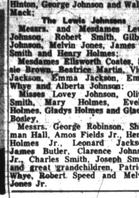
Aids Provident Hospital



MISS MARION SELBY

Tonight at 1528 Division Street, the Student Nurses of Provident Hospital hold a grand Variety Show and Card Party to help the Providents emergency appeal for funds. Included in the program is an informal Fashion Show of HENDIN'S exciting Hollywood Cosm. Suits and Dresses for Fall and Winter — which will be worn by Marian Selby and other lovely models.

HENDIN'S is proud to number among its regular patrons, many members of the nursing profession! And speaking of nursing, did you know that Provident Hospital is only one of two hospitals in Maryland—where a Negro young lady may qualify as a registered nurse?

Provident Hospital was founded way back in 1894 — and now it serves one fifth of Baltimore's population. Rich and poor are treated alike at Provident — and the hospital is doing a magnificent job for the sick and helpless.

Won't YOU give to the Provident's Emergency Appeal for funds? Give TODAY — as much as you can.

Home Wedding For Secretary

Miss Louise Johnson, AFRO secretary and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowenthal Johnson, became the bride of James Benjamin Cook at her home, 622 N. Wolfe St., on Sept. 1.

The Rev. Wilbur H. Waters, pastor of Emmanuel Christian Church, officiated. Vows were spoken before a background of candelabras and palms and white gladiolas.

Mrs. Blanche Pettiford, pianist, and Miss Josephine Wallace, soloist, presented the program of music.

Wore Marquisette

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a marquisette gown trimmed with chantilly lace. Her headdress was of chantilly lace with a fingertip veil of imported English illusion. She carried a white prayer book.

Mrs. Fulmie Elzie, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a powder blue gown with matching picture hat and carried a bouquet of pink roses with an orchid center. Clarence Dyson was best man.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Cook. A reception followed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. James Benjamin Cook were wed in an impressive home ceremony last week. She is the former Miss Louise Johnson, AFRO secretary.

Soldier Weds Morgan Coed

Miss Lillie May Walker of Catonsville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Walker, and Abron Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. St. Clair Mitchell and formerly of Louisiana, were married recently on the lawn of her parents' home.

Wearing an ankle length dress of white silk organdy over satin, the bodice of chantilly lace over nylon, and a matching fingertip veil, the bride was given in marriage by her father. She carried a white satin pillow adorned with a small old-fashioned bouquet.

Student at Morgan

Miss Shallie Barrett, who served as maid of honor, was gowned in ankle length frock of blush pink organdy and carried an old fashioned bouquet. Best man was William Stewart, brother-in-law of the bride.

Mrs. Mitchell is a student at Morgan State College while Mr. Mitchell is stationed at Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md.

Clerk Examination Slated for Sept. 7

The seventh test for clerks in the Federal service will be given on Friday, Sept. 7, to about 1500 applicants.

The examinations are to be taken in Temporary Building B and in the Alexandria, Va., Post Office.

Meanwhile, notices of rating have been mailed to 3,621 residents of Washington area vicinity who took the sixth examination on Aug. 18.

A total of 890 passed and have been added to the clerk register. Of those who passed, 192 were veterans and 38a women. A total of 2,691 failed.

Civil Service is still taking applications for clerk examinations until further notice. Successful candidates will be hired in GS-1 through GS-4 categories.

Couple Take Wedding Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wilson, Jr., were recently married in Baltimore by the Rev. Wilbur Waters of Emanuel Christian Church. The bride is the former Miss Mary Louise Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Williams, Baltimore. Mr. Wilson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wilson Sr., Baltimore.

