All-Star Floor Show at Adams' Lounge

A floor show and all-star revue will give a continuous performance at Adams' Cocktail Lounge, Dundalk, Friday night, Sept. 21, in a benefit for Provident Hospital.

Mrs. Virginia Manning is chairman of the committee; Mrs. Mae Cooper and Irving Adams, co-chairmen.

Dundalk and nearby talent interested in appearing in the show are requested to contact Mrs. Cooper or Mr. Adams.

In touch with this writer, or with Forrester Bryson at 2131 Pennsylvania Ave. It's urgent.

ONE OF THE recently hired taxicab drivers telling me that the driving public certainly could stand a little more education about the lines of courtesy and respect. "Boy, when a fare signals for a cab, when it's all uncalled for," he said. OLDS MILL's Joe Mase looking for a sober, real musical, instrumental combo.

NEWS FLASHES of Ray Robinson's victory over Randy Turpin brought back the celebrating spirit along the Avenue. The lid outshot the Stroll and was at the end of the second Louis-Walcott fight.

WHILE ON SPORTS—Jimmy McAllister's second loss to Baby Dritz may mean the end of the comeback trail for Jim who has a fighting heart, but brittle hands.

FEW TAN FANS mourn the exit of Nick Cullop as manager of the Orioles. None believe Jack Dunn will hire a colored player next year, or the next, or the next.

GOOD LOOKING is the word for show windows along the Avenue as various merchants are jumping to the front with fabulous displays of Fall styles and what-have-you.

AUSTIN POWELL, once featured with the Cats and a Fiddle, brings his own quintet into the Comedy Club on Monday night, featuring Baltimore's own Louise Lara, formerly with Lionel Hampton, and Charles Beckles' Peptones, as an added attraction.

NOT BEING ABLE to get the right kind of help has so disgusted the proprietor of a well-known Avenue eatery that he is on the verge.

HOT ROD sets the patrons at Gamby's on Thursday night with Annie Laurie, vocalist and the Joe Morris band heating the air-lanes.

INTRODUCED OVER the air by the Red, and seen at bayside were: Tom Spitler celebrating his birthday, surrounded by his charming wife, Agnes, brother John and his adorable, Persis;

ALSO MICKEY-FOWLER, Glorie Massenburg, Doris Allen and Dorothy Wilmore, representing the Capsules Savings Club; Doris Luttrell and Mattie Holmes, Dorothy Hicks, Ellen Woodlow, Anna K. Williams and the Bill Douglasses.

DORIS (Them Blue Eyes) Bass, sis of Comedy Club's Kitty, doing a bar chorus at the Avenue, with Mildred Heath, a Tampa, Fla. gal, handling the trays.

THERE CAN BE nothing but praise for members of Baltimore's entertainment circles who appeared in last Friday night's midnight benefit show for Provident Hospital at the Regent Theatre.

THEY FULLY demonstrated that when called upon to help a worth while cause they stand ready to answer without hesitation — and they do give, and give, and give.

WHERE THEY are not able to donate in cash, they donate their talents freely and get a kick out of it.

THIS WRITER, who assembled the group, do gratefully thank each and every one who participated in the program, the club owners who cut short their own shows in order that many of them might participate, and those who appeared and were unable to get on the program before the time ran out.

THE AUDIENCE showed its appreciation, too, by remaining throughout the entire program and by warmly receiving the acts and individuals who, in their unselfish manner, rallied to a humanitarian cause without thoughts of compensation.

SO, THANK YOU, guys and gals. You did a wonderful job in helping raise that $1728. Each of you can be truly listed as a "Cheerful Giver."

HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION Jersey Joe Walcott thrilled kid and grown-up patients alike on his Monday visit to Provident Hospital.

PENNSYLVANIA AVE. corners at Wilson, Pitcher and McMechen Sts. have been "indicted" by the police department, which means that if you are asked to move, and don't, you'll take a ride when the wagon comes.

HERE'S GOOD NEWS—Johnny Sparrow and his Bow and Arrows have returned from Atlantic City and the Frolic Cafe again has them.

OVER EASTSIDE WAY, Club Orleans has re-opened its new Orleans Room with the Concords, featuring Bill Wilson on the tenor sax.

GENE PAYNE'S NEW Seafood restaurant, Edmondson Avenue at Monroe St., appraised at $50,000, is scheduled for an early opening.

ADAMS' COCKTAIL Lounge, down Dundalk way, will be the scene of a floor show and revue on Friday night, Sept. 21, for the benefit of Provident Hospital. Entertainers in the Dundalk-Turner Station area, willing to contribute their services, are asked to contact Irving Adams at the club.

