Hillen Road Widened, Morgan's Campus Graded

Photo taken from what was formerly main entrance at Alumni Gate to Morgan College down Hillen Road toward the Christian Center (in the background). View shows how the one-time narrow Hillen Rd. has been widened into a two-lane boulevard, with the parkway in the middle. Obstruction in the center of picture at intersection of Arlington Ave. (Cold Spring Lane) on the left in front of that part of Morgan's campus adjoining the Christian Center will be found hundreds of tons of dirt which have been dumped to make it level.

New Morgan Gymnasium Interior Structure

The Morgan gymnasium's main floor is 108 ft. by 80 ft. Folding seats to be erected on either side will accommodate 2,000 spectators, and seats in the balcony will accommodate 270 persons. The three doorways in the rear lead to an auxiliary gymnasium which is 44 ft. by 86 ft. This is to be used for wrestling. The windows contain blue glass to filter the sunlight. The main floor has not been completed.

Father Admits Incest; Jailed for Four Years

A 39-year-old man was sentenced to four years, Thursday, after he admitted to having been intimate with his 17-year-old daughter.

The psychiatrist for the Supreme Bench reported to Judge Ralph Warnken that the man, Cecil Hale, appeared to be without morals.

Hale was said to have had the relations with the girl at the family home in the 500 block Elsien St. On May 12. He was held on a charge of incest. The girl was separated from her husband at the time, it was revealed.

Council Adjourns Without Acting on 1-Way Streets

Carried over until September on the calendar of the City Council is an ordinance which woul make one-way boulevards out of Fulton Ave. and Monroe St.

Protest to such a bill already has been filed with the Council by residents of the Monroe - Fulton area who have expressed the fears that the streets will become speedways comparable to Druid Hill Ave. and McCulloh St.

Would Extend Route

Fulton Ave. already is a one-way street north from Wilkens Ave. to Edmondson Ave. Under the pending ordinance, it would continue one-way all the way to Druid Hill Park.

Also under the ordinance Monroe St. would be one - way southbound from Gwynn Falls Parkway to Edmondson Ave, Monroe now is a two-way street. No hearings have been held.

The ordinance was introduced June 4 by Councilmen John Reed and Samuel Friedel, Eighth District, who have indicated since hearing of the objection from residents, th they will vote against the legislati when it comes up for consideration.

Dives in Shallow Water, Snaps Neck

WASHINGTON

Melvin Johnson, 38, 525 Third S., N.E., is still on the critical list at Gallinger Hospital where he was removed after suffering a fractured neck July 1 at Sparrows Beach.

Mr. Johnson injured his neck while diving into shallow water. He was revived on the scene two and one-half hours later, his body completely paralyzed.

Doctors at Gallinger placed the injured man in an iron lung and are giving him a 50-50 chance to recover, his wife, Mrs. Mary Johnson, said on Thursday.

CHICAGO DOPE PEDDLER GIVEN 5 YEARS, FINED

CHICAGO (NNPA)—Judge Gibson E. Gorman, Municipal Court, last week sentenced Haney Mims, 49, to five years and fined him $5,000 on a dope-possession charge. Mims also had been charged with dope peddling, and several teenagers testified they had bought heroin from him.

Jail Is Only Place for the Aged Poor

Evicted from her home for nonpayment of rent, the stooped, 54-year-old lady stood before Magistrate John L. Berry in Northwestern police court, Wednesday, obviously confused and downhearted.

Magistrate Berry listened attentively as Policewoman Violet Hill Whyte explained how the old lady, Mrs. Myrtle Jones, had been ordered to "move out of her apartment" by police after the eviction.

"She has no place to go, no friends or relatives," Mrs. Whyte continued, "and she refuses to accept help from the Welfare Department."

Relief or Jail

Magistrate Berry patiently explained to the defendant, who was charged with disorderly conduct, that he had no alternative other than to send her to jail if she continued to refuse relief.

Unable to Work

Finally Mrs. Jones consented to apply for assistance from welfare.

The case was postponed until July 27 to allow Mrs. Whyte time to have the application processed by the welfare department.

Meanwhile, mild-mannered Mrs. Jones, a domestic worker for 25 years but now unable to work, sits in the city jail.

Baltimore has no other place for law-abiding elderly people who are unable to work and have no place of residence.

Man Cuts Arm, Hangs Himself

The body of Edward Ware, 76, of 2228 McCulloh St., was found hanging in the cellar of his home early Tuesday, after his wife had missed him from bed.

Ambrose Smith, of 1541 Pulaski St., Mr. Ware's step-son-in-law, discovered the body after he was called to the house by Mrs. Naomi Ware, husband of the dead man.

