Douglass Kings' Party Tops Week's Doings

With Lula Jones Garrett

On Saturday, Douglass and Vandola King had a grand party at their home in Annapolis.

There were cocktails in the King's cottage, after which the gang were served dinner in the cafeteria of the Bates High School, of which Mr. King is principal. Then back to the King home for the remainder of the evening.

The guests included:

Col. and Mrs. James Robinson, the Talmadge Hills, Edward Hurts, Mark Patterson, Elmer Patterson.

Dr. and Mrs. Virgil Cliff, Dr. and Mrs. Martin Jenkins, George Grant, Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis, Mrs. Thelma Bando, Mrs. Susie Clarke, Mrs. Ruth Johnson.

Dr. and Mrs. Ted Phifer, Mrs. Maurice Adams, Mrs. Mae Campbell, Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. John Berry, Md. and Mrs. T. Randolph Waters, Charles Fletcher, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cornish, all of Baltimore.

Dr. and Mrs. Purvis Williams of Washington, Mrs. Pauline Weeden and Mrs. Hortense Braswell of Lynchburg, Va., Mr. and Mrs. James Henderson of Durham, N.C., Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Hynson, Dr. and Mrs. L. A. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hardesty, and Mrs. Frank Butler, of Annapolis.

POT-POURRI

A couple of members of one of the town's clubs, together the other evening, got to wagering on an imminent merger between chic schoolmarm Iris Wicks Carpenter, and Lawrence Mapp . . . now that she has legally shed Harry Carpenter. I referred them to Iris, seen any day streaking through town in the Mapp Motor, chaperoned by the Mapp boxer, so she can straighten them out as she did when they began inviting her places, xans him, months back.

Another of the local matrons chose upsides, this week, and returned to single blessedness via the divorce route. Maxine Edemy (with sister-in-law Ella Edemy right at her elbow to back up her non-support charge) shed Norman Edemy. And again the tongues went into high gear anent a romance 'twix her and advertising executive Elson Higginbotham.

On the credit side of the marital ledger, Baltimore's Edna J. Johnson and New York's Ralph A. Accoo, attorney, have applied for a marriage license, here.

And now, changing the subject, slightly, 'twas Arnold Sales' (television) long yellow Cadillac which was transporting Whiholmina Berry, Bikini bathing suit and all (or less all) towards and about Sparrows Beach, Sunday.

PEREGRINATORS

Guesting with Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Alleyne, this week, were their brother and sister-in-law, the Jutlee Garths of Philadelphia.

Yvette Murphy journeyed West, last week, Kansas City being her destination.

Marie Murphy flew in Wednesday from a tour of the golf circuit. Fetched back a trophy from the Toledo tournament to add to three others she has taken this year. The 21-inch beauty was her prize as winner of the first flight in the Ohio city contest.

Indianapolis's Elizabeth Stanfield won the championship flight, garnering two trophies almost as high as she is. Ann Mahon, also of Indiana, was runner up; and Eulene Thornton, Los Angeles, was third in the championship flight.

Mrs. Murphy also played in the Joe Louis Tournament in Detroit and a tournament in Flint, Mich.

The Madison Avenue branch YMCA is losing two of its staff, this summer. Ethel Freeman, physical ed department, is joining Dr. Freeman in Virginia, and Rimila Holt plans to study next year.

Mrs. Mae Carter of New York City is spending her vacation with her mother, Mrs. Hattie Morris, and daughter, Marielyn Carter. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Ockimey and wife, Huey Molden, left Monday for Niagara, Toronto and Owen Sound in Canada. Plan to return via Detroit.

Carrie Scott was in New York for the week, having a gay time as guest of Thelma Jewett Taite. The two of them always celebrate their birthdays together.

Too, there was luncheon for her (Carrie) with Hilda Anthony Webster as hostess; a party on the birthday by Thelma and the Donald Furrs, and a dinner date with the Al Williamses.