NO DISCRIMINATION was shown by Baltimore and Washington theatres, catering to colored patronage, in not showing the Ray Robinson-Randy Turpin championship fight on Wednesday night. It was purely an economic issue.

THE THEATRES, as explained to this writer, couldn't take the chances on the installation of TV equipment at such an enormous price, and then have to pass it on to their public at an exhorbitant admission fee, amounting to $2.60.

LOCAL THEATRES, thus far, have gone and are going to the limit in bringing top attractions to their patrons, but they would be foolish, indeed, from a promotional standpoint, to venture into a losing proposition just for the sake of a promotion.

HOWEVER, THEATRE-TV, while not discriminatory, in doing the general public an injustice, in that, in addition to limiting would-be televiewers of world wide events to a few thousands of persons, it deprives many millions of homes of refreshing sports' entertainment on "special" fight nights.

THE THEATRES stand to lose more patronage unless the TV crisis is cleared up, and TV itself, stands to gain. A fickle public will soon turn to TV films, solely, rather than being left out in the cold on important events.

VISITORS HERE—The William Lipscombs, of Provident, R.I., the brother of Richard Lipscomb, 1321 Argyle Ave., and Mrs. Mae Bennett, Richard's mother-in-law, and her three children, Marsha, Willie and Cloe, were recent guests in his home.

RAN ACROSS Capt. Andrew Davis, of 922 Harlem Ave., one of Baltimore's few licensed harbor pilots.

JAMES SHOFFNER, 2122 McCulloh St., sporting a broken wrist, took in the Robinson-Turpin fight along with Sam (Exhausted Roster) Brown and Freddie Bailey.

JOHN HOLLIDAY, the barber, address unknown, is asked to get in touch with this writer.

BIGGEST GAME FISH EVER CAUGHT

ZANE GREY, the Western-story writer, was also an ardent big-game fisherman.

ONE DAY, OFF TAHITI, in the spring of 1930, half-a-ton of fighting fish hit his line and gave him the battle of his life. When the monster, a Giant Marlin, was landed, it weighed 1,250 pounds and was 14 ft., 2 in. in length, the biggest game fish ever caught on rod and reel!

Benefit Show Pays Off

E. B. Rea, AFRO theatrical editor, presents Superintendent Proctor with a check for $1120, the entire receipts from a midnight benefit show held last Friday night, Sept. 7, along with a $5 donation from Danini, the Magician, who along with 35 other performers, performed gratis in the show.

A Gift From Gunther's

William (Bill) Alexander, disc jockey and emcee, shown presenting John L. Proctor, superintendent of Provident Hospital, a check for $1000 from the Gunther Brewing Co. on the hospital's fund drive, Thursday night from the stage of the Regent Theatre.

Moments Musical

By ADAH K. JENKINS

The 16th annual Song Feast by the senior choir of Ames Methodist Church was held last Sunday evening in the church auditorium. The 30-voice choir was directed by William J. Hassell, organist and choirmaster.

Apparently this group is among the progressive local church choirs that keep in practice during the summer. Such diligent study in a year-round basis enables the group to give a program of considerable difficulty in a commendable manner early in the season.

Mr. Hassell has an efficient male section in the choir and the female voices are well balanced.

Varied program

The program included "Great Is the Lord," "Let Zion Rejoice" and "Save Me, O God." The well-known favorites, "Listen to the Lambs," "Send Out Thy Light" and "Inflemmatus" were rendered also.

Soloists were: Mesdames Mary Mackall, Eleanor Moore and Grace Clark, Alfred Dixon and Mr. Hassell, the latter accompanied by Sherman Smith, organist of Union Baptist Church.

The choral service was preceded by Holy Communion celebrated by the Rev. J. Lloyd Garrison, pastor.

Miss Davis to Sing

Gladys Davis, scholarship student at the Baltimore Institute of Musical Arts, will give an organ recital Sunday, Sept. 16, at 5 o'clock at Providence Baptist Church. Miss Davis, a student of Hegman Schwarz, dean of the Institute, will play Beck's Prelude and Fugue in d minor and two chorales in the first half of the program.

Concluding numbers will be the Allegro from Widor' Symphony No. 1 and "Eight Album Leaves" by Mr. Schwarz. The soloist is organist at Provident Baptist Church.

This is the second of the weekly series sponsored this season by the Institute.

Cyril Creig, of New York and formerly of Baltimore, will do post graduate work in music at New York University this year. He was music counselor for the second season at Camp Lehman, N.Y. this past summer.