According to Northern District police, Mr. Ware slashed his wrists with a razor in the bathroom, before hanging himself

Had Been Ill

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday at Holland Funeral Home, with burial at Arbutus Memorial Cemetery. The Rev. Volley K. Stokes, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, where Mr. Ware was a member, will officiate.

Mrs. Smith, the dead man's stepdaughter, said he had been ill recently. Mr. Ware also is survived by two sisters and two brothers.

Pullman Workers File $170,000 Damage Suit

Suits for damages totaling $170,000 were filed, this week by four Pullman employees who sued the Atlantic Coast Line company as a result of injuries they received in a train wreck last Nov. 27.

Those filing the suits in City Court are Julius Sullivan of 1916 Edmondson Ave., who asked for $50,000 in damages: Willie Staley, 719 N. Monroe St., $50,000; Charles Dobson, 522 N. Arlington Ave., $35,000; and Christopher C. James, 1011 W. Lafayette Ave., $35,000.

N.C. Born GI Slain at Meade

Leaves Balto. Wife, Mother in Tarheelia

His body was identified by Army authorities as the husband of Mrs. Irene Brown of 1418 Rutter St., Baltimore and the son of Mrs. Annie L. Foke of Halifax, N.C.

Pvt. Brown had been in the Army for six months. He has no prior service record. He was attached to the Third Armored Cavelry Regiment.

Army officials at Fort Meade say that Private Brown and Pvt. George M. Buchanan, 19, of Durham had a disagreement in their barracks early Friday. They quot- ed Buchanan as saying that Brown struck him with a broom, and he stabbed him in self defense.

No charges have been placed against Buchanan. He is being held by Army authorities pending investigation of the fatal stabbing.

Frees 'Luckiest' Man in Fatal Knife Dual

The "luckiest" man in a knife dual was acquitted on murder charges, this week as Judge Herman Moser warned, "Next time, you may be the corpse."

Testimony was that Robert Elem chased his victim into a restaurant, demanded a $2 debt, collected it as the man lay dying on the floor, and stood calmly with knife in hand to await the arrival of police.

Second Knife Found

It developed, however, that police found a second knife outside of the restaurant and noting this, Judge Moser concluded that it was outside, and in self defense, that Elem stabbed his victim, Matthew Toney.

The man bled to death from an odd wound that was directly under his armpit. With medical testimony that the wound probably was inflicted as Toney's arm was raised, Judge Moser concluded further that Elem swing his knife as Toney lifted his.

Toney lived in the 1700 block W. Fayette St. The wound under his arm was six and a half inches long.

U.S. Official Consultant

During the second week, the workshop will be centered in the use of community resources in developing programs of conservation education, and in the experience of teachers in the Area of Atomic energy. George L. Glasheen, chief of the Educational Service Section, United States Atomic Energy Commission will serve as consultant on Friday July 27.

The activities of the third week will be centered in consultations and discussions on materials and problems centered in the availability, use and value of community resources with major emphasis on conservation education. The workshop is under the direction of Dr. Thomas P. Fraser.

Attorney Lauds Police Magistrate

Mrs. Juanita J. Mitchell, attorney, sent a letter to Governor McKeldin, this week, commending the "fair and impartial" administration of Magistrate Avrum R. Rifman, of Southern Police Court.

The text of Mrs. Mitchell's letter follows:

"I want to commend to you Magistrate Avrum R. Rifman, Southern Police Court, whom you recently appointed.

"The AFRO-AMERICAN carried last week a column praising the manner in which he is conducting his court, his fairness, and impartiality.

"Our city and state need more public officials of the calibre of Magistrate Rifman. We congratulate you upon your wise selection."

Women's Council Planning Party

When the flag is displayed over the middle of the street it should be suspended vertically with the union to the north in an east and west street or to the east in a north and south street.

Clean Blockers Greet Governor, Wife

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin in the act of making a speech to AFRO Clean Blockers for WMAR-TV cameraman. To the Governor's left is Mrs. McKeldin. The man in the white suit to the right is Carl Murphy, president of the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers. A full account of the Clean block meeting held at The McCulloh Homes Friday (today) will b released by TV Saturday or Sunday night at 7 p.m.

Where do you sleep? That's the most uncertain testure of your entire journey. I didn't sleep. Arriving at Fairbanks, the terminus of the railroad, you have thre miles to go by bus to College, Alaska. Total travel time—13 days.

Ex-Baltimorean Sees Parents After 20 Years

Mrs. Laura R. Williams of Los Angeles, arrived recently for a few weeks visit with parents, Mr. and

MRS. LAURA WILLIAMS

Mrs. William Randall of Howard County. Mrs. Williams, who had not seen her parents for 15 years, came to see her father who has been ill for several months.

