HUGE CROWD SEES RAMS SHADE ALL STARS

Bankhead Jailed, Fined In Dominican Loop Brawl

CIUDAD TRUJILLO — Dan Bankhead, former pitcher for the Brooklyn Dodgers, was jailed and fined here last week as an aftermath. to a small - scale Dominican League riot.

Slender Dan, star of the Bums' late - season surge in 1950, collapsed last year and was farmed out to the Montreal Royals. This year, following his further failures at Montreal, Bankhead was released by the Royals and came here.

He became involved in the fight last Thursday as the team he now manages, Escogido, was losing a 3-3 decision to the Estrellas club.

Dan, going from first to third on an unsuccessful double - play attempt, slid safely into the farmer station. Third baseman Benjoman Lott, protesting the decision, slammed the ball to the ground and Bankhead leaped to his feet and rushed home.

Lott retrieved the ball and threw home, beating Bankhead with the peg. Dan, however, rammed hard into catcher Zoilo Rosario in an effort to dislodge the ball from his grasp.

Rosario held the ball, then became enraged. As Bankhead started for the dugout, the catcher hurled the ball at him, but missed.

The ex-Dodger pitcher whirled around, picked up the catcher's mask and struck Rosario over the head with it, opening a big gash in the Dominican's skull. In addition to being locked up and fined $110, Bankhead suffered the embarrassment of being knocked cold in the free-for-all his actions had precipitated.

Younger's TD Ties All Stars

Ex-Grambling Back Among Game's Aces

CHICAGO — Tank Younger's come-from-behind touchdown gave the Los Angeles Rams their first score and put them in position to overhaul the College All-stars in the annual Chicago Tribune Charities game before 88,336 fans here Friday night.

Younger, former fullback star of Grambling (La.) University, thus keyed the last-quarter attack that enabled the professional football champions to hang up a 10-7 victory over the star-studded collegian lineup.

The Tank was one of seven tan aces to appear in the game. Along with him in the Los Angeles camp were his veteran teammates, Dan Towler and Woodley Lewis, backs; and Harry Thompson, guard. Opposing Younger and Co., on the all-star roster were Ollie Matson, of University of San Francisco; Don Coleman, of Michigan State, and John Johnson, of Michigan.

Olympic Star Back

Matson, a 1951 All-America selection and recently returned from the Olympic Games, played defensive fullback for the college eleven, Coleman, another All-America choice of the past season, and Johnson, who received honorable mention on most of the selections, were in the college backfield.

What with the All Stars leading, 7-0 throughout the early part of the contest and well into the fourth quarter, things began to look bad for the home team until a pass interference play gave them possession of the ball on the collegians' 7yard line.

The interference was ruled against Matson and white Bobby Dillon when they fouled Ram end Tom Fears on a long pass play from Norm Van Brocklin.

Towler Does Well

One thrust at the line by the pros, then Van Brocklin shot a 3-yard open pass to Younger and the big fullback bruised into the end zone. Bob Waterfield converted to deadlock the score. Moments later, Waterfield booted a 24-yard field goal to clinch the verdict.

Towler, called on freely by both Waterfield and Van Brocklin as they quarterbacked the Rams, gave the pro eleven good running yardage. Lewis handled the kicking chores as usual and played some on defense.

Stewart Opens Net Defense

Singles Champ Eyes ATA Tourney Crown

WILBERFORCE, Ohio — George Stewart, national singles tennis champion, following a successful tour of Port-au-Prince, Haiti, and successful scores in top sectional tournaments, opens defense of his crown here this week.

The Panama-born Stewart, returning from his tropical jaunt, which he made with New Jersey's clever John Chandler, captured the New England Open, Baltimore's first interracial Open, and the Eastern Open.

For two straight years, he held the American Tennis Association singles title, but in 1949 and 1950 Oscar Johnson, of Los Angeles, unceremoniously knocked the crown from Stewart's head.

Appel Improved

Norman Appel, 1951 singles champion of the Ohio Opens of, Montgomery County sponsored by an Ohio ,daily, expects to meet Stewart again this year, and he feels, after playing Stewart last year, he is better able to cope with Stewart's wilting placements.

Uberi Vincent, crack New York netter, and an expected standout in the present New York regional matches, will be gunning for the ATA Singles' title at Central State College, Wilberforce, Ohio, August 18-23. Vincent's steady game has won him the plaudits of some of the most exacting rating gents.

The American Tennis Association nationals are slated to be one of the most blistering competitive matches in five years.

Blue Jays Top Macs, Take 2nd

The AFRO Blue Jays stunned the McCullob Macs with a surprising 8 to 7 defeat.

The Macs, after trailing throughout the entire game, were able to put across 5 runs in their half of the final inning to tie up the contest. But the Jays came right back with a single by L. Colvin and a triple between the left and center fielders by T. McClain.

McClain, in addition to his game-winning triple, had a perfect day at bat with 4 for 4. The win enabled the Blue Jays to finish second behind the Jr. Wizards in the 2nd Half of the AFRO Junior League.

