N.W. Stars Blank Vocation Royals, Crown Cork Score

Sylvan Fleming's young Northwestern Stars blanked Maryland Vocation School, 13-0, Sunday at Easterwood Park to take over first place in the Bureau of Recreation's Northwest Unlimited Softball League.

The Tim Bright sponsored Stars scored eight runs in the first two innings and added five more for good measure in the final two frames behind P. Thomas' effective shut-out hurling.

In the other Northwest League encounter on Saturday, the Starlite Arena Hurricanes and Domino Sugar Company had to settle for a tie when darkness intercepted their 10-18 slugfest of the year.

The Northwestern Stars face Domino Sugar tomorrow (Saturday) on Druid Hill diamond No. 2 at 6:15 p.m. in a crucial first-round game.

Royals Triumph

Royal A.C. disposed of two strong rivals and took the lead in the West Baltimore Club Unlimited first second round race in the League race. Sunday at Easterwood Park, Vernon Barbour's Royals scored five runs in the fifth as they nipped the Crown Tigers 9-7, then exploded for five tallies in the 13th inning to break up a tightly played contest with the first-round champion Mohawk A.C. 9-4.

A Mohawk protest of two players used by the Royals is to be heard at the Bureau of Recreation next Monday. The Finos A.C. beat the Spartans A.C. 3-1 in a fast moving league contest Sunday at Easterwood.

Bombers Hit High

Crown Cork and Seal eased into first round honors in the Industrial and Trade School Unlimited League by virture of a forfeiture on last Saturday by Maryland Technical Institute. The Corkers unbeaten in first round play started the second round with two wins on Sunday at Druid Hill Park by rapping the Martin Jets 17-4 and then taking another game by forfeit from Maryland Technical.

The Afro - American Bombers got a season's high of 24 runs in trimming Maryland Tech 24-1. Last year's league champion Building Trade School shellacked the ending Social Security Stags 12-0 with big Bill McClure in good form.

Scoring seven runs in a big third inning the defending independent Club League champion Cherry Hill Trotters set back the Church-hill Ambassadors 16-2 at Cherry Hill Park Saturday and took over the league lead with two victories and no defeats. Western Maryland Dairy A.C. got in their first win of the season by trouncing the Pythions 10-6 at Druid Hill Park.

Elites Hit Hot Pace En Route to Stadium

The Elite Giants, bouncing back after one of the most disastrous beginnings in the club's history, have struck a hot pace as they turn their eyes toward the Baltimore Memorial Stadium.

Baltimore's Negro American League entry returns to the Stadium on July 1, to be headlined in a twin-bill with the Memphis Red Sox, beginning at 2 p.m.

An added feature of the day will be a 3-inning game between oldtime players of the once-great Baltimore Black Sox.

Win 17 of 18

The Elites, showing a complete reversal of form since losing ten straight games at the season's opening, are currently riding the crest of a sensational winning wave. They have captured 17 of their last 18 games and climaxed the spurt by taking two of three from the league leading Chicago American Giants.

Jesse (Hoot) Walker sent his 18-year-old rookie righthander, Slim Holloman, to the mound last Saturday in Milwaukee to down Chicago, 2-1, with four hits.

Then on Sunday, Kelly Searcy, a 18-year-old southpaw phenom, put down the Giants, 3-1, in the second game of a double-header at Chicago. The youthful Searcy outpitched Satchel Paige in this affair, holding the enemy at bay with three hits while his mates were rolling one run off Paige in the first inning, thus tagging him with the loss.

Kimbro Leads Batters

In the opener of the Sabbath bill, however, Charlie Smith, whom Chicago has reclaimed from the Mexican league, gained a 7-4 win over the Elites and young Ted Thompson. Thompson was victimized by poor infield play in this setback. Henry Kimbro, veteran center-fielder, is leading the team at bat with a .365 average, while Fleming Reid, in his sophomore year with the locals, is second with a mark of .340.

