Thomases' Hospitality for Inter-City Guests

with Lula Jones Garrett

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Thomas displayed their particular brand of hospitality, Sunday, for a gay group of inter-city visitors.

Dr. and Mrs. Calvin LeCompte came over from Washington bringing with them their house guest, Maveline Harper of British Guiana, South America; Dr. Grant Lucas and Elsie Alston, attorney, who in turn, had with her her mother from Cincinnati, Ohio.

Also about were Dr. and Mrs. James Nabrit of Howard University and their son, James Jr.; Dr. and Mrs. John Lawlah and daughter, Evelyn, and Mrs. Lawlah's parents, Mr. and Mrs. McCarroll of Chicago; E. George West, Mrs. Alice Sikes of this town, and her children, Alice and Frank Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Madison Briscoe, Glen DeBeal, Edna Kirk, Betty Gilmore and the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nixon.

During the day Capt. Kiah Lewis and Walter Rice took some of the group on a cruise on the Patapsco in Capt. Lewis's cruiser the "Victoria, 3rd."

Add Mr. and Mrs. William Rand (he's the new Scout executive), Mr. and Mrs. Tousaint Green, Mrs. Brady Golden of Tennessee, who is visiting the Rands; Mrs. Dorsey Evans and Bishop and Mrs. A. P. Shaw who called during the evening, and you'll see how much territory the hosts covered during the day.

PEREGRINATORS

Mrs. William L. Fitzgerald, and daughter, Jessie (she's of the Hampton Institute faculty), came in Saturday from a sojourn in New York, after which Miss Fitzgerald left with a friend, Elizabeth Carter of Washington, for a trip by plane to Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, the Dominican Republic, Haiti and Jamaica. This week found Dr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Pitts, together with Mrs. Catherine S. Madden, deserting the city for a motor trip to the West Coast. They plan to visit friends in Chicago and Colorado.

Ardell Jones planed back from Detroit, Mich., last week after spending a couple of weeks with Mr. and Mrs. E. Smith. The Clifton Gattlees and the George Browns turned the nose of their motor Northward, guested with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McKinney of Detroit, who gave a dinner party in their honor, and went on to Canada for a more prolonged vacation.

Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Campbell will leave by plane for the British West Indies, Monday. They will make Kingston, Jamaica, headquarters, and spend much of their two weeks with his mother, Mrs. Jemima Campbell, in Westmoreland. Twill be Mrs. Campbell's first visit to his native home, and his first return since 1939. Off to New York and Boston, this week, went School marm and master Vincent (Nancy) Norris, taking with them the children and Mrs. Wayman Norris. In New York they picked up Mrs. Mary Jennings for the Boston ticket. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Dennis and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dennis Sr. and the latters' daughter, Marilyn, will motor to New York this week. Mrs. Walter Dennis, the former Helen Jacobs of Brooklyn, and Mr. Dennis will visit her sister, Mrs. Cora Corbin, and the Stanley Dennises will be guests of Milton Keene of that city. Mrs. Corbin joining the party they will go on to Montreal to visit with the Sandy McIntyres. On the return trip, Marilyn will stop in Brooklyn for a spell with her cousins, the Edward Warrens. The Rivers Chambersses left on Monday for Pittsburgh, Pa., where they will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Luke McDaniels.

WITHIN OUR GATES

Enlivening the local scene is an interesting a flock of visitors as Baltimoreans could wish for. Dr. Ursula Schafford of Atlantic City, now of the Howard University faculty, is guest of Suzanne Davis, here, and with her hostess was guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Allen in Philadelphia, Sunday. Bert Hawkins came from Chicago for the funeral services of Mrs. Annie McHechen. Her father, the late McHechen's widower, G. F. W. McHechen were former law partners. The Francis Vaneeys hosted his brother and sister-in-law and their children, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vaneey, Robert Jr., Carl, Bradford and Roberta, of Stoneham, Mass., this week. They were en route to Virginia from Niagara Falls. Rena Simms Irvin, formerly of this city and now a resident of New Kensington, Pa., and Val K. Johnson, also of New Kensington, are dividing their visit here between Rena's uncle and aunt, Bill and Edna Carroll; and her brother-in-law and sister, Walter and Gladys Turner of Halethorpe. The pafty spent Sunday in Atlantic City, and Friday being Gladys's birthday, a party was given her. Helping her to celebrate were Walter Turner, Nelson and Elizabeth Price, Rena Irvin, John and Neader Young, Bill and Edna Carroll and Teresa Goodman. Capt. and Mrs. Leonard Underwood, who have been visiting here, New York, Cape May, Philadelphia, and in Indianapolis with his parents, returned to California, this week. Dr. and Mrs. Maxwell Brooms of Livingston College are guests of her sister, Emma Bright. The Bob Matthews had visiting them last week end his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Matthews Sr. of Detroit, Mich.

CUPIDOODLING

Wearing a pea green suit and corsage of white gardenias, Miss Gloria Jenkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Courtlandt Brown, became the bride of Donaldson Barnes, Wednesday evening.

She is on the faculty of School No. 139, and he's a student at Morgan State College.

The ceremony, read by the Rev. Marion C. Bascom, pastor of Douglas Memorial Church, was in the home of the bride. Mr. Barnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Barnes, had as his best man, Madison Allen.

EYE GLASSES GREAT HELP

Dr. M. N. Boskin, one of Maryland's leading optometrists, has received a great deal of favorable comment over his suggestions for eye care which have been appearing in these AFRO-AMERICAN columns.

When we asked him for a couple of valuable eye hints for this week, he was very obliging.

