Makes New York Debut

Sara Lou Harris (Mrs. Buddy Bowser in private life, lovely songstress, who took time out from her singing chores to welcome Sir Stork, made her New York debut last Friday at the La Vie en Rose. A native North Carolinian, Bennett College graduate, and ex-teacher, she made her nightery debut in 1948, at Gamby's in Baltimore.

Moments Musical

By ADAH K. JENKINS

A rare opportunity of hearing a recital of religious music in its original setting was afforded last Sunday during the presentation of Norman L. Sydnor Jr., organist and choir master of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church, Loch Raven Boulevard, who also assists with the organ music at the Cathedral of Baltimore.

Programmed with Mr. Sydnor was his male choir from the Immaculate Heart parish, augmented by three Seminarians and Father Wills of St. Rose of Lima Church.

The recital was given in rentrance to the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church.

Benediction Celebrated

At the conclusion of the program, the Very Rev. Edward Cassedy, pastor of St. Peter's and the assistant pastors, the Revs. Philip Kirrane and Joseph Brown, all of the Society of St. Joseph, celebrated the Solemn Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament, a service of the Catholic ritual.

The service was accompanied by the choir singing "O Esca Viatorum Ergo" (O, Food of Life) by Perti; "Adoremus" by Haller and the ancient traditional Catholic hymn "Tantum Ergo."

Bach Was Theme

Mr. Sydnor used music by two outstanding composers, Purcell, a native Englishman and Handel, an adopted son of the Commonwealth. The trumpet theme was a favorite of classic composers in instrumental and vocal music.

"Trumpet Voluntary" and "Trumpet Tune" (Purcell) were vigorous and tuneful examples of its use by a composer who wrote anthems when a boy singer in the Chapel Royal.

Other organ offerings were the famous Largo, from the opera "Xerxes," and the Air, from "Water Music," by Handel. Altho a German by birth, Handel spent some years in Italy and most of his life in England, where he became naturalized.

The "Water Music" was written for King George I (A former German Elector) and won for the composer a pension of $1000.

Played with Authority

The organist played with authority and a fine sense of tone and color balance. In the capacity of choir master his ability is also of a high calibre. His choristers did an exceedingly inspiring rendition of religious music.

This kind of music is to be sung as a medium of worship and not other excellent technic of the performers. Yet, to do an adequate task, there should be good voices and well-trained singers.

Truly Religious Music

The choir has vocal ability coupled with the best of vocal technic, yet every selection was an uplifting act of worship. That is the real test of truly religious music.

One of the most moving numbers was the Gregorian Chant "Salve Regina" (Hail Holy Queen), a prayer that is used during the Pentacostal season. This was followed by an arrangement of "Tota Ali Beautiful, Mary) by Walter.

A brilliant young tenor, Joseph McCall, rendered "Ave Maria" by Gounod, a deeply religious composer, and was soloist for his graduation exercises at Loyola College of last Friday.

The Gloria, Sanctus and Benedictus from the Mass in Bb minor (al Mass) by Refice, concluded the chorus portion of the program before Benediction.

The Altar Guild of the church of which Mrs. Gladys R. Britt is president, sponsored the recital. A large number of patrons, Catholic and Protestant, were present including Archbishop Francis P. Keough. The entire recital and service were richly rewarding to both musicians and laymen and it is hoped that the Altar Guild will present a similar one during the next season.

Music Recital Set Sunday

The final recital of the annual series given by students of the Jenkins Music Studio will take place Sunday, June 24th at 6 p.m. in the hall of Mt. Olivet Christian Church, Fulton and Primrose Aves.

An innovation this season is the use of the Student Chorus with piano selections as they are being played. Descriptive notes to some of the piano solos are being read by the instructor, Mrs. Adah K. Jenkins.

Recital Participants

Participating in the first recital were: Dolores Bowen, Carmen and Portia Beaton, Maria Johnson, Mrs. Helen C. Brown, soprano; Roland Edmunds, Samuel and Dolores Edmunds, Paul Wilson, Mrs. Belle Lyles, Sandra Burgess, Thomas Bourne, Marva Roberts, Trezaline Lyles, Linda Hall, Olivia Copeland, Evelyn Kindell, Robert Edwards, Mrs. Ruth Garland, Murial Garland, Francine Lewis and Carolyn Rodgers, Francis Smoot, boy soprano.

One of the features of the June 17th recital was the playing of her original compositions by Murial Garland. These pieces were from a musical skit she is writing and the vocal parts were sung by the Student Chorus. Robert Edwards from the Instrument Class of School No. 112 played a clarinet solo.

