

Thomas Dutton and Earline Fleet ruled as "King" and "Queen" at the recent Junior Prom of the Cherry Hill Coeds of the Bureau of Recreation.

The couple won the contest by selection of neighbors in a ticket-selling campaign. Eighteen persons competed.

Some 175 persons attended the prom, held in the Community Building at Cherry Hill Miss Fleet lives at 2721 Glen Rd., and Mr. Dutton, at 1002 Shellbank Rd.

Morgan Summer Graduation Slated

Dr. Floyd R. Banks, member of the research staff of General Precision Laboratories in Pleasantville, N.Y., will deliver the commencement address, Sunday, to some 51 summer school graduates of Morgan State College.

The list of the graduates was not available at prestime, but will appear in Tuesday's AFRO.

The exercises will begin at 5 p.m. on the lawn in front of Holmes Hall, on the college campus.

Prexy to Confer Degrees

Dr. Martin D. Jenkins, president, will confer the degrees. The program will include a solo by Louis Gooden.

Devotionals will be conducted by the Rev. Benjamin F. Jackson, pastor of Fulton Baptist Church; and Howard L. Cornish, director of the Morgan Christian Center.

Recruiting Service in Md. Area Seeking Vet X-Ray Technician

The recruiting service in the Maryland area is seeking an X-ray technician with prior military service, to assume immediate duty in the physical processing of the record number of volunteers now joining the service.

Qualified persons interested in the assignment should call Mu. 8320, Room 356. If accepted the individual will be reenlisted in the same rank held at time of prior discharge, providing it coincides with present rating regulations.

Initial assignment will be in the Baltimore area, and, according to Col. John G. Shettle, head of the recruiting office, rank for the position goes as high as master sergeant.
