COOKING FUN

With fresh tomato time here we cannot pass the opportunity of combining this wonderful fruit with rice! For rice is delicious served in many tasty combinations. Indeed, so many rice dishes call for tomatoes that it is almost impossible to choose the best!

Whole tomatoes baked in a bed of fluffy white rice seasoned with sharp cheese, onions and green peppers . . . and topped with sour cream makes a meal your family won't forget. A dish we call RICE MEAL IN A DISH . . . and it's just that. If you prepare the ingredients before you leave the house in the morning, it will take little time to bake it when you come home from the party or swim . . . and you are assured of a tasty, sturdy piece de resistance.

We highly recommend Rice Meal in a Dish. It will even go on a picnic with careful handling and packing! It may be baked in one large casserole or in individual baking dishes . . . each small dish containing one tomato and lots of the delicious rice mixture.

INGREDIENTS

6 good sized fresh ripe tomatoes (peeled, steamed and filled with cooked rice)
4 medium sized onions, sliced thin
1 green pepper, minced
4 cups freshly cooked rice, slightly salted
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1½ cups grated cheese
2 teaspoons brown sugar
Salt and pepper
1 cup sour cream
2 eggs, well beaten
Paprika (a little)

CARROT RECIPE

Crisp golden raw carrots are almost as universal with us as green beans. Well-known Mrs. Lucille Long, 623 W. Columbia Avenue, Philadelphia, is an interior decorator and painter in her spare time. She says: "Once you compare Carnation with ordinary evaporated milks—I predict you'll change to Carnation once and for all. You just can't beat it for rich, creamy flavor."

There may be two coffees equally popular with women. Maybe two different soaps. But when it comes to evaporated milk, there's only one favorite—Carnation.

So why accept a substitute? Why buy any brand except the leader? Start using Carnation—today.

When it comes to making salads. We cut them into sticks for a finger salad, into paper thin rounds for tossed chef's salad and for a molded salad we grate them coarsely. This tasty "Golden Salad" combines them with thinly sliced sweet pickle in a luscious apricot whole fruit nectar gelatin mold.

Golden Salad

1½ cups apricot whole fruit nectar
½ teaspoon salt
1 envelope (1 teaspoon) plain gelatin
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons thinly sliced sweet pickle
Salad greens
Creamy salad dressing

Heat nectar with salt. Soften gelatine in lemon juice and dissolve in hot nectar. Cool until slightly thickened. Fold in carrot and pickle. Turn into molds and chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens and serve with creamy salad dressing.

Beets and Honey

Beets are among the vegetables due to be plentiful on September markets, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Many people like beets with a sweet-sour sauce. Here is a recipe for beets in honey sauce which provides four servings:

INGREDIENTS:

1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon water (or beet juice)
2 tablespoons vinegar
¼ cup honey
1 tablespoon table fat
2 cups diced or sliced beets, cooked or canned

TO MAKE:

Mix the cornstarch and salt. Blend in the water (or the juice from canned beets). Add vinegar, honey and fat. Cook slowly, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Add sauce to beets. Let stand at least 10 minutes to blend flavors. Reheat.

MAKE CLEAN START TO ROLL-ON PAINT

Painting with roller coaters is easy and fun—the more so if your coater covers are well cared for.

Drink a brand new cover in warm soapsuds and rinse well to remove all lint and dust. Make sure it is thoroughly dry before you start painting, unless you're using a water mix. In that case, keep the cover damp.

Clean it thoroughly after painting. Work out all the paint by shaking up the cover in a jar of thinner, then rolling on newspapers to remove the liquid. The cover should then be washed in warm suds and allowed to dry.

Use carbon tetrachloride to remove ink stains made by ballpoint pens. Follow this by immediate washing with soap and water.

For That Homespun Dinner

There are a lot of good reasons for liking Saturday. One of the best is a Saturday night supper of old-fashioned Brown Bread and baked beans.

Molasses is the sweetening for dark, rich-tasting Brown Bread made with enriched flour. Therein lies a nutrition story, for both enriched flour and molasses carry a generous quota of food iron. Enriched flour also contributes protein and three B-vitamins. A thrift story is there, too, for molasses breads are our most economical source of these important nutrients.

Recipes for Boston Brown Bread haven't changed much over the past hundred years. However, great grandmother always steamed her Brown Bread for hours. Today's homemaker sets her tightly covered cans of Brown Bread on a rack in a kettle of boiling water, steams it for 90 minutes and calls it done.

One can always buy Brown Bread from the baker or grocer. Sometimes chopped nuts and chopped raisins or dates are added in the making, as in this recipe, to obtain a richer bread. This richer Brown Bread is delicious with fruit salad plates, or spread with butter and honey for tea.

BOSTON BROWN BREAD

2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 cup corn meal
2 teaspoons soda
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup chopped dates or raisins
¼ cup chopped nuts
¾ cup molasses
2 cups sour milk

Sift together flour, corn meal, soda and salt. Add fruit and nuts. Add molasses and milk and blend. Fill greased pound size molds or baking powder cans 2/3 full. Cover tightly and steam 1½ hours. Makes 2 1-pound loaves.