Dr. Boskin, optometrist, warns you not to read when lying down unless your head and shoulders are propped up.

He also suggests that you don't look at moving pictures or television if you experience eye strain during or after the performance. If you do, make sure to see your optometrist.

Pennsylvania Avenue can boast of having one of the most modern optical laboratories in the East. The Penn Optical Company at 1525 Pennsylvania Avenue, is equipped with some of the finest optical machines and equipment in the world.

Their excellent one hour service for broken lenses, their courteous and pleasing handling of examinations for which their is no charge, has made the Pen Optical Company a tremendous amount of friends.

Prices are extremely low, since your glasses will cost as little as $10 and payments are as low as $1 a week, at the Penn Optical Company.

Procedure at UN Described to Evening Pupils at Douglass

Mrs. Mae Wright Downs, faculty member of Douglass Evening High School, was general assembly speaker at the school recently. Her talk was based on her trip to Lake Success last month.

She described the meeting of the Trusteeship Council, where the Africans placed the problems of the Ewes people in Togoland, W. Africa, before the delegates of the United Nations.

"The Africans who had been educated in the British sector spoke English fluently and expressively, she related, while their relatives who had been living in the French sector, spoke French with facility."

No Fear of Reprisals

Each group answered the questions put to them by the UN delegates with accuracy and without apparent fear of reprisals for their frankness in evaluating the situation she continued.

Dr. Ralph Bunch was seated at a prominent place at the Council table, in his capacity as director of Mandated and Trust Territories, the teacher added.

Mrs. Downs told the class members:

"... reip ro rhw UN, at a time when events of world wide significance are being shaped, would be a memorable one, and any student should avail himself of the opportunity of attending at least one session of the Council or, if possible, of the General Assembly.

"A visit to UN headquarters re-establishes an individual's hope that the delegates from 50 nations, large and small, can by discussion and mediation, come to a settlement of even such formidable problems as beset the delegates today," she said.

The trip to the UN was part of the course offered by American University, where Mrs. Downs attended sessions this summer.

A lively and informative question and answer period followed the teacher's description of her trip.

Leon Williams is principal of the Evening School, which has an enrollment of 400 pupils, who completed their summer courses this week.

Offer Plan to End School Segregation

WILMINGTON, Del.—The Active Young Republicans of New Castle County have gone on record as favoring the admission of students of all races to the University of Delaware.

In a "statement of suggested principles for consideration by the Republican Party of Delaware," the organization last week proposed that "the question of racial trance requirements be revised "to permit equality of admission for all citizens regardless of race, color or creed."

The young Republicans also proposed that "the question of racial segregation in public schools be decided within each county according to the wishes of the residents of that county."

They said they advocated "the necessary amendment of the State constitution so as to enable the implementation of this measure."

Robinsons Have Family Reunion

RICHMOND

Miss Esteletta F. L. Jackson wed to Alvin B. Epps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ryland Epps of this city, during July.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Estelle C. Jackson Beal and Clarence E. Beal Sr. of Jacquelin St. Their home provided the setting for the wedding. The altar was banked elaborately with palms, red roses and white clarkoll tall baskets of cut flowers and a graduated candelabra which held lighted tapers.

Nuptial music was furnished by Mrs. Avis Turner. "The Lord's Prayer" was sung by M. H. Branch.

The bride was given in marriage by her stepfather, C. E. Beal Sr. Her gown was of white slipper satin with a sweet yoke outlined with seeded pearls and a bertha collar of lace.

The skirt was full with a circular train. Her veil of imported illusion fell in folds from a pearl tiara. She carried a white prayer book, marked with white rose buds and baby breath.

Mrs. Willie May Hairston of Staunton, Va., cousin of the bride was matron of honor. She was attired in pink organdy over taffeta, with a matching head band.

Her bouquet was red rose buds. Mrs. Josephine Furman, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Ruth Naomi Freeman were bridesmaids. They wore identical dresses of white organdy over taffeta and matching head bands, and carried bouquets of red rose buds.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Hundley Epps as best man. Other attendants were Joseph Gilpin and Walter Epps, also a brother of the bridegroom. Rylanda Epps was flower girl and Robert Randolph was ring bearer.

A reception was given immediately following the ceremony by the bride's mother, who wore a black lace dress with a corsage of white roses.

D.C. Sea Scout Troop Holds Bridge of Honor Celebration

WASHINGTON — Sea Scout Ship No. 517 held its first official bridge of honor recently.

This ship participated in the 150th anniversary of the Naval Gun Factory's Water Pageant on October 1. They received high honors for having one of the cleanest boats in the pageant. They were one of the three ships from Washington which took part in the cruise and ceremony held at Mount Vernon on February 22.

They won first honor at the Scouting Exposition held at the National Guard Armory in March.

The following boys passed their ordinary rank:

Walter Grant, Ralph Brown, Charles Reed, Turner Smith and James Martin.

A bridge of honor is a formal award presented to them by the U.S. affair. The ceremony is conducted Coast Guard aboard a land ship set up by the young men. Their escorts presented their certificates to them after receiving them from the Skipper.

The escorts were Miss Margaret Dickens, Miss Ann Dickens, Miss Susanne Byrd, Miss Barbara Washington and Miss Judine Bishop.

Mr. Jackson Participates

Taking part in the Ceremonies were Mr. James A. Jackson, first mate.

Other guests were Mrs. Lucille Brooks, wife of the Skipper and Mrs. Georgia Byrd. On August 11, the ship will take their annual long cruise for a week or ten days.

They will visit Quantico, Colonial Beach, Solomons Island, Columbia Beach and Sparrows Beach.

They have a cabin cruiser that aboard ship.
