Gateway to Gayway

By GEORGE D. TYLER

By DOC WOINGUST

(pinch-hitting for George D. Tyler, who is on vacation.)

While mine friend George D. Tyler is roaming around the Western part of this country I shall endeavor to give it to you as eye see it.

Roy Jones, genial proprietor of the Hideway out Ellsworth St. way, 1701, is ailing. This grand guy would certainly appreciate a word of cheer.

Carroll Lawson, main stem at The Olde Mill, is still parking 'em in with Mad Bill Swindell's aggregation. Carroll goes on a much needed vacation on August 20, so will The Lapalinas to Atlantic City don't miss that.

Lt. Bowie Returns Home

Lt. Bill Bowie and his charming wife enjoying a sip or two at the Sphinx Club the other evening. They have just returned from Yokohama, Japan, where he was stationed for 2 one-half years. His wife spent 14 months with him.

Payman's Cozy Corner out West Lanvale St. way is now sporting a new modern bar with a 19-inch television screen coming soon.

This is a spot where Nanette handles her clientelle with precision and a sunny disposition. Seen enjoying themselves were the old stand-by, Gellie, Bobby and Lawrence Freeland, ex-bartender, who leaves this week for the Korean activities. He also has a natal, this Saturday. Let's wish him luck.

The Comedy Club still holding its own with the ever-affable Ollie Wise. Howard Dixon, and wife have just returned from the Bermudas. Little Ike is on his vacation and Big Ike is preparing for his usual jaunt to the Elks convention in Chicago.

Wendell Wilson is still noted for his superb service at the Vilma Zine foods and refreshing beverages. Max is still the Ambassador and the ever-smiling Grace is the genial hostess.

Get Out Your Muffs

The Sphinx Club in a short while will be as cold, ear muffs will be in order, so sayeth Charley Tilghman, Air-conditioning is now being added.

I wish to take this method in thanking my many friends and well-wishers for their congrats on my auditioning for the Kingfish role on the new Amos N Andy Television Show. Tim Moore, a great actor and gentleman, was the successful candidate. I sincerely wish him much success.

Alma Jackson, the lovely ex-barmaid at Gamby's is looking chipper these days. The much-needed rest has done her wonders of good.

Gamby's Week-End Doin's

Gamby's, with Dave Hammond at the helm, is planning new doings this fall, but at the present their week-end variety show is enough to keep anyone's feet to the fire. Make that a must on your engenda. Marie Winfield, who has been in charge of the culinary department, is still on deck. Give her a try.

Chuck Richards, the old boy himself, is running as a candidate for the House of Delegates. What are you going to do about it?

Theophilus Jones' Tavern is still running full blast with King Drape and his gang rocking the joint. That Jones fellow knows what to give to Mr. John Q. Public.

For real relaxation, sneak out to Twin Pines. Just ask for Trent or Driver. Nuf sed.

Elbow Perkin ha d another carousing the other day. The boys at the Sphinx Club are happy that the damages will be borne by the insurance company. Rudy Dixon, major domo at the Frolic, seems to have every thing under control. Says he is about to leave on a 15-day vacation. The Elks convention is one of the places on his jaunt. Bye, Bye, see you next week.

'Pint-Size' Act Draws 'Oversized' Club Ovation

PHILADELPHIA

There is a "tiny" act at the Powelton Cafe, 22 N. 40th St., that has been getting an "oversized" ovation for the past few weeks and deservedly so.

This song and dance routine would be a novelty in itself, but the fact that Irene and Mitchell Blue are only 38 inches tall makes the act even more unique.

Born in Richmond County, Va., Irene, 27, and Mitch, 26, come from a family of 12 in which four are midgets while eight are normal.

From Talented Family

"We come from a singing and dancing family," Irene said. "Mitch and I have been performing ever since we were ten years old."

While attending high school in Richmond County, Mitch and Irene sang in church. It was during these years that they began to work-up and perfect their act. Their diligence was rewarded with their professional debut and a four-year night club stint in Baltimore's Avenue Cafe, their act was a feature attraction in that city. Their fame spread, bringing about long engagements in Ocean City, Md. and Harrisburg.