Young Thrush Inks Wax Pact

NEW YORK—Little Edna McGriff, luscious and petite at 15 years of age, bows into show business this week via a recording contract with Apollo Records Co.

The cute New York lass, an accomplished pianist and a student at Washington Irving High School in New York, is acclaimed by critics as the "most promising young blues voice since Bessie Smith was young."

Little Edna, whose talents are as versatile as they are great, also writes much of her own material. Scheduled for her first etching session this week are three original tunes entitled "Come Back," "Note Droppin' Papa Blues" and "Rain."

Accompanying Edna on her first recordings will be Budd Johnson, sensational tenor playing leader, who is now organizing his own road unit.

Budd's arrangements of Edna's compositions make for a boff combination of talent and ability and sure fire record hits.

"MICK THE MILLER"—WORLD'S GREATEST GREYHOUND

IN AND AROUND COUNTY WICKLOW, Ireland, folks are still talking about "Mick the Miller," greatest greyhound that ever lived. After whipping all comers in Wicklow and neighboring counties, "Mick's" owner took him to London—where he romped home in the English Derby in 1929 and burned up the tracks for the next two years, winning purses amounting to more than $50,000. Yes, from the tip of his nose to the tip of his tail, "Mick the Miller" was every inch a champion.

Ivy City Seeks Play Facilities

WASHINGTON

A major recreation center complete with indoor and outdoor facilities for the Ivy City-Trinidad area was sought by the civic ACTIVE association in that sector last week.

In a communication with the recreation board, Lewis Crowe, president of the Association, asked that two recreation directors be assigned to Crummell School the year around and requested the board to set up a transportation system that would enable children attending day camps to be picked up in the morning at the schools and playgrounds and returned in the evening.

The association also passed resolutions to ask the Senatorial District Committee to investigate juvenile court policies and procedures; vote to raise $100 for a "Freedom Rally"; voted $5 to the Co-ordinating Committee for the Defense of D. C. Anti-Discrimination Laws; and vbted to boycott the Hecht Co.

Theatres Honor Jake Flax in 40th Year with Republic

WASHINGTON

Honoring Flax as District representative of Republic Pictures, three You Street Theaters will play all Republic film products this week.

"Oh Susannah" will show at the Lincoln, "Fighting Coast Guard," the Republic; and "The Bullfighter and the Lady" at the Booker T.

Dean of Film Men

Regarded as the "Dean of Washington's film men," Mr. Flax, 57, was born in 1894 at 218 Fourth and a Half St., S.W. It was the site of the present Jewell Theater, opened by Wiley Davis Sr., father of the Lincoln Theatre projectionist, Wiley Davis Jr.

Mr. Flax in partnership with his late brother, Sam, opened the first independent film distribution company in Washington in the early thirties. In 1935, he became one of the Republic Pictures Corporation's first organizers by owning the District franchise.

He has been an active member of the Elks for 30 years, and is a former president of the local Variety Club.

On the AVENUE

By E. B. REA

THE WHOLE TOWN IS talking about the current crackdown on "rackets" and the "expose of the leaks" in blue uniform circles. The Avenue, in particular, is interested in the "Washington Quiz Program," or as Charles Dickens would say: "The Tale of Two Cities."

A BUSY MAN — Robert (Squeeze Box) Jackson, assistant manager, Musicians' Lounge, Local 543, at the age of 53, is being called the "Musical Pupa of the Year. 'Squeeze Box' is the father of seven boys and two girls.

WEDDING BELLS — Cpl. Alonzo White, of Harrisburg, Pa., now stationed at Ft. Meade and Alice Tate, Avenue barmaid, of 511 N. Fulton Ave., joined ranks on June 5.

HOME FROM KOREA— John Scott, 1801 Baker St., a member of the Merchant Marine, has just returned home from Korea and will observe his birthday on the 26th. He's the father of Lieut. Maurice Scott, who was reported killed in Korea on May 8.

JOHNNY REPORTS that he met and had a long talk with his son in January. On meeting, Maurice told his father: "This is it. I don't expect to get back home this time."

NICK RICE JR., 619 E. 28th St., president of the Waverly Area Association Community Project, has just returned from a two-week vacation in New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

THE PLAY BOYS, the Savants, a pleasure club headed by Henry Parks, have scheduled a Sunday outing at Ektonia Beach, billed as "an all-day Bar-B-Que Outing."