Guild Setting Program

Announcement will be made shortly of the 1951-52 program of the Baltimore Music Guild which was well represented at the recent National convention in Washington.

Mrs. Margaret Rusk Franklin, president, who elected to the national board for a two-year term, Miss Sophie Williams, pianist, won the annual scholarship contest held during the convention. She is studying with Mrs. Franklin. Marshall Waters, also active in the Baltimore Branch, was soloist at the youth program of the convention.

Shellinan Johnson, promising young conductor, is directing the chorus of the Peace and Freedom Pageant to be given by a group of young people at St. James Episcopal Parish Hall, Friday, Sept. 21.

ARMY'S NEW POLICY MOVES PRODUCER:

Steele Asks Gen. Ike to Accept 'Smart Affairs'

CHICAGO—A Chicago producer, Larry Steele, wants to pay tribute to the Army policy of racial integration of American GIs in Europe.

Steele reveals that he had written General Dwight D. Eisenhower, Forces in Europe, on Sept. 4, offering to tour Army camps there with an interracial troupe of performers.

For Integrated Policy

The impresario, whose 41-member "Smart Affairs" revue has just closed at Atlantic City's Club Harlem, says, he has written Gen. Eisenhower that his offer is made in tribute to the growing, democratic trend toward integration of colored troops by the side of their white fellow-Americans.

Acceptance of his proposal, Steele maintained, would constitute a rebuke to Communist propagandists who have spread the mis-information that democracy cannot work in the United States.

Letter to Eisenhower

Steele's letter to Gen. Eisenhower follows:

"With the focus of world attention on the Far East and the vital situation there, many Americans have come to accept as a matter of course, the dramatic and splendid job which American troops and their allies are accomplishing in stemming the tide of Communism in Europe.

"In my opinion, this nation owes an increasing debt of gratitude for the manner in which this crucial task is being done.

"It is my sincere belief that it is the duty of every patriot to aid in this work.

"For the past five years, I have produced 'Larry Steel's Smart Affairs,' which has gained growing importance as an all-colored revue, touring the nation and playing extended engagements, notably at Miami Beach and Atlantic City.

Has Made Many Stars

"'Smart Affairs' had headlined a number of important stars, provided opportunities for several gifted entertainers who have become stars—and earned the approval of such show-wise critics as Walter Winchell and Ed Sullivan.

"In tribute to the stirringly fine job which is being done in Europe and in recognition of the growing, democratic trend toward integration of colored troops by the side of their white fellow-Americans, I would like to offer my services to your command to conduct a tour of such installations as you might designate with an interracial edition of 'Smart Affairs.'"

MUSIC AS Recorded

A "dream quartet" consisting of four of the biggest names in show business today has been rounded up by RCA Victor for a brilliant new novelty record titled "The Musicians."

Featuring Dinah Shore, Betty Hutton, Tony Martin and Phil Harris, the record was instigated by Charlie Green, RCA Victor's pop artist and repertoire director, who composed the tune in collaboration with Tom (Old Soldiers Never Die) Glazer as a successor to his "The Thing, "Never Been Kissed" and "Sweet Violets."

The precedent-shattering new disc, which may possibly be the beginning of a trend in the highly competitive platter industry, has each member of the famous four some vocally doubling in brass.

A Hilarious Rende

Dinah not only sings but also makes like a trumpet, Betty voices the piccolo part, Tony essays the role of a trombone and Alice Faye's husband, Phil, does the tuba honors. The result is a hilarious rondo which should quadruple the appeal of the stellar quartet.

The flip is equally facetious. Misses Shore and Hutton, Messrs. Martin and Harris, still in a rip-roaring mood from their free-for-all on "The Musicians," chorus a hearty "How D'Ye Do and Shake Hands." Based on Tweedledum and Tweedledee's "theme" music from Disney's "Alice in Wonderland." It was gimmicked up by Cy Cohen who collaborated with Glean on the aforementioned "Never Been Kissed."

On this one even Spike Jones gets into the act - he contributed the horns which explode intermittently, while Henri Rene tries to maintain a certain calm in the orchestral backing.

Philadelphia has them, Washington has them, New York has them—WHY can't Baltimore have COLORED FIREMEN?

Why do the big stars drink Schenley?

"THAT'S EASY," says Cab Calloway, king of heigh-de-ho. "Schenley is a finer, milder whiskey. It gives every drink a rich, mellow taste."

"YOU'RE SO RIGHT, CAB," agrees Lucky Millinder, popular band leader. "I always serve Schenley . . . and my guests expect it!" Why don't you try—Schenley — the whiskey of the stars?
