Latest Edition Of Louis Jordan's Tympany Five

Ex-Maid May Face Libel Suit In Billy Rose Debacle

LOS ANGELES — In all notorious affairs of the nation, it seems, some colored person is involved. The Billy Rose-Eleanor Holm divorce case is no exception, what with Mrs. Alberta Jones, a former maid of one of Mrs. Rose's friends, Mrs. Ben Bernie, getting herself into what may become a sordid libel suit.

Billy Rose, Mrs. Bernie allegedly charged, influenced her maid to give him an affadavit setting forth that Mrs. Bernie had staged lurid parties in her apartment and had had obscene relations with her help, with the idea of discrediting Mrs. Bernie if she should attempt to testify in favor of Mrs. Rose in the divorce trial.

Mrs. Bernie declared that Mrs. Jones had worked for her for only four weeks and not six months as had been set forth in the affadavit and furthermore had denied in the presence of the district attorney everything in the affadavit. The bandleader's widow threatened to sue Rose for libel for his alleged part in the "scare" attempt.

Billy Rose Seeks La Lena

Offered Title Role In 'Carmen Jones'

BOSTON — It has been revealed that Lena Horne has been chosen by Billy Rose, New York show producer, to play the lead in "Carmen Jones," the all-colored film version of Bizet's opera by Oscar Hammerstein II.

Playing opposite Lena will be none other than Billy Eckstine, the love crazed soldier, and Dorothy Dandridge, that other Hollywood lovely, as Cindy, the childhood sweetheart of Eckstine.

Rose plans, if it can be managed, to run Joe Louis to play the role of the prizefighter, who finally kills the girl.

A New Stage Play

HOLLYWOOD — "Trio in Contrast," a new stage play, was presented here recently at the Rose Theatre by the Kings Mill Players.

Ruby Berkley Goodwin, columnist, principally responsible for its production, also played a role in the little theatre success.

Radio Station Goes All-Tan

MIAMI (ANP) — Radio station WFEC has instituted a new policy here. It has switched to all-colored programing.

Since its opening in April, 1949, the station has carried a program schedule with a heavy emphasis on a disc jockey program known as the "Ebony Express."

Staff additions were recently made to include colored talent. A great majority of time, however, will continue to be devoted to the existing news and music format, with emphasis on colored orchestras and artists.

Moments Musical

By ADAH K. JENKINS

A benevolent Weather Man finally decided to allow the Sunday night's annual concert by the combined City Bands and Chorus at Druid Hill Park.

The occasion attracted several thousand listeners, including enthusiastic youngsters who happily imitated the directors, while their parents patted a discreet foot.

Directors Charles Guyan and Harrison H. Dodd had arranged a refreshing program, with new selections of interest and beauty.

Bands Well Co-ordinated

The bands played with zest, commendable accuracy and unity. "Call of Bagdad" (Fradenecki), and "Princess of India" (King), were especially enjoyable.

The City Chorus, conducted by Mr. Dodd, sang three spirituals and was joined by the bands in the final number, "When Day Is Done."

Following the custom of presenting a promising local singer, Fania S. Newton, soprano, was the soloist. Her is a voice of considerable range, with a resonant and sympathetic tone, especially suited to the selections she rendered.

Soloist Well Received

Mrs. Newton was most becomingly gowned and possessed poise and charm. Her offerings included Victor Herbert's "A Kiss in the Dark," "Make Believe," "O What A Beautiful Morning" from "Oklahoma!" and Sidney Homer's "Will You Remember." She was accompanied by the bands.

The audience joined with evident pleasure in community singing led by William Fuller, Parks Bureau superintendent of the Municipal Bureau of Music, the sponsor, was present.

The evening brought back memories of the inauguration of the Municipal Department of Music under the direction of Frederick R. Huber during the mayoralty of the late James H. Preston.

Succeeding mayors have aided the development of the program in cooperation with the Department of Recreation and Parks.

Baltimore has been a model to the nation for a workable municipal music setup.

In 1941 the 25th anniversary of the project was celebrated with the blessings of the incumbent mayor, Howard W. Jackson. The anniversary brochure compiled by Kenneth S. Clark, contained a full account of the formation of the colored units in the municipal music plan.