Among the oldtimers slated for limited action here July 1, are Judi Wilson, Blaney Hall, Crush Holloway, Laymon Yokeley, Mack Eggleston, Bob Clark, Joe Lewis and Showboat Thomas.

Ted Calaman Tops Bill at Coliseum

One of the heaviest-punching young prospects for heavyweight honors comes back to Baltimore Monday night to top the Squires A.C. light card at the Coliseum. He is Ted Calaman, of Philadelphia, who scored smashing kayo in two previous appearances at the Monroe Street arena. Calaman is one of the hardest hitters in the ring today.

The ex-Marine from Philly will need all his wallop to keep his win streak here intact. For his opposition Promoter Benny Trotta has selected Ted Lowery, veteran New Haven boxer who has tangled with most of the top men in the division. Calaman isn't likely to get very far trying to outbox his cagey cloutter.

Lowery has also made two previous appearances at the Coliseum and impressed local clout connoisseurs deeply in spite of the fact he lost both starts. It was a matter of competition.

Ted only had to take on two of the best the Baltimore ring has seen—Archie Moore and Jimmy Bivins.

Cardozo Requests Delay in Title Row

WASHINGTON

Coach Don Porter of Cardozo, whose baseball team posted an 11-1 mark during the baseball season, has asked postponement in naming the Clerks as the District Atlantic Conference champions until the December meeting of the conference of using an ineligible playre as the result of a conflicting age ruling in the City and District Athletic Conference.

Long's Eligibility Questioned

Robert (Chicken Long, a husky right hander who posted a 4-0 mark for the Clerks in the city series, allegedly is eligible for the District series following a new ruling instituted during the basketball season.

The ruling, approved by the District Board of Education, is that if an athlete reaches his 19th birthday anniversary on or after the opening day of school, he may participate in all sports for that school year.

Conflicting Ruling

It is in direct conflict with the South Atlantic Conference ruling which states a boy shall become ineligible for further competition in conference sports if he reaches his 19th birthday anniversary before a season begins in a particular sport.

But if he reaches his 19th birthday anniversary during a season, he may be allowed to continue through that season in sports.

L. Roscoe Evans, president of the South Atlantic Conference, met with school representatives in the spring, and elected a committee to study the possibility of going along with the city. He stated the group may return to an old system under which each school abided by its respective Board of Education ruling.—LEIGH

Ross Leads Boys' Club No. 2 in 12-1 Triumph

ARLINGTON, Va. — Centerfielder Albert Ross, leading a 14-hit assault with three safeties, paced Boys' Club, No. 2 to a one-sided 12-1 victory over Boys' Club No. 3, Tuesday, on Jennie Dean Playground.

The triumpy gave the winners a half game lead in the Junior Baseball League with a 3-1 slate over the losers, with a 2-1 mark.

Jackson Hurls One Hitter

Righthander William Jackson hurled one-hit ball over the seven inning route. O. Dunbar gathered the lone hit off him.

Boxing Heads to Test Rubber for Ring Floor

WASHINGTON

The District Boxing Commission may increase the thickness of the ring floor as an experiment in the next local fight in an attempt to prevent recurrence of the Little Dynamite incident.

Col. Harvey L. Miller, chairman of the District Boxing Commission, addressing the Pigskin Club at the Mu-So-Lit Club House, Tuesday, said his group is investigating the use of two or three inches of foam rubber matting under the canvas instead of the original two-inch layer of felt padding.

Use of Headgear Upheld

He mentioned the headgear as a possible aid in decreasing head injuries, and defended boxing from a scientific point of view. He emphasized that it is one of the best character building sports, one in which the participants have to depend upon their courage mostly in the attack. He introduced A. Oliver Thornton who presented his report outlining the Pigskin Club's activities this year.

Among those included the annual outing set for Saturday, June 30 at Graves Hotel, Colton, Md.; and the annual banquet, Friday, Dec. 14, at National Airport.

