Joe Louis Outpoints Bivins In Baltimore Bout

All Stars Rally, Knock Athletes From 122 Lead

Coming from behind to score 7 runs in the last two innings, Shobe's All Stars defeated the Athletics, 7 to 5, to knock them out of first place in the P.S. No. 132 Unlimited League.

With one remaining game on their schedule, the Athletics must defeat the N.W. Stars to wind up with a tie for the second half championship.

Behind the stellar pitching of Johnny Sheppard, the Athletes romped to a 5 to 6 lead in the first 4 innings only to have the mooning bats of the Stars catch up to him in the fifth inning to score 5 runs and tie the contest. In the next inning, Barber, batting for Pate, flied to short. Capt. Moore drew a walk but was out when Chambers's screaming single over second struck him on the fist.

Payne drew a base on balls and Howard Williams shot a double to right center to score 2 runs.

First Interrace Meet Saturday

AFRO Medals To Go to Druid Hill Victors

The first interracial track meet in Druid Hill Park, will be held Saturday, under the sponsorship of the Baltimore Olympic Club.

Scheduled to begin at 2 p.m., the meet will host a galaxy of track stars, including George Rhoden, Morgan College ace and holder of the world's record for 400 meters.

AFRO, Urban League Medals

The Baltimore Urban League and the AFRO-AMERICAN are donating medals to the winners in the seven events, which are, the 100-yard dash, 300 and 600-yard runs, mile relay, and broad jump, all men's events; and the 75-yard dash and broad jump for girls.

In addition to the heralded Rhoden, other stars participating include Sam LaBeach, June graduate of Morgan and Rhoden's former teammate on the college's great relay team; Henry Schaffer, South Atlantic two-mile champ, Shaw Beckett, former Syracuse University track flash, Mort Cohen, South Atlantic high and low hurdles champ, all running for the Baltimore Olympic Club.

James Griffin, South Atlantic 880-yard titlist, Chick Webb Center John Carroll, Harry Brass, John Tunberg, John Voight, Tyson Cramer and Dick Leek.

Misses Constance Stanley and Kay Queen of the Cloverdale Playground, lead the woman stars. Approximately 50 persons are expected to compete.

Instead of regular track officials, outstanding trackmen will judge the contests.

The Baltimore Olympic Club numbers membership over 100. William Jimeson is president.

Sets Precedent

The interracial meet marks the first activity of its kind in Druid Park, despite pressure of citizens on the Park Board to open facilities to all. Recently, the board approved mixed tennis in the park with certain stipulations attached.

Louis Shell of Old Self, Beats Bivins

In all fairness to Bivins, he too has deteriorated. He has none of the equipment which skyrocketed him to the top of the ladder among wartime heavyweights. For the most part of his go with the Bomber, therefore, Jimmy seemed beat even on piling the distance than on winning the decision.

Judging from his tenth round stand with the once - great champion, it would appear that Bivins overdid the job of pacing himself. In that final stanza, the Cleveland er stood toe to toe and slugged with Joe. So well did he handle the task in fact, it would have been difficult to call the winner of the round had not referee Eddie Leonard penalized Louis for hitting low.

AFRO Scores 7-3-1

After Leonard had deprived the bomber of this heat, he tallied the bout, 7-3, in Louis's favor. Judges Lee Halfpenny and Bill Ellis saw it in like fashion, 6-3-1 for Joe.

The AFRO score - card held the first round at even and gave Louis all the others except the sixth and tenth. It therefore had Louis in front, 72-1.

The fight opened with very little action. Bivins spent the first round flicking a light left and back-pedaling. Joe was slow to warm up, landed no telling blows. The AFRO tabbed it an even round.

In the second, the Bomber began the relentless stalking that was to be a mark of the bout the rest of the way. Bringing his left jab in to play, Louis chased his opponent from ringpost to ringpost, but couldn't corner him. It was Louis's round.

Sticks Retreat Methodical

The third and fourth stanzas were cut from the same pattern as the second. Louis continued boring in, Jimmy kept up his steady, methodical retreat. Once in the third, Bivins employed the side-step and dance of Jersey Joe Walcott, and the action obviously riled Louis. He cuffed Jimmy with a pair of swift left hooks and brought up a good left to the body in close. Bivins, going from Walcott to Max Schmeling, brought back memories of Joe's first fight with, and knockout at the hands of, the German by shooting across several overhand rights. The rally was mild, however, so both rounds were scored for Joe.