The first was a city band, directed by A. Jack Thomas, followed in 1926 by the late Charles Harris and a park band, led by Edward Prettyman. After the formation of the Colored City Chorus in 1932, under the direction of the late W. Llewellyn Wilson, the groups appeared in combined concerts at the close of each summer season.

Worth Taking Chances

On the closing page of his brochure Mr. Clark stated ". . . hope those in charge in Baltimore because they have been willing to take a sporting chance. Thus, there have been various things which have been started and achieved, despite the fact there did not carry over into permanency, have been well worth while trying."

Perhaps it is now time to take another "chance" so that again Baltimore may be among the "firsts"—to inaugurate an interracial city band and chorus! It would seem to be of considerable value to have a supplement compiled to bring the "anniversary" brochure up to date.

OLIVIA HOLMES' OWN STORY

Says Pastor Dad Of Her Baby

Miss Holmes Tells Why She Placed Rev. Harrison's Name On 2nd Birth Certificate—What Became Of His Letters Where They Met In The Early Years And How Often It Was

By OLIVIA HOLMES

WASHINGTON

When the baby was born the doctor gave me a birth certificate under the name of Barlow, for my name. But the baby's name was registered, Harrison.

The baby's name is Diane Antoinette Harrison.

But when I changed the birth certificate, I didn't change the baby's name, I changed the father's name and my name.

Child's Name Registered

The child's name given in the first certificate was registered Harrison.

Therefore, when I did not get support for the child, I went back to my doctor and told him that I wanted the right name of myself and I wanted the right father's name placed on the birth certificate. That was Rev. Earl L. Harrison.

When I was carrying the child, I had the understanding that I would receive money to finance my baby and expenses.

No certain amount was promised except to support me and the baby. I received no support at all until the August before the baby was born. Some months I received $40 or $50, and some months $60, $70, $80 or $90.

It came to me in a special delivery envelope, wrapped up in a piece of paper. The letter was typed inside. It would say "I'm sending this to you."

I kept all these, but I left them at my sister's. I left all my clothes in a drawer and my letters were in that drawer.

The only reason I haven't some of these letters is that I left them with my sister at her old house in NE Washington.

Sister's Husband Missing

My sister's husband is missing. He went away and never came back after July 5, 1951.

Her husband mortgaged the furniture. The company came to take the furniture back. My relatives cleaned the drawers out, left one drawer full of clothes, and my mail was in that drawer.

All my personal mail was left in her drawer. The company told me they were going to send it to me, but they never did send it.

I showed some of those letters to Rev. Harrison. He was a member of the church. She is the one who read some of the letters. I don't know whether he is my house, and I would fix her hair. She would read all my mail, I told her who it was from.

Would Be Witness

She didn't say anything. I talked to her the last time and she told me she would be a witness for me if they needed her.

She didn't see the writer's name on anything. But the way the letter was written she knew it was from him because he would always say, "if you let anybody know about them (the letters) it will hurt hundreds of thousands and will affect me." Therefore, she knew who it was from.

Nobody ever saw us together as far as I know except my sister. Mrs. — was the lady to whose house we always went.

The lady was then living on — street, but she moved and is now living at another street.

Met Between 1 And 2 P.M.

We met quite frequently — at the 14th St. house, usually between 1 and 2 P.M. in the middle of the day. That was in 1942.

I would leave my mother's house and go up to the — street house, and tell my mother I was at work or at school, and I would be back home at night. I would tell my mother I would be late getting home because I had so and so to do at school.

At that time I was working at the Navy Department.

I didn't go back to my job. I always would sign out like I was sick.

Met Twice A Week

We met about twice a week, then, mostly on the week end, not on Sunday. We would go to the front room and we would chat.

Mrs. — would be in there for a while and a lot of time she would say I am going out and take a walk." And she would go out and take a walk.

That was the last time I saw Harrison.

Harrison Denied

Mr. Harrison also reported that the German teacher has very few disciplinary problems.

The German child is regimented and disciplined and is subject to punishment if he gets restless. He is sent to school for one purpose, that is to learn.