Gil Turner To Meet Dykes In Garden

NEW YORK—The International Boxing Club announced Saturday it has closed on a 10-round bout between welterweight Gil Turner, of Philadelphia, and Bobby Dykes, white Miamian, for Madison Square Garden, Sept. 5th.

The struggle between the lanky Dykes, from Miami, by way of Texas, and Turner, is a 147-pound "natural."

NEW YORK — Former NBA welterweight champ Johnny Bratton, of Chicago, will box Irvin Steen in a 10-rounder at Eastern Parkway, Aug. 25th.

History Made As Eagles, Steelers Clash In Hershey

By GEORGE LYLE, JR.

HERSHEY, Pa. (NNPA) — History was made in this town Saturday night when the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League met the Pittsburgh Steelers in an exhibition clash which ended in a scoreless tie.

For the first time in the history of both clubs, colored players donned the cleats and silks representing the two and also for the first time, they trod the turf of Hershey Stadium.

In order to give you a background on the town, let's go into history.

Non-Whites Out

About fifty years ago a gay named Milton Snavely Hershey founded the industry which bears his name and built a million-dollar plant here. Simultaneously with the construction of the plant was the erection of homes, schools and business houses for the use of his workers — but there were no provisions for non - white workers and, to the best of say knowledge — there have been no non-white families living in the town.

In addition to all of this, Hershey built a school for homeless boys — which also carried the segregated stipulations that held in the rest of the community.

The Steelers naturally arrives if he had all of this antipathy for non-whites — and to be hit upon the idea of making a chocolate bar?

Back To The Players

To get back to the players. Don Stevens, late of the University of Illinois and the Chicago Bears, the Hershey boy who graduated from Morgan State College and did a stint with the Green Bay Packers, and Ralph Goldston of Youngstown College in Ohio were the draft choices of the Eagles while Jack Spinks, a 235-pound fullback from Alcorn A and M in Mississippi and Robinson, a guard, a 200-pound from Lincoln University in Missouri wore the Gold and Black of the Steelers.

Goldston and Stevens both halfbacks, and Robinson, a guard, saw lots of actic for the Eagles and performed capably.

Robinson saw more action than the other boys as he played on both offense and defense.

Stevens, a puny little 176-pound scatback, electrified the 11,000 fans with his runbacks of punts while Goldston, in his only offensive move, carried for 9 yards.

In addition to teaming up with Clyde Scott in the safety slot, Stevens tee-d a 32-yard punk which had the opposition completely crossed up as he started to his left and tossed the ball on the run. His being a southpaw makes him a double threat.

For the opposition, Spinks, who plays on offense, was good for several carries of four to six yards while Robinson was an able linebacker.

To top off the irony of the situation, The Steelers and some visiting Negro newspapermen, were quartered in the swank Community Inn while the Eagles who have been training here, are staying at the Hershey Country Club.

Guess the guy is still spinning.

WALCOTT IN TRAINING FOR TITLE BOUT

Marciano Scrap Goes To Philly

IBC Sets Championship Tiff For Stadium There Sept. 23rd

PHILADELPHIA

The International Boxing Club, through promoter Herman Taylor, announced Sunday that the heavyweight championship bout between Jersey Joe Walcott and challenger Rocky Marciano will be staged here at Municipal Stadium on September 23.

Announcement of the fight came as no surprise to Quaker City boxing fans, since it had been established early last week that the bout was definitely on, and that only the site for the promotion remained to be decided upon.

To further the suspicion that terms had already been ironed out, Walcott began light training for the affair three days before. He also stated at the time that he would move his training conditioning quarters at Bader Field, in Atlantic City, the last of next week.

Trained For Charles

It was at the popular Seashore stadium that the champion prepared for the first defense of his crown, against ex-titleholder Ezzard Charles, in June.

President Jim Norris, of IBC, told newsmen at the time of the announcement by Taylor that there will be no home television of the event. Limited theatre TV will black out the Philadelphia and New England areas.

While there was no confirmation of the report, it is said that a cash of $175,000 is being paid for the telecast rights.

Ruled Out J.C. and D.C.

In selecting Philadelphia, the promoters ruled out serious bids from Jersey City, N.J., and Washington, D.C. The former town is said to have offered use of its Ruppert Stadium "virtually rent free." The IBC lost interest in this offer, however, when it became established that the park was much too small to handle the anticipated crowd.

Norris, Taylor and Walcott's manager, Felix Bocchicchio, are estimating a million-dollar gate for the clash between the aging titleholder and the young blockbuster from Brockton, Mass.

The Pennsylvanian, of New York when Bocchicchio refused to permit Walcott to fight there.

Bocchicchio has no 'manager's license in New York State, and he refused to apply for one after Robert K. Christenberry, chairman of the New York State Boxing Commission, criticized his criminal record in a recent magazine article. Christenberry said that application for a license had been assured in advance by Christenberry that it would be approved. But Christenberry would make no such assurance.

Archie Moore Agrees To Encore With Henry

CHICAGO — A return bout between light-heavyweight Archie Moore and heavyweight Clarence Johnson, of Los Angeles, has been set for the Chicago Stadium Sept. 10th.

Moore thrashed Johnson in a one sided bout in Baltimore in June.