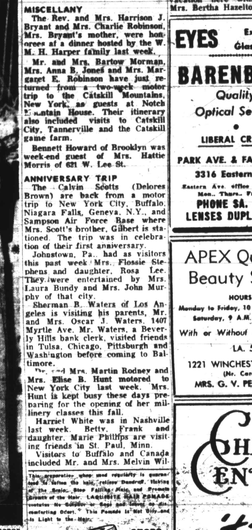
Good Tips

By KAY VAUGHAN

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE — You better pack 'em away 'til next summer for there is nothing you'll freeze to more than a spring gown this winter. They're worse than the cotton batiste gowns (hand embroidered from Puerta Rico)—which sold so well this summer. Nylon, besides being flimsy material, carries no warmth whatsoever, though it's most glamourous and appealing to the opposite sex. So, girls, better get out those warm flannels—for the cold winter coming.

FOR THE PLUMP GIRL—"The Longer The Belt Line the Shorter The Life Line" is the apt slogan of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in their campaign to get overweight people to reduce because of health hazards. The first step to solve the problem of overweight is to find out why you can't resist eating more than you should, they say. "Could it be boredom, because you have too much time on your hands? Or irritation because you are tied down? Is it because of long standing family eating habits? Is it because you turn to eating because something upsets you? Do you go out a great deal and feel that you must eat and drink what is offered?" If you can answer this question, you can cut down on your eating and health hazards which plague overweight people.

Monroe-Maultsby Nuptials



Mr. and Mrs. Warren Monroe were married Sept. 1 by the Rev. Simon Williamson at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ezekial Langley, 1634 E. Preston St. Bride is the former Virginia Maultsby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Maultsby. Maid of honor was Miss Pauline Wooten and Mr. Langley was best man. The newlyweds are both natives of Bladensburg N.C. — Farmer Photo.

Miss Nelson Is Bride of J. J. Gray

Miss Frances A. Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynwood Nelson Sr., and Isaiah J. Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah W. Gray of Alexandria, Va., were married Aug. 25 at the bride's home, 224 S. West St., Alexandria.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white ballerina length gown of tulle and satin and a matching jewel cap. The gown was designed by Miss Naomi Gray, sister of the bridegroom.

Cousin Best Man

Carrying a nosegay of roses, the bride was attended by Miss Virginia C. White of Alexandria. Her attendant wore a pink ballerina length gown of tulle and satin and a matching jewel cap. She carried a nosegay of pink roses.

Donald Jasper of Miami, Fla., cousin of the bridegroom, was best man.

Serving as hostesses for the reception were:

Mesdames Esther Torres of Detroit, Celestine Hill of Richmond, Kattie Skinner, Edna Taylor, Carrie Poindexter and Miss Doris Nelson, all of Alexandria and all sisters of the bride;

Brooklyn Hostess

Mesdames Madge Griffith, Brooklyn; Marcell Moon, Sylvia Button, Wilma Triplett and Misses Juanita Gray, Naomi Gray, and Jean Gray, all sisters of the bridegroom; Mesdames Adele Nelson, Vivian Nelson, Louis Nelson, Zenobia Burke, Eloise Burgess and Mrs. Carrie Barno of Alexandria, and Misses Maggie B. Speller and Ida Mae Barno.

Out-of-town guests included Misses and Mesdames A. Torres Detroit; James Hill and Herman Hill, Richmond; Parish Alexander, George Lawrence and Walter Dixon.

Marriages Fill Agenda as Summer Season Ends

With Lula Jones Garrett

By ODESSA WILSON

(Substituting for Mrs. Garret who is on vacation.)

"Marriage is popular because it combines the maximum of temptation with the maximum of opportunity," or so said Bernard Shaw.

All we know is that a heap of people are being led to the altar and that there must be some reason for its popularity.

Elson Higginbotham and Maxine Edemy slipped away last week end and tied the knot. He's advertising director at the AFRO. Week before that, Elias Higginbotham and Mickey Robinson Jr., paper company salesman, became one. She's on the teaching staff at Dunbar High School.