THE LIST OF OFFICERS and members could be included in an Avenue Who's Who. In addition to Parks as president other officers are:

BEN HAZEL, secretary; Bob Wagner, treasurer; Ike Dixon Jr., veepee; George Dozier, financial secretary and Frank (My Man) Reddish, Sgt-at-arms.

MEMBERS ARE: Cliff Styles, Al Myers, Aaker (Picture Gallery) Bailey, Elmer Bullock, Cliff Thomas, Howard Dixon, William (Big Bill) Dixon, Hen' Baker, Willie (Little Willie) Adams, Water (Beau Brummel) Rouse, Clint Jenkins, Randy Fortune, Ike Green, Bob Young, Charles (Sphinx) Tilghman, Bill and Shirley Diggs, Lawrence Morton and Harold Sullivan.

BANJO EYES, Johnny Hudgins (to you, writes in from Montreal, Canada, to say, he's having swell time doing his pantomine act at the St. Michel.

MICHAEL GRAHAM, billed as "Georgia's Glamour Boy," who recently closed a successful holiday engagement at Gamby's will be presented a scroll at a "Night of Jazz," tonight in Washington for his fine contributions to the theatre and as the Gamby board's top talent discoverer.

EARL (SAXMAN) BOSTIC and his torrid recording orchestra will be the featured Sunday attraction at Carr's Beach. Earl is a crowd-pleaser.

WILLIAM (BILL) HAYNES, so says Mickey Jones, has set a July 4th wedding date with Georgiana from Savannah.

Waterman Shag Mesley will give waterman Shag Mesley Cole will be away the bride. Harry Cole will be best man; W. C. Flippen, head usher; Jennie Ames, flower girl, and George Williams is handling legal arrangements.

AN INVESTIGATING committee of four, accompanied by a photographer, covered the snapping photos of crowds at Wilson St. McMechen St. intersection, Smithson St. and Pitcher. Their mission remains a secret.

EDWARD (STOOGIE) THOMAS doing floorman duties on weekends in the Avenue lounge. Watermelons on sale along the Avenue for as low as $1.

STREAMLINED CONFUSION

Jo Baker Coming Here on July 2

WASHINGTON

The gorgeous American - born, Parisian chanteuse, Josephine Baker, will appear at the National Guard Armory, on Monday night, July 2, under the auspices of the National Council of Negro Women in an elaborate revue built around her exotic star.

A committee of prominent citizens of the District and surrounding territory will be on hand to extend official welcome to Miss Baker when she arrives at Union Station and a motorcade will follow her on thru the principal thoroughfares winding up at the Willard —"I where a suite has been engaged for her and her company.

To Get Citation

The climax of her visit will come when she is given a citation from the National Council of Negro Women "for her fearless and forthright stand against discrimination and segregation in America."

In citing Miss Baker the Council has added her name to an illustrious roll which includes Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, former congresswoman Helen Gahagen Douglas, Mrs. Agnes Myer, Pearl Buck, Edith Sampson, Mrs. Mabel Staupers and others.

Men and women alike are agog to see the fabulous wardrobe modeled by the tall slim star and furnished for her without charge by the top dress designers of the world. Dior, Balenciago, Rochas and several others are very happy to have LaBelle Baker wear their creations just for the publicity value.

The extravaganza is under the direction of Mrs. Jeannetta Brown, the executive director of the council and Mrs. Vivian C. Mason of Norfolk, Va., a vice-president of the organization.

T. U. Honors Eddie Cantor

PHILADELPHIA

Eddie Cantor, one of the country's top comedians, was among five outstanding citizens who received honorary degrees at the 65th commencement exercise of Temple University here.

The Radio Corporation of America, presented Cantor for the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters and described him as "a doctor of morale who helps to sustain sanity and happiness in a hectic and harried world."

Zelma George Gets London 'Pacific' Bid

CHICAGO (ANP) — Mrs. Zelma Watson George, actress, singer, revivalist here that she has been invited to play in role of Bloody Mary in the smash musical hit, South Pacific," in London this fall.

Mrs. George indicated that she probably would accept the role. She said she was also offered the "Bloody Mary" part in the New York Broadway production, played by Juanita Hall, but she could not accept.

"I could not be away from my home too long she said. "The Broadway production would require me to stay there for months, but in London I probably will stay more than one or two months at the most."

Her home is in Cleveland, O., where she lives with her husband, Clayborne George, president of the city's civil service commission.

As an actress and singer, Mrs. George first gained fame in 1942 in the leading role in "The Medium," dramatic Gian-Carolo Menotti opera, at the Karamu Lyric theater in Cleveland.