Visiting the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cheeks, here, this week, are her sisters, Miss Helen Way of New York City, Mrs. Edith Andrews, and husband, Leroy, of Homer, N.Y.

Visiting the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cheeks, here, this wee, are her two sisters, Miss Helen Way of New York City and Mrs. Edith Andrews of Homer, N.Y.; Leroy Andrews, husband of Mrs. Andrews; and a cousin, Miss Audrey Morey of Brontford, Ontario, Canada.

Naomi Johnson leaves, Saturday, to join a group of friends for a tour of Canada.

Percy H. Lee, of Kansas City, Mo., for 16 years Kappa Alpha Psi provincial polemarch for the Western Province and recipient in 1950 of the Laurel Wreath, the fraternity's highest award, was a visitor in Baltimore this week.

He was accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Willa Weber Lee, supervisor in the State Department of Welfare in Kansas City, and a former schoolmate of Mrs. Vivienne Alleyne, who was their host.

The Lees are on an extensive motor tour of the East and South, having already visited in Chicago, Toledo, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Mc-Keesport, New York and Atlantic City. They plan to visit Washington, (where they will guest with Dr. and Mrs. Studd Green) Charleston (S.C.), Indianapolis and St. Louis before returning home.

Mr. Lee is a teacher of industrial arts in the R. T. Cole Vocational and Junior High School in Kansas City, recalled during his stop in Baltimore some of the horrors of the recent Kansas flood.

Interestingly, he pointed out that fire caused as much damage in industrial areas as the high water. This was the result of oil tank explosions. Rats fleeing the high water areas were also a great menace as they became viciously hungry and attacked children and adults alike.

Disease hazards, usually accompanying such holocausts also caused a great deal of concern as a diptheria epedimic spread.

He recalled individual hardships such as that affecting Mrs. George Bevers of the Golden State Life Insurance Company Los Angeles who was marooned in a small Kansas town for several weeks during the flood.

VITAL STATISTICS

The Harold (Fiozella) Clarks have a third daughter, whom they have named Harolyn Eleanor. She arrived at Johns Hopkins Hospital on the 27th, and was a big girl tipping the scales at 8 lbs. 5 oz. The other two Clark daughters, Maria, 7, and Veronica, 5, are anxiously waiting to welcome the baby home on Thursday, and grandmother, Mrs. B. B. Clark of Pulaski, Va. was also on hand to see her newest granddaughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stevens will call their new daughter Patricia Malvern. The baby arrived Thursday at Provident Hospital. Mrs. Stevens is the former Rosalind Furlange, formerly of the Morgan State College faculty, and Mr. Stevens on the staff of the Maryland School of Building Trades.

Last week when Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Monroe celebrated a 20th wedding anniversary, while Bertie extolled him as a husband, Catherine Adams wanted to award him a "purple heart." He just smiled through all the enjoining.

Kappa Chapter, Iota Phi Lambda Sorority, initiated five new members on Saturday night. Initiation was held at the Cortez W. Peters Business School. The following persons were initiated: Messrs Mildred Ayres, Mary Brittain, Helene Sellers Gwynn, Odessa Howard, and Blanche W. Pettiford.

After the initiation ceremony, which was very colorful, the group went to Catonsville to the home of Mrs. Byrd for a very delicious banquet. At that time Soror Anna Steen, National Dean of Pledgees, from Washington, D.C. made a short speech to the group.

Those attending were Sotors Emma Hilton, Pearl Bond, Frances Morris, Ida Newton, Bernice Garlington, Margaret Johnson, Blanche Banks, Fannie Poulson, Evelyne D. Wilkey, Gladys Palmer, Jessie Nicholson, Mable C. Waters, Hazel Gardner, Marie Lewis, Josephine E. Wallace and Vivian Young.

Prince Hall Masons Stage Annual Picnic

Numbers Writer Who Talked, Free

A convicted numbers writer who turned State's evidence on his backer was freed on his sentence this morning (Friday).