Other present included:

Henry Marshall, James (Pete) Tyson, Blake Young, Arthur Walker, Robert McGuire, Frederick Hundley, Ted Greene, George Jefferson, William Burr, Cato Adams, Rufus Byars, Judge James A. Cobb, Samuel Willis;

Wendall Parris, Dan Monroe, Lt. Count Cook, M. T. Mahan, E. V. Carter, Millard R. Dean, Henry Greene, Judge Armond Scott, Co. Henry O. Atwood, Henry Graves, George Johnson and W. B. Martin.

Capital Sportlight—Hedun

Television went on trial last Friday night as the culprit responsible for the slowdown in the flow of dollars into the cash registers of the sports promoters. As a result, they won the first round with a semi-decent presentation of Louis and Lee Savold.

Reports were that the Lincoln's 1600 seats were filled and 1,750 more fans jammed the lobby and aisles to see the experiment. Another 1,000 reportedly was turned away. Ditto for the RKO Keith's catering to whites only, and seating only 1,850.

The new trend toward television of sports on theater screens looms as merely a flash-in-the pan. I predict it will precipitate a revolt among the nation's millions of television owners for several reasons.

The success of a fight such as Louis and Savold will lead to the telecasting of college and pro football games, if the box holds out on theater screens. TV then without its weekly choice of major college grid games, bi-weekly fights and horse racing, will lose its importance. The end result will be a decrease in sales and a howl from the manufacturers, and the thousands of people employed in the TV business.

Won't Attend

Fans, who are accustomed to watching fights in their recreation and living rooms with close friends away from the noise and jostling of a stampeding crowd, will not rush out to see the picture at a theater.

Moreover, no cities have enough theaters which could accommodate the bulk of the staid old TV viewers who are rabid sports followers.

The biggest point in the new transition is the fact that promoters can't conjure up enough interesting matches as Louis and Savold to lure fans from their homes, especially when they are paying upwards of $20 to $30 monthly for TV sets. That's a dual amusement bill which the average working man will be strained to handle if he tried.

Aside from a probable Louis and Ezzard Charles setting in September, Ray Robinson and Rocky Graziano, and one or two more top attractions, fans won't have much incentive to storm the theater ticket windows. A match between erratic Bob Satterfield and unpredictable Joe (I wuz doped) Maxim is only a mediocre show.

Not So Gullible

The public is not as gullible as the shrew promoters often want to think. The promoters face the realization that like a new broom sweeping clean at first, the experiment can't go on forever.

This is especially true in our inflationary economy. Overlooked in the transition is unemployment for those whose job it was to bring the affair to the public over the radio, and those who are hired in the manufacturing of televisions. The drop in the sales of television not only will mean a lag in the making of the sets. It will lead to mass unemployment which will accelerate the revolt.

Joe Walker to Run

Smith to Face Cooper in Benefit for Dynamite

Gene Smith will meet Jimmy Cooper in a benefit bout for Elijah (Little Dynamite Williams, July 16, at Griffith Stadium.

Little Dynamite, recovering from a basal skull fracture and a cerebral hemorrhage, will receive all the money from the show less expenses in promoting the affair.

Promoter Gabe Mendez is anticipating a turnout large enough to guarantee a down payment on a home for the stricken fighter, and maybe enough to pay notes for several months until Dynamite is able to work.

Cooper's testants will have at least two weeks of training.

All the fighters will receive their regular pay, and if they want to contribute a share of their purse they may do so. Already Smith has committed himself as giving a share of his purse to Dynamite.

"Don't bother Grandma today!"
Nobody could come in the kitchen when Granny was making up a batch of her own special-make blackberry wine! No, sir! She didn't want anybody taking her mind off that precious recipe of hers. It called for so many berries. It called for so much sugar. It called for being laid away for so long. And, oh, what wonderful wine that was! Rich and sweet and full of that great blackberry flavor.
Folks just don't go to the trouble of making wine at home like that any more. Why should they? Madera's Blackberry Wine is made exactly the way Grandma said to make it. When you open your bottle and sip that wine, it brings back memories... golden memories of the wine Grandma made.