Have Varied Hobbies

For recreation, Irene said that she "likes to do house-work, and read the best-sellers."

When Mitch was asked what he did for recreation, Irene, who likes to talk for both of them, broke in with, "Mitch is a baseball fanatic. He roots for the 'Fighting' Phils." Irene said that she prefers the Dodgers.

Both agreed on the fact that they would stay in show business as long as they were able, and with the wonderful entertainment they are providing, it is hoped that the "Blue Midgets" will be "able" for a long, long time.

'Annie Get Your Gun' at Harlem

When Betty Hutton, followed by 100 Indians on pinto ponies, rides into the arena for the spectacular finale of M-G-M's great Technicolor musical, "Annie Get Your Gun," now showing at the Harlem Theatre, the rifle carried across her saddle will be the same historic Winchester carried by the real Annie Oakley on her European tour with the Buffalo Bill Wild West Show in 1887.

The rifle was used in command performances before Queen Victoria and on one of those occasions was fired by the Prince of Wales, later King Edward VII.

Most recent celebrity to use the rifle was Ethel Merman, who used it in the 100th performance of the original Broadway production of "Annie Get Your Gun."

"ALL THE KING'S MEN" is the title of a motion picture showing the political corruption of a State governed by what they dominated the people of a State: killed off "little men" and "big men", squandered the taxpayer's money to establish a political dynasty for themselves. They were the untouchables until! Their political machinations were as destructive as any of the 47½-ton Pershing tanks now rumbling around in South Korea, flattening everything in their path.

J. HOWARD HOLZER, a former member of the State Industrial Accident Commission, in a recent speech before "Mahoney for Governor" club, pulled back the "iron curtain," giving us a vivid picture of Maryland's "King's Men" and their political machine — Chief among them Governor Preston Lane, James H. (Jack) Pollack and Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro.

FOR THE BENEFIT of readers of this column—those aware of the goings-on, to be more specific, haven't had the fortitude to attempt to do anything about it—his wrier quotes herewith some of Mr. Holzer's frank statements which are thought-provoking:

"FOR SOME YEARS, the speaker said, "the people of Baltimore, or at least a section of it, have known these men. Their translation of politics into a commercial business, their continual efforts to country members of the General Assembly by their sordid lobbying it generally known.

"THEIR BRAZEN CHARACTERS have teamed up with Mayor D'Alesandro, and they are working and gradually succeeding in taking over our State Government. It is a pity, indeed, that a Governor of Maryland should lend aid to this purpose.

"THE POLLACK - D'ALESANDRO political machine has taken control of the supervisor of elections of Baltimore City, the clerk office of the Criminal Court, the Board of Liquor License Commissioners, and infiltrated into other State agencies . . .

FOLLOWING THIS, the speaker asked: "What has happened to our fair city? Are the people of Baltimore going to put up with a continuation of such a political combine? Citizens of Baltimore, strike down this foul betrayal. It can be done by voting for George P. Mahoney for governor on September 18.

THIS WRITER believes in the beginner's typewriting chart which carries this line: "Now is the time for all good men (and women) to come to the aid of their country" (State).

POLITICAL SPARKS — Dr. John E. T. Campbell, State chairman of the Progressive Party, has put his O.K. on the resignation from the party of Henry A. Wallace, former Vice President of the USA, over the critical Korean situation . . . Bitter battle between Hamilton—R. Atkinson (who gave us the majorit yof the present personnel of colored police officers), and Mayor D'Alesandro (who, indirectly, could give colored firemen), over "machine politics" . . .

AN ALL-AMERICAN PLEDGE —Sign in a Charles St. store window: "We'll hoard nothing of the nation for the duration."