However, the situation is now changed somewhat through the influence of American Military Government, Mr. Graham observed.

He said the schools are becoming more democratic, and the German child may now express their views although they may be contrary to that of his teacher.

"Our hope lies in the German youth if we hope to democratize the German people," Mr. Graham concluded.

Shiloh Board Backs Pastor

Will Fight To 'Clear Church's Name'

WASHINGTON

After hearing the Rev. Earl L. Harrison's persuasive sermon the day, the board of trustees of Shiloh Baptist Church met in a special session to express confidence in their pastor.

Following the meeting, the board members issued a statement that was signed by Dr. Theodore R. George, chairman, and Mrs. Regina E. Chandler, secretary, which read:

"At a special meeting of the board of trustees of Shiloh Baptist Church on Sunday, August 10, a unanimous vote of confidence was cast in the pastor, Rev. Harrison of our pastor the Rev. Earl L. Harrison in connection with charges preferred against him in juvenile court of August 4.

"Unanimous Opinion"

"Because of our knowledge of him due to long and close association with him, and because of our knowledge of the facts in the case, we are of the unanimous opinion that the charges are false and the charges unwarranted.

"Therefore, we are willing to support our pastor in any way possible to clear his name as it so bold up the name of Shiloh."

Present, in addition to Dr. George and Mrs. Chandler, were Rutherford Sampson, James Williams, Everett Edmonds, Mr. Garrison (?), and Joseph Harris, all board members.

Absent were Garfield Pinn and Walter Holloman.

Atlantic City Preps For Elks Convention

ATLANTIC CITY — The Nation's Playground has already started to make its preparations for the annual national convention of Elks, that convenes here from Aug. 23-29.

Headquarters for Brother Elks will be at the National Guard Armory, while the Daughters will hold out at Senior High School.

Among the highlights of the convention will be the election of the offices of grand exalted ruler for the Bills, and that of the grand treasurer for the Indians.

Election Battle Looms

For the first time since the late Dr. J. Finley Wilson and Casper Holstein, a native of St. Croix in the Virgin Islands, fought for that much-coveted office to rule the Elks a score of years ago in New York, Elkdom is looking forward to a real battle between the brass and the "little" boys on the floor.

Robert (Bob) Johnson of Philadelphia, backed by former Magistrate Hobson R. Reynolds of Philadelphia, his campaign manager, Judge William C. Hueston of Washington, D.C., grand secretary.

Also Charles Freeman of Philadelphia, a grand trustee; Perry W. Howard of Washington, D.C., grand legal advisor and Harvey Harris of Mt. Vernon, N.Y., president of the N.Y. state association of Elks and grand lecturing knight, an appointment made by grand exalted ruler Johnson this spring.

Jones In The Race

Herbert E. Jones, grand lodge organizer, one of the last appointees in the grand lodge made by Robert Wilson last August in Buffalo, leads the "little" boys, and his candidacy is being backed by many of the local and national heads, including Jesse Jones, one of the biggest vote-getters in the Elks.

While the fight at present is seen between Johnson and Jones, a former exalted ruler of the nation's most powerful and largest lodge in Elkdom, Columbia No. 85, Washington, D.C., it is expected that Hobson Reynolds, grand director of civil liberties may do an about face, and, forsake Johnson and seek the office for himself.

Reynolds, Dark Horse

Reynolds, for many years has had his eyes on the same job and at the time of Wilson's death in February was said to be ready to launch his own campaign, but a quick survey of the field did not encourage him.

He then said he was not a candidate, but if enough support came for Johnson, a choice that "was forced on Elkdom by the laws of the Order."

On the day of the funeral in Washington of Wilson, many of the top "brass" members had openly defied Johnson as head, and it was only until Perry Howard, the legal advisor, interpreted the law of succession making Johnson the chief that the "boys" half-heartedly consented.

Women Contenders

The office for the grand daughter ruler will be fought for by Mrs. Nettie Carter Jackson of Staten Island, N.J. who succeeded Mrs. Elizabeth Rose Gordon of Washington, D.C. on her death last December.

The office of grand treasurer of the auxiliary is also being sought by Mrs. Isabelle Foltz Hyder of Philadelphia, a 1952 AFRO-AMERICAN award winner. The office became vacant on the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Kimbrough of Brooklyn, N.Y. who died in May.

