Council of Community Churches Now Organized

In a three-day convention last week, six Community churches in Baltimore and New York joined upon the organization of a new National Council.

Action followed a two-day session attended by more than 60 delegates and children of Emmanuel Church.

A delegation of 33 persons from Chicago, headed by Joseph A. Winter, was prevented from attending when its bus broke down.

The convention declared its purpose is to sponsor expansion of colored Community Churches, vocational training for boys and girls, health and recreational programs, and a vigorous campaign for civil rights.

All contributions to the national body are voluntary; no officers will receive pay or traveling expenses. The Council will not allow itself to be drawn into organizations where levies or assessments made up the most important part of their program.

Officers Listed

The officers elected were:

Rev. Wilbur H. Waters, Emmanuel Church, president; Rev. George C. Violenses, vice-president; Rev. Theodore C. Jackson, Gillis Memorial, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Rose Block, Douglas Memorial; Christ Church, N.Y., treasurer.

Trustees elected were:

Chairman, Bernard Holley, Douglas Memorial; Rev. Edward Revels, Eastside Community Church; Rev. George Baynard, Shiloh Community; Rev. Theodore C. Jackson, Frederick Wilson, Emmanuel; Preston Brown, Rev. Mr. Waters, Frank Henry, Shiloh; Mrs. Ines Bracey, Eastside Community Steering Committee consists of: Mrs. Chew, Gillis; Mrs. Thomas, Shiloh; Mrs. Ines Bracey; Mrs. Sadie Dorsey; Mrs. F. Belle Boykin, Emmanuel.

Convention secretaries were Gloria E. West and Janet Cruz.

The name of the new organization is The National Association Councils of Community Churches of America and Elsewhere, Inc.

The permanent organization, it was said, is patterned generally along the lines of the Biennial Council of Community Churches.

The next National Council meeting will be held Feb. 22nd to 24th, 1952, at Christ Church in New York.

In Our Churches

Sunday, has been proclaimed "Freedom Sunday" in Maryland by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin. Clergmen of all faiths are being asked to participate in the observance of this day.

The date was selected because it follows the Anniversary of Defenders Day, when Marylanders thwarted the British advances of 1814 and Star Spangled Banner Day, when the National Anthem was written during the bombardment of Fort McHenry.

Balloons To Be Released

In addition to the observance of the day, a program has been scheduled to begin at 6:45 p.m. with the release of Freedom Balloons, identical to those carrying messages to the people behind the iron curtain. The program will also include a parade of decorated boats from the Maryland Yacht Club, a mock bombardment of Fort McHenry from the Coast Guard Cutter Ingham and a return by headquarters Battery, 20th Division.

Harold E. Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania and chairman of the 1951 Crusade for Freedom, will be the major speaker of the evening. He is scheduled to speak at 9:20 p.m.

Pastor Writes Congregation

In a letter addressed to members and friends of the Ebenezer AME Church, Montgomery St. near Charles St., the Rev. William Taft Holland, Sr., pastor, wrote in last Sunday's bulletin:

"The clock is ticking your life away, when it is past, not a minute can be recalled. You must get what you want now. Action only can help you. Theory can't. Talk can't. Good intentions pave roads to nowhere. To wait is to lose.

"To do and learn to do better is the object of Ebenezer AME Church. There is behind it a spirit of which absolutely nothing is greater. Its principle is right. You will admit that. Still it is theory until you and I put action into it. If you believe that Ebenezer AME Church should be improved, it is your duty to tell us. If you keep still, you do no one any good.

"If you are not too busy with other Christian activities, you owe it to yourself to become a Doer in the Church. It is not the Christianity you absorb, but the Christianity which you live and help others that does you good."

Group To Observe Anniversary

The deaconesses of the Leadenhall Baptist Church, 1021 Leadenhall St., will celebrate their anniversary, Sunday, at 3:30 p.m.

Minister Retires

Retiring from the pastorate of Providence Baptist Church after 22 years service, the Rev. E. W. White will deliver his final sermon, Sunday, on the subject "God's Leading, A Retrospection."

Moneyless Church Operating

Free Classes in good housekeeping, cooking and good morals are taught in a room over the Church of God, 141 Whitelock St., each Sunday. The Rev. Herbert B. Compton, pastor.

The Church of God, described by the pastor as a moneyless church, invites the public to worship with the congregation. He points out that the church believes in teaching that God advised his shepherds to go without money or price in the spreading of the Gospel.

The Rev. C. E. Johnson, pastor of the St. Stevenson AME Church of Middle River, Md., will be the guest speaker at the Union Bethel AME Church of Randallstown, on Sunday at 3 p.m.