Judge Joseph Sherbow suspended the balance of the term he had given to Harry Borzymowski who had been serving to six months and fined $500. Borzymowski, while in jail, was instrumental in the arrest of Joseph Comi, who coin machine dealer who was arrested and sentenced to 18 months and fined $1000 for numbers.

Judge Sherbow said, in releasing Borzymowski: "The small fry seem to be getting tired of serving prison sentences while the backers are free."

Housing Shortage Slows Slum Fight

GREENSBORO, N.C. — A shortage of housing for colored dwellers prevents the speedy removal of substandard houses, Hugh L. Medford, director of public works, said Tuesday.

Medford said the city is making progress in removing inadequate housing, but stated that there are not yet enough facilities to care for all the needs of the community.

Project Will Help Some

Occupants of condemned structures are given 30 days to vacate and frequently a second notice is given. Such action may be appealed to the City Housing Commission. The housing problem is expected to be alleviated, but not removed by the housing project here.

Del. State Termed Political 'Football'

BY BOSCOE COLEMAN

DOVER, DELAWARE

The "firing" of Dr. Oscar J. Chapman as president of Delaware State College, the second over a two-year period, revives the institution's long and turbulent battle for survival.

At the continuous mercy of the State Legislature composed largely of farmers and non-too-sympathetic white citizens, the school has been used as a political football for more than a half century.

Founded in 1891 as a Land Grant College the institution has had five presidents:

Wesley Webb, white, (1894-95), William C. Jason (1895-1923), Richard G. Grossley (1923-42), Howard D. Gregg (1942-49), and Dr. Chapman (1950-51).

Two of the six board members are colored. Such appointments generally are considered political plums for graduates, former students and loyal party workers. The late Dr. William W. M. Henry and J. B. Aikens alternated as members over a period of years. Both were residents of Dover.

Mr. Aikens, the school's first graduate, is employed there at present as farm superintendent.

Recently the board post has been held by Clarence Polk and Bernard Young, present encumbent, both of Milford.

The other member, usually a resident of Wilmington, is Mrs. Beatrice Berryman, lone Republican. A holdover from the previous regime, she is serving her second term.

Ups and Downs

The school's progress has been tied to previous conditions. No radical changes have been made in attitudes during the past 30 years, After the DuPonts

Prior to the DuPonts' interest in schools for the state, only monies collected from colored citizens in taxes went toward their public education. There were few property owners.

DuPonts' first schools were built for colored communities inspired by an annual report published by State Superintendent of Education Spaeth which showed that colored teachers throughout the state had higher qualifications than the whites.

This report revolutionized education in general for the whites and at the same time helped to improve conditions for the colored on the elementary level.

ROMANIA—The club met with Mrs. Annie Jones, 624 Gold St., this week, and combined plans for their August excursion to Atlantic City.

Refreshments at polena went to Mrs. Mary Brown, first; Mrs. Florence Doughty, second; and Mrs. Rosevelt Anna Tyree, booby.

Dr. Daniel to Speak at Morgan

Dr. Robert P. Daniel, president of Virginia State College, will deliver the principal address, Sunday, at the commencement exercises of the summer session, Morgan State College. The program will be held at 6 p.m. on the lawn of Morgan's Christian Center.

Some 58 students will be graduated, making this commencement the second largest in the history of the college. Some 600 have been graduated at completion of the 1949 summer session.

Dean George C. Grant, director of the summer session, will preside at the exercises. Rev. Edward N. Wilson, college registrar, will be Chief Marshal.

The Rev. Howard L. Cornish, director of Morgan's Christian Center, will deliver the invocation, and pronounce the benediction. The summer school chorus, under direction of J. O. B. Mosely, will provide music for the program.

In case of rain the exercises will be held in the auditorium of the Christian Center.

The following students will receive their degrees:

Bachelor of Ar