The fifth and sixth were spent with Joe still stalking his foe, trying unsuccessfully to cage him in a corner. The Bomber continued use of his stiffening left jab, while Bivins was still bicycling and flicking his own left more as a nuisance than as a weapon. The referee twice in each round warned Jimmy to keep his gloves closed. These also were scored as Joe's rounds.

Eighth Joe's Best

Although Bivins landed two good right hands in the seventh, Louis held the upper hand by virtue of the constant sharpshooting of his left jab. Several times when the Bomber came over with his right cross, Bivins dropped his hands and bent forward as though planning to cushion a fall he thought was coming but didn't.

The eighth was Joe's best round. Suddenly shifting his attack to the body, the Bomber had his opponent double with a right uppercut to the midsection. It was here that it became apparent Louis lacked his old power. With three clear shots to the body and another to the chin, he had Bivins ready for cropping. But that was as far as he got.

Jimmy warmed up to his task in the ninth, abandoned the caution that had influenced his early fighting. He began countering with the overhand right each time Joe shot his left jab, and the strategy worked in that it reduced the Bomber's effectiveness. This was Jimmy's round.

Tenth Draws Cheers

The tenth, though, coached more action than all the rest of the fight that had gone before. Referee Leonard warned Louis early about the low punch and Joe realized he needed at least a knockdown to save himself loss of the round.

Bivins, on the other hand, was well aware that he was behind on points. And having come to learn also that Joe had no power for him to fear, Jimmy elected to mix in the hope that victory might develop from a last-ditch stand.

The result was that a pier - glass brawl crowded itself into this final stanza, and the fans loved it. It might be ventured that not one person among the 6,000 or more ringside spectators remained seated during these torrid three minutes of battling. And when the bell sounded ending hostilities, a roar went up from the throng in approval.

Joe Blames Light Weight

Joe weighed 203½ pounds, lighter than he has been at any time since his 1941 title defense against Lou Nova. Bivins tipped the beams at 190¼ pounds.

Louis, who had told the AFRO he intended to do "about 210" for the match, said after the victory he felt the light weight had weakened him.

The 18,215 paid customers contributed a gross gate of $75,217, of which a net of $57,782.45 was realized. Of this, Joe received 42½ per cent.

The Variety Club and the Squires, Atc., shared the promotion.

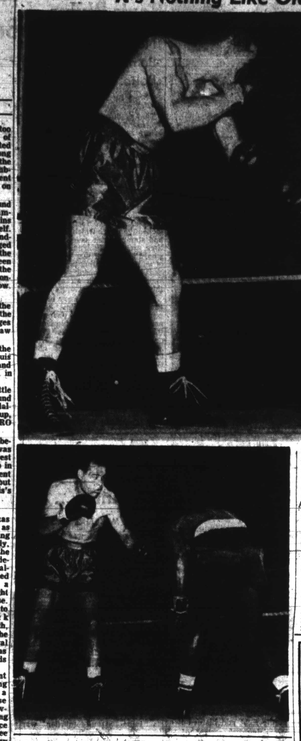
Bears Get Cotton Bowl Game Bid

Morgan State College's football team was this week invited to be one of the opponents in a charity Cotton Bowl at Dallas, Texas, some time between August 28 and September 17.

Coach Edward P. Hurt declared that since CIAA conference regulations prevent practice before September 1, it is unlikely that the could field a team so early in the season.

Even if this hurdle can be overcome, he made it clear that acceptance of the offer would also depend upon the financial inducement which, as late as Saturday had not been clearly outlined.

It's Nothing Like Old Times



There was the time that Jimmy Bivins, shown here in his best with Joe Louis at Baltimore Wednesday, would have wound up sitting in the second row ringside, after antics like these. Above, Bivins is wide open for a righhand chop or cross from the ex-Bomber. But while Louis saw the opening he reached too slowly to take advantage of it. In lower picture, AFRO photographer, I. Henry Phillips, catch Jimmy bending over after a light tap from Joe. It was on occasions like this that Bivins appeared ready to keel over and was surprised when he didn't. But Louis was slow, had no steam, a mere shadow of his former self. He won the nod before 18,215 paid customers.

Crown Cork, Mohawks Clash in State Softy Tourney

W. Balto. Champs Need Only One Win

Crownsmen Must Beat Rivals Twice; Junior Leaguers Ready

After dropping a 4-0 decision to Burt's Mohawks Sunday for its first loss in the State Softball tournament, Crown Cork and Seal rumbled Tuesday evening at Easterwood Park and eliminated the game, young Northwestern Stars, 10-1.