NAMED TO LOS ANGELES COUNTY EDUCATION BOARD

LOS ANGELES (ANP) — Mrs. Jessie H. Douglas, city school teacher, was appointed to the county board of education, last week.

—I'm Innocent

to bring the charge to light.

He said he would rather pay a sum set by the court than let others put their hands in his pockets and take what they wanted, for they would constantly be raising the price.

"If you believe I'm guilty, sister me," I make only one request. Let him, that is without sin, cast the first stone," the pastor said in the conclusion of his sermon, the text of which was taken from Acts 26, second verse.

Answers For Himself

The verse dealt with Paul's statement when he went to defend himself before King Agrippa, "I think myself happy, King Agrippa, because I shall answer for myself this day before thee, touching all things whereof I am accused."

Following the sermon, the Rev. Mr. Harrison declined to let the members of his congregation take a vote of confidence for him.

He spoke above the tumult which followed when some members rushed to the pulpit, and demanded that a vote of confidence be taken for the pastor immediately.

In the evening service, Dr. J. George St the Board of Trustees for Dr. George T. Walker of the board of Deacons took a vote of confidence for the pastor.

Harrison's sermon:

The complete text of the Rev. Harrison's sermon:

"I was not expected to speak at Shiloh this morning. I am supposed to be on vacation from my duties, but because of your kindness, place in the Juvenile Court last Tuesday, I felt obligated to appear here today.

"I am only the pastor of Shiloh Baptist Church; I am a servant of this community. For 22 years, I have been active in the civic, social and religious life of Washington. I belong to all the people of the District of Columbia.

"I have, because of my years of service, become not just another citizen, but I am an institution in the life of this city, and I owe it to you who have entrusted me to make some kind of statement.

"Reporters may be in the audience, but I do not care, I know that I am not speaking for publication. I have no desire to try the case through the newspapers. Yet I can't help it if you take down what I say.

Not A Defense'

"What I shall say this morning is not a defense. If my life and service among you for twenty-two (2) years do not demonstrate my confidence, I have no intentions of trying to sway you with argument. It would be unethical to review the details of the evidence presented against me.

"I do not come to make myself a martyr, and thereby win my cause. Instead, I want you to know, and I pray that you listen attentively, let your intellect, your emotions and your spirit.

"I do not come to attack the decision of the Judge, nor the witnesses who convicted me last Tuesday. I think he acted in the highest type of government in the world.

Save Democracy At Work

"I do not come to undermine my work; but I felt it working on me, because I shall be repudiated by the experience, and my faith in democracy increased.

"It's an evil wind that blows no good to any one.

"I have no quarrel with the AFRO — AMERICAN newspaper; I am rather grateful to the reporters and the editor for the type of publicity they gave the matter. The AFRO is a newspaper, as such its business is to inform the public news, to keep the world abreast with what is happening.

Conviction Is News

"When the pastor of a congregation as influential as Shiloh Baptist Church has been convicted of a misdemeanor, or a crime, that is news, and the public should know it.

"I also believe that when a young woman, who according to records was born April 18, 1933, and has lived in society as corrupt as ours for 33 years thereafter, can sit on the witness stand in a court room and swear by God of high heaven to the effect that for the cunning slyness of her own minister, she would today be a virgin that is news.

"It is bad news, yet, it is news, and the public should know it. When a man has been convicted of a crime, that does not necessarily mean he is guilty, nor did the AFRO say so.

Has No Ill-Feeling

"I therefore, have no ill feeling toward the AFRO, and I ask you to have none.

"I want to say first that I had a fair trial. I saw a woman judge preside with all the dignity and fairness that becomes any man that ever sat on the bench.

"I watched, and saw my own lawyers do their best, which I thought was good job.

"I saw a corporation attorney discharge his function as a representative of the people of the District of Columbia. I said he was my attorney.

"I help pay him for the purpose of making every charge that is filed by the people of the District of Columbia, who are his clients, stick if possible.