After a week's visit with her parents, Mrs. Williams motored to Boston with a sister, Mrs. Charles Cook, to see three other of her sisters. Mrs. Williams spent four days with her sister in Boston, Mrs. Deanie Williams, Mrs. Frances Prince and Miss Hilda Randall.

After returning to Maryland, she made a second trip. She went to Montclair, N.J., Connecticut, and New York to visit friends.

Visits Two Sisters

A week later, Mrs. Williams arrived in Baltimore to spend a few days with two other sisters, Mrs. Nettie Garnes, 904 N. Stricker St. and Mrs. Pearl Parker of 1125 Stockton St.

The remainder of her visit was with her parents and sister in Howard County. Mrs. Williams is a graduate of the old Frederick Douglass High School, a cosmetician, and a recent graduate of the Los Angeles School of nursing.

Daily Routine

1. Block supervisors have larger flags in window than captains (all captains have small flags in their windows)
2. Meet at Block Supervisor's home at appointed time.
3. Sing "America," or a Clean Block song selected by a child. Salute the flag.
4. Work suggested for the day. (Make assignments where many can work together). Don't make long assignments, we have until Aug. 16 to finish.
5. Call children's attention to the many things required in the "Victory Report." Have them check off any finished work.
6. When daily work is finished: A cool drink, coca-cola. Lemonade; change to clean clothes (Dungarees are suggested for work). Also sun hats. (these could be given as awards). A trip to other blocks, the beach or a park. No sun suits after four o'clock. At 4 p.m. all go in and rest. Be ready to meet father or mother in clean clothes at the end of the day.
8. Form a drum and bugle corp —glee club—tennis club—or baseball team. Practice for closing program. Have a flag raising whenever a particular group of blocks finishes work.

Drunks Hamper Clean-up Drive

A 12-year-old clean block captain in the 600 block of School St. is finding her job difficult because of trash and whiskey bottles left by drunks, and lack of co-operation by some residents in the block.

Marie Foster, 610 School St., captain of the block said: "Everybody isn't helping, but we are trying to do the best we can. More of the homes need to help, and drunk persons are throwing bottles in the street. It's hard trying to do it all by yourself."

Police Pledge Probe

Other residents of the block also complained about drunks, and all put co-operation in the annual campaign sponsored by the AFRO.

Northwestern district police have been notified of the complaints, and promised a full investigation and co-operation in the matter.

Herb Frisby Attends University in Alaska

Urges Visitors to Fly to Country or Face Long, Bumpy Train Ride

By HERBERT N. FRISBY

COLLEGE, Alaska—4 am in Alaska—in the northern interior, known as the poorest part of the Territory from the standpoint of natural resources—at a small settlement called College, because it is the site of America's most northern frontier educational institution, the University of Alaska.

Other than the university grounds and buildings, that's all there is to College, Alaska. We are about three miles from Fairbanks, the one-time gold metropolis of the Territory.

One may come here quickest and most direct by flying, which is recommended if you have not more than 40 pounds of baggage. Otherwise, from the East, take train to Chicago where you change to a trans-continental train for Seattle, Wash.

Thence by boat you are in for a six to seven-day journey to Seward, the principal seaport of colored drifters were shifted quickly from the South to the frigid Alcan Highway and Alaska, it was alleged, without weather conditioning.

Well, Many of those same drifters refused to leave here when discharged from the Army or went home just long enough to receive their bonus checks and then returned here. Colored civilians are much in evidence today in certain towns like Juneau, Anchorage and a few in Fairbanks. Then, too, many others are coming in to take advantage of the very high wages paid on construction projects.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Frisby, a Baltimore teacher, is on a six-week study tour of Alaska.)

Arriving finally at the University you find everyone glad to see you. If you are a female, you are well guarded and chaperoned, but if otherwise, you find your room, park your luggage in the hall, locate a broom and then proceed to clear up the situation so as to make room for yourself and luggage to be companions for the next 6 weeks.

Sees Alaska Changing

Alaska has changed and is still changing. Ten years ago, there were 138 colored persons in this Territory, most of whom had emigrated from Oregon and Washington and settled for the most part, in Juneau. About a dozen found their way farther north to Anchorage and just about four located in Fairbanks, with one Robinson Crusoe Kite making it far northward to Nome.

But the last war has changed all of that. Many will recall the big bowl put up when large numbers of colored drifters were shifted quickly from the South to the frigid Alcan Highway and Alaska, it was alleged, without weather conditioning.

Well, Many of those same drifters refused to leave here when discharged from the Army or went home just long enough to receive their bonus checks and then returned here. Colored civilians are much in evidence today in certain towns like Juneau, Anchorage and a few in Fairbanks. Then, too, many others are coming in to take advantage of the very high wages paid on construction projects.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Frisby, a Baltimore teacher, is on a six-week study tour of Alaska.)