Missionary Meeting Set

The Missionary Society will meet Thursday, Sept.20, at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Edna B. Edwards, 813 Rutland Ave.

The Missionary Society of the Grace Presbyterian Church, Etting and Dolphin Sts., will meet tonight (Friday) at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs Naomi Davidson, 203 W. Fayette St.

On Rally Day, Sept. 3, the Grace Church program will be outlined for the coming months. The pastor, the Rev. John T. Colbert, is asking that all members be present.

The Baltimore Congregation, Madison Ave. and Robert St. will have its annual fund raising rummage sale in the vestry room, Sept. 15 to 22. The rummage sale is being sponsored by the Sisterhood.

The Easton District Sunday School Convention of the Baltimore Annual Conferende was held at the St. John AME Church of Pocomoke City, Md. recently.

The highlights of the conference were group discussions of the three areas. "How Can the Youth and Adults Work Together in the Home, Church and Community?" was discussed by Ralph Howard, Tayne Sunday School and Mrs. Violet Hill Whyte, policewoman. They represented Area No. 1.

Mrs. Lillian Hollis, Cambridge Sunday School, and George S. Whyte, Superintendent of Bethel AME Sunday School, discussed "How Can We Effect Better Relationship Among Denominations?" for Area No. 2.

J. W. Williams, Salisbury Area, and Charles Cornish, Cambridge City Councilman, from Area No. 3 discussed "What Part Can the Church Play in Helping to Establish World Peace?"

District officers are: Francis W. Gales, superintendent; Mrs. Emma Stanley, assistant superintendent; and Mrs. Emma E. Poulson, secretary. The Rev. T. E. Butler, host pastor; the Rev. L. S. Penn, presiding elder; and the Rev. L. H. Hemingway, presiding bishop.

Mother of Mrs. C. E. Mills Dies

Mrs. Mary A. Taylor, 87, mother of Mrs. C. E. Mills died Thursday afternoon at her daughter's home, 827 N. Arlington Ave.

No funeral services will be held in Baltimore for Mrs. Taylor who has been ill most of the two years she lived with the Millses, having come from Hartford, Conn. The body will be taken to Hartford for burial on Monday.

Mother of Ten

Mrs. Taylor, who is survived by ten children, 21 grandchildren and ten great grandchildren, was born in Virginia, but spent most of her life in Hartford.

Besides Mrs. Mills, wife of the rector of St. James' P.E. Church, her children are:

John Taylor, Mesdames Martha Shaw Agyew, Hinkson and Sarah Powers, all of Hartford; Mesdames Ida Bell, Jane Dutrichelle and Lucille Porter, all of NYC; Mrs. Rachel Millos of Chicago, and Mrs. Frances Catlett of San Francisco.

Testimonial to Honor Rev. R. C. Williams

Dr. Mordecai Johnson, president of Howard University will be guest speaker at a testimonial honoring the 77th birthday of the Rev. R. C. Williams, pastor of Lebanon Calvary Baptist Church.

The affair, sponsored by the Rev. A. J. Payne and the Rev. B. L.

REV. R. C. WILLIAMS

Matthews will be held at 3 p.m., Sept. 3, at Enon Baptist Church.

The Rev. Mr. Williams was born in Baldwin, La., in 1874. When he was five years old, his grandmother saved his life in a storm, and as she comforted him, he recalls hearing an inner voice saying, "Robert, I saved you today to preach the gospel."

In Ministry 58 Years

Having spent 58 years in the ministry, he united Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church which he pastored in 1942 and Mt. Calvary Baptist Church which he pastored in 1945. With this combination, he established Lebanon Calvary Church at 14 E. Monument St.

Refusing to be sprinkled when he was converted although his father was a steward in a Methodist Church, he was baptised in the Bayou Teche river in Baldwin, La.

His first pastorate in 1892 was at Gainsville Baptist Church in Hopkinsville, Ky. Next he was called successively by Central in Excelsior Springs, Mo.; Mt. Pilgrim Church, Chicago.

14 Years in Richmond

Going on to Richmond, Va., where he pastored for 14 years, he served at Mt. Olivet Church and later founded and built the Good Shepherd Baptist Church on Church Hill.

In 1927, he took over Morning Star Church in Catonsville, and after four years, went on to Second Baptist Church in Long Branch, N.J. But he returned to Baltimore in 1942 and has remained here ever since.

During his years in the ministry, the Rev. Mr. Williams has married more than 1,000 couples and baptised more than 2,000 church members.