Time for School Lunches

School days are here again. This means a good-hearty breakfast and a well-stocked lunch box. Growing children require a well-balanced breakfast, including an egg and a varied, tempting, and complete lunch if best results are to be obtained in scholastic standing, as well as in growth.

Most fruits now are in plentiful supply and many are very suitable for the lunch box. Peaches are very reasonable in cost and of exceptional quality. Apples, pears, and grapes, too, are in liberal supply and low in cost. A tomato also may be included in the lunch box but for small children, may be too juicy unless proper caution is exercised.

As to other best buys this week, one should include lettuce, snap beans, celery, potatoes, and peppers. Iceberg lettuce is slightly easier in price this week. New York celery is now in liberal supply and lower in cost, supplies are also arriving from New Jersey and California.

Small size eggs are economically priced.

WASHABLE PUFF MAKES ITS BOW

For women who'd rather chuck soiled powder puffs away than clean 'em, there's a new puff on the market that's 100 percent washable. The reason: it's padded with a foam rubber sponge, instead of wadding which crumbles into a ball in water.

This "Spongee" dries quickly and keeps its shape without kneading. Rub it gently with your hands in warm water, rinse, then press out excess water between your palms. When dry, you just brush up the nap of the puff's velour casing before dipping it into the powder box.

A small silk scarf wrapped around the neck and tied cowboy style is pretty—and practical. It protects the neckline from perspiration and make-up stains and is easily washed. Squeeze it through warm soapsuds quickly. Rinse well and blot in a towel. Drape one end over a hanger, and let the rest hang free. This prevents the fabric from "clinging" and colors from running together. When nearly dry, press with a warm iron.

Do you know that long soaking defeats your purpose of washing clothes really clean? Hot water opens up the fabric mesh; this allows soapsuds to circulate and loosen clinging dirt and helps the soap to emulsify oil and grease.

If soaking continues more than 15 or 20 minutes, the water grows cold. This allows the dirt to sink back into the fibers as they tighten up again and hinders the cleansing action of the soap.

Paint spattered on kitchen appliances — ranges, refrigerators, automatic dish washers, and washing machines — can be removed with a cloth soaked in turpentine. This will not harm the finish, since most appliance enamels nowadays are of a synthetic type which is not soluble in turpentine. After removing the paint spots, wash the turpentine off with soap and water so it will not form a sticky base to catch dust.

Modern glassware depends for its beauty on simple shapes and lines, as in the salad and dessert bowls and slim candlesticks now shown. Keep this type of glassware absolutely dust and lintfree in order to bring out its loveliest luster. Wash in fresh warm soapsuds, rinse, and shine it with a lintless towel. Old linen is best.

If miller moths swarm over your porch in the evening, here's how to "clip their wings." Place a pan of soap and water under porch lights. A miller that's wet can't lift a wing and, once doused, is completely done in.

Sunflower Salad O'Tuna

Secret of the popularity of this late summer favorite is the ease with which it can be prepared. It's loaded with energy, too, for the young, tender tuna is rich with protein and other food values. Budget-conscious housewives will like it, because tuna is easy on the pocketbook. There's no waste—a-tin o'tuna, and you'll find added zest by combining the oil from the tuna with the salad dressing.

You'll need:

2 heads romaine lettuce
3 tomatoes
1 medium-sized onion
2 tins o'tuna
6 hard boiled eggs
French dressing
Salt for garnish—Radishes, celery and carrots

Chill romaine. Reserve 6 leaves. Cut tomatoes in six to eight pieces. Slice onion and separate into rings. Break 1 tin o'tuna into pieces. Tear romaine into bite size pieces. Add cut tomatoes, onion rings, tuna and three sliced boiled eggs. Toss with French dressing. Place reserved romaine leaves petal-fashion on salad plate. Pile tossed salad in center. Garnish. Cut remaining tuna in six pieces and place with garnishes. Makes 6 servings.

MUFFINS WITH RAISINS

A few plumped seedless raisins added to the batter of your favorite muffins will make them taste even better. Bake in small muffin cups. The minute the muffins come from the oven, roll them quickly in melted butter and then in a sugar cinnamon mixture.

COFFEE BAGS NOW

Coffee is coming to the markets in individual coffee bags these days. You use them the same as tea bags—place one in a cup of boiling water, press it with a spoon and allow to steep 3 minutes.

A famous New York hair consultant advises women clients to shampoo their hair every day; if at all possible. Since the scalp is skin, it must be kept just as clean as other body skin.

Denim table napkins come in pastels and dark shades. Colorfast, they go right into the washer and can be ironed faster than linen.

EASY IRONING FOR PUFFED SLEEVES

An ingenious housewife passes along this idea for ironing puffed sleeves in little girls' dresses. She sets a small upright lamp on the ironing board and turns on the light.

After pressing the rest of the dress, she pulls each sleeve over the lamp and slides it up and down until it's ironed smooth—without usual center crease.

It takes so little practice to make a small dress look "good as new" that you won't ever let your daughter wear a dress that needs ironing.

When it rains it pours.