WE ARE SORRY—In trying to give the new personnel of the Lenox Theatre last week, a line got lost between the news room (where this is written), and the composing room (where it is put into type); so here goes: Sydney Pittman, managing editor; Graham Generett, doorman; Willie Harper, usher; Margaret Tyler, Geraldine Evans, Ethel Jackson, cashiers; Marlene Revell, janitress; Dorothy Barber, candy concession. Projectionists are: Joseph Haynes and Donald Holly.

WHO AND WHERE THEY ARE —Herman Booze, uncle of Wee Bea, da yman at Sam Shaffer's new Rainbow Tavern . . . William (Little Willie) Adams, Aikers Gatewood, Chandler Wynn, E. B. Gamby, Al White, Wilbert Gaither (D.C.), Glasco McCann, Eggie Henry, Paul Lee, J. H. Rice, Jeanne Noel, Freddie Smith, Abner Lee, Lewis (Dude) Tate and Russell Lucas at Cary's Beach, where Rufus Mitchell is manager.

PERSONALITIES in bathing suits—The David Mitchells, the Van Dotsons, Mamie Taylor (Phil), Ike Davis (D.C.); Dorothy Hicks and Curley Richardson, Jesse Baden, Mamie Davis, Bernice Cole, Mildred Smith, Myrtle Hicks, the Stanley Warrens and Ronald (D.C.), Bill Haynes, George, Williams, Harry Cole, W. C. Flippen, Jewolenia Prenbury, Sonia Roden, Verlie Garnett.

MORE OF 'EM—Pearline Pettigrew, Conora O'Neal, Elwood Willie, Saul Willis, the Will Joneses, Joe Lewises, Albert Hills, Edward Gladman, Jean Holly, Sylvia Gladman (Jersey City); Dorothy Baker, wizzaincy "zoozing" ginny zuzy, Jefferson, Geneva Waddell, the Robert Reas.

JUST IN PASSING—George (the Waiter) Williams and his old flame, Ann Broady, goo-gooing at the Vilma . . . Some corner merchants making sugar is hard to get in a "Yes" from Vishinsky . . . Gamby's lists a better-than-ten display of talent for the week end . . . The humidity and expected draft calls have a gang of the guys "sitting" and "sweating" . . . Continued DRAP in nitery business has some of the props gulping vitamin pills . . . Johnny Otis's orchestra and Lil' Esther will do a Sunday stint at Sparrow's eBach . . . Corrine Bello, Elisha Weaver (Norfolk, Va.), and Sydney Pittman "icing" at the Sphinx.

FASHION QUIRKS — Kathleen Calker, a Harlem beauty romping at Carr's Beach on Sunday, was wearing a hat she called the Beachcomber—a scuttle-shaped affair, trimmed with fishnet studded with tiny shells, driftwood and bits of cork . . . Another bride is talking about her new whubby said: "He has ro so excited I can hardly wait for the Army to call him."

That's what a happy marriage does to some gals.

THE NEW ALBERT THEATRE will close Monday, Aug. 14, for remodeling purposes: the installation of additional seating arrangements, and other improvements . . . The Starlite skating arena continues to spin and spin and spin . . . Friday, Gay, Friday and Saturday nights with the town's best skaters . . .

Matthew, the leading barman, has replaced Pinky Coates in the Pink Bar at the New Fremont Theatre, where there is always a good screen fare.

THEY KNEW HE WAS COMING so the bakery and confectionery workers cooked up an indursement-cake for Mahoney . . . Betcha 100 bux to a bollyneon that is the Mal Foote—"President Robert Foote" "so you won't-nay-me" case comes up for a court hearing, some of the boys from the top offices (BIR) Bureau of Internal Revenue and (FBI) Federal Bureau of Investigation will (DEFINITELY) be on hand to scan the "Phoney" income and disbursement sheets . . . Charles Reid has made an announcement that will cause a upheaval among his political enemies.

