Lewis Urges Support of U.N. Declaration on Human Rights

Edward S. Lewis, speaking before the Women's Auxiliary to the Maryland Dental Society, urged support of U.N.'s Declaration of Human Rights, Tuesday.

Mr. Lewis, executive director of the Urban League of Greater New York, was the principle speaker on the Auxiliary's 11th annual dinner meeting.

Said he:

The Declaration of Human Rights was passed on December 10, 1948 and was approved by 48 governments. Two were absent and eight abstained. In the opinion of the ablest minds in the world, this Declaration is one of the historic documents of our times. The special point that I want to make is that it represents a plan for the achievement of human rights not only in our country but throughout the world—for all people regardless of race, religion, creed, or color. Anyodd as it may seem, no such statement has ever before been approved in principle by the major countries of the world.

The outstanding point about the universal Declaration of Human Rights is that it is the result of the age old struggle for men to secure their civil, political, and religious liberties. But the Declaration also contains something new which is important for us to give some attention to. That is the new economic and social rights which are slowly being recognized today. For instance, the right to a job and economic security, and the right to marry whom you want regardless of race, religion or creed."

Pointing out that the United Nations is now in the process of drafting a formal treaty or "covenant" on human rights, Mr. Lewis urged that women's groups and the press "tie up our struggles with the struggles of minority groups all over the world" by following the development of these documents.

He further urged the Auxiliary to go on record as registering approval or disapproval of certain actions which are taken by this government in the United Nations. The human rights division, he pointed out, govern not only discrimination against minorities but women's rights, freedom of the press, labor questions.

'In other words' he said, 'It is the duty of such groups' to get across to the great masses of people the importance of the Declaration of Human Rights and the covenant therein.

Mrs. Hunt Presides

Mrs. Richard Hunt presided at the session, and other participants included:

Mrs. Veola G. Coleman, who gave the inpocation; Mrs. R. Garland Chissell, who told of accomplishments of the auxiliary; Dr. C. R. Campbell, who brought greetings from the Maryland Medical Society;

Mrs. Evan A. Gilkes, who presented flowers to Mrs. Chissell, retiring auxiliary president; and Mrs. Omega Mason of Salem, N.J. president-elect of the national auxiliary; Miss Mareda Gaither, soloist; Mrs. Gloria S. Stokes, pianist; and Edgar Ewing, president of the board of directors of the Baltimore Urban League, who introduced Mr. Lewis.

On the committee which arranged the dinner were:

Mesdames Maurice Adams, Richard Hunt, Herbert Mosley, Evan A. Gilkes, Julius White, G. Franklin Phillips, William Watts, George McDonald and Glenford Musselden.

The Pet Milk Photographer visits THE WILLIAM JENIFER FAMILY of Baltimore, Maryland

Bill and Valcurture Jenifer know that seven's a number to be proud of, as well as a lucky number—and their seven youngsters are proof of it! From Bill, Jr. to baby Marsha, the little Jenifers are lively, sturdy, busy children who have lots of fun together. Bill, Sr. gets plenty of experience from his own seven to help him on his job as school bus driver, too! And how does Valcurture manage? "The big ones help the little ones"—and she's teaching them all to share the work around the house. A good manager, she uses Pet Milk for all her family's milk needs. All the children drink Pet Milk, enjoy it in creamed vegetables, sauces, desserts, with cereal. And she saves money, for Pet Milk costs less generally than any other form of whole milk.

Snap Beans, Lettuce on Increase in Local Market

By RUSSELL C. HAWES
Marketing Specialist

The upward pressure of consumer demand on supplies of food, goods and services appears as strong as predicted, states Russell C. Hawes, marketing specialist, University of Maryland Extension Service.

"Fresh Produce Economies" for this week include snap beans, new bunched beets, green cabbage, celery, carrots, and lettuce. Eastern grown beets are and nearly higher brackets. Apples continue to be low in cost, also small size oranges.

moderate in cost. First New Jersey celery may be found on some produce counters but the bulk of the offerings still is coming from Florida with shipment from California. Several adjoining states are furnishing cabbage besides Maryland. Receipts are heavy and production is at peak.

