Warm Baths Cool You When Temperature Soars

NEW YORK — Taking a warm bath during the hottest hours of the day and following it with a hot drink of tea or lemonade is one way of beating the heat.

The warm bath, according to Dr. Waldemar Schweisheimer in the August Journal of Living, opens the pores and thus enables the body to dissipate heat more rapidly. The hot drinks aid perspiration.

Cool Wrists

A warm-bath "cooler" is, of course, not practical for everyone. If you want a quick refresher, says Dr. Schweisheimer, hold your wrist under cold running water. The arteries are just below the wrist and the running water draws the heat from the blood.

Eat Sensibly

Other suggestions offered by the doctor for withstanding the heat are: to eat sensibly. Light, easily digested food in moderate quantity will aid in keeping down production of excess body heat.

Go easy on fats and sugars, but don't skimp on protein foods such as meat, eggs, milk and cheese. Protein consumption in hot weather should remain at the normal year-round level.

Light Colored Clothes

Wear loose, thin, non-constricting clothing, open at the neck so that body vapors can escape freely. Choose light colors. White is best for keeping cool. Pale yellow is almost as good. Reds, browns and black are the heat-retaining colors.

Keep Placid

Keeping placid, says the Journal of Living article, is most important. Quarrels and arguments make body organs work harder and thus produce supplementary body heat. The less you think about the heat, the easier it is for you to bear it.

Cherry Time Tarts!

These daintily fluted Cherry Baskets are a glamorous version of the ever popular cherry pie, and are made with the same basic pastry.

Buy cherry pies from your baker's, or make them at home—but enjoy the perfection of this delicious fruit pie the year around. The combination of fresh or canned cherries with a thrifty pastry base makes this a dessert that holds to the family budget.

Occasionally, fashion enriched flour pastry into dainty baskets by cutting 3-inch circles from the rolled-out dough. Fit the circles into muffin pans, overlapping them to achieve the fluted effect. When you serve Cherry Baskets, you have time to enjoy your party, for dessert is prepared in a moment. The pastry baskets are made ahead of time and need only to be filled with the cooled cherry filling and garnished with a dab of whipped cream.

Enriched pastry and cherries make a delicious taste blend, as well as a good nutritional one. Count on enriched breads and desserts of all kinds to supply protein, B-vitamins, and food iron economically. Pastry baskets also make handsome containers for fresh sweetened strawberries, peaches and other summer fruits. Top with whipped cream or a spoonful of vanilla ice cream.

CHERRY BASKETS

Pastry

2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅔ cup shortening
3 to 5 tablespoons cold water

Sift together flour and salt. Cut in shortening. Add water. Mix into a dry, crumbly dough. Toss on floured pastry cloth. Roll and fold until smooth. Roll about ⅛ inch thick. Cut with 3-inch biscuit cutter. Place one pastry round on bottom of each 3-inch muffin cup. Line sides of muffin cup by overlapping 6 pastry rounds around each muffin cup, setting the rounds on edge. Press edges of pastry on sides firmly to edges of pastry on bottom. Prick with fork. Bake in hot oven (450°F.) 8 to 10 minutes. Cool. Fill with Cherry Filling. Makes 6 Cherry Baskets.

Cherry Filling

⅔ cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
⅓ teaspoon salt
⅓ cups cherry juice or water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 cups pitted cherries, fresh or canned

Mix together sugar, cornstarch, and salt. Heat cherry juice or water and add sugar mixture to cherry juice, stirring constantly. Cook until cherry juice is clear and medium thick. Add cherries and blend well. When Cherry Filling cools, fill pastry baskets. Makes enough filling for 6 baskets.

Tomatoes, Apples, Peaches Best Food Buys This Week

Tomatoes, Apples—54 pt orbar

Among the new "firsts" of the season for Maryland grown fresh produce this week may be found tomatoes, new apples and peaches. These items surely emphasize that native production is really here and that local produce is the highlight in our markets, states Russell C. Hawes, Marketing Specialist, University of Maryland Extension Service.

"Week's Best Buys" include snap-beans, cabbage, squash, beets, lettuce, and white potatoes. Maryland grown snapbeans are abundant and very reasonable in cost. Several snapbean receipes are available upon request. One of the important green vegetables to invite our attention as we glance at the fresh

Raw Cabbage Adived

Cabbage is arriving in generous amount from nearby farms and is attractively priced. Cabbage is a very desirable and nutritive vegetable when used in the raw state. Another uncooked vegetable reasonably priced and now seasonable is lettuce. Lettuce is one of our most popular vegetables and is used as a base for nearly all salads. In arrivals by rail, lettuce is exceeded only by one other vegetable and that is the white potato.

Potatoes continue to be in plentiful supply and Maryland's crop which is below average in volume, is nearly ready for harvest. The states of North Carolina, Virginia, and California are supplying us with most of our potatoes. Bunched beets are low in cost and are of good quality.