MISS CRAIG WED

Sara White Craig, Princeton, N.J., modiste, and John C. Harris Jr., Atlanta insurance and realtor agent, chose this city as their wedding place. The Rev. Reginald Daniel, pastor of Madison Street Presbyterian Church, performed the ceremony Thursday night, 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Hall.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Melchor, Miss Caig wore a yellow off-shoulder frock of French lace with a matching jacket and headpiece. She carried an orchid bouquet. Mrs. Philathea C. Hall was attendant. Cole Bennie Raidolph was ringbearer while John M. Hall was best man.

Newlywed Gladys Boyd Higginbotham of Worcester, Mass., and her spouse, Forrest, are settling here and she "just loves it." He's on the AFRO's bookkeeping staff.

Came Labor Day and the Dorsey family—72 of 'em—gathered at Sykesville, Md., for their second annual family reunion. The day of merriment was marked by games and an old-time dinner.

George P. Dawson, 3rd arrived on Aug. 30, but his dad, 1st Lt. Dawson, won't be able to see him until he gets back from Korea. Mom is the former Sarah Allen.

MISCELLANY

The Rev. and Mrs. Harrison J. Bryant and Mrs. Charlie Robinson, Mrs. Bryant's mother, were honorees at a dinner hosted by the W. H. Harper family last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Barlow Morman, Mrs. Anna B. Jones and Mrs. Margaret E. Robinson have just returned from a two-week motor trip to the Catskill Mountains, New York. Guests at Notch Mountain House. Their itinerary also included visits to Catskill City, Tannerville and the Catskill game farm.

Bennett Howard of Brooklyn was week-end guest of Mrs. Hattie Morris of 621 W. Lee St.

ANNIVERSARY TRIP

The Calvin Scotts (Delores Brown) are back from a motor trip to New York City, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Geneva, N.Y., and Sampson Air Force Base where Mrs. Scott's brother, Gilbert is stationed. The trip was in celebration of their first anaversary.

Johnstown, Pa., had as visitors this past week Mrs. Flossie Stephens and daughter, Rosa Lee. They were entertained by Mrs. Laura Bundy and Mrs. John Murphy of that city.

Sherman B. Waters of Los Angeles is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar J. Waters, 1407 Myrtle Ave. Mr. Waters, a Beverly Hills bank clerk, visited friends in Tulsa, Chicago, Pittsburgh and Washington before coming to Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Rodney and Mrs. Elise B. Hunt motored to New York City last week. Mrs. Hunt is kept busy these days preparing for the opening of her millinery classes this fall.

Harriet White was in Nashville last week. Betty, Frank and daughter, Marie Phillips are visiting friends in St. Paul, Minn.

Visitors to Buffalo and Canada included Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Wi-son of 1040 Durham St. and Mrs. Gertrude Burton. Mrs. Dorsey Lee is just back from the same place.

Mrs. Glynnis K. Hill tells us about the wonderful week she spent in Canada and Buffalo as house guest of Mrs. Lillie Archer Williams, former Baltimoreian. During her stay she was feted at a buffet dinner by Mrs. John Hall and a cocktail party by Mrs. Glenn V. Sampson.

MRS. ELISE HUNT

OUT-OF-TOWNERS

Out-of-towners visiting Mrs. Ada Brown of 1731 Ellsworth St. are Mrs. Carrie Williams of Nyack, N.Y., and Mrs. Angie Reed of Philadelphia. Mrs. Julia A. Brown, former resident of this city, now of Pasadena, Calif., has returned to her new home after a month's vacation here with her cousin Mrs. Bertha Hazelton Brooks, and mentioned the names of Dr. and Mrs. A. S. Smith in connection with a proposed ranch house construction in Morgan Park. The smiths say they have not offered any objections to the proposed building.

TREK TO Europe is an Ollie Stewart note AFRO readers what their friends are saying and doing in Paris and the Continent.

Mrs. Annie Thompson of Argyle Ave.

NOT FOR PUBLICATION

The rumored engagement and not-so-far off marriage of a popular star jockey and a Windsor Ave. lass was not denied by the principals.