Spencer Nash, 87, Dies in Cambridge

CAMBRIDGE, Md. — Spencer Nash, one of the oldest and best known citizens of Cambridge and Dorchester County, died Aug. 30 at his home, 519 High St. here, at the age of 87 years.

Mr. Nash had been an active member of Bethel AME Church for a number of years, serving it in many official positions during the years. He was one of the pioneers in civic affairs, aiding in the fight to secure colored representation on the city council more than 50 years ago.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday in Bethel Church after the body lay in state at Henry's Funeral Home.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Lula L. Nash of Cambridge; Mrs. Minnie White and Charles Nash of Philadelphia.

Morgan Preparing for 500 Freshmen

Officials at Morgan State College are expecting almost 500 students to register on September 17,18, and 19, freshman registration days.

Edward N. Wilson, college registrar, said arrangements are being made to conduct the mass registration with the least bit of delay.

Upper classmen will register on September 20, 21, and 22, with class room instruction for all students beginning on September 24.

Two new dormitories, one for the girls and one for the boys, are expected to be ready by time the students register. The modern, spacious dormitories feature a "new look" in interior paint colors.

Cost No More Money

When it was found that it didn't cost any more money to use vivid colors, instead of the dull conventional colors normally used, the Board of Trustees authorized the change.

Among startling color innovations are Swedish red doors, and pastel colored walls.

All of the rooms have bookcases built in the walls, and Hollywood beds, which make them easily adaptable for service as sitting rooms.

On Thursday, Sept. 13, until Saturday, Sept. 15, a "Faculty Institute" is being conducted for members of the faculty.

Among speakers scheduled for this faculty seminar is Edward S. Lewis, director of Urban League of Greater New York, who will speak Saturday, on "Higher Education in a Bi-racial Society."

On Thursday, Dr. Otis D. Froe, spoke on aspects of the student personnel program, and discussed the problem as to why students fail.

On Friday, James C. Richardson, president of the Student Council spoke on a student's view of Morgan State College.

From 8 to 9 p.m., President and Mrs. Martin D. Jenkins were "at home" to members of the faculty. From 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., a faculty social was held at the Morgan Christian Center.

On Saturday, the complete program is as follows:

9 a.m.-12 p.m.—General Meeting "Higher Education in a Bi-racial Society" — Mr. Edward S. Lewis, Executive director, Urban League of Greater New York.
"Fostering Student Growth in Moral Standards and Spiritual Values" — Dr. Richard McKinney
"Fostering Student Growth in Cultural Values" — Waters E. Turpin
12-1 p.m.—Lunch—Refectory
1-2 p.m.—Departmental meetings

The million dollar gymnasium is not quite ready for occupancy, but it is expected that shower and dressing room facilities will be available at start of the football season.

Preliminary plans and specifications have been completed for a greenhouse and vivarium, garage and storage building, and a new armory, to be constructed in the near future.

Twelve New Teachers

The students will be greeted by twelve new faculty members this term.

The new appointees are:

Dr. Richard I. McKinney, former president of Storer College, named head of the department of philosophy;

Alvin M. (Boo) Brown, former Morgan athlete and recently coach at Tillotson College Tex., appointed assistant professor of physical education. He will also assist in coaching Morgan's football team.

Joseph T. Durham, M.A. in education and former dean of Virginia Seminary and College, appointed instructor in education;

Ohio Teacher Named

Miss Erma D. Foster, B.S. former Columbus, O. junior high school teacher, named instructor in business education;

William I. Gibson, former editor of the AFRO, appointed as professor of journalism;

Mrs. Martha S. Tutney of Washington, A.B. and M.A. from Howard, named assistant professor of history;

Amoro Johnson of Salisbury, Md. 1946 Morgan graduate, M.S. from Johns Hopkins U., and a candidate for Ph.D. in bio-chemistry at that school in June; appointed instructor in chemistry;

Fred D. Middleton, M.A., instructor in health and physical education;

Wilk S. Peters, M.S., formerly of Tuskegee Institute, named assistant professor of education to teach library science;

Mrs. Mary Pitts

Mrs. Mary W. Pitts, M.A. formerly of Ft. Valley (Ga.) State College, appointed instructor in home economics;

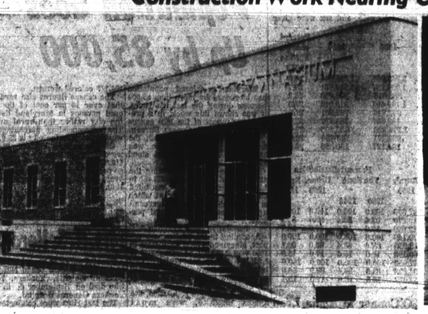
Miss Thelma V. Winder, M.A., named instructor in home economics;