Charley Downs's Sealers thus lined themselves up for the big stakes Sunday at 1 p.m., in Easterwood Park with the Mohawks, twice to take the State championship.

Poppy Brooks's West Baltimore League champions, though, have a definite edge, since one victory over Crown still give them the title.

Strategy Works

Brooks, playing a hunch last Sunday, surprised Crown and everyone else in the park by starting Vernon Cuff, utility infielder and spot pitcher, who had pitched only one league game previously this season. Cuff arose to the occasion with a sparkling 2-hit shut-out.

The Mohawks and Crown are secretive about their selections in this Sunday's play-off game. Both have three good choices. The Mohawks can pick from Cuff, Clarence Brooks or ace Pat Robinson. Crown may choose from Lawrence Ellis, Big Sid Long and Tom Gardner.

Gardner Baffles Stars

Tom Gardner kept the Northwestern Stars completely baffled Tuesday as his mates capitalized on every Star lapse to romp 10-1. The Stars had pulled the big upset of the tourney when it eliminated Building Trade School's powerhouse 7-3.

If Crown Cork and Seal wins Sunday to tie up tournament standings, the championship game will be held Tuesday, August 21st at Easterwood Park.

Juniors on Edge

Junior Softball League champions drew Monday for its city championship double elimination tournament. The first round was scheduled for Wednesday.

The Golden Hawks from the Cherry Hill Junior League drew Taylor Junior League champion Wizard A.C. and Easterwood Junior League's Dodgers A.C. drew the Bluejays of the South Baltimore Junior League. The Wizard A.C. goes into the tournament with the best regular season record. They are undefeated in eight league contests. The Dodgers won 10 and lost one, the Bluejays are 8 and 1, and the Golden Hawks 7 and 2.

Losers of first round games are slated to play each other today (Friday)/at Easterwood. Wednesday's winners play Monday at 6:15 p.m. at Easterwood. Other games are slated for Wednesday, August 22, and finals will be played Sunday, August 26 also at Easterwood.

Walcott Hickok Award Winner

NEW YORK — Jersey Joe Walcott won the Hickok Award as pro athlete of the month in July for his stunning upset of Ezzard Charles. The 37-year-old heavyweight champion had a wide margin over Randy Turpin, who dethroned Sugar Ray Robinson at London.

Others receiving votes were Clyde Vollmer, Boston Red Sox; Bobby Feller, Cleveland; Allie Reynolds and Johnny Mize, New York Yankees, golfer Sam Snead and heavyweight Rocky Marciano.

Ex-Grays' Hurler Signed for Tryout with Braves

Conrad Deskins, 19-year-old ex-Homestead Grays' hurler, has been signed to report to the Evelon Braves's Spring training camp, March 15, for a tryout, it was learned on Wednesday.

The Braves's Scout John D. Russell, here for the recent Baseball Talent Hunt at Griffith Stadium, signed the Arlington, Va., athlete. No bonus was involved, it was learned.

Deskins, son of Stanley M. Deskins of 5000 22nd St., North Arlington, played outfield and pitched for the touring Grays last year. Currently, he is playing for the Virginia White Sox.

He is 6 feet, and weighs 180 pounds. He bats and throws from the right side.

Deskins thus becomes the fourth area lad signed this season by a Major League Club. Others were Maurice (Sonny) Wills now a second baseman with Brooklyn's Hornell (N.Y.) Dodgers in the Pony League; Robert (Chicken) Long, a pitcher with Butler in the Middle Atlantic League, a farm team of Pittsburgh, and Vincent Woy, who was signed by the St. Louis Browns to their farm system.—BY FRED LEIGH

Jackie Under Knife

NEW YORK—Brooklyn Dodger second baseman Jackie Robinson underwent a minor operation Friday morning and was required to miss all the week end games in which the National League's top 1 club engaged.

Robinson had an unimportant but painful rectum operation performed by Dr. Charles Jones, a specialist called in by Brooklyn club physician Alfred Rossi. Removed was a slight growth which neither would say had reached hemoroid proportions.

The Dodger star attended the Saturday double-header with the Boston Braves but did not remain through the entire afternoon. He was expected to return to action in time for the series with the New York Giants, which began Tuesday.
