Emory Smith Named Judge

Ends Year-Long Political Deadlock

BACKED BY DAWSON

Was Both Minister and Lawyer

By AL SWEENEY

WASHINGTON

Only confirmation by the Senate Judiciary Committee stands between the lifelong ambition of Emory B. Smith to land a judgeship.

Mr. Smith, who has had a colorful career as a minister, publicist, fund raiser and attorney over his 63 years, was nominated for a post on the Municipal Court bench by President Truman on Tuesday.

Since last Oct. 17, when President Truman signed a bill enacted by Congress creating three more municipal judgeships in the District, the name of Mr. Smith had figured prominently among the possibilities for one of the posts.

AFRO Predicted Step

An Oct. 29 issue of the Washington AFRO, in a news beat, predicted that the veteran attorney would land the post. However, since the judicial nominee was first mentioned a number of situations arose to postpone his appointment.

First, there was considerable support for Hubert Pair, assistant corporation counsel, which split the minority ranks of the Democratic Party.

Early this year, Sen. Olin D. Johnston (Dem., S.C.) made it known that he wanted the opening for patronage to help him in his fight for re-election in South Carolina over Dixiecrat J. Strom Thurmond.

Dawson's Backing Steady

But, through it all, Rep. William L. Dawson (Dem., Ill.), the top minority group patronage dispenser in the party, stood by his original endorsement of Mr. Smith.

Mr. Smith was born in Raleigh, N.C. He received a theological degree from Yale University's Divinity School, 1911, and obtained a law degree from Howard University's Law School in 1919.

He became a member of the District bar in 1920. From 1915 to 1923, he was pastor of Lincoln Congregational Church; and from 1923 until 1933, publicity director and field agent at Howard University.

Raised Half Million for H.U.

While at Howard, Mr. Smith gained considerable fame as an organizer and a fund raiser. He raised more than one-half million dollars for the endowment fund of Howard, during the years on the staff of the university.

During 1932 and through the rest of the national elections, the judicial nominee campaigned for the Democratic Party.

In 1932, 1936, 1940 and 1944 he supported President Roosevelt and during the 1948 campaign he took the stump for the cause of President Truman.

This spring his money raising talents were utilized by the graduate chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, when he headed their fraternity house committee.

Has Served Government

During World War II he was an appeal agent for the Selective Service Board. He is a past exalted ruler of Columbia Elks Lodge No. 85, and resides with his wife and son, Emory Jr., at 1702 Second St., N.W.

In a statement to the AFRO, the judicial nominee said:

"I am very happy over the nomination by the White House and I want to do everything in my power to justify it.

"I am exceedingly grateful to Congressman William Dawson for his support. He spent many long hours on my behalf."

Mr. Smith and the AFRO that congratulatory telegrams and telephone calls had been pouring in from all parts of the country.

Better Housing Site Demanded

BURLINGTON — Citizens of the Earl, Clarkson and Federal Sts. area are seeking to have the Burlington Housing Authority to recommider the site selected last April for erection of a low-rent housing project.

This was revealed, last week, in a letter sent John A. Kervich, U. S. Regional director, of New York City, by Clifford R. Moore, Trenton attorney, who represents residents of the area.

Prefer Better Sites

Moore revealed that residents, who favor low-rent housing, opposes the sites on the ground that more favorable sites, both from the point of view of location and cost, are obtainable.

The attorney holds that residents of the area were unaware of the exact location of the sites and the "apparent secrecy" the authority employed in its selection.

He stated that residents intend to fight the use of these sites "if need be, by litigation."

LAUGHING AT LIFE:

Wives Bravely Accuse Mates, Then Won't Prosecute Them

Here is a tale of fighting men and the women they love—or at least they married:

The judge ordered the street of five men, four whose wives said they had beaten them, and a fifth, whose wife said he threatened to beat her.

Different Story Later

At trial time, one wife stayed home in bed; two women dropped the charges; another declined to prosecute.

The fifth, badly beaten, decided that jail wasn't what her husband needed, but just a "good talking to."

They aren't in Korea, but they're surely getting into the spirit of the thing!

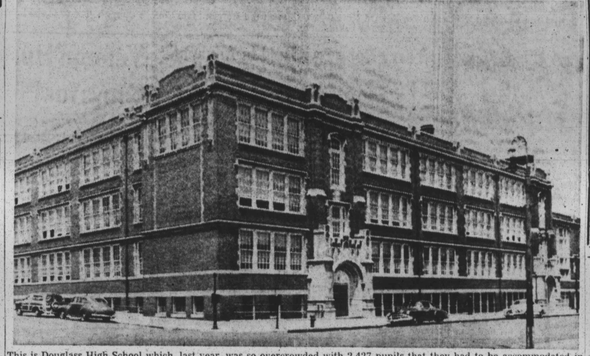
Western High School Takes in Elementary School Pupils

This is Western High School at Gwynns Falls Parkway and Pulaski Sts., which served only 1167 pupils last year. It has so few high school pupils that it is now being used to absorb an overflow of white pupils from overtrowded junior high and elementary schools.

No Relief Seen for Overcrowding at Douglass



This is Douglass High School which, last year, was so overcrowded with 2,427 pupils that they had to be accommodated in shifts. With the September enrollment of freshmen, the school is expected to be overcrowded again next term.

Elementary School Pupils Attending Western High

Yet Douglass, Servicing Minority Group Children, Will Have to Operate in Shifts

Douglass High School was overcrowded last term and is expected to be overcrowded again this term. But Western High School has so few high school pupils that its facilities are being used to accommodate elementary and junior high pupils.

Since it is admitted that Western High will eventually be turned over to colored children, school officials were asked why the transfer cannot be made now so that Western can absolve some of the overflow from Douglass in September.

They explained that Western at this time, is needed to relieve the overcrowding among the white elementary school children.

Douglass Overcrowding Expected

The 2,427 pupils who made up the Douglass student body, last September, were forced to attend in shifts. There were 484 graduates during the year; but this fall's freshman class is expected to swell the number again to overcrowded proportions.

Last year, Western High School at Gwynn Falls Parkway and Pulaski St. served only 1167 pupils.

Dr. J. Carey Taylor, assistant superintendent of secondary education, told the AFRO that:

"There is a city-wide school shortage. All schools have total capacities.

"Western High, at present is using 14 of its rooms for 500 elementary pupils. 1200 seniors are enrolled; and 1300 pupils have already enrolled to enter in September.

Hardship Cases Cited

"Part of the students at Western are from the Druid Junior High on Francis St., which was turned over to the colored children recently.

"There is no place to house these children," he continued, "and until new buildings are put up, this condition will exist.

"The same condition prevails at School No. 62, Smallwood St. and Walbrook Ave.," he said, adding: "Despite the fact that only 450 children are enrolled, if the school were turned over to the colored pupils, those children would have no place to go."

In justification of the distance the colored children have to travel to school, it was noticed out that the pupils at Western come from as far away as Ten Hills and Irvington.

New Building Planned

White children who live south of North Ave. have never had a high school in that area. A site has been selected; and when that building is constructed it will relieve the situation at Western.

It is expected that the School Board will release Western and School No. 67, as soon as a place is made available for the white pupils there now serve.

According to the Boltirere School Newsletter, seven classrooms in School No. 69, five classes of 153 pupils in Forest Park High, and four classes of 130 pupils in Western High are accommodating the overflow population from Garrison Junior High.

There are 275 elementare children housed in Eastern High to relieve the crowded situation in Northeast Baltimore and 400 elementary children in Western High to relieve Northwest Baltimore.