Worthy Of Promotion

"If I had the power to do so I would count him worthy of promotion. He showed himself a student of human nature, a wizard in psychology who knows how to maneuver a jury into his corner even when the evidence is weak. Anything is fair in love, and in war.

"I am not going to attack the jury for its decision, I think that the beauty of our democracy is the fact that a man is allowed to think as he pleases and so express himself.

It matters not whether his conclusions are reached by his ability in intellectual reasoning, or colored by his passions or prejudices, he can vote his sentiment and go back to his home and wrestle with his own conscience without being questioned by any one but God.

Justice MisCarried

"I know that justice often miscarries in our democracy, but a second beauty of it is that we have the right of appeal. Men do not have that under dictators.

"Then, I have not come to stir up your hates or prejudices against my accusers. This thing has been going on for six months. One of the principals has sat for the most of that time in my choir right behind me and backed up my preaching every Sunday morning.

"But I have not said one word to any of you about my troubles, because the reputation and future of a young woman were involved and I promised God and myself when I was a boy never to strike the first blow against womanhood at any time, or to speak disparagingly of her reputation unless and until I had to do it in self-defense.

"My old grandmother taught me that and I haven't forgotten it. If the woman involved has cast the die, so I feel free to talk.

He's Not Sinless

"I wish also to assure you that I make no claim of sinlessness, but rather confess that I have made a good many mistakes during the twenty-two years I have served you. I have been human many times when you thought I should have been angelic.

"Yet, I can stand here in this pulpit, even if it be the last time, and say that I acted at no time in my business affairs, dealings, and in the spirit of reasoning, and prayed the industriousness of these two girls, as I exhibited ones which they said their mother wrote — as they again and again came for help when the times were hard with us all.

Brother Test Faith

"But most truthful of all was when the brother took the witness stand last Monday, and put the blame on his sister, the younger girl, and exonerated himself, and the brother who had been the bad man of the family.

"He swore, that the youngest sister, had hired the lawyer, which I did at a time of great misfortune, and when many believed their separate. Proper at her, many of you know how my wife and my two daughters went for her, and put their arms about her.

"They brought her into our home as a daughter, and helped to put back to her feet in this church and community.

Daughter Played Sister

"Wedding receipts were sent from my home, and my daughter played 'sister' to this fallen girl. When the young man offered her his hand in marriage, it was my wife and her mother who gave her the wedding reception at the home of her mother object to the union.

"You may never know how hard when I discovered it was this young man who was the person who said he was a lawyer, and who I had helped to get.

"My client will not settle for less than $15,000.

"And on February 8, 1951, this person who said he was a lawyer demanded that I pay him for his demand before you leave the Shiloh College, I will have a warrant and meet you on the college campus and bring you back."

Did You Know

"Did you, this young woman according to the statement, had been taken to a house where a third of all he could get from me.

"I was told I had two new Cadillacs, two bank accounts, several rented houses, a farm in Texas, and that I had put my children a hemp. We are now in the Juvenile Court.

"She didn't know I was broke already. What a reward! I have helped more people than any man I heard myself styled as an Alger Hiss, and I have been called and heard myself called Judas who betrayed Christ.

The Jury Believed It

"The jury believed it, I guess, I stand a convicted man, but this is one time when the jury was more in error than the victor.

"I pray to God, my Father and high heaven, if I had entered into a conspiracy with the complaint claims, I would have asked my sister and her husband before I would have sacrificed 46 years of my life in service to humanity.

"I assure you that my head is not bowed in shame or sorrow.

Two Aspects

"There are two aspects to the relationship between ourselves and the world: (1) what the world is to me and (2) what the world thinks of me.

"When things are going well with me, the world is for me first. But when the world takes the initiative, and does things to me, the emphasis is on the latter, and I have to say to myself, 'Can we take it?'

"For 46 years I have been knocking hell out of Satan. Many times I have had him, and I know that the tide has turned. I confess that I am on the canvas. He has floored me. I am a bit dazed. But by the grace of God, I can take it.

See His Chance

"I think this is the best chance I have ever had to practice what I have preached for 46 years. Every man needs a chance to know how it feels to be on the other side. Well, this is mine.

"I have been preaching, 'Turn and mile,' Give the cloak also the other cheek,' 'Go the mile.' Maybe my master has said, 'Let's see if you can do it.'