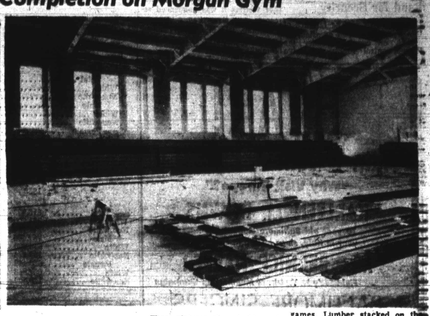
Robert J. Robinson, M.A., formerly a researcher in foods and nutrition with Consumers Union and a teacher at NYU, named assistant professor of home economics and manager of campus food services;

Teachers returning from leaves include Mrs. Mary C. Law, instructor in romance languages; Waters Turpin, assistant professor of English; Mrs. Juanita Starke, instructor in English, and Dr. Samella Lewis, assistant professor of art.

Edgar Ewing has been added to the administrative staff as director of admissions and placement. He was formerly chief of recruiting services of the Veterans Administration, Baltimore.

Construction Work Nearing Completion on Morgan Gym





These pictures show inside and outside views of the gym undergoing construction at Morgan College. The building is named for Coach Edward P. Hurt who is already using the varsity room on the first floor. This photo shows that the maple floor has been laid and the rest of the gym is complete except the cement ing, shellacking and waxing the floor. Folding seats have been installed on each side of the gym to accommodate spectators at games. Lumber stacked on the floor has been varnished and is ready for installation of the permanent gym seats. Completion of the gym, originally set for Sept. 15, except for the swimming pool is now expected about the end of the month.

Houses Set Afire After Youth Barred From Party

A 21-year-old married youth is being held without bail on charges of setting fire to two houses, endangering the life of an infant, after being refused entrance to a house party.

Police report that Elmer Brooks, 21, 2438 Druid Hill Ave., knocked, on the door of 1839 E. Chase St., where a party was in progress, and attempted to enter.

Wehn asked what he wanted, the man said: "You know me, my name is Elmer Brooks, 1817 E. Chase St. I want to come into the party."

The man was then told the party was private, and Robert Bland, occupant of the house, slammed the door in his face.

About 5 minutes later, the party goers smelled smoke, and through a rear transom noticed a tongue of flame. Rushing to the back yard, they found a fire burning on a small shelf between 1837 and 1839 E. Chase St.

Wooden Wall Burnt

A portion of the wooden wall at 1837 was charred by the flames. The fire was extinguished by the partygoers before fire apparatus arrived.

Suspecting the disgruntled gate crasher might have started the fire, police went to 1817 E Chase St., and were told that Brooks formerly lived there, but had since moved.

Further investigation resulted in the man being arrested. Witnesses say the man readily admitted to police that he started the fire because he couldn't get into the party.

Children's Lives Endangered

Children whose lives were endangered by the fire included 6-month-old Larry Cole, Louise, 10, Estella, 9, Otha, 8, and David 4, all children of Mrs. Massie Cole 1837 E. Chase St.

These children were sleeping on the second floor of their home at the time of the blaze. Flames burnt a portion of the wooden wall below their bedroom.

Living at 1839 E. Chase St. with Mr. Bland are his wife, Alice, and daughter, 8-year-old Iner.

The suspect's grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Moulden, 81, living at 2438 Druid Hill Ave. when asked for routine background information about her grandson, mouthed obscenities and refused to discuss the affair.

Nab Dope Suspect In Ave. Pawnshop

Detective Sergeant James Butler and Detective Hiram Johnson, in a routine search of a Pennsylvania Ave. pawn ship, recognized one of the patrons as a dope addict.

The detectives questioned Leroy Turner Jackson, 23, 1918 Druid Hill Ave. and then found six capsules of heroin on him.

Sergeant Butler said the youth admitted going to Washington to buy capsules of heroin at $1.70 and then reselling some of them for $3 to further finance his "habit".

Nab Another Dig!t Player

Magistrate Berry held the youth for action of the grand jury in $2,500 bail.

In another case, plainclothes officer Leroy Moody and Francis Williams noted a man eyeing the unmarked police cruiser suspiciously. They followed Franklin Grant, 32, 1710 W. Lexington St., to Calhoun and Laurens St. and then hailed him for questioning.

The officers took his to Northwestern Police Station where they searched him and found a notebook, a number's tape and a quantity of numbers slips.

Magistrate Berry held him in $2,500 bail for action of the grand jury.