In fruits, several types of berries are available, ranging in price from moderate to higher, depending on quality. Receipts of peaches and watermelons are increasing, but both items are selling in the higher brackets. Apples continue to be low in cost, also small size oranges.

Peach Creme Brulee

"Peach Creme Brulee" sounds fancy but it isn't at all difficult to prepare. Evaporated milk gives the dessert pleasing smoothness and canned cling peaches give interesting texture, good flavor and color. The combination can not be improved upon.

Peach Creme Brulee

3/4 cup evaporated milk
3/4 cup water
2 eggs
1/4 cup granulated sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 1/2 cups drained canned cling peach slices
Brown sugar

Heat milk and water together. Beat eggs with sugar, cornstarch and salt. Stir slowly into hot milk place over boiling water, and cook and stir until thickened. Remove from heat and blend in vanilla. Cool thoroughly. Arrange peaches in shallow baking dish or pie pan. Spread pudding mixture over fruit. Carefully sprinkle brown sugar over pudding, covering surface. Place under broiler about 4 inches from heat until sugar melts and bubbles. Remove from heat and chill.

Serves 4 to 5.

Chicago Lovely Announces Decision

Good-looking Mfrs. Beatrice Carter of 3842 South Parkway, Chicago, says: "I've decided to use Carnation Milk from now on in my cooking. I've tried other brands—but give me Carnation for real richness."

When are you going to decide to to taste Carnation Milk—just once? One taste of "Carnation's well-known flavor . . . then you'll know why more women buy Carnation than any other brand of evaporated milk.

But if you want Carnation's richer flavor, you'll have to get Carnation. Not lesser-known brands. Get Carnation—the milk expert cooks like Mrs. Carter use. Always ask for Carnation—by name.

Carnation MILK "from Contented Cows"

Devil and the Deep Sea

No one will crab about this deviled dish when you serve it as an appetizer, as a main dish at a luncheon or buffet supper. Deviled crab is really huge for summertime entertaining. And made with bread crumbs, there's nothing easier.

Deviled Crab

2 small cans, or 2 cups crabmeat
1 teaspoon mustard
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup melted butter or margarine
2 teaspoons lemon juice
2 cups soft bread crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
2 hard boiled eggs, minced
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 teaspoon onion juice
1/4 cup dry bread crumbs

Pick over crabmeat and remove any fibrous membranes. Add remainder of ingredients except dry bread crumbs and mix well. Turn into individual ramekins or shells.

Sprinkle tops with dry bread crumbs. Heat thoroughly in a hot over, 400 degrees F., about 10 to 15 minutes.

To make soft bread crumbs, crumble slices of fresh bread with fingers, or place two slices together at a time and cube with a sharp knife. Crusts may be left on or removed, as desired. But never throw crusts away, they're perfect for dry bread crumbs.

To make dry bread crumbs, grind dry bread through a food chopper, using a fine blade, or toast and crush with a rolling pin. Or use packaged dry bread crumbs.

Make With the Magic

There are times when winter meals taste flat and uninspired. But don't let it floor you. Instead, conjure up a new way to serve the old favorites. Try a new table setting, or get some bright plastic or straw mats from the dime store. And most of all, remember there's more than one way to prepare just about anything at your grocer's.

First, try a main dish with a Chinese accent. But very digestible, just the same. Simmer the remains of the chicken for soup tomorrow.

CHINESE CHICKEN CASSEROLE

Serves 4 or 5.
2 cups diced raw chicken
1 cup sliced onions
1 cup bean sprouts
1 cup peas
1/4 cup diced celery
1 cup chicken broth—½
1 cup cream
2 tsps. salt
Dash pepper

Fry onions in butter until tender but not brown. Combine with chicken and other vegetables in a casserole. Mix chicken broth, cream and seasonings and pour over chicken mixture. Cover and bake for 45 minutes at 350 degrees. If it begins to seem dry add more broth.

Creamed onions may be just one of those things at your house. But have you ever tried adding chopped salted peanuts just before serving? Chop sweet onions and pile in. Or adding cheese to the cream lettuce cups. Top with dried or sauce. As for salad, have you had oranges. Pour french dressing over this one lately? Or ever? Or ever before serving.