"This is my time to 'do good for evil,' 'pray for my enemies,' 'love those that hate you,' and 'if your enemy is hungry, feed him.'

"How do I feel? I feel fine inside. I have no ill will against anyone. Oh, I will not take them into prison, but I am not mad with anyone."

THE END

Dr. Spaulding Left $250,000

Wife, 4 Children To Share Estate

DURHAM, N.C. — Dr. C. C. Spaulding left an estate estimated at $250,000, which will be shared by his wife and four children by a previous marriage.

No estimate of the estate was given in the will filed here Friday in Superior Court of Durham County. However, it is known that his real estate holdings and insurance policies will take the estate value well over the estimate.

Dr. Spaulding, president of the N.C. Mutual Life Insurance Co., Parmers and Merchants Bank, and the Mutual Building and Loan Association, and a nationally known civic leader, died Aug. 7 on his 78th birthday.

Home, Car To Widow

His widow, Mrs. Charlotte Gardner Spaulding, and the four children by his first wife, in her Mrs. Fannie Jones Spaulding, will share the bulk of real estate and insurance holdings. One report is that the N.C. Mutual, which he headed, carried a $100,000 policy on his life.

The widow and four children will get the income from the following properties listed in the will as owned by Dr. Spaulding and from which the executors were directed to collect rents. They are as follows: Houses on Banks Alley numbered 506, 11, 13, 17 and 19; 918 Whitted Street; 518 Carr Alley; 601 Guy Alley; 906 Sparks Alley.

Also houses on Whitted Street numbered 717, 813, 917, 1003, 914, 919, 432 Piedmont Street, 434 Piedmont Street.

In addition, Mrs. Spaulding was left $150 a month for the rest of her life, as well as the family home and furnishings at 1005 Fayetteville st., a 1950 Cadillac and a Starr Trailer.

The Mechanics and Farmers Bank, together with the widow and a lawyer - son, C. C. Jr., were named executors of the will dated Sept. 14, 1951.

Minute Codicil

In a codicil to the will dated July 31, 1952, the day before his death, Dr. Spaulding left a lot at 1002 Fayetteville st., to his son, John and his wife. John is the son who has been confined to Freedman's Hospital, Washington, for the past year.

The will also stated that the other children had previously been given lots on which to build homes, C. C. Jr., and Wilfred Garret Shearin, getting $1,500 lots; and Booker, a $1,000 lot.

Bequests

Dr. Spaulding's confidential secretary, housekeeper and companion, also shared in the will. Bequests to them totaled $800 as follows:

$500 to Mrs. Ethel S. Berry, his confidential secretary for 30 years;

$300 to Mrs. Maggie Parker, housekeeper, known as "Aunt" (Butch) McDougald, his companion, who was injured in a fall by had made generous gifts to McDougald before his death.

Dr. Spaulding also left a $2,000 insurance policy to be divided among four patients, $800 each to White Rock Baptist Church of which he was a life long member, Lincoln University, Pennsylvania, and Shaw University. The fourth person to share in the policy has not been identified.

ADVISOR TO SOLDIERS SAYS:

Ridgeway Integrating Troops Faster Than Ike

By HELEN LEE

TRENTON—"General Ridgway is a more potent force in integrating American soldiers in Europe than was General Eisenhower."

This opinion was expressed here at a reception in his honor last week by William Graham, a former advisor to American Occupation Troops in Giessen, Germany.

A prominent local teacher on leave and a native Trentonian now living with his wife in NYC, Mr. Graham went to Germany on Feb. 27, 1947, originally as an instructor and later became a troop advisor, returning home recently.

Awarded Citation

He received a citation for meritorious civilian service from Major General Perry, acting for Lt. Gen. Handy, commander-in-chief of the Armed Forces in Europe.

Mr. Graham paid the compliment to General Ridgway when asked: "Did Eisenhower's homecoming, the coming of some anything to do with integrating American troops in Europe more quickly?"

He said American forces were being integrated more rapidly in Germany under a program which began last May.

Service Units Mixed

"The Service Units," he added, "should be completely integrated within one year."