Squash Plentiful

Maryland's production of cucumbers and summer squash now is in volume and both are moderately priced. With a few baskets of Maryland grown tomatoes noted, notice is served that the Maryland tomato crop soon will be upon us. Virginia shipments of tomatoes are rapidly increasing and the price of tomatoes is moderate.

In fruits, both cantaloupes and watermelons are in heavy supply from Georgia, Arizona, and California are available now. Receipts of southern grown peaches are increasing and are quoted much lower.

vegetable counter is cabbage.

As for other fruits, blueberries are moderately priced, grapefruit is still available, strawberries and pineapples are fast disappearing and are on the upward swing, bananas continue to be in plentiful supply and some new crop yellow transparent apples may be had.

Egg Prices Increase

In meats, fryers are highly recommended. Fryers are available in volume, very reasonable in cost, and chicken meat has a definite place in all menu planning during the summer week-ends. Eggs have started on their seasonal advance but still are a good value, pound for pound.

Remember the best buys include, squash, beets, snapbeans, potatoes, cabbage, lettuce, cantaloupes, watermelons, fryers, and eggs.

2 tablespoons butter
1 onion, finely chopped
2 cups green beans, freshly cooked
Salt and pepper

Melt butter, add onion and cook until transparent. Add beans and toss with butter. Cook until thoroughly heated.

Large Supply of Vegetables Open Economical Menu Vistas

By RUSSELL C. HAWES

Produce counters are bulging with tempting fresh native and nearby grown fruits and vegetable to which is added lima beans, this week.

With larger supplies and lower prices limas are now on this week's list of "best buys." Other economy priced fresh fruits and vegetables include snapbeans, white potatoes, squash, cucumbers, beets, peppers, sweet corn, and watermelons.

Prices Down

Snapbeans and lima beans both are in plentiful supply and the larger supplies and lower prices make these locally grown vegetables excellent choices for food shoppers in economy and appealing meals. The snap in snapbeans is a good indication of quality. For the next few weeks, retail prices of snapbeans and limas will be the lowest of the summer months.

Cucumbers are in abundant supply and are low in cost. Offerings arriving from Eastern Shore are very heavy. Try eating cucumbers with the skin left on. It is said, it makes them easier to digest.

Potatoes Plentiful

Potatoes are in generous supply, also yellowand scallop squash. All are low in cost. Jersey beets and peppers are still on the "best buy list." Peppers and cucumbers should certainly be included in your daily vegetable salad.

Celery and cabbage are moderately priced and receipts of broccoli are increasing. Lettuce and tomatoes are much higher in cost but only for a short spell. Sweet corn from Eastern Shore Virginia and North Carolina is much lower in cost.

In fruits, watermelons and early apples are in generous supply and lower priced. Three southern states now are supplying our needs for watermelons. Early Harvest and Yellow Transparent varieties of apples are much lower in cost. Both varieties are fine for apple sauce.

Cantaloupes are in steady supply but offerings of southern peaches are greater, resulting in lower prices. As the season advances, so does the quality as a rule. Plums are in greater volume, also cheries.

Keep Eggs Cool

Egg market is unchanged. Eggs must be kept cool these hot and humid days in order to maintain the quality. Very little change in meat prices. Poultry meat is moderately priced and is a recommend-

Care of Nylon Garments Easy; Follow These Rules

NEW BRUNSWICK—"Nylon garments are wonderfully easy to care for, if a few simple rules are followed," says Miss Inez LaBoone, extension clothing specialist at Rutgers University.

"Wash nylon articles frequently, using warm water and mild soap flakes or synthetic detergent thoroughly dissolved," Miss LaBoosier advises.

"Hand washing is preferable for articles with delicate trimming and construction. Squeeze the suds through the fabric.

Rinse Thoroughly

"You may rub the spots that are particularly soiled but do it gently. Rinse thoroughly until all suds have completely disappeared.

"If any soap is left in the fabric, the colors will be dulled or a grimy look may develop.

"If the water in your area is hard, it would be wise for you to use a softener in the wash and first rinse waters, just as you would with any other fabric.

Care of White Nylon

"White nylon should be washed separately from colored things. "That 'off-white' tinge that you may have seen on nylon slips may have been due to washing with colored garments or not rinsing enough.

"Or it may have been discoloration from contact with dark garments."

Bleaching Optional

The manufacturers of the nylon fiber say that a mild bleach may be used on nylon which has become discolored. But be sure to use the bleach very sparingly.

Careful laundering without a bleach, if consistently done, should keep the garment in good condition.

The university clothing specialist also warns against putting creases wrinkles in your nylons.

She suggests you just squeeze out the excess moisture lightly, smooth or shake out and dry on a hanger.

If the garment needs pressing, use a warm iron— never a hot one. Repeated ironing of white nylon at high temperatures tends to cause yellowing.