FRIENDS OF Chuck Richards say he "didn't jump, didn't slip, but was pushed" into politics . . . "The Progressive Party (Rea Survey) now sputtering, will soon pfff! . . . Some GOP's may try to slap a Pro Party label on a local Demo candidate before poll time . . . Walter (Hayette) Thomas should have this sign on his Pontiac: "Gwan hit me again. I'm standing still" . . . The flow'l bed in the "Trenton Light" while thousands stumble in the dark, their life-long night (sung to the tune of Pollaccias Boogie) . . . WILLIAM (Cotton) BYRD, 2112 Brunt St., underwent an emergency operation at Provident Hospital early Wednesday morning . . . Charles Davis, one of the outdoor park boys, suffered the loss of a leg last week . . . Jerry McMaster of the Sphinx' set en route to Boston and the Shriners' confab . . . Freddie Charlesoin, hubby of Shirley Whitlock, reports to the Army on August 28.

THAT'S ALL FOR NOW, except —Gasping and wide-eyed GI students are beginning to think: might as well join the Army again . . . The Third District Democrats (9th and 12th Wards), setting up their organization . . . David Greitzer, owner of the Frolic Cafe, W. Lafayette Ave. at Pa., has purchased three fronts in the 1400 block, now occupied by a candy store. Jack Barnes' shoe shine parlor, and a beauty shop—from the Little Willie Adams realty combine at a reported $19,000.

Headline Attraction at Sparrow's Beach Sunday

French Students Serious, Courteous, Dr. Butcher, Fulbright Scholar Says

WASHINGTON

French university students are serious and courteous, reports Dr. Margaret Butcher of Howard University, now ending a year in France on a Fulbright professorship.

An article by Dr. Butcher appears in the current issue of "The Record," an international exchange publication of the U.S. Department of State.

Writing of her teaching experiences at the University of Grenoble Dr. Butcher says:

"Not only are the students quite serious, as evidenced by their attendance and prolific note-taking, but they are extremely courteous. They rise immediately when a professor enters the room and remain standing until he is seated.

"No one comes late and there are apologies for early withdrawals. Once, when I unknowingly talked 12 minutes over the hour, no one stirred.

"Later, when I inquired why no one had called my attention to the time, all looked at me in amazement—shocked at the very idea of interrupting a lecturer."

Taught in 2 Cities

Assistant professor of English at Howard, Dr. Butcher went abroad under the Fulbright Program last summer. She was assigned to France for the academic year 1949-'50 and was routed for one semester each at Grenoble and Lyons.

At Grenoble she joined the twoman English department and taught three courses—one dealing with Walt Whitman and John Steinbeck, one on major American novelists, and one a survey course in American literature.

Individual conferences with Dr. Butcher were welcomed by the students, who called her "Mademoiselle L'Espagnole" at first, thinking she was Spanish.

Racial Identity Fruitful

When she told them that she was a colored American, race relations in the U.S. became one of the many topics for classroom discussions, along with politics, Hollywood, and other aspects of American life.

Books on American literature which Dr. Butcher carried with her in two Army "footlockers" were also eagerly sought by her students at Grenoble, she reports.

Teacher's Duties Explained

Fulbright appointees do more than "ladle out" prescribed academic dogma, however, Dr. Butcher adds. She says:

"One of the responsibilities of the exchange or visiting teacher is to share in sharing in community activities.

"The visiting teacher does well to evince an interest, in so far as tact and the local social amenities permit, in the cultural and educational affairs of the community.

"Even the casual daily contacts with 'unknowns' in some measure prove rewarding to the visitor and

Arson Suspect Blames Love Rift

Planned to Die in Fire, Woman Tells Police

PHILADELPHIA

A 37-year-old South Philadelphia woman, said by police to have set fire to her home following a spat with her lover last Friday night, is being held without bail for grand jury action on an arson charge.

Investigators said Miss Mary Carter, 1029 Lombard St., told them that she had started the fire with the intentions of allowing herself to be consumed by the flames.

After pouring coal oil over the bedding, she allegedly told them, she laid down on the floor, but became frightened and fled into the street and turned in an alarm. Firemen extinguished the blaze before it was able to do extensive damage.

Later Miss Carter wall the 12th and Pine Sts. po tion and confessed to setti fire. She told officers the quarrel had left her in low s