Chilled Potato Salad Scores

Plenty of high-quality fresh potatoes are due on the markets this summer, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, potatoes that are fine for boiling, creaming, or that picnic standby, potato salad. Here's a recipe for chilled potato salad, designed to bring compliments to the cook. The ingredients for 4 servings are 3 cups cubed cooked potatoes; 1 tablespoon minced onion; 1 cup thick dressing; 1 teaspoon salt; ¼ cup chopped green pepper; cup finely cut celery; ¼ cup chopped pickles or cucumber.

To make: Gently mix potatoes, onion, dressing and salt, taking care to blend well, yet not break the potatoes. Chill the mixture until serving time. Then add the rest of the ingredients, mixing lightly, and adding more dressing if needed. Serve on lettuce garnished with tomato wedges and olives.

Many people like sliced hard cooked eggs with potato salad, or deviled eggs in the border arrangement with the tomato wedges and olives.

Best potatoes are firm and clean, have shallow eyes, and no cuts, decay, or green spots which must be removed and cause waste. Early potatoes are good for boiling, creaming, and salads. They don't break up when cooked, and they hold their shape when cut. Chilled potatoes peel usually are easier to cut up without breaking than hot potatoes.

Peachy Punch

Invite your neighbors in for a bit of relaxing and refreshments on a hot summer afternoon. Easily made "Peachy Punch" is a perfect thirst-quencher with its refreshing tang. It has a tea base with crushed canned cling peaches, grapefruit juice and cherry syrup for the delicious fruit flavor.

Peachy Punch

4 to 5 canned cling peach halves
½ cup grapefruit juice
⅜ cup strong tea
2 tablespoons maraschino cherry syrup
1 pint chilled sparkling water

Drain peaches and force through colander of sieve to make 1 cup puree. Add grapefruit juice, tea and cherry syrup. Chill. Add sparkling water just before serving.

Weekly Roundup From Busy Clean Blockers

Clean Blockers in the 200 Block of Beale Court are working very hard to win a flag this year. According to a report received from the captain, Dora Addison, "We have worked in the Clean Block Campaigns since 1947 and have never won a flag. This year, we are working harder than ever for that Star-Spangle Banner."

The Captain goes on to say, "that progress has been made in the general appearance of the court. All fences and door sills are painted. The steps are washed each morning, the brass has been cleaned, and the grass cut." Although some of the neighbors are not cooperating as they should the captain feels the block is still in the running. We wish them the best of luck.

Dallas St. Report

One of the most heartening letters of the week came from the supervisor of the 400 Block N. Dallas, Mrs. Myrtle P. Hill wrote a letter of praise about the captain of the block, Shirley Venable. "Along with her co-workers, the captain has painted all the lower bases and steps. They have seen to it that flowers and chairs have been put out by the residents of the block. Our captain is working continuously in her efforts to bring a big prize to our block. I think she and her workers deserve a lot of credit and praise."

It seems as if all the Clean Blockers are trying extra hard this year to carry off the top awards. We realize everyone cannot do this but the spirt the Clean Blockers are showing this year is hard to beat. Good luck to all of you in your efforts to make your paign.

First Aid for Clean Blockers

Lesson No. 2

In every home there should be a First Aid Kit, kept out of the child can get the things he should have and know how to use. Someone in every home should take a standard First Aid course so that all persons in the home could at least be taught to use the band aid for simple injuries, the compress for bleeding, and the ointment for burns.

If a child is hurt when he is away from home he can use the part of the handerchief that is folded inside and has not touched anything, to cover the bleeding part. Press down a bit and stop the bleeding.

If you think the bleeding has stopped, put a bandage over the compress and see a doctor. Do not move the compress. An illustration will be given in the use of the First Aid Kit.

8 Clean Block Projects Toured

The Baltimore housing projects McCulloh, Gilmor, Poe, Douglass and Somerset Homes got the inspector's eye this week. As a group there was a vast improvement, but much more is desired.

McCulloh Homes Tops

McCulloh Homes, however, are slightly in the lead. Nearly every court has freshly planted flowers, and great effort is being made to trim all hedges.

Trash is a rarity, even on Sunday when most clean blockers are "off duty." Children were noted playing quietly and clean in several blocks.

Blocks Beautiful

"Colorful beauty" describes Silver and May Courts in the Douglass Homes. Beauty was found throughout, but these courts were outstanding. One captain displayed his flag in the center of the court by means of a bird bath.

While there was evidence of work being done, Somerset Clean Blockers have along way to go. Evidently, EVERYBODY has not been doing his share.

Poe Homes

The general condition was good. No trash on street sides. Individual courts were not examined throughly on this trip.

Gilmor Homes

Clean Blockers have really put their shoulders to the wheel and come from way behind to make a good showing. Maybe their office slogan, "TEAM UP — CLEAN UP—GILMOR, is bearing fruit.
